[As amended Apr. 7, 1915]

§ 401.11 Statement in reply. Immediately after such statement or statements are filed the secretary shall send a copy of the same to the Government which shall have made the application or shall have filed the application on behalf of private persons, and the said Government or the private persons on whose behalf the application shall have been filed, one or both, may, within 30 days, file a statement or statements in reply, and the issues to be determined by the Commission shall be gathered from the application, statement or statements and reply statement or statements.

§ 401.12 Supplemental applications and statements. If it shall appear to the Commission that either the application, the statement, or the reply statement is not sufficiently full, definite and complete to enable the Commission to proceed intelligently, the Commission may require a more full, definite and complete application or statement or reply statement, as the case may be, to be filed.

§ 401.13 Interested private parties. Any person interested in the subject matter of the application, whether for or against, is entitled to be heard by counsel at the final hearing, and may, through counsel, with the consent of his Government, conduct or assist in conducting all proceedings in the case subsequent to the application.

§ 401.14 Preliminary hearing. If it appears to the Commission at any time before the hearing of the application that it would be advantageous to hold a preliminary meeting for the purpose of fixing or altering the plan of hearing, determining the mode of conducting the inquiry, the admitting of certain facts, or the proof of them by affidavit, or for any other purpose, the Commission may hold such meeting upon such notice to the parties as it deems sufficient, and may thereupon make such orders as it may deem expedient.

§ 401.15 Preliminary communication with parties. The Commission may, if it thinks fit, instead of holding the preliminary meeting provided in § 401.14, communicate with the parties direct, and may require answers to such inquiries as it may consider necessary.

§ 401.16 Production and inspection of documents. Either party shall be entitled, at any time, before or at the hearing of the case, to give notice in writing to the party in whose application or statement or reply statement reference is made to any document, map, plan, or profile, to produce it for the inspection of the party giving such notice or his attorney or solicitor, and to permit him to take copies thereof; and any party not complying with such notice shall not afterwards be at liberty to put the same in evidence on his behalf in such proceedings, unless he satisfy the Commission that he had sufficient cause for not complying with such notice.

§ 401.17 Subpenas. Subpenas for the attendance and examination of witnesses and notice for the production and inspection of documents may be issued in the first instance under the signature of the secretary of the section of the country in which the witnesses reside.

§ 401.18 Compelling attendance of witnesses, etc. All applications for subpena or other process to compel the attendance of witnesses, or the production of books, papers, and documents before the Commission or the examiner, shall be made to the proper courts of either country, as the case may be, upon the order of the Commission or by the chairman of the section of the Commission of the country in which the witnesses reside or the books, papers, or documents may be, or by the examiner appointed under § 401.19.

§ 401.19 Depositions. On application to the secretary of the section of the Commission in the country where depositions are proposed to be taken, any party may have a commission to take the depositions of witnesses, the commission to be signed by the secretary, to designate the name of the examiner before whom depositions will be taken, and the time and place of taking, but need not designate the names of witnesses to be examined, and the secretary shall specify in the commission the length of notice to be given, in all cases requiring what he may deem ample time to enable the parties to be present. The examiner, who shall in all cases be an official having power in his own country to administer oaths, may issue subpenas for witnesses to be examined before him. The testimony of all witnesses shall be taken under oath or affirmation and the parties shall be entitled to attend and examine and cross-examine. The testimony so taken shall be confined to the subject matter in question, and any objection to the admission of evidence shall be noted by the examiner and dealt with by the Commission at the hearing. The examination shall take place within 60 days after the time provided in § 401.11 for the filing of the reply statement. All examinations or depositions taken in pursuance of this section shall be returned to the secretary who issued the commission, and the depositions certified under the hand of the examiner, without further proof, be used in evidence, saving all just exceptions. The examiner at the time and place appointed in the commission can take the depositions of witnesses offered by any party.

§ 401.20 Final hearings. The final hearings on applications shall be had at times and places to be fixed by the chairmen of the two sections not less than 30 days after the time provided for filing the reply statement, and the Commission will then hear oral and documentary evidence and evidence which may have been taken by the parties by deposition.

The Commission may require further evidence to be given, either viva voce or by deposition taken before an examiner.

The Commission may decide how many counsel are to be heard and what interests may be united for the purpose of the hearing.

The Commission may, in any case, require printed briefs or factums to be submitted by the parties.

The hearing of the case, when once commenced, shall proceed, so far as in the judgment of the Commission may be practicable, from day to day.

[As amended Apr. 7, 1915]

§ 401.21 Printing of briefs and records. All briefs, factums, pleadings, and documents printed for the use of the Commission must be in such form and size, with ample margin, that they can be conveniently bound together so as to make an ordinary octavo volume; and, as well as all quotations contained therein, and the covers thereof, must be printed in clear type (never smaller than pica) and on unglazed paper.

§ 401.22 Majority may conduct hearings. A majority of the Commission may conduct hearings or other proceedings regularly before it and may take and receive testimony and hear arguments thereon, but less than the whole number of the Commission shall not proceed to finally consider and determine any matter, proceeding, or question which the Treaty creating the Commission, either in terms or by implication, requires or makes it the duty of the Commission to decide.

§ 401.23 Amendments. Amendments of applications and statements may be allowed by the Commission where substantial justice requires it, and the time for the filing of any paper or the doing of any act by the rules in this part required may be extended in the like case.

§ 401.24 Service of process. Service of any subpena, process, notice, or other document which must be served under the present rules in this part, shall be by delivering a copy thereof to the person named therein, or by leaving the same at the dwelling house or usual place of abode or usual place of business of such person with some adult person who is a member of or resident in his family or with an employee in such place of business. Such service may be made by any literate person, who shall make return thereof under oath to the secretary from whom such subpena, process, notice, or other document shall have been received, and such return shall state the time and place of such service.

§ 401.25 Expenses of proceedings. All expenses incident to the prosecution of any proceedings before the Commission upon applications presented under § 401.6 (b) shall be paid by the party on whose behalf or at whose request such cost or expense is incurred, except as otherwise ordered by the Commission.

[As amended, Apr. 6, 1926]

§ 401.26 Submission to Governments. When in the opinion of the Commission it is desirable that a decision should be rendered which affects navigable waters in a manner or to an extent different from that contemplated by the application and plans, the Commission will, before making a final decision, submit to the Government transmitting the application a draft of the decision, and such Government may file with the Commission a brief or memorandum thereon which will receive due consideration by the Commission before its decision is made final.

§ 401.27 General rule. The Commission may, in the course of the proceedings, make any order which it deems expedient and necessary to meet the ends of justice and to effectually carry out the true intent and meaning of the Treaty.

§ 401.28 Proceedings under Articles IX and X. The rules in this part, as far as applicable, shall apply to proceedings in all cases referred or submitted under Articles IX and X.[1]

Chapter III—Office of Price Stabilization, Economic Stabilization Agency

[Ceiling Price Regulation 34, Amdt. 9 to Supplementary Regulation 3]

CPR 34—SERVICES

SR 3—APPROVAL OF CERTAIN AUTOMOTIVE AND FARM TRACTOR REPAIR SERVICE FLAT RATE MANUALS

ADDITIONAL FLAT RATE MANUALS

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, Executive Order 10161, and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order No. 2, this Amendment 9 to Supplementary Regulation 3 to Ceiling Price Regulation 34 is hereby issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

This amendment adds a supplement to a flat rate manual to the list of approved flat rate manuals and labor schedules in section 2 of Supplementary Regulation 3 to Ceiling Price Regulation 34.

The Statements of Consideration which accompanied Supplementary Regulation 3 to Ceiling Price Regulation 34, and Amendment 1 to that regulation are equally applicable to this amendment and are incorporated herein by this reference.

The character of the approval granted by this amendment made it impracticable and unnecessary to consult formally with representatives of the industry and trade associations although in each instance representatives of the publishers of the manuals were consulted and consideration was given to their recommendations. In the judgment of the Director of Price Stabilization the provisions of this amendment are generally fair and equitable and are necessary to effectuate the purposes of Title IV of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended.

AMENDATORY PROVISIONS

Supplementary Regulation 3 to Ceiling Price Regulation 34 is amended in the following respects:

1. Section 2 is amended by adding after paragraph (qq), paragraph (rr) as follows:

(rr) Chevrolet 1952 Supplement to 1946–1950 Chassis Flat Rate Schedule.

2. Appendix RR is added after Appendix QQ.

Effective date. This Amendment 9 to Supplementary Regulation 3 to Ceiling Price Regulation 34 shall be effective on September 13, 1952.

NOTE: The record-keeping and reporting requirements of this regulation have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

Acting Director of Price Stabilization.

[Ceiling Price Regulation 158, Corrections]

CPR 158—CALIFORNIA REDWOOD LUMBER

CORRECTIONS

Through inadvertence, certain notes applicable to Tables 1, 2, 3, and 11 of section 45 were omitted from Ceiling Price Regulation 158. Also, the words "Select All" and "Select" were erroneously inserted in two notes applicable to Tables 1, 2, and 3. The latter words do not appear in the description of the grades, Heart Structural and Dense Structural lumber, as set forth in "Standard Specifications for Grades of California Redwood Lumber", published by the California Redwood Association, effective August 1, 1951, upon which the notes are based.

Accordingly, the following corrections are made:

1. The following language is added to note 5, entitled "Selection of Grain and Texture", of the notes applicable to Tables 1, 2, and 3 of section 45.

For vertical grain (all thicknesses):
4" and narrower, add $10.00 per M.
6" and 8", add $20.00 per M.
10" and wider, add $25.00 per M.

2. The words "Select All" and "Select" are deleted from the first two lines of note 6, entitled "Additional Grades not on Tables", of the notes applicable to Tables 1, 2, and 3 of section 45, so that the lines read as follows:

Heart Structural, add $20.00 to Select Heart.
Dense Structural, price same as Clear All Heart.

3. Three notes are added to Table 11 of section 45, to read as follows:

NOTES (applicable only to Table 11).
For surfacing, add $5.00 per M.
For running to pattern, add $10.00 per M.
For specified widths, add $5.00 per M.

M-6A—STEEL DISTRIBUTORS

DIR. 3—SUPPLEMENTAL SHIPMENTS BY PRODUCERS; LIMITATIONS ON DISTRIBUTORS' DELIVERIES

This direction, as amended, to NPA Order M-6A is found necessary and appropriate to promote the national defense and is issued pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended. In the issuance of this amended direction, consultation with industry representatives has been rendered impracticable due to the need for immediate action.

Direction 3, as amended August 1, 1952, to NPA Order M-6A is hereby further amended by adding a new paragraph (b) to section 2 in order to exclude second-quality and imported steel products from the provisions of said section.

SECTION 1. What this direction does. This direction makes a number of changes in the present orders and regulations concerning steel distributors. These changes are occasioned by the recent work stoppage in the steel industry. It requires certain forms and shapes in stock or acquired by distributors to be shipped or delivered by them only on defense orders for a limited period. It increases the quantities of steel required to be shipped by producers to distributors subject to certain limitations. It makes provision with respect to the recent production losses. It temporarily modifies section 5 of NPA Order M-6A by permitting steel distributors to accept and fill orders for smaller quantities than heretofore required.

SEC. 2. Limitations on deliveries by distributors. (a) From July 28, 1952, through the close of business August 7, 1952, no steel distributor shall ship or deliver any item of any steel product in the shapes and forms listed in List A of this direction from his inventory of such steel on hand July 28, 1952, except on authorized controlled material orders bearing a program identification consisting of the letter A, B, C, or E, and one digit (including the program identification B–5 where it appears as a suffix), or the program identification Z–2: Provided, That this limitation shall not apply to any item of any steel product which, as of July 28, 1952, had been processed, or was in process, to meet a customer's particular specifications. No steel distributor, who receives steel in the shapes and forms listed in List A of this direction during the period from July 28, 1952, through the close of business December 31, 1952, shall ship or deliver more than 50 percent of the tonnage of any item of any steel product listed in List A, received in any one shipment during such period for a period of 15 days after receipt of any such shipment, except on authorized controlled material orders bearing a program identification consisting of the letter A, B, C, or E and one digit (including the program identification B–5 where it appears as a suffix), or the program identification Z–2. Accurate records of each transaction covered by this section shall be set up and maintained by each steel distributor in accordance with and pursuant to the provisions of section 10 of NPA Order M–6A.

(b) The provisions of this section shall not be applicable to any second-quality item of any steel product, in the shapes and forms listed in List A of this direction, acquired by a distributor, nor to any item of any steel product in the shapes and forms contained in said List A which is imported by a distributor from outside the United States, its territories and possessions, and the Dominion of Canada, or acquired prior to landing by the person from whom the distributor acquires the same.

SEC. 3. Shipments to distributors. (a) Subject to the limitations in this paragraph, each producer shall be obligated to accept purchase orders from steel distributor customers which call for shipments during the months of September, October, and November, 1952, or to ship on unfilled orders calling for earlier delivery, up to a minimum of not less than 120 percent of the base tonnage of each steel distributor customer instead of the 100 percent presently provided in section 3 of NPA Order M–6A. A producer may cancel orders (to the extent hereafter provided) for any product received from any steel distributor customer in excess of such distributor's base tonnage of that product, if the total tonnage of orders for that product scheduled for delivery in that month from steel distributors, from further converters as defined in NPA Order M–1, and from persons placing authorized controlled material orders bearing a program identification consisting of the letter A, B, C, or E, and one digit (including the program identification B–5 where it appears as a suffix), or the program identification Z–2, exceeds 50 percent of the producer's planned production for that month. The amount by which such orders mentioned in the preceding sentence exceed 50 percent of such producer's planned production is herein referred to as the "supplemental tonnage." If the supplemental tonnage amounts to 20 percent or more of the base tonnage of all steel distributor customers, then all steel distributor orders for that product in excess of the base tonnage shall be cancelled. If the supplemental tonnage is less than 20 percent of the base tonnage of all steel distributor customers then a percentage of the orders for that product from any steel distributor customer in excess of such distributor's base tonnage of that product shall be cancelled. Such percentage shall be determined by dividing the supplemental tonnage by 20 percent of the base tonnage of all steel distributor customers. If any such order is cancelled there shall be no obligation upon the producer cancelling the order to fill the same in a subsequent month.

(b) To the extent practicable and within the limitations of paragraph (a) of this section, producers shall ship during August 1952 to their steel distributor customers up to a minimum of 120 percent of their base tonnage on orders calling for delivery during the month of August or in prior months.

(c) Under section 3 to NPA Order M-6A, producers are required to accept purchase orders from steel distributor customers up to a minimum of 100 percent of such distributor's base tonnage. To the extent that shipments of such orders were or are stopped for reasons occasioned by the work stoppage, producers are not required to accept orders pursuant to section 3 of NPA Order M-6A, provided tonnage is shipped to distributors in the quantities provided in section 3 (a) of this direction, it being the intent hereof that the flow of steel to distributors commence immediately pursuant to this section, but that producers be relieved of any obligation to make up lost tonnages.

(d) The provisions of this section shall not be applicable to oil country casing, tubing, drill pipe, or couplings.

SEC. 4. Item limitation. During the period from July 28, 1952, through the close of business November 29, 1952, no steel distributor shall be required to make delivery on an authorized controlled material order from inventory to any one customer to any one destination during any calendar week of any item of a steel product in quantities in excess of the following:

Any item of carbon steel more than 4,000 pounds.
Any item of alloy steel more than 2,500 pounds.
Any item of stainless steel sheet more than 1,000 pounds.
Any item of stainless bars and plates more than 500 pounds.
Any item of stainless tubing or pipe more than 500 pounds or feet, whichever is less.

In no case shall a steel distributor be required to make deliveries to any one customer aggregating 20,000 pounds or more during any calendar week unless the deliveries include 10 or more different items, subject to the limitations of the preceding sentence as to each item.

This direction, as amended, shall take effect September 8, 1952.

Any such request may be in letter form, submitted in duplicate, and signed under oath: Provided, That in cases of emergency involving danger to life or property or due to damage to equipment, such request may be made by telephone or telegraph, and in the event that the Commission finds that such an emergency exists temporary authorization may be granted for the duration of the emergency. Any such request shall be clear and complete within itself as to the facts presented and the action desired.

S. C. 718d (a), it has been determined that the controlled public hunting of migratory waterfowl can be allowed on designated areas of the Brigantine National Wildlife Refuge, New Jersey, without interfering with the primary purpose for which the refuge was established.

Since the following regulations are relaxations of existing restrictions, notice and public procedure thereon are not required (60 Stat. 237; 5 U. S. C. 1001, et seq.).

Effective immediately upon publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER, the following subpart is added:

Sec.
35.21 Hunting permitted.

PROPOSED RULE MAKING

DEPARTMENT OF THE TREASURY

Bureau of Customs

[19 CFR Part 13]

"CLEAN CONTENT" OF IMPORTED WOOL AND HAIR

NOTICE OF PROPOSED RULE MAKING

Notice is hereby given that, pursuant to section 251 of the revised statutes and paragraphs 1101–1104 and section 624 of the Tariff Act of 1930, as amended (19 U. S. C. 66, 1001, 1624), it is proposed to issue instructions amending the definition in § 13.11 (a) (1), Customs Regulations of 1943 (19 CFR 13.11 (a) (1)), of "clean content" of imported wool and hair to be used in assessing duties, and the provisions of § 13.14, Customs Regulations of 1943 (19 CFR 13.14), relating to the ascertainment of such "clean content", the terms of which proposed instructions, in tentative form, are as follows:

The United States Court of Customs and Patent Appeals in its decision in United States v. Fred Whitaker Co., Inc. (decided June 24, 1952), 40 C. C. P. A. —, affirming Fred Whitaker Co., Inc. v. United States (1951), C. D. 1365, has ruled that the expression "clean content" contained in paragraph 1102 (b), Tariff Act of 1930 (19 U. S. C. 1001, par. 1102 (b)), was intended by Congress to mean the "commercial yield" of imported wool, that is, as the court stated, "* * * the wool from which all the weight of grease and foreign material has been removed, including the wool fibers which are unavoidably and irrevocably lost" as a result of commercially applied cleaning processes.

In order to reflect the decision announced by the Court of Customs and Patent Appeals in this case, the definition of "clean content" of imported wool and hair contained in § 13.11 (a) (1), Customs Regulations of 1943 (19 CFR 13.11 (a) (1)), is amended to prescribe that wool or hair fibers ordinarily lost during commercial cleaning operations shall not fall within the meaning of that expression, and § 13.14, Customs Regulations of 1943 (19 CFR 13.14), is amended to prescribe a method based on the best available information, for ascertaining in connection with the examination of imported wool and hair the allowances to be made for the estimated ordinary loss of such fibers. This method is designated to produce uniform and reasonably accurate allowances which are applicable to each type and condition of imported wool and hair.

1. Section 13.11 Definitions, paragraph (a) (1), Customs Regulations of 1943 (19 CFR 13.11 (a) (1)), as amended, is hereby further amended by adding at the end thereof the following new sentence: "'Clean content,' as defined in this subparagraph, shall not include the quantity of any wool or hair fibers ordinarily lost during commercial cleaning operations."

2. Section 13.14, Customs Regulations of 1943 (19 CFR 13.14), as amended, is hereby further amended by deleting the asterisk at the end of paragraph (e) and by adding the following new paragraph (f):

§ 13.14 Weighing, sampling, and laboratory testing for clean content. * * *

(f) In the determination of the clean content of any general sample taken in accordance with this section, an allowance in weight shall be made for wool or hair fibers which it is estimated will be lost ordinarily during commercial cleaning operations. For each general sample the scoured yield of the imported wool or hair and the quantity of vegetable matter present in the general sample shall be ascertained. The weight of the vegetable matter shall be subtracted from the weight of the scoured yield, and the difference shall be considered the weight of the clean fibers present in the imported wool or hair. The allowance for the quantity of wool or hair fibers estimated to be lost ordinarily during commercial cleaning operations shall be computed by making a base allowance of five one-thousandths (0.005) of the ascertained weight of the clean wool or hair fibers present and an additional allowance of six-tenths (0.6) of a pound for each pound of ascertained vegetable matter: Provided, That the combined allowance for such estimated commercial cleaning loss of fibers shall not exceed 15 per centum of the ascertained weight of the clean wool or hair fibers."

This notice is published pursuant to section 4 of the Administrative Procedure Act (5 U. S. C. 1003). Prior to the issuance of the proposed instructions, consideration will be given to any relevant date, views, or arguments pertaining thereto which are submitted in writing to the Commissioner of Customs, Bureau of Customs, Washington 25, D. C., and received not later than 30 days from the date of publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER. No hearing will be held.

[SEAL] FRANK DOW,
Commissioner of Customs.

Approved: August 29, 1952.

Acting Secretary of the Treasury.

[7 CFR Part 931]

[Docket No. AO–229–A1]

HANDLING OF MILK IN CEDAR RAPIDS-IOWA CITY MARKETING AREA

NOTICE OF RECOMMENDED DECISION AND OPPORTUNITY TO FILE WRITTEN EXCEPTIONS WITH RESPECT TO PROPOSED MARKETING AGREEMENT AND TO ORDER AMENDING ORDER

Pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), and the applicable rules of practice and procedure, as amended, governing the formulation of marketing agreements and marketing orders (7 CFR Part 900), notice is hereby given of the filing with the Hearing Clerk of the recommended decision of the Assistant Administrator, Production and Marketing Administration, United States Department of Agriculture, with respect to a proposed amendment to the tentative marketing agreement and to the order, regulating the handling of milk in the Cedar Rapids-Iowa City marketing area. Interested parties may file written exceptions to this decision with the Hearing Clerk, United States Department of Agriculture, Washington 25, D. C., not later than the close of business the 3rd day after publication of this decision in the FEDERAL REGISTER. Exceptions should be filed in quadruplicate.

The material issues on the record related to (1) increasing the level of the Class I differentials, (2) revising the list of plants whose prices are used in determining the Class II price, and (3) whether the facts presented on the record warrant the omission of a recommended decision and exceptions thereto.

Findings and conclusions. The following findings and conclusions on these issues are based upon the evidence introduced at the hearing and the record pertaining thereto.

(1) Class I price differentials. The Class I price differentials should be revised upward.

The record evidence indicates that there is a likelihood of a wide-spread shift of milk away from the market unless steps are taken to increase the level of Class I prices relative to those in effect in surrounding markets, especially the Quad Cities and Dubuque markets. The supply area of the market also overlaps that of several other cities which have consistently paid higher prices than those in effect in the Cedar Rapids-Iowa City market during the past year.

In recent months Quad Cities handlers have been actively soliciting producers who are shipping to plants located in Iowa City. Many of these producers are located as close to the Quad Cities as they are to Iowa City, and producers for both markets are intermingled in this area. Several of these producers have indicated their intention of withdrawing from Iowa City and commencing the shipment of milk to Quad Cities unless an immediate upward adjustment in prices is made.

In the northeast portion of the milkshed, Cedar Rapids handlers compete for producers with handlers for Dubuque and Quad Cities. The record evidence indicates that recently handlers in the Quad Cities have been very active in this area in soliciting producers.

Because of the overlapping of the supply area with the supply areas of surrounding markets, and the competitive situation, it is desirable to maintain a level of the Class I price for this market in close relationship to neighboring markets, particularly the Quad Cities and Dubuque markets. Under these conditions, the lack of price alignment with other markets is likely to encourage uneconomic shifting of producers between handlers and markets and result in disorderly marketing conditions.

Although at the time this order became effective in September 1951 the Class I price was 10 cents under the Quad Cities order Class I price, this relationship was changed in subsequent months, and during the period of January through August 1952, the Class I price was 23 to 58 cents under the Quad Cities price. An important factor in the difference in prices in the two markets is the provision under the Quad Cities order, effective December 1, 1951, that the Quad Cities Class I price shall not be less than 20 cents over the Chicago Class I price in the 70 mile zone.

The price relationship between the Cedar Rapids-Iowa City market and the Quad Cities market has also been affected by the amendment to the Chicago order effective July 1, 1952, which generally increased the Class I price differentials under that order. The supply-demand adjustment factor under the Chicago order also affects the Quad Cities price. The Quad Cities price in turn affects the Dubuque Class I price, since by amendment to the Dubuque order effective July 1, 1952, the Class I price for that market is 10 cents under the Quad Cities price.

Producers requested that the Class I price for this market be the same as under the Quad Cities order. Handlers recommended a temporary increase over present order price provisions of 15 cents per hundredweight. On the basis of record evidence it appears that to maintain orderly marketing conditions it is desirable to have the same pattern of seasonal changes in the Class I price as in the Quad Cities market, and a closer alignment of the level of prices than has existed in recent months. The Class I price differentials should accordingly be adjusted upwards 5 cents for the first half of the year and 10 cents during the second half, with the exceptions of April and December, which would be increased and decreased 25 and 20 cents respectively, to preserve the similarity with the Quad Cities price pattern based on the new Chicago order Class I price differentials. This would restore approximately the relationship existing when this order was instituted. In addition, a temporary adjustment is needed to offset the expected effect of the Chicago order supply-demand factor on the Quad Cities price. The additional adjustment needed for this purpose is estimated to be 15 cents, and this amount should be added from the effective date of the amending order through April 1953 so as to assure a price comparable with surrounding markets during the period when most active competition for producers may be expected throughout the supply area.

It would appear desirable to establish a supply-demand price factor under this order based on conditions in the Cedar Rapids-Iowa City area rather than on conditions in the Chicago market. However, the record does not provide sufficient data on which such a supply-demand adjustment could be based. The temporary 15-cent addition to the Class I price may be expected to result in a reasonable relationship with prices in surrounding markets through April 1953. It appears desirable that a further hearing for the purpose of considering all aspects of the supply and demand situations in this market should be held so as to develop a suitable automatic supply-demand adjustment factor for subsequent periods.

2. List of manufacturing plants. The plant at Waverly, Iowa, operated by the Carnation Company, should be added to the list of milk manufacturing plants in § 931.50 (b) (1).

Producers requested addition of the plant of the Carnation Company at Waverly, Iowa, to the list of milk manufacturing plants used in computing one of the alternative formulas for the Class II price. The addition of the Waverly plant would make this list identical with the list used for the same purpose under the Quad Cities and Dubuque orders. This would also affect the Class I price inasmuch as the Class I price is determined under the order by adding the price differentials to the Class II price.

The list now includes six Illinois plants, and the addition of the Waverly, Iowa, plant would make the list more representative of conditions throughout the milkshed. Based on experience in recent months, the inclusion of this plant would from time to time cause differences of a few cents in the average of the paying prices. Although the addition of this plant may not be expected to make much change in the annual level of prices for this market, it is desirable to have the same list of plants in this order as in the Quad Cities order because of the similar conditions in the production areas and the desirability of maintaining alignment of the prices in the two markets.

3. Omission of recommended decision. The facts in the record do not show that a recommended decision in this matter must be omitted.

General findings. (a) The proposed marketing agreement and the order amending the order and all of the terms and conditions thereof will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act;

(b) The parity prices for milk as determined pursuant to section 2 of the act are not reasonable in view of the price of feeds, available supplies of feeds, and other economic conditions which affect market supply of and demand for milk in the marketing area, and the minimum prices specified in the proposed marketing agreement and the order amending the order are such prices as will reflect the aforesaid factors, insure a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk and be in the public interest; and

(c) The proposed order amending the order, will regulate the handling of milk in the same manner as and will be applicable only to persons in the respective classes of industrial and commercial activity specified in a marketing agreement upon which a hearing has been held.

Rulings on proposed findings and conclusions. Every point covered in the briefs filed by interested parties was carefully considered along with the record evidence in making the findings and reaching the conclusions hereinbefore set forth. To the extent that the findings and conclusions proposed in the briefs are inconsistent with the findings and conclusions contained herein, the request to make such findings or to reach such conclusions is denied on the bases of the facts found and stated in connection with the conclusions in this decision.

Recommended marketing agreement and amendment to the order. The following order amending the order, regulating the handling of milk in the Cedar Rapids-Iowa City marketing area, is recommended as the detailed and appropriate means by which the foregoing conclusions may be carried out. The recommended marketing agreement is not included in this decision because the regulatory provisions thereof would be identical with those contained in the order, as hereby proposed to be amended.

1. Delete § 931.50 (a) and substitute:

(a) Class I milk. The price for Class II milk for the previous delivery period plus the following premiums during the delivery periods indicated:

December through April	$0.85
May, June	.65
July through November	1.15

Provided, That for the period October 1952 through April 1953, 15 cents shall be added to the indicated premiums.

2. In the list of plants in § 931.50 (b) (1) insert "Carnation Co., Waverly, Iowa."

TELEVISION BROADCAST STATIONS

TABLE OF ASSIGNMENTS

In the matter of amendment of § 3.606 Table of assignments, rules governing Television Broadcast Stations; Docket No. 10314.

1. Notice is hereby given of proposed rule making in the above-entitled matter.

2. In a petition filed by David L. Lawrence, Mayor of the City of Pittsburgh on August 11, 1952, it is requested that the Commission amend § 3.606 Table of assignments, rules governing Television Broadcast Stations, so as to assign Channel 4 to Irwin, Pennsylvania. In the said petition it is alleged that:

In the Sixth Report and Order the Commission considered several proposals to assign Channel 4 in various communities in the Pittsburgh metropolitan area. None of these proposals could appropriately be granted because each of them was in violation of the minimum assignment separations established in the Sixth Report and Order and the Commission's rules and regulations. As a result of the failure of the Commission to make an assignment in the Pittsburgh metropolitan area, a serious inefficiency in the use of spectrum space has arisen since, in a wide area on Channel 4 generally in the Pittsburgh metropolitan area, no television station will be permitted to be constructed and to operate. This resulting inefficiency in use of spectrum space is, of course, of serious consequence to the residents of the Pittsburgh metropolitan area who are highly desirous of receiving as many television signals as can be made available to them consistent with the Commission's rules and regulations. It is to be noted that if the request of petitioner is granted not only would a television station, intended to serve primarily the City of Irwin, be able to be constructed, but also under the Commission's rules other communities such as McKeesport, Braddock and Duquesne would be afforded an additional opportunity to secure a local television service from a local television station. Most important of all, however, is the fact that Channel 4 cannot be assigned, consistently with the Commission's rules, to any community in Pennsylvania larger than Irwin and to very few other communities at all.

3. In accordance with the said petition filed by David L. Lawrence and now made part of this docket, and it appearing that the petition complies with § 3.609 of the Commission's rules in that it proposes an assignment of a television channel in a community which is not listed in the Table and is not within 15 miles of a city so listed which proposed assignment complies with the minimum separations set forth in the Commission's rules and does not require any deletions or substitutions of channels in any community listed in the Table, it is proposed to change § 3.606 Table of assignments, rules governing Television Broadcast Stations by adding the assignment of VHF Channel 4 to Irwin, Pennsylvania.

4. In light of this change the Table of Assignments contained in § 3.606 of the Commission's rules and regulations would be amended with respect to the cities listed below to read as follows:

City	Channel No.
District of Columbia: Washington.[1]	4−, 5, 7−, 9−, 20+, *26−
Ohio: Columbus[1]	4−, 6+, 10+, *34, 40−
Pennsylvania: Irwin	4+

[1] These changes, required by the proposed addition of Channel 4 at Irwin, Pa., are merely with respect to offset requirements of Channel 4 in Columbus, Ohio, and Washington, D. C.

5. The purpose of the proposed amendment is to provide a television channel assignment in the community named in paragraph 3 above not otherwise available under the rules.

6. Authority for the adoption of the proposed amendment is contained in sections 4 (i), 301, 303 (c), (d), (f), and (r) and 307 (b) of the Communications Act of 1934 as amended.

7. Any interested party who is of the opinion that the proposed amendment should not be adopted or should not be adopted in the form set forth herein may file with the Commission on or before September 19, 1952, a written statement or brief setting forth his comments. Comments in support of the proposed amendment may also be filed on or before the same date. Comments or briefs in reply to the original comments may be filed within 10 days from the last day for filing said original comments or briefs. The Commission will consider all such comments that are submitted before taking action in this matter, and if any comments appear to warrant the holding of a hearing or oral argument, notice of the time and place of such hearing or oral argument will be given.

8. In accordance with the provisions of § 1.764 of the Commission's rules and regulations, an original and 14 copies of all statements, briefs, or comments shall be furnished the Commission.

Adopted: August 28, 1952.

Released: September 2, 1952.

FEDERAL POWER COMMISSION

[Docket No. G-2006]

CONSOLIDATED GAS UTILITIES CORP.

ORDER FIXING DATE OF HEARING

SEPTEMBER 3, 1952.

On July 17, 1952, Consolidated Gas Utilities Corporation (Consolidated), a Delaware corporation having its principal place of business in the Braniff Building, Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, filed an application, as amended and supplemented on August 25, 1952, for a certificate of public convenience and necessity, pursuant to section 7 of the Natural Gas Act, authorizing the construction and operation of certain natural-gas facilities, for authority to abandon certain of its natural-gas facilities in Wheeler County, Texas, and for a declaratory order by the Commission that certain of its natural-gas facilities are used solely in the production or gathering of natural gas, and, therefore, not within the jurisdiction of the Commission as prescribed by section 1 (b) of the Natural Gas Act.

Consolidated has requested that its application be heard under the shortened procedure provided for by § 1.32 (b) of the Commission's rules of practice and procedure. No request to be heard or protest has been filed subsequent to giving of due notice of the filing of the application, including publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER on August 1, 1952 (17 F. R. 7065).

Consolidated states in its amended application that it has contracted to sell certain of the natural-gas facilities which it seeks to abandon to Warren Petroleum Corporation, that said facilities are no longer used or useful in service to Consolidated, and that their continued retention by Consolidated, and non-receipt of the proceeds of the sale of said facilities to Warren Petroleum Corporation, effects a continuing financial burden upon Consolidated and, subsequently, its ultimate consumers.

The Commission finds:

(1) This proceeding is a proper one for disposition under the provisions of § 1.32 (b) (18 CFR 1.32 (b)) of the Commission's rules of practice and procedure.

(2) It is reasonable and in the public interest and good cause exists for fixing the date of hearing in this proceeding less than 15 days after publication of this order in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

The Commission orders:

(A) Pursuant to the authority contained in and subject to the jurisdiction conferred upon the Federal Power Commission by sections 7 and 15 of the Natural Gas Act, and the Commission's Rules of Practice and Procedure, a public hearing be held on September 12, 1952, at 9:45 a. m., e. d. s. t. in the Hearing Room of the Federal Power Commission, 1800 Pennsylvania Avenue NW., Washington, D. C., concerning the matters involved and the issues presented by the application, as amended and supplemented: Provided, however, That the Commission may, after a noncontested hearing, forthwith dispose of the proceeding pursuant to the provisions of § 1.32 (b) of the Commission's rules of practice and procedure.

(B) Interested State commissions may participate as provided by §§ 1.8 and 1.37 (f) (18 CFR 1.8 and 1.37 (f)) of the said rules of practice and procedure.

Date of issuance: September 4, 1952.

NOTICE OF FILING AND ORDER FOR HEARING CONCERNING APPLICATIONS FOR ALLOWANCES

SEPTEMBER 3, 1952.

The Commission, on November 7, 1951, issued its findings and opinion and order approving a plan of reorganization of American & Foreign Power Company Inc. ("Foreign Power"), a registered holding company subsidiary of Electric Bond and Share Company ("Bond and Share"), also a registered holding company, filed pursuant to section 11 (e) of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 (Holding Company Act Release No. 10370). That plan, which provided for a recapitalization of Foreign Power, was subsequently approved and ordered enforced by the United States District Court for the District of Maine (102 F. Supp. 331) which Order was affirmed by the United States Court of Appeals for the Second Circuit. The plan was consummated according to its terms on February 29, 1952.

Permits will not be issued for the entry of broomcorn from any source through ports on the Pacific Coast.

This amendment shall be effective September 10, 1952.

This amendment eliminates the possibility that formerly existed of a boat shipment of foreign broomcorn arriving ahead of schedule or being unavoidably delayed, so that it arrived prior to or after the inclusive dates during which such entry was authorized. Instead of limiting entry to a 5-month period each year, the amendment provides for a 5-month period during which on-board bills of lading covering such shipments must be dated. Date of departure from a foreign port is the qualifying condition rather than the date of arrival in the United States.

Prompt action is necessary with respect to this amendment in order that its benefits may be available to importers during the current shipping season. Therefore, good cause is found, in ac-

Chapter VII—Production and Marketing Administration (Agricultural Adjustment), Department of Agriculture

[1026 (Peanuts-52)-1, Amdt. 3]

PART 729—PEANUTS

MARKETING QUOTA REGULATIONS FOR 1952 CROP

The amendments herein are based on the marketing quota provisions of the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938, as amended (7 U. S. C. 1301–1376), applicable to peanuts and are issued for the purpose of amending the peanut marketing quota regulations for the 1952 crop in several respects as described below. The amendments provide that buyers purchasing peanuts for price support purposes may record and report data relative to such purchases on Form MQ–94–Peanuts (1952), Inspection and Weight Memorandum, in lieu of reporting such purchases on Form MQ–93–Peanuts (1952), Memorandum of Sale. The amendments will permit a reduction in the amount of work required of many buyers in recording and reporting data with respect to peanut purchases since it is necessary under the price support program for these buyers to execute Form MQ–94–Peanuts (1952) in connection with each load of peanuts purchased. Form MQ–94–Peanuts (1952) executed to cover a load of peanuts will serve, therefore, as the buyer's record and report for purposes of both the marketing quota and price support programs. The amendments also provide that the State Committee may authorize buyers who are not purchasing peanuts for price support purposes to record and report the required data with respect to quota peanuts on Form MQ–94–Peanuts (1951), Sales Memorandum, in lieu of Form MQ–93–Peanuts (1952). This change will also eliminate much of the work that is presently required of buyers, since Form MQ–94–Peanuts (1951) will be used by the Federal-State Inspection Service in grading peanuts that will be purchased by buyers who are not operating under the price support program. This form contains sufficient space for weight and price determinations for a load of peanuts.

Farmers in the southernmost areas of the United States have already begun harvesting their 1952 crops of peanuts; therefore, it is essential that the amendments contained herein be made effective as soon as possible. Accordingly, it is hereby determined and found that compliance with the notice, procedure, and effective date requirements of the Administrative Procedure Act (5 U. S. C. 1003) is impracticable and contrary to the public interest, and the amendments contained herein shall be effective upon filing of this document with the Director, Division of the Federal Register.

The marketing quota regulations for the 1952 crop of peanuts (17 F. R. 4317, 5691, 7273) are hereby amended as follows:

1. Paragraph (u) of § 729.341 Definitions, is amended to read as follows:

(u) "Memorandum of Sale" means Form MQ–93–Peanuts (1952), used (1) to record and report data with respect to purchases of peanuts by buyers who are not purchasing the peanuts under the price support program and (2) to record and report data with respect to peanuts shelled for or by producers.

2. Paragraph (v) of § 729.341 is amended to read as follows:

(v) "Inspection and weight memorandum" means Form MQ–94–Peanuts (1952), used to report and record data with respect to the inspection and marketing of quota peanuts purchased by buyers for price support purposes.

3. Paragraph (a) of § 729.354 Identification of marketings, is amended to read as follows:

(a) Each marketing of peanuts from a farm shall be recorded by the buyer or his representative on a marketing card issued for the farm on which the peanuts were produced, if such marketing card is presented to the buyer by the producer at the time the peanuts are marketed. Each marketing of peanuts without a marketing card shall be subject to the penalty, unless the marketing consists of shriveled, damaged, split, and broken peanut kernels which were produced in shelling not in excess of that quantity of farmers stock peanuts for a producer which the County Committee determined is reasonable for seed purposes on the producer's farm for the 1953 crop. The marketing of such shriveled, damaged, split, and broken peanut kernels will be identified by a Form MQ–93–Peanuts (1952), partially executed by a member of the County Committee to show the quantity of peanuts that is reasonable for seed purposes on the producer's farm for the 1953 crop. Buyers who are not purchasing peanuts under the peanut price support program will record and report data with respect to all peanuts purchased on Form MQ–93–Peanuts (1952): Provided, however, That the State Committee may authorize buyers purchasing quota peanuts in the State to report and record data with respect to the purchase of such peanuts produced in the State on Form MQ–94–Peanuts (1951), if the State Committee determines that the use of such form in lieu of Form MQ–93–Peanuts (1952) will facilitate the effective administration of the provisions of §§ 729.340 to 729.369. Form MQ–94–Peanuts (1952), will be used by buyers to report and record data with respect to the inspection and purchase of quota peanuts purchased for price support purposes: Provided, however, That a person who is not engaged in the business of buying peanuts for movement into the regular channels of trade shall not be required to execute Form MQ–93–Peanuts (1952), Form MQ–94–Peanuts (1951), or Form MQ–94–Peanuts (1952), identifying purchases of peanuts from producers, if the County Committee has determined that it would be administratively impracticable to require such buyer to execute forms, keep the records, and make the buyer's reports required in §§ 729.340 to 729.369, in which case the producer marketing the peanuts shall be responsible for reporting each marketing to the County Committee as provided in § 729.356.

4. Paragraph (b) of § 729.362 Records and reports of buyers and others, is amended to read as follows:

(b) Form MQ–93–Peanuts (1952), Form MQ–94–Peanuts (1951), and Form MQ–94–Peanuts (1952). Buyers who are not purchasing peanuts under the 1952 peanut price support program shall record and report data on Form MQ–93–Peanuts (1952), with respect to all peanuts purchased: Provided, however, That the State Committee may authorize buyers purchasing quota peanuts in the State to report and record data with respect to the purchase of such peanuts produced in the State on Form MQ–94–Peanuts (1951), if the State Committee determines that the use of such form in lieu of Form MQ–93–Peanuts (1952) will facilitate the effective administration of the provision of §§ 729.340 to 729.369. Form MQ–94–Peanuts (1952) shall be used to report and record data with respect to the inspection and marketing of quota peanuts by buyers who are purchasing such quota peanuts for price support purposes. The Production and Marketing Administration's copies of all Forms MQ–93–Peanuts (1952), MQ–94–Peanuts (1951), and MQ–94–Peanuts (1952) with remittances covering the penalties due as shown on Forms MQ–93–Peanuts (1952), shall be forwarded to the State Committee by means of Form MQ–79–Peanuts (1952), Buyers Weekly Report and Transmittal to State PMA Office, not later than the end of two calendar weeks following the week in which the peanuts were marketed.

(Sec. 375, 52 Stat. 66, as amended; 7 U. S. C. 1375. Interpret or apply secs. 358, 359, 372, 373, 55 Stat. 88–90, as amended, 52 Stat. 65, as amended; 7 U. S. C. 1358, 1359, 1372, 1373)

Done at Washington, D. C., this 5th day of September 1952. Witness my hand and the seal of the Department of Agriculture.

Acting Secretary of Agriculture.

TITLE 32A—NATIONAL DEFENSE, APPENDIX

Chapter IV—Salary and Wage Stabilization, Economic Stabilization Agency

Subchapter A—Salary Stabilization Board

[General Salary Stabilization Regulation 1, Interpretation 6, Revised]

GSSR-1—STABILIZATION AND GENERAL ADJUSTMENTS OF SALARIES AND OTHER COMPENSATION

INT. 6—EXTENDED WORKWEEK COMPENSATION UNDER SECTION 44 OF GENERAL SALARY STABILIZATION REGULATION 1, AMENDED

The purpose of this revision of Interpretation 6 is primarily to provide for the substitution of appropriate section references in General Salary Stabilization Regulation 1, Amended, for the superseded provisions of General Salary Order 10. Substantive changes, resulting from the adoption of the regulation and the enactment of the Defense Production Act Amendments of 1952, have required the amendment of paragraph 13, the deletion of paragraphs 15 and 20 of the original interpretation and the addition of a new paragraph 14.

1. Q. What is the purpose of section 44 of General Salary Stabilization Regulation 1, Amended?

A. (a) To permit employers, who had a plan or practice in effect on or prior to January 25, 1951, of compensating employees under the jurisdiction of the Salary Stabilization Board for hours worked in excess of the normal workweek, may he continue such practice regardless of the type of work performed by the employees?

(b) To permit employers, on a self-administering basis, to compensate certain employees under the jurisdiction of the Salary Stabilization Board for additional hours of work performed in excess of a normal workweek during a regularly extended workweek, in the absence of a past plan or practice.

SECTION 44 (b)—MAINTENANCE OF PAST PRACTICES

2. Q. What is a normal workweek?

A. A normal workweek represents the usual number of hours worked in the course of a week by an employee in a particular position as a matter of normal practice on or before January 25, 1951. The number of hours must be definitely ascertainable from past practice, either on the basis of the past work activity of a particular employee or of a group of employees.

3. Q. Are there employees under the jurisdiction of the Salary Stabilization Board who do not have a normal workweek?

A. Yes. It is common for employers to fix the compensation for positions of an executive, administrative or professional character on the basis of the work requirements of the position without prescribing a fixed number of hours to be worked during any week or other time period. This is also generally applicable to outside salesmen.

4. Q. If an employer, on or prior to January 25, 1951, had a practice of paying all employees under the jurisdiction of the Salary Stabilization Board additional compensation for hours worked in excess of the normal workweek, may he continue such practice regardless of the type of work performed by the employees?

A. Yes. The type of work performed by the employees would only be material if the employer did not have such a past practice and now desired to pay such additional compensation.

5. Q. An employer had a practice in effect on January 25, 1951, of paying additional compensation for hours worked in excess of a normal workweek to all foremen and administrative employees. The additional compensation was paid on the basis of three-quarters (75 percent) of the straight-time pay of these employees. May the employer now discontinue his plan as to the foremen and pay extended workweek compensation to them on a straight-time basis in accordance with the provisions of section 44 (e), but keep the plan in effect as to the administrative employees?

A. Yes, assuming that the group changed to a straight-time overtime basis is on a regularly extended workweek as defined in section 44 (d).

6. Q. An employer, on or prior to January 25, 1951, had a practice of paying his foremen and certain other supervisors additional compensation for hours worked in excess of the normal workweek at the same rate as the overtime rate (time and one-half) paid to employees supervised by them. May the employer continue to pay such additional compensation at the rate of time and one-half?

A. Yes.

SECTION 44 (c) AND (d)—ESTABLISHMENT OF NEW PRACTICES

In the following questions, it is assumed that, on or prior to January 25, 1951, the employer did not have a plan or practice of paying employees under the jurisdiction of the Salary Stabilization Board additional compensation for hours worked in excess of a normal workweek.

7. Q. What is extended workweek compensation?

A. Extended workweek compensation is additional compensation paid to eligible employees for additional hours worked in excess of the normal workweek during a regularly extended workweek.

8. Q. Are all employees under the jurisdiction of the Salary Stabilization Board eligible for extended workweek compensation without prior approval of the Office of Salary Stabilization?

A. No. Only employees in the categories designated in section 44 (c) are eligible (see Q. 13).

9. Q. May extended workweek compensation be paid to eligible employees for all hours worked in excess of a normal workweek regardless of the circumstances under which the work was performed?

A. No. Extended workweek compensation may be paid only if such additional hours are worked as part of a "regularly extended workweek," as defined in section 44 (d).

10. Q. Employees eligible for extended workweek compensation voluntarily work each week several hours in excess of their normal workweek in order to complete their weekly workload. May these employees be paid extended workweek compensation?

A. No. Extended workweek compensation may be paid for such additional hours of employment only if the employees have been previously authorized by their supervisor to work such hours.

11. Q. Eligible employees are from time to time required by their supervisor to work one or two extra hours per week on special assignments. The occasion for such work arises once or twice a month. May such employees receive extended workweek compensation?

A. No. Hours worked in excess of a normal workweek, based upon work performed occasionally or irregularly as part of the normal requirements of a position, cannot serve as the basis for extended workweek compensation.

12. Q. Must the number of additional hours of employment constituting a regularly extended workweek be the same from week to week?

A. No.

13. Q. Which employees under the jurisdiction of the Salary Stabilization Board are eligible to receive extended workweek compensation without the prior approval of the Office of Salary Stabilization?

A. The following categories of employees may be paid extended workweek compensation:

1. Foremen or supervisors in a position comparable to foremen, and

2. Other employees whose compensation or work activity is so integrally related to the compensation or work activity of such foremen or supervisors or of employees receiving extended workweek compensation that the payment of extended workweek compensation to the latter without similarly compensating the former would disrupt customary differentials in compensation or create intraplant inequities.

14. Q. May employees, other than foremen or supervisors in positions comparable to that of a foreman, referred to in subdivision (1) (i) of paragraph (c) of section 44 properly receive extended workweek compensation?

A. Yes, if authorization has been granted by the Office of Salary Stabilization under section 44 (c) (2) in cases where there is an industry or area practice of paying extended workweek compensation or where individual hardship, intraplant inequities or the restoration of customary compensation differentials require payment of such compensation.

15. Q. May the following employees receive extended workweek compensation:

a. An office manager;

b. A supervisor in the shipping department of a company;

c. A supervisor of saleswomen in a drug and cosmetic department of a department store?

A. Yes. Each of these employees is a supervisor in a position comparable to a foreman. It is not necessary for such a supervisor to be engaged in production activities in order to be eligible for extended workweek compensation under section 44 (c) (1) (i).

16. Q. On March 3, 1952, the foremen at the plant of the Z Corporation were formally advised that, commencing with the current payroll period, they would receive extended workweek compensation for additional hours worked. Would the (nonworking) assistant foremen under them and the general foremen supervising them be eligible to receive such compensation under section 44 (c) (1) (ii)?

A. Yes. Their work is in such close association with that of the foremen that the payment of such additional compensation would be necessary to avoid intraplant inequities. Their compensation may also be so related in the employer's compensation structure to that of the foremen that the payment of such additional compensation would also be necessary to maintain customary differentials in compensation.

17. Q. Assume the same basic facts as in question 16. Would the assistant plant superintendent and plant superintendent be eligible to receive extended workweek compensation under section 44 (c) (1) (ii)?

A. Only if they work in such close association with the foremen or their compensation in the employer's compensation structure is so related to that of the foremen that the payment of such compensation would be necessary in order to avoid an intraplant inequity or to maintain customary differentials in compensation.

18. Q. Assume the same basic facts as in question 16. Would the executive vice-president in charge of production at the plant be eligible for extended workweek compensation under section 44 (c) (1) (ii)?

A. No. Although his work activity and that of the foremen are both part of the production activities of the company, his work activity is not so associated with, nor his compensation so related to, that of the foremen as to satisfy the requirements of section 44 (c) (1) (ii).

19. Q. Assume the same basic facts as in question 16. Would any of the supervisors in the service departments of the company be eligible to receive extended workweek compensation under section 44 (c) (1) (ii)?

A. No. Their work activity is not so associated with, nor their compensation so related to, that of the foremen to satisfy the requirements of section 44 (c) (1) (ii). However, they may be eligible for extended workweek compensation as supervisors in a position comparable to foremen (see Q. 15).

SECTION 44 (c)—RATE OF EXTENDED WORKWEEK COMPENSATION

20. Q. Z Corporation desires to pay its foremen and other eligible supervisory personnel extended workweek compensation at the same rate as the overtime rate (time and one-half) paid to employees supervised by them. May the corporation without the approval of the Office of Salary Stabilization, pay these supervisory employees extended workweek compensation at the rate of time and one-half?

A. No. The payment of extended workweek compensation to any employees, eligible to receive such compensation under section 44 (c), may not exceed the straight-time rate paid to such employees without prior approval of the Office of Salary Stabilization. In this respect, employees eligible to receive extended workweek compensation under section 44 (c) are in a different position from employees eligible to receive compensation for additional hours worked in excess of a normal workweek under section 44 (b).

SECTION 44 (f)—RECORD-KEEPING

21. Q. Is an employer required to maintain special records of payments of extended workweek compensation?

A. Yes. In addition to the records required to be maintained under the provisions of section 101 of General Salary Stabilization Regulation 1, Amended, the employer is required to maintain records indicating (a) the number of additional hours of work scheduled for the regularly extended workweek period, and (b) the number of hours actually worked during such period by each employee.

Chapter VI—National Production Authority, Department of Commerce

[CMP Regulation No. 1, Amdt. 6 of September 9, 1952]

CMP REG. 1—BASIC RULES OF THE CONTROLLED MATERIALS PLAN

AMENDMENT OF SECTION 11 (D)

This amendment is found necessary and appropriate to promote the national defense and is issued pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended. In the formulation of this amendment, consultation with industry representatives has been rendered impracticable due to the need for immediate action and because the amendment affects many different industries.

AMENDATORY PROVISIONS

CMP Regulation No. 1, as amended, is hereby further amended in the following respects:

1. Subparagraph (5) of section 11 (d) is amended to read as follows:

(5) Any authorized controlled material order placed on or after May 1, 1952, pursuant to subparagraph (2), (3), (4), or (9) of this paragraph, and identified by the suffix B-5, shall be deemed an authorized controlled material order bearing the program identification contained in such suffix for the purposes of NPA Order M-1 (steel), NPA Order M-5 (aluminum), NPA Order M-11 (copper), and any other applicable regulation or order of NPA.

2. A new subparagraph (9) is added to section 11 (d) to read as follows:

(9) Any person who, on or after May 1, 1952, placed an authorized controlled material order calling for delivery of steel which bears the quarterly identification 2Q52 or 3Q52 without appending the suffix B-5 to the program identification although he was entitled to append such suffix to such order pursuant to this paragraph, may at any time prior to shipment of such steel by the supplier revise such order by appending the suffix B-5 to the program identification. Such revision shall not constitute a cancellation of the order. As of the date of such revision, such an order shall be deemed an authorized controlled material order bearing the program identification B-5 for the purposes of Directions 15 and 16 to CMP Regulation No. 1, of NPA Order M-1, and of any other applicable regulation or order of NPA. If the supplier had postponed the shipment date of such an order prior to such revision, because the order did not bear the suffix B-5, he shall, after such revision, reschedule the order for shipment as close to the original shipment date as is practicable without interrupting his operations in a way which would cause a substantial loss of total production or a substantial delay in operations.

This amendment shall take effect September 9, 1952.

SECTION 1. Purpose of this designation. Section 102 of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, provides in part that, in order to prevent hoarding, no person shall accumulate (a) in excess of the reasonable demands of business, personal, or home consumption, or (b) for the purpose of resale at prices in excess of prevailing market prices, materials which have been designated as scarce materials or materials the supply of which would be threatened by such accumulation. This designation lists certain materials as scarce materials. It also prescribes in sections 4, 5, and 6, certain conditions under which a person may accumulate such materials in excess of the reasonable demands of business, personal, or home consumption. In addition it lists other materials which are withdrawn from their previous designation as scarce.

SEC. 2. Definition of person. As used in this designation, the word "person" includes an individual, corporation, partnership, association, or any other organized group of persons, or legal successor or representative of the foregoing, and includes the United States or any agency thereof, or any other government, or any of its political subdivisions, or any agency of any of the foregoing.

SEC. 3. Designation of scarce materials. Each material included in List A of this designation, in the shapes and forms therein described, or in all shapes and forms if no particular shape or form is therein described, is hereby designated, pursuant to section 102 of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, a scarce material. Whenever "material" or "materials" is hereinafter used, it means any such designated material or materials.

SEC. 4. Receipts of imported materials. (a) Notwithstanding any provision of this designation, a person may import by land, sea, or air any material acquired by him prior to landing without regard to the reasonable demands of his business, personal, or home consumption. However, if his total quantity of a material accumulated thereby becomes in excess of the reasonable demands of his business, personal, or home consumption, he may not receive any additional amount of such material from any domestic source until his total quantity thereof has been reduced below an amount which is not in excess of the reasonable demands of his business, personal, or home consumption.

(b) Within the meaning of paragraph (a) of this section, importation by a person is not limited to the person who takes title to the material prior to landing or who pays the customs entry thereon, but includes a person who, prior to landing, purchases or contracts to purchase the material from or through an importing broker, wholesaler, or other importer, even though such broker, wholesaler, or other importer makes the customs entry in his own name, places the material on board the inland carrier for shipment to his customer, and retains title until such shipment is made. Within the meaning of paragraph (a) of this section, a material is not imported by a person who acquires such material from an importing broker, wholesaler, or other importer who took such material into his own stock or inventory.

SEC. 5. Receipts of minimum production or sales quantities. Notwithstanding any provision of this designation, in the case of materials that are mass-produced or are normally marketed only in minimum sales quantities, a person may order and receive from a producer a minimum production run of such material, or from any other supplier, a minimum sales quantity, provided it is not practicable for him to procure his needs from other suppliers in smaller quantities, even though his accumulation of such material thereby becomes in excess of the reasonable demands of his business, personal, or home consumption. After such receipt, however, he may not receive any additional amount of such material until his accumulation thereof has been reduced below an amount which is not in excess of the reasonable demands of his business, personal, or home consumption.

SEC. 6. Receipts of materials after adjustment of orders. Notwithstanding any provision of this designation, a person who has promptly instructed the supplier to reduce or defer delivery of a material under an order for such material previously placed by him with the supplier, to the extent necessary so that his accumulation of such material will not be in excess of the reasonable demands of his business, personal, or home consumption, may accept delivery of the material involved in any of the following cases only:

(a) If the supplier has shipped the material or loaded it for shipment before receipt of the instruction to adjust the order.

(b) If the material is a special item which, before receipt of the instruction to adjust the order, the supplier has in stock or in production, or for the production of which he has acquired special components or special materials. For the purpose of this section a "special item" is one which the supplier does not usually make, stock, or sell, and cannot readily dispose of to others.

(c) If the material has already been produced or was in production before receipt of the instruction to adjust the order and cannot be used to fill other orders on the books of the producer.

SEC. 7. Applicability of other provisions of law, regulations, and orders. Nothing in sections 4, 5, and 6 of this designation shall be deemed to modify in any respect, or relieve any person from complying with, any applicable regulation, order, or other provision of law.

SEC. 8. Withdrawal of designation of scarce materials. The materials included in List B of this designation, as amended, all of which were designated as scarce materials in List A of NPA Designation of Scarce Materials 1 as amended July 23, 1952, are hereby withdrawn from such designation.

O. 10281, Aug. 28, 1951, 16 F. R. 8789; 3 CFR, 1951 Supp.

SECTION 1. What this regulation does. The purpose of this regulation is to prevent the accumulation of excessive inventories of materials in short supply. It does this by limiting the quantities of such materials that can be ordered, received, or delivered.

SEC. 2. Definitions. As used in this regulation:

(a) "Person" means any individual, corporation, partnership, association, or any other organized group of persons, and includes any agency of the United States or any other government.

(b) "Practicable minimum working inventory" means the smallest quantity of material from which a person can reasonably meet his deliveries or supply his services on the basis of his currently scheduled method and rate of operation. In the absence of unusual circumstances, a person's inventory will be considered more than a practicable minimum working inventory if the ratio of his inventory to his currently scheduled operations is substantially greater than the ratio which he normally maintained between his inventory and his operations during any reasonably representative period in the 6 months ending June 30, 1950.

SEC. 3. Materials affected. This regulation applies only (a) to those materials listed in Table IA or Table IB (as amended from time to time) appearing at the end of this regulation, in the shapes and forms therein specified, or if no particular shape or form of any such material is specified, then in all shapes and forms of such material, and (b) to such other materials as may be made subject to it by any other NPA regulation or order.

SEC. 4. Persons affected. This regulation applies to all persons buying for use or resale, including resale in export trade, except an ultimate consumer with respect to the buying of materials for his personal or household use.

SEC. 5. Restrictions on receipts. (a) Except as provided in paragraph (b) of this section, no person may receive or accept delivery of any material listed in Table IA of this regulation, if his inventory of such material is, or by reason of such receipt would become, more than a practicable minimum working inventory.

(b) No person buying for use in production or construction or for use as maintenance, repair, or operating supplies, may receive or accept delivery of any material listed in Table IB of this regulation, if his inventory of such material is, or by reason of such receipt would become, more than a practicable minimum working inventory, or more than the smallest quantity thereof reasonably required to meet his deliveries or supply his services on the basis of his currently scheduled method and rate of operation during the next succeeding number of calendar days listed for that material in column 2 of Table IB, whichever is less.

(c) In figuring his inventory a person must include all such material referred to in paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section, in his possession or held for his account by others, but not that held by him for the account of others. For the purpose of the restrictions in paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section, a material which is to be further processed is considered to be in inventory until actually put into process or actually installed or assembled. For the purpose of this regulation, processing does not include minor initial operations, such as painting, and does not include any shearing, cutting, trimming, or other operation, unless such initial operation is a part of a continuous fabricating or assembling operation; nor does it include operations such as inspection, testing, and aging, or segregation or earmarking for a specific job.

(d) Any person engaged in a seasonal business or industry who normally stocks inventory in advance of the season may, notwithstanding the restrictions in paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section, accept such advance delivery of his seasonal requirements provided that the deliveries accepted are no greater and no further in advance than those which he would normally accept in the ordinary course of his business to meet reasonably anticipated seasonal requirements.

SEC. 6. Restriction on deliveries. No person may deliver any material if he knows, or has reason to believe, that the person requesting delivery is forbidden to receive it by this regulation.

SEC. 7. Restrictions on ordering. (a) No person may place any order calling for delivery of any material earlier, or in larger amounts, than he would be permitted to receive under this regulation.

(b) No person may place separate orders with the same supplier, or with different suppliers, calling for delivery in the aggregate of any material in excess of the amount he is permitted to receive under this regulation even though he intends to cancel one or more of the orders before delivery.

SEC. 8. Adjustment of orders. (a) A person who, prior to the effective date of any amendment to this regulation, has placed any order for a material calling for delivery earlier, or in greater quantities, than he is permitted to receive under this regulation must promptly cancel, reduce, or defer delivery under, every such order to the extent necessary so that delivery will not result in his exceeding his practicable minimum working inventory of such material. Nothing in this section shall affect any obligation of, or liability incurred by, a person under this regulation prior to the effective date of any amendment of this regulation.

(b) A person whose requirements change because of an alteration in his operations, slowing or stoppage of his production, or delayed delivery by suppliers, or for any other reason, must promptly cancel, reduce, or defer delivery under, his outstanding orders to the extent necessary so that delivery will not result in his exceeding his practicable minimum working inventory.

SEC. 9. Receipts permitted after adjustment of orders. Where a person has promptly adjusted his outstanding orders as required by section 8 of this regulation, delivery of the material involved may be made and accepted, and the restrictions on receipts of materials provided in this regulation may be exceeded, in any of the following cases only:

(a) If the supplier has shipped the material or loaded it for shipment before receipt of the instruction to adjust the order.

(b) If the material is a special item which, before receipt of the instruction to adjust the order, the supplier had in stock, or in production, or for the production of which he had acquired special components or special materials. For the purpose of this section a "special item" is one which the supplier does not usually make, stock, or sell, and which cannot readily be disposed of to others.

(c) If the material had already been produced or was in production before receipt of the instruction to adjust the order and cannot be used to fill other orders on the producer's books.

SEC. 10. Imported materials. A person may import any material acquired prior to landing without regard to the inventory restrictions of this regulation. However, if his inventory of a material thereby becomes in excess of the amount permitted, he may not receive further deliveries of it from domestic sources until his inventory is reduced to permitted levels. The inventory restrictions of this regulation do apply to any deliveries of the imported material he makes, and to the amount of it that any person accepting delivery from him is permitted to receive.

SEC. 11. Minimum production or sales quantities. In the case of materials that are mass produced or are normally marketed only in minimum sales quantities, a person may order and receive from a producer a minimum production run of such a material, or from any other supplier a minimum sales quantity, provided it is not practicable for him to procure his needs from other suppliers in smaller quantities, even though his inventory of such material is thereby increased beyond a practicable minimum working inventory. He may not thereafter receive additional quantities of such material until his inventory thereof is reduced below a practicable minimum working inventory.

SEC. 12. Excess inventory. This regulation does not provide for disposal of excess inventory which may be on hand. Excess inventory may, however, be subject to requisition under certain circumstances, as provided in section 201 (a) of Title II of the Defense Producton Act of 1950, as amended.

SEC. 13. Separate operating units. A person who has or may hereafter have more than one operating unit in his business may elect on or after July 23, 1952, to maintain separate inventory records for any of such units. After such an election has been made it may not at any time thereafter be changed without the prior written approval of NPA. The provisions of this regulation shall apply independently to any unit for which separate inventory records are maintained pursuant to this section.

SEC. 14. Relation to other NPA regulations and orders. Other or additional inventory restrictions are included in certain NPA orders and other regulations presently in effect, and may be included in NPA orders and other regulations issued in the future. The inventory restrictions of any such order or other regulation shall govern to the extent that they modify this regulation. Table II at the end of this regulation includes a list of materials with respect to which quantitative inventory restrictions are provided in the orders and other regulations listed in that table, in effect on the date specified in that table. Even if an NPA order or other regulation containing inventory restrictions is not listed in Table II, a person must nevertheless comply with such restrictions. Upon revocation in any manner of the inventory restrictions of an order or regulation listed in Table II, covering a material listed in Table IA or Table IB of this regulation, all provisions of this regulation shall apply to such material.

SEC. 15. Defense against claims for damages. Persons complying with this regulation are entitled to the protection afforded by section 707 of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, which provides in part that "No person shall be held liable for damages or penalties for any act or failure to act resulting directly or indirectly from his compliance with a rule, regulation, or order issued pursuant to this act, notwithstanding that any such rule, regulation, or order shall thereafter be declared by judicial or other competent authority to be invalid."

SEC. 16. Request for adjustment or exception. Any person affected by any provision of this regulation may file a request for adjustment or exception upon the ground that such provision works an undue or exceptional hardship upon him not suffered generally by others in the same trade or industry, or that its enforcement against him would not be in the interest of the national defense or in the public interest. In examining requests for adjustment or exception claiming that the public interest is prejudiced by the application of any provision of this regulation, consideration will be given to the requirements of the public health and safety, civilian defense, and dislocation of labor and resulting unemployment that would impair the defense program. Each request shall be in writing, by letter in triplicate, and shall set forth all pertinent facts, the nature of the relief sought, and the justification therefor.

SEC. 17. Records and reports. (a) Each person participating in any transaction covered by this regulation shall make and preserve, for at least 3 years thereafter, accurate and complete records of receipts, deliveries, inventories, production, and use, in sufficient detail to permit the determination, after audit, whether each transaction complies with the provisions of this regulation. This regulation does not specify any particular accounting method and does not require alteration of the system of records customarily used, provided such records supply an adequate basis for audit. Records may be retained in the form of microfilm or other photographic copies instead of the originals by those persons who, at the time such microfilm or other photographic records are made, maintain such copies of records in the regular and usual course of business.

(b) All records required by this regulation shall be made available for inspection and audit by duly authorized representatives of the National Production Authority, at the usual place of business where maintained.

(c) Persons subject to this regulation shall make such records and submit such reports to NPA as it shall require, subject to the terms of the Federal Reports Act of 1942 (5 U. S. C. 139–139F).

SEC. 18. Communications. All communications concerning this regulation shall be addressed to the National Production Authority, Washington 25, D. C., Ref: NPA Reg. 1.

SEC. 19. Violations. Any person who wilfully violates any provision of this regulation, or any other regulation or order of NPA, or who wilfully furnishes false information or conceals any material fact in the course of operation under this regulation, is guilty of a crime and upon conviction may be punished by fine or imprisonment or both. In addition, administrative action may be taken against any such person to suspend his privilege of making or receiving further deliveries of materials or using facilities under priority or allocation control and to deprive him of further priorities assistance.

NOTE: All reporting and record-keeping requirements of this regulation have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

NPA Reg. 1, as amended, shall take effect September 9, 1952.

SECTION 1. Scope of rules. (a) These general rules govern the procedure in administrative adversary proceedings before National Production Authority hearing commissioners. They shall be construed to secure simplicity in procedure, fairness in administration, and the just, speedy, and inexpensive determination of every proceeding.

(b) The principal office of the Chief Hearing Commissioner is at Washington 25, D. C. All communications to him should be addressed to the Chief Hearing Commissioner, National Production Authority, Washington 25, D. C., unless otherwise specifically directed.

SEC. 2. Hearings in adversary proceedings. (a) Administrative adversary proceedings are commenced by the filing with the Chief Hearing Commissioner of a statement of charges in letter or telegram form duly executed by the General Counsel of the National Production Authority. The Chief Hearing Commissioner shall in each case be provided with sufficient number of executed copies of the statement of charges for service thereof on each respondent plus three for the use of the Chief Hearing Commissioner and the hearing commissioner. The statement of charges shall show the name and address of the NPA attorney or attorneys who will appear for the National Production Authority.

(b) The statement of charges shall set forth the specific violations charged and shall contain a request for administrative action for the correction thereof.

(c) Following receipt of the statement of charges, the Chief Hearing Commissioner will forthwith designate a commissioner to hear the matter. The Chief Hearing Commissioner will also transmit the statement of charges to each of the respondents by registered mail (return receipt requested) or by telegram. If transmission is by telegram, an executed copy of the statement of charges will concurrently be transmitted by registered mail (return receipt requested). Accompanying the statement of charges will be a copy of NPA Rules of Practice 1 (Revised) and a notice containing the following:

(1) The name and address of the commissioner designated to hear the matter.

(2) A statement directing the respondent's attention to the provisions hereof concerning his right to file an answer within the period limited herein.

(3) A statement notifying the respondent of his right to appear at a hearing on a date and at a place to be fixed by the hearing commissioner when the charges will be considered.

(4) A statement advising the respondent of the importance of presenting in defense or explanation all facts and circumstances bearing on his alleged violations.

(d) The Chief Hearing Commissioner will furnish to the hearing commissioner two copies of the statement of charges and a statement of the date and method of transmission thereof to the respondent.

(e) In the event the respondent desires to contest the charges, he shall, within ten calendar days from the date of receipt by him of the statement of charges, file an answer with the hearing commissioner designated to hear the matter. The hearing commissioner may extend the time for filing the answer, and shall fix the date and place of the hearing and may extend the time or change the place of hearing. The answer shall contain a concise statement of the facts in the respondent's defense. Respondent shall specifically admit or deny or explain each of the facts alleged in the statement of charges unless the respondent is without knowledge, in which case respondent shall so state. Five copies of the answer shall be filed with the hearing commissioner. The original shall be signed in ink by the respondent, or an attorney at law who has been admitted to practice in any state or territory, or the District of Columbia. Where the respondent is a corporation or association, the answer may be filed through one of its officers or its attorney. An answer will show the office and post office address of respondent or his attorney. Execution of the answer by a respondent or by an attorney for a respondent in accordance herewith shall constitute an appearance by such party or counsel.

(f) Upon the filing of the answer, or at the expiration of the time for the filing thereof if no answer is filed, the hearing commissioner shall set the matter down for hearing. He shall give notice of the time and place of the hearing to all parties or their counsel of record. If no answer is filed, the hearing commissioner shall take action on the charges without further notice to the respondent. Each charge contained in the statement of charges shall be deemed to be denied unless the charge is specifically admitted by the respondent.

(g) At the close of the reception of evidence, or within a reasonable time thereafter fixed by the hearing commissioner, the parties may file for his consideration their proposed findings and conclusions, together with supporting briefs. Upon request of either party, oral argument thereon may be allowed by the hearing commissioner.

(h) All hearings shall be stenographically reported under supervision of the hearing commissioner. The original and a duplicate of the transcript of the official reporter shall be made a part of the record and shall constitute the sole official transcript of the proceeding. The delivery of transcripts contracted for by the National Production Authority covering hearings held throughout the United States, must be made to the hearing commissioner who will assume responsibility for the distribution of such copies after delivery. Transcripts may be supplied to respondents and to the public by the official reporter at their cost and at rates not to exceed the maximum rates fixed by contract between the National Production Authority and the reporter.

(i) The hearing commissioner will issue findings and conclusions and an order of disposition in each case. All orders of disposition shall be subject to appeal by the respondent or by the General Counsel of the National Production Authority.

(j) The hearing commissioner shall deliver a copy of his findings and conclusions, and an order of disposition, upon each party to the proceedings.

(k) Where the hearing commissioner concludes that the facts found constitute:

(1) The acquisition, possession, production, use, or disposition by a respondent of materials or facilities in an amount or in a manner not permitted by the National Production Authority regulations, orders, or directives; or

(2) A material misrepresentation by a respondent or in his behalf, to the National Production Authority, or to an authorized agency thereof, in any matter within the jurisdiction of the National Production Authority relevant to the allocation or distribution of materials or facilities; or

(3) Any other violations by a respondent of the National Production Authority regulations, orders, or directives relevant to the allocation or distribution of materials or facilities, he may issue a suspension order which may:

(4) Withdraw or withhold priority assistance from a respondent;

(5) Withdraw or withhold allocations or allotments of materials or facilities from a respondent;

(6) Prohibit or restrict a respondent in the acquisition, possession, production, use, or disposition of materials or facilities;

(7) Otherwise require compliance with the provisions of Title I of the Defense Production Act or with regulations, orders, or directives of the National Production Authority.

(l) The findings and conclusions and order of the hearing commissioner, together with the record, shall be promptly submitted, in duplicate, to the Chief Hearing Commissioner.

(m) Where the hearing commissioner concludes that the facts found do not constitute violations as set forth in paragraph (k) (1), (2), or (3) of this section, he will so find and will close the case by issuing an appropriate order of disposition.

(n) After a matter has been referred to a hearing commissioner and before he has issued an order of disposition with respect thereto, all motions and other pleadings shall be filed with such hearing commissioner, who shall take jurisdiction thereof insofar as they lie within his jurisdiction and who may dispose of them on such notice and terms as he may fix. An original and two copies of such motion or other pleading shall be so filed.

(o) Upon the issuance by a hearing commissioner of an order of disposition, his jurisdiction over the matter terminates. Thereafter any motions or other pleadings concerning the same matter shall be addressed to and filed with the Chief Hearing Commissioner who may in his discretion dispose of the same or may refer them to his deputy, to the hearing commissioner who entered the order of disposition, or to another hearing commissioner. When an order of disposition is entered by a hearing commissioner after reference to him of such a matter by the Chief Hearing Commissioner, an appeal with respect to such order of disposition is governed by the provisions of section 3 of this document.

(p) In any matter before a hearing commissioner, he shall, at the instance of either party, issue subpoenas requiring the attendance of witnesses for submission of testimony or for the production of documentary evidence relevant to the issues in such matter. Where the application for subpoena is for the production of documentary evidence, such application shall specify with reasonable particularity the books, papers, or documents desired.

(q) Witnesses under subpoena shall be paid the same fees and mileage as are paid witnesses in the courts of the United States. Witnesses whose depositions are taken, and the persons taking such depositions, shall severally be entitled to the same fees as are paid for like services in the courts of the United States. Witness fees and mileage, and fees for depositions, shall be paid by the party at whose instance witnesses appear.

SEC. 3. Appeals from orders. (a) Any party to a proceeding affected by the provisions of an order of disposition issued under section 2 (i) of this document may appeal from any or all of the provisions thereof to the Chief Hearing Commissioner. Upon appeal from an order of disposition, interlocutory rulings and orders shall be reviewed, but such interlocutory rulings or orders shall not be subject to appeal or review prior to the entry of an order of disposition.

(b) The National Production Authority, as well as the respondent, shall have the right of appeal hereunder.

(c) An appeal shall be initiated by filing an original and five copies of a notice of intention to appeal with the Chief Hearing Commissioner within 10 calendar days from the date of service of an order upon the appellant. An original and five copies of an appeal brief shall be filed with the Chief Hearing Commissioner within 30 days from the date of service of an order upon the appellant. The Chief Hearing Commissioner may extend the time for filing of notice of intention to appeal and may also extend the time for filing an appeal brief. The appeal brief shall set forth points and arguments advanced by appellant in opposition to the order and the findings and conclusions. The appeal may also set forth the effect of the order upon the appellant's operations. Arguments bearing on the policy embodied in the orders or regulations which respondent has been found to have violated will not be considered.

(d) Within 15 calendar days after the filing of an appeal brief, the other party may file an original and five copies of an answer to the appeal. A copy of any such answer shall be furnished the appellant by the Chief Hearing Commissioner. Within five calendar days from the receipt of the answer, appellant may file with the Chief Hearing Commissioner an original and five copies of a reply, a copy of which shall be furnished by the Chief Hearing Commissioner to the other party.

(e) The Chief Hearing Commissioner may permit the parties to appear and make oral presentation of the matter of appeal. Both parties will be given notice of the time and place of the hearing.

(f) The Chief Hearing Commissioner shall hear an appeal which he may either grant or deny in whole or in part and his decision thereon shall be final; or he may designate an appellate commissioner to hear an appeal. The appellate commissioner so designated will recommend action to the Chief Hearing Commissioner or, where authorized by the Chief Hearing Commissioner, he will either grant or deny the appeal in whole or in part and his decision thereon shall be final.

SEC. 4. Stays pending appeals. After the initiation of an appeal, the Chief Hearing Commissioner, or his deputy, upon a showing of irreparable harm, may in his discretion stay the provisions of the order appealed from, pending disposition of the appeal. An application for a stay must be made in writing to the Chief Hearing Commissioner.

SEC. 5. Temporary suspension orders and consent orders. (a) Upon application of the General Counsel and on showing of irreparable harm, the Chief Hearing Commissioner or his deputy may in his discretion at any time issue a temporary suspension order. In any such case, the application will be accompanied by a statement of charges. Whenever a temporary suspension order is issued without notice to the respondent and without opportunity to be heard, the respondent will be promptly advised of the issuance of such order and informed of the charges against him and of his right to be heard thereon and on the continuance in force of the temporary suspension order pending issuance of an order of disposition. A motion to dissolve a temporary suspension order shall be heard by the Chief Hearing Commissioner or his deputy upon such notice as may be fixed. A case in which a temporary suspension order has been issued and is outstanding shall be referred forthwith to a hearing commissioner and shall be heard and decided on the merits as soon as practicable. Except as provided in this paragraph, following the issuance of a temporary suspension order the matter will otherwise proceed in accordance with the other provisions of these rules.

(b) The Chief Hearing Commissioner or his deputy may, at any time, on the application of the General Counsel, direct the issuance of a suspension order upon the consent of the respondent, and the issuance of specific exceptions from, or authorizations under, suspension orders.

(c) The Chief Hearing Commissioner or his deputy may also, at any time, revoke or modify any suspension order by diminishing the period of suspension or the restrictions imposed though no appeal from the order has been taken by the respondent.

These revised rules shall take effect August 28, 1952.

Issued September 8, 1952.

WALTER H. FOSTER,
Chief Hearing Commissioner.

PROPOSED RULE MAKING

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE

Production and Marketing Administration

[7 CFR Part 722]

COTTON: NOTICE OF DETERMINATION TO BE MADE BY THE SECRETARY OF AGRICULTURE WITH RESPECT TO TOTAL SUPPLY AND NORMAL SUPPLY FOR MARKETING YEAR BEGINNING AUGUST 1, 1952

NOTICE OF PROPOSED PROCLAMATION WITH RESPECT TO NATIONAL MARKETING QUOTA FOR COTTON PRODUCED IN 1953

The marketing quota provisions of the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938, as amended (7 U. S. C. 1301-1376), require that whenever during any calendar year the Secretary of Agriculture determines that the total supply of cotton for the marketing year beginning in such calendar year will exceed the normal supply for such marketing year, the Secretary shall proclaim such fact and a national marketing quota shall be in effect for the crop of cotton produced in the next calendar year.

The terms "total supply" and "normal supply" of cotton are defined in section 301 (b) of the act as follows:

"'Total supply' of cotton for any marketing year shall be the carry-over at the beginning of such marketing year, plus the estimated production of cotton in the United States during the calendar year in which such marketing year begins and the estimated imports of cotton into the United States during such marketing year." The term "carry-over" is defined as the quantity of cotton on hand in the United States at the beginning of such marketing year, not including any part of the crop which was produced in the United States during the calendar year then current.

"'Normal supply' of cotton for any marketing year shall be the estimated domestic consumption of cotton for the marketing year for which such normal supply is being determined, plus the estimated exports of cotton for such marketing year, plus 30 per centum of the sum of such consumption and exports as an allowance for carry-over."

In the event the Secretary determines that the total supply of cotton for the marketing year beginning August 1, 1952, will exceed the normal supply for such marketing year, the Secretary is required to proclaim such fact not later than October 15, 1952, and a national marketing quota will be in effect for the crop of cotton produced in 1953.

The Secretary is required also to determine and specify in such proclamation the amount of the national marketing quota in terms of the number of bales of cotton (standard bales of five hundred pounds gross weight) adequate, together with (1) the estimated carry-over on August 1, 1953, and (2) the estimated imports during the 1953-54 marketing year, to make available a normal supply of cotton. The act provides that the national marketing quota for any year shall be not less than ten million bales or one million bales less than the estimated domestic consumption plus exports of cotton for the marketing year ending in the calendar year in which such quota is proclaimed, whichever is smaller.

In preparing to make the determinations required by section 342 of the act, the Secretary has under consideration section 371 (b) of the act which authorizes increases in or termination of marketing quotas and acreage allotments for any of the several commodities to which farm marketing quotas are applicable in case the Secretary finds such action necessary to meet a national emergency or a material increase in export demand.

Any person interested in the aforementioned determinations and proclamations to be made by the Secretary is invited to submit his views thereon in writing to the Director, Cotton Branch, Production and Marketing Administration, United States Department of Agriculture, Washington 25, D. C. All submissions must be postmarked not later than 20 days from the date of publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

Issued at Washington, D. C., this 5th day of September 1952.

[SEAL] HAROLD K. HILL,
Deputy Administrator.

[7 CFR Part 722]

COTTON: NOTICE OF DETERMINATION TO BE MADE BY THE SECRETARY OF AGRICULTURE WITH RESPECT TO TOTAL SUPPLY AND NORMAL SUPPLY OF EXTRA LONG STAPLE COTTON FOR THE MARKETING YEAR BEGINNING AUGUST 1, 1952

NOTICE OF PROPOSED PROCLAMATION WITH RESPECT TO NATIONAL MARKETING QUOTA FOR EXTRA LONG STAPLE COTTON PRODUCED IN 1953

The Secretary of Agriculture is preparing to determine, in accordance with the applicable provisions of the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938, as amended (7 U. S. C. 1301-1376; Pub. Law 585, 82d Cong., approved July 17, 1952), whether a national marketing quota is required to be proclaimed for the crop of extra long staple cotton to be produced in the calendar year 1953. Pertinent parts of the provisions of the act which are applicable to such determination are as follows:

"SEC. 347. (a) Except as otherwise provided by this section, the provisions of this part shall not apply to extra long staple cotton which is produced from pure strain varieties of the Barbadense species, or any hybrid thereof, or other similar types of extra long staple cotton designated by the Secretary having characteristics needed for various end uses for which American upland cotton is not suitable, and grown in irrigated cotton-growing regions of the United States designated by the Secretary or other areas designated by the Secretary as suitable for the production of such varieties or types.

"(b) Whenever during any calendar year, not later than October 15, the Secretary determines that the total supply of cotton described in subsection (a) for the marketing year beginning in such calendar year will exceed the normal supply thereof for such marketing year by more than 8 per centum, the Secretary shall proclaim such fact and a national marketing quota shall be in effect for the crop of such cotton produced in the next calendar year. * * *

"(c) All provisions of this Act, except section 342, subsections (h), (k), and (l) of section 344, the parenthetical provisions relating to acreages regarded as having been planted to cotton, and the provisions relating to minimum small farm allotments, shall, insofar as applicable, apply to marketing quotas and acreage allotments authorized by this section * * *."

The terms "total supply" and "normal supply" of cotton are defined in section 301 (b) of the act as follows:

"'Total supply' of cotton for any marketing year shall be the carry-over at the beginning of such marketing year, plus the estimated production of cotton in the United States during the calendar year in which such marketing year begins and the estimated imports of cotton into the United States during such marketing year." The term "carry-over" is defined as the quantity of cotton on hand in the United States at the beginning of such marketing year, not including any part of the crop which was produced in the United States during the calendar year then current.

"'Normal supply' of cotton for any marketing year shall be the estimated domestic consumption of cotton for the marketing year for which such normal supply is being determined, plus the estimated exports of cotton for such marketing year, plus 30 per centum of the sum of such consumption and exports as an allowance for carry-over."

The Secretary is also required to determine and specify in any proclamation of marketing quotas the amount of the national marketing quota in terms of the quantity of extra long staple cotton adequate to make available a normal supply of such cotton, taking into account (1) the estimated carry-over at the beginning of the marketing year which begins in the next calendar year, and (2) the estimated imports during such marketing year. The national marketing quota for cotton described in section 347 (a) of the act for any year shall not be less than the larger of thirty thousand bales or a number of bales equal to 30 per centum of the estimated domestic consumption plus exports of such cotton for the marketing year beginning in the calendar year in which such quota is proclaimed.

In preparing to make the determinations required by section 347 of the act, the Secretary has under consideration section 371 (b) of the act which authorizes increases in or termination of marketing quotas and acreage allotments for any of the several commodities to which farm marketing quotas are applicable in case the Secretary finds such action necessary to meet a national emergency or a material increase in export demand.

Prior to making any of the foregoing determinations with respect to the 1953 crop of extra long staple cotton, consideration will be given to any data, views and recommendations pertaining thereto which are submitted in writing to the Director, Cotton Branch, Production and Marketing Administration, United States Department of Agriculture, Washington 25, D. C. All written submissions must be postmarked not later than 20 days after the date of publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

Issued at Washington, D. C., this 5th day of September 1952.

3. For land not covered by applications referred to in paragraph 2, this order shall not otherwise become effective to change the status of the lands until 10:00 a. m. on the 35th day after the date of this order. At that time the land shall, subject to valid existing rights, become subject to application as follows:

(a) Ninety-one day period for preference-right filings. For a period of 91 days, commencing at the hour and on the day specified above, the lands affected by this order shall be subject to application by qualified veterans of World War II. All applications filed under this paragraph either at or before 10:00 a. m., on the 35th day after the date of this order shall be treated as though filed simultaneously at that time. Other persons claiming credit for service of veterans must furnish like proof in support of their claims. Persons asserting preference rights through settlement or otherwise, and those having equitable claims, shall accompany their applications by duly corroborated statements in support thereof, setting forth in detail all facts relevant to their claims.

4. Leases will be issued for a period of five years, at an annual rental of $10.00, payable for the entire lease period, in advance of the issuance of the lease. Leases will provide option to purchase at the appraised value of $100.00 to $200.00 per tract depending upon the size and location as indicated on the plat filed in the Land and Survey Office, Bureau of Land Management, Federal Building, Spokane, Washington. Before purchase may be allowed leases must have been in effect for a minimum period of 1 year and the land must have actually been used and developed for the purpose for which the lease issued. In the event the right to purchase has been exercised prior to the expiration of the 5 year lease period, the unused leasing fees paid may be applied to the purchase price. The United States reserves the right to reject any sale application and to cancel any lease if the property under application has been used or developed in such a manner as to detract from the value of the remaining tracts for residence purposes.

UNITED LIGHT AND RAILWAYS CO. AND AMERICAN NATURAL GAS CO.

NOTICE OF AND ORDER RECONVENING HEARINGS FOR PURPOSE OF TAKING TESTIMONY IN RESPECT OF RETAINABILITY OF MILWAUKEE SOLVAY COKE COMPANY

SEPTEMBER 3, 1952.

In the matter of United Light and Railways Company, American Light & Traction Company (now American Natural Gas Company); File Nos. 59-11, 59-17, 54-25.

By order dated December 30, 1947, the Commission, pursuant to section 11 (e) of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 ("act"), approved a plan ("Plan") filed by the United Light and Railways Company ("Railways") and American Light & Traction Company (now American Natural Gas Company—"American Natural"), registered holding companies, the purpose of which Plan was to bring American Natural's holding company system into conformity with the requirements of section 11 (b) of the act. In approving the Plan the Commission found, inter alia, that the operations of Milwaukee Solvay Coke Company ("Solvay"), a non-utility subsidiary of Milwaukee Gas Light Company ("Milwaukee"), in turn a utility subsidiary of American Natural, were at that time closely related to those of Milwaukee, and that retention of Solvay was economically necessary and appropriate to the operations of Milwaukee (Holding Company Act Release No. 7951). However, the Commission further found that upon the then anticipated changeover by Milwaukee from manufactured gas to natural gas a question would arise as to the retainability of Solvay. In its order approving the plan, the Commission ordered:

2. That jurisdiction be and it hereby is reserved to the Commission to take such further action as the Commission may deem necessary or appropriate to effectuate the requirements of section 11 (b) of the act, including, but not limited to, the retainability in the American (Light & Traction Company) system of Milwaukee Solvay Coke Company and the ordering of such steps as may be necessary to bring about compliance by American * * * with the provisions of section 11 (b).

It appearing that since the date of the Commission's order, Milwaukee has converted from manufactured gas to natural gas, and that, in light of this changed condition, the hearings on the proceeding with respect to the Plan should be reconvened for the purpose of taking testimony regarding the retainability by the American Natural system of its interest in Solvay, in accordance with the jurisdiction heretofore reserved by the Commission:

It is hereby ordered, That hearings in this proceeding be reconvened on October 6, 1952 at 10:00 a. m., e. s. t., before William W. Swift, hearing officer designated by the Commission for that purpose, at the office of the Securities and Exchange Commission, 425 Second Street NW., Washington 25, D. C., for the purpose of taking testimony upon the retainability of Solvay by the American Natural system. On that day the hearing room clerk in Room 193 will advise as to the room in which the hearing will be held. Any person who has not already filed his appearance in this proceeding and who desires to be heard or proposes to intervene herein shall file with the Commission, on or before September 15, 1952, his request and application therefor as provided in Rule XVII of the rules of practice of the Commission.

The Division of Public Utilities having advised the Commission that it has made a preliminary examination of the relationships among the companies in the American Natural holding company system, the character of the interests thereof and the properties owned and controlled thereby, to determine the extent to which the corporate structure of such holding company system and the companies therein may be simplified, unnecessary complexities eliminated, voting power fairly and equitably distributed among the security holders thereof, and the properties and businesses of such system confined to those necessary or appropriate to the operations of an integrated public utility system or systems under the standards of section 11 (b) of the act; and that upon the basis thereof the following matters and questions are presented for consideration, without prejudice to its specifying additional matters and questions upon further examination:

1. Whether there has been such a substantial change in the relationship of Solvay to the operations of Milwaukee and the American Natural system as to make the retention of Solvay no longer economically necessary or appropriate to the operations of Milwaukee or the American Natural system.

2. Whether the retention of Solvay in the American Natural system is necessary or appropriate in the public interest or for the protection of investors or consumers and not detrimental to the proper functioning of the system.

3. Generally, what further action, if any, should be taken by the American Natural system to bring it into compliance with the standards of section 11 (b) of the act:

It is further ordered, That at said hearing particular attention shall be directed to the foregoing matters:

It is further ordered, That jurisdiction be, and it hereby is, reserved to separate, either for hearing or disposition, in whole or in part, any of the issues or questions which may arise in this proceeding, and to take such other action as may appear conducive to an orderly, prompt, and economical disposition of the matters involved:

It is further ordered, That the Secretary of the Commission shall serve notice of the aforesaid reconvened hearing by mailing copies of this notice and order by registered mail to all parties and participants of record in this proceeding, the City of Milwaukee, and the Public Service Commission of Wisconsin, that notice be given to all other persons by publication of this notice and order in the FEDERAL REGISTER, and that a general release of the Commission in respect of this notice and order be distributed to the press and mailed to the mailing list for releases issued pursuant to the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935.

By the Commission.

UNITED GAS CORP.

ORDER REGARDING SUBORDINATION OF LOANS

SEPTEMBER 4, 1952.

United Gas Corporation ("United"), a gas utility subsidiary of Electric Bond and Share Company, a registered holding company, having filed an application pursuant to the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935, and having designated sections 9 (a), 9 (a) (1), 10 (b) and 10 (c) thereof as applicable to the proposed transactions which are summarized as follows:

United, together with the other holders of the outstanding 6 percent promissory notes of Carthage-Hydrocol, Inc. ("Hydrocol"), proposes the subordination of such notes to borrowings made and to be made by Hydrocol from June 6, 1952, to October 1, 1952, in the aggregate principal amount of not to exceed $3,000,000. There is presently outstanding $28,000,000 principal amount of such 6 percent notes of Hydrocol, of which the amount of $3,747,000 is held by United.

The Commission has previously authorized the subordination by United of its holdings of the 6 percent notes by Hydrocol to borrowings to be made by Hydrocol from June 6, 1952 to August 1, 1952, in the aggregate principal amount of not to exceed $2,000,000. Pursuant to such agreement, Hydrocol has borrowed from the Texas Company an aggregate principal amount of $1,000,000 and has issued its 6 percent notes therefor in like amount. The effect of the transaction herein proposed is to increase the amount which Hydrocol may borrow under the subordination agreement to $3,000,000, and to extend the date for such borrowings to October 1, 1952.

The application states that the funds to be obtained by Hydrocol from the borrowings will be used to enable it to continue its operations and to allow it sufficient time to work out a plan of reorganization.

Said application having been filed on August 11, 1952, notice of said filing having been given in the form and manner required by Rule U-23 promulgated pursuant to said act, the Commission not having received a request for hearing within the time specified in said notice, or otherwise, and the Commission not having ordered a hearing thereon; and

The Commission finding that the proposed transactions are in accordance with the applicable standards of the act, that it is unnecessary to impose terms or conditions in connection therewith, and deeming it appropriate to grant said application:

It is ordered, Pursuant to Rule U-23 and the applicable provisions of said act, and subject to the terms and conditions contained in Rule U-24, that said application be, and the same hereby is, granted, effective forthwith.

By the Commission.

After the issuance of said complaint and the filing of respondents' answer thereto, testimony and other evidence in support of and in opposition to the allegations of the complaint were introduced before a trial examiner of the Commission theretofore duly designated by it, and such testimony and other evidence were duly recorded and filed in the office of the Commission. It is ordered, That the respondent Book-of-the Month Club, Inc., its officers, representatives, agents, and employees, directly or through any corporate or other device, in connection with the offering for sale, sale, and distribution of books in commerce, as "commerce" is defined in the Federal Trade Commission Act, do forthwith cease and desist from: Using the word "free," or any other word or words of similar import or meaning, in advertising to designate or describe any book, or other merchandise, which is not in truth and in fact a gift or gratuity or is not given to the recipient thereof without requiring the purchase of other merchandise or requiring the performance of some service inuring, directly or indirectly, to the benefit of the respondent.

It is further ordered, That the complaint herein be, and the same hereby is, dismissed as to Harry Scherman and Meredith Wood as individuals, but not in their capacity as officers of respondent Book-of-the-Month Club, Inc.

It is further ordered, That respondent Book-of-the-Month Club, Inc., shall, within sixty (60) days after service upon it of this order, file with the Commission a report, in writing, setting forth in detail the manner and form in which it has complied with this order.

In the Matter of Hair Experts, Inc., a Corporation, and Robert W. Farrell, Harold E. Candler, and Abram Jacobson, Individually and as Officers of Said Corporation

This proceeding was heard by James A. Purcell, hearing examiner, upon the complaint of the Commission, respondents' joint answer, and respondents' substituted answer, which admitted all the material allegations of fact set forth in the complaint, with certain exceptions, which are apparent on the face of the record and correctly reflected in the findings.

Thereafter the proceeding came on for final consideration by said examiner, theretofore duly designated by the Commission, on the complaint and answer thereto, and proposed findings as to the facts and conclusions presented by counsel in support of the complaint—oral argument thereon not having been requested and respondents not having submitted proposed findings and conclusion—and said hearing examiner, having duly considered the record and having found that the proceeding was in the interest of the public, made his initial decision comprising certain findings as to the facts,[1] conclusions drawn therefrom and order to cease and desist.

No appeal having been filed from said initial decision of said trial examiner as provided for in Rule XXII, nor any other action taken as thereby provided to prevent said initial decision becoming the decision of the Commission thirty days from service thereof upon the parties, said initial decision, including said order to cease and desist, accordingly, under the provisions of said Rule XXII became the decision of the Commission on May 17, 1952.

The said order to cease and desist is as follows:

It is ordered, That the respondent Hair Experts, Inc., a corporation, and its officers, agents, representatives and employees, and the respondents Robert W. Farrell, Harold E. 1. Disseminating, or causing to be disseminated, by means of the United States mails, or by any means in commerce, as "commerce" is defined in the Federal Trade Commission Act, any advertisement which represents directly or though inference:

(a) That the use of said preparations, methods of treatments by their operators in their various places of business and by purchasers of their preparations, in their homes, will cause hair to grow when growth has ceased and resulted in thin hair or partial baldness.

(b) That the hair growing functions of the scalp will be rejuvenated.

(c) That fuzz on the scalp will be developed into normal hair.

(d) That the germicides included among their preparations will penetrate below the skin surface, kill bacteria there located and will destroy bacilli on the scalp surface.

(e) That their said preparations will prevent baldness, grow hair on bald heads and will enable an individual to maintain a thick growth of hair for life; will reopen clogged hair passages in the scalp, energize hair papillae, make sluggish blood circulation in the scalp normal, eliminate excessive falling hair, loose dandruff, itching and dryness and oiliness of the hair and scalp.

(f) That the preparations, treatments and methods used by respondents are new, scientific discoveries in the treatment of hair and scalp disorders.

(g) That the respondents, or any of the respondents' respective representatives, agents or employees are "Trichologists," or the use of any similar name which may tend to, or does by implication, either directly or indirectly, convey the idea or inference that such persons have had competent training in dermatology or other branch of medicine having to do with the diagnosis and treatment of scalp disorders affecting the hair.

By "Decision of the Commission and order to file report of compliance," Docket 5757, May 16, 1952, which announced and decreed fruition of said initial decision, report of compliance with the said order was required as follows:

PART 4—VESSELS IN FOREIGN AND DOMESTIC TRADES

REPORTS OF ARRIVALS AND DEPARTURES IN COASTWISE TRADE; FOREIGN COFFEE SHIPPED FROM UNITED STATES TO PUERTO RICO

Section 319 of the Tariff Act of 1930 authorizes the Legislature of Puerto Rico to impose duties on coffee imported into Puerto Rico, including coffee grown in a foreign country coming into Puerto Rico from the United States. The Legislature of Puerto Rico has imposed such duties.

In order to provide a control over such coffee shipped from the United States that will insure entry thereof and the payment of duty thereon in Puerto Rico, it is necessary that the carriers transporting the coffee from the United States to Puerto Rico file manifests for it in Puerto Rico.

Accordingly, § 4.81, Customs Regulations of 1943 (19 CFR 4.81), as amended, is hereby amended by redesignating paragraphs (c) and (d) as paragraphs (d) and (e) and by inserting a new paragraph (c) to read as follows:

TITLE 21—FOOD AND DRUGS

Chapter I—Food and Drug Administration, Federal Security Agency

PART 51—CANNED VEGETABLES; DEFINITIONS AND STANDARDS OF IDENTITY; QUALITY; AND FILL OF CONTAINER

PART 52—CANNED VEGETABLES OTHER THAN THOSE SPECIFICALLY REGULATED; DEFINITIONS AND STANDARDS OF IDENTITY

FINAL ORDER AMENDING DEFINITION AND STANDARD OF IDENTITY AND ESTABLISHING STANDARD OF FILL OF CONTAINER FOR CANNED MUSHROOMS

In the matter of amending the definition and standard of identity for canned mushrooms and adopting a standard of fill of container for canned mushrooms:

By virtue of the authority vested in the Federal Security Administrator by the provisions of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (secs. 401, 701, 52 Stat. 1046, 1055; 21 U. S. C. 341, 371), and upon the basis of the whole record and the reliable, probative, and substantial evidence received at the hearings held pursuant to notices published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on July 15, 1949 (14 F. R. 3922) and March 10, 1950 (15 F. R. 1310), and upon consideration of the exceptions filed to the proposed order issued by the Federal Security Administrator on February 24, 1951 (16 F. R. 1797, 2130), which exceptions are allowed in part and rejected in part, as appears from notations on the exceptions on file with the Hearing Clerk, Federal Security Agency, Room 5440, Federal Security Building, Fourth Street and Independence Avenue SW., Washington, D. C., and as is apparent from the detailed findings made below, the following order is promulgated:

Findings of fact.[1] 1. In 1937 there was established a standard of fill of container for canned mushrooms under authority conferred on the Secretary of Agriculture by the McNary-Mapes Amendment to the Federal Food and Drugs Act of 1906 (46 Stat. 1019; 21 U. S. C. 10).[2] This standard was in force until the act of 1906 was superseded by the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act of 1938. In 1939, a definition and standard of identity was established for canned mushrooms (21 CFR Part 52, Canned Vegetables Other Than Those Specifically Regulated). This standard provides that canned mushrooms are the caps and stems of mushrooms in the optional forms of buttons, whole, slices, or pieces and stems of mushrooms with water, sealed in a container and so processed by heat as to prevent spoilage. Optional ingredients permitted are salt, citric acid, a vinegar, spice, sugar, and corn sugar. The only optional ingredients known to have been used in canned mushrooms, however, are salt, for seasoning, and citric acid for obtaining a lighter color of the canned mushrooms. During World War II, when tin containers were in short supply, some mushroom canners canned mushrooms in glass containers. This experience revealed that mushrooms canned in glass appeared to become darker during storage. Ready sales, however, obviated prolonged storage during this period. Mushrooms canned in tin containers do not darken during storage but on the contrary, for a limited period, become lighter in color than when first canned. As the supply of tin increased, canners of mushrooms in glass returned to the use of tin containers. In 1948 and 1949, a canner of mushrooms interested in canning mushrooms in glass containers made experimental packs containing ascorbic acid and citric acid for retarding the color changes during storage. This canner applied for a hearing on a proposal to amend the standard of identity for canned mushrooms to include ascorbic acid as an optional ingredient. A hearing was held on this proposal (14 F. R. 3922) but before a tentative order was published application was made by the Cultivated Mushroom Institute of America to hold a second hearing to take additional evidence in opposition to the proposal to include ascorbic acid as an optional ingredient and also to take evidence on a proposal by the Cultivated Mushroom Institute of America to restrict the optional ingredients to water and salt. In granting this application, the Administrator on his own initiative also proposed to take evidence on a proposal to establish a standard of fill of container for canned mushrooms (15 F. R. 1310). A second hearing was held pursuant to this application. These findings are based on the evidence presented at both hearings. (R. 10, 18, 19, 21, 23, 28, 46–47, 54–56, 152–153, 158–159, 200–201, 237–239, 247, 248, 400, 507, 509, 513, 522, 566, 725, 733, 838–840, 841; Ex. 2, 16, 18)

2. Experimental packs of canned mushrooms prepared on a semicommercial scale show that such mushrooms canned in glass or tin containers with small quantities of citric acid and ascorbic acid are lighter in color than mushrooms of the same quality with only salt and water. This is true at any time after canning. When used together, citric acid and ascorbic acid have a greater lightening effect on color of canned mushrooms than either acid used alone. The effect on the color is increased as the quantity of acids added is increased, and this effect is more pronounced in tin containers than in glass. (R. 43–57, 290, 325–326, 330, 349, 734–735, 758; Ex. 8, 10, 11, 16)

3. To obtain high-quality canned mushrooms, the raw mushrooms used should be picked at optimum maturity for canning and canned promptly after picking. Sometimes, because of the recepit of a large supply of raw mushrooms by the cannery, or for other reasons, it may be necessary to hold the raw stock for a day or several days before canning. Such a holding period results in this raw stock becoming stale. All mushrooms undergo changes in color during the canning process. Stale mushrooms after canning are darker in color than they would be if canned when freshly picked. The addition of small amounts of citric acid in the canning process lessens the darkening that results from canning. This inhibiting effect is more noticeable when stale mushrooms are used than when fresh, high-quality mushrooms are used. The mechanism of the chemical action of dilute citric acid which results in a lighter color of the canned mushrooms is not definitely shown by the record, but it appears that its effect in lightening the color of mushrooms is caused by an intensified reaction between the contents of the container and tin. Citric acid is the only acid known to be commercially used for this purpose. There was evidence that other acid-reacting substances have been used but their identity was unknown to the canners who testified at the hearings. There also was evidence that the addition of any substance which lowers the pH will lighten the color of canned mushrooms. (R. 141–142, 193–194, 195, 224–225, 227, 230, 252–253, 330, 350, 522, 527–528, 530, 556–558, 568, 646, 648–649, 651, 653, 670–671, 692–693, 784; Ex. 8)

4. In determining the grade for canned mushrooms according to the standards promulgated by the Production and Marketing Administration of the United States Department of Agriculture, more importance is attached to the factor of color than to any of the other factors considered, such as uniformity of size and symmetry, absence of defects, and tenderness. The use of citric acid enables a canner to can stale mushrooms which are graded higher on the factor of color than such stale mushrooms would grade if canned without the addition of citric acid. The use of citric acid in canned mushrooms has not promoted honesty and fair dealing in the interest of consumers. (R. 159–160, 224, 248, 356, 367–368, 559–560, 646–647, 651; Ex. 15).

5. The lightening of the color during storage of mushrooms canned in tin containers with only water and salt appears to be due to a reaction of the packing medium with the tin of the container, although the mechanism causing the lightening is not known. When the acidity of the packing medium is increased by the use of any acid-reacting substance, this reaction is intensified. The reaction which affects the color of the canned mushrooms does not reach an equilibrium for some time, and the mushrooms in tin containers continue to become lighter in color during the first few months in which they are held in storage. (R. 355, 357–358, 693, 738)

6. The mechanism of the action of ascorbic acid on the color of canned mushrooms, when it is added in small amounts in the canning process, is not established. During processing there is an apparent reduction in the amount of ascorbic acid, which indicates a reaction of the ascorbic acid with oxygen inside the container. There is some increase in acidity when ascorbic acid is used, but its effect on the pH of canned mushrooms is less pronounced than that of like quantities of citric acid. (R. 74, 76, 82, 86, 350–354, 784, 805, 876; Ex. 8, 14, 16, 22)

7. The characteristic light tan color of canned mushrooms in tin containers prepared from mushrooms picked at optimum maturity and promptly canned furnishes purchasers a basis for judging the quality of canned mushrooms both in tin and glass containers. Since the color of mushrooms canned in glass containers is not as light as that of those in tin containers, the mushrooms in glass containers are at a disadvantage. By limiting the quantity of the ascorbic acid used so that its effect on the color of the mushrooms is to restrict darkening from oxidation, it is possible to obtain this desirable effect without likelihood of abuse. In the few experiments reported where the pH of the liquid drained from the canned mushrooms was determined, ascorbic acid alone in amounts not exceeding 150 milligrams per 4 ounces drained weight of mushrooms lowered the pH an average of approximately 0.25 when compared with the pH of similar mushrooms canned with water and salt only. It is unlikely that there will be abuse from the use of ascorbic acid alone, in amounts not greater than 150 milligrams per 4 ounces of drained mushrooms. (R. 21, 57, 78, 156–157, 190–191, 553–557, 581, 648, 727, 737, 799–800, 816, 876; Ex. 8, 9, 14, 16, 22)

8. The pH of mushrooms canned with water and salt as reported in this record varies from 5.9 to 6.7. The addition of an acid lowers the pH of canned mushrooms, depending on the acid used and the amount added. In conjunction with the proposal that no added acids be permitted, it was proposed to require that the pH of canned mushrooms be not less than 6.0. The data on the pH of canned mushrooms are not sufficient for prescribing such a limit. (R. 57, 181–183, 291–294, 300, 333–334, 376, 755, 876, 877; Ex. 8, 9, 14, 16, 22)

9. The McNary-Mapes amendment to the Food and Drugs Act of 1906 authorized the adoption of standards of quality, condition, and fill of container for most canned foods. The standard of fill of container for canned mushrooms promulgated by the Secretary of Agriculture in 1937 provided for minimum drained weights for mushrooms packed in ten specified containers, and for minimum drained weights based on a ratio of 1 ounce of drained mushrooms for each 3 cubic inches inside capacity for containers other than those specified. That standard became inoperative when the Food and Drugs Act of 1906 was superseded by the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act of 1938 and since that time there has been no standard of fill of container for canned mushrooms. (R. 839–842; Ex. 18)

10. It is the general practice of canners to blanch the fresh mushrooms in hot water or steam before packing into containers. This blanching results in some shrinkage of the fresh mushrooms that would otherwise occur during processing and might result in a slack fill. Even though the McNary-Mapes standard has not been in force for several years, canners of mushrooms have continued the practice of blanching and filling to meet the level prescribed under that standard. Compliance with the standard for fill of container for canned mushrooms has generally resulted in the containers being well filled with mushrooms. (R. 150–152, 220, 506–507, 552–553, 561, 587–588, 645, 650–651, 678, 829–831, 840–846, 851; Ex. 18, 19)

11. Canned mushrooms are now packed in substantial quantities in containers of sizes for which specific drained weights were not specified in the McNary-Mapes standard. Some of the containers formerly extensively used are now of minor importance. In standards of fill of container, canners generally prefer specific requirements as to the drained weights for containers extensively used rather than general requirements fixing drained weights calculated from the capacity of the container. The cans now extensively used and the drained weights of mushrooms found necessary to fill them properly are as follows:

Trade designation	Over-all dimensions of sealed can		Weight of drained mushrooms
	Diameter	Height
	Inches	Inches	Ounces (avoirdupois)
202 x 204	2⅛	2⅜	2
211 x 212	2 11/16	2¾	4
300 x 400	3	4	8
307 x 510	3 7/16	5⅛	16
603 x 700	6 1/16	7	68

(R. 552–553, 587–588, 650–651, 678, 839, 841–847, 851–852; Ex. 18–21)

12. Since containers of sizes other than those named in finding 11 may also be used, it is necessary to provide also for drained weights based on capacity of containers for which no specific requirements are made. A suitable and practicable method for determining the capacity of containers is the general method for determining water capacity of containers in 21 CFR 10.1. The following requirements for drained weights based on the water capacity of the container will insure that such containers are properly filled. For containers with a water capacity (at 68° F.) of less than 11 ounces avoirdupois, the drained weight of mushrooms is not less than 56 percent of the water capacity of the container. For containers with a water capacity of 11 ounces or more but less than 25 ounces, the weight of the drained mushrooms is not less than 59 percent of the water capacity of the container. For containers with a water capacity of 25 ounces or more, the weight of the drained mushrooms is not less than 62 percent of the water capacity of the container. (R. 841–842, 846–848, 851, 853–863; Ex. 6, 21)

13. A suitable and practicable method for determining the drained weight of canned mushrooms which is essentially the same as that prescribed in the McNary-Mapes standard is as follows: Tilt the opened container so as to distribute the contents evenly over the meshes of a circular sieve which has been previously weighed. The diameter of the sieve is 8 inches if the quantity of the contents of the container is less than 3 pounds, and 12 inches if such quantity is 3 pounds or more. The bottom of the sieve is woven-wire cloth which complies with the specifications for such cloth set forth under "2380 Micron (No. 8)" in table 1 of "Standard Specifications for Sieves," published March 1, 1940, in L. C.

[1] The citations following each finding of fact refer to the pages of the transcript of the testimony and the exhibits received in evidence at the hearing.

[2] This standard will hereafter be referred to as the McNary-Mapes standard.

584 of the U. S. Department of Commerce, National Bureau of Standards. Without shifting the material on the sieve, so incline the sieve as to facilitate drainage. Two minutes after drainage begins, weigh the sieve and drained mushrooms. The weight so found, less the weight of the sieve, shall be considered to be the weight of drained mushrooms. (R. 848–849, 863–864; Ex. 6, 18, 20, 21)

14. A label statement which adequately informs consumers when canned mushrooms fail to meet the prescribed standard of fill of container is the general statement of substandard fill specified in 21 CFR 10.2 (b). (R. 850–851; Ex. 6, 21)

Conclusions. Upon consideration of the whole record and the foregoing findings of fact, it is concluded that it will promote honesty and fair dealing in the interest of consumers:

(1) To amend the definition and standard of identity for canned mushrooms contained in § 52.990 by deleting citric acid, vinegar, spice, sugar, and corn sugar as optional ingredients and by making ascorbic acid in amounts not exceeding 37.5 milligrams per 1 ounce of drained mushrooms an optional ingredient.

(2) To adopt the standard of fill of container for canned mushrooms hereinafter set forth in § 51.503.

1. Section 52.990 (c) and (f) is therefore amended as set forth below:

§ 52.990 Canned vegetables; identity; label statement of optional ingredients.

(c) To the vegetable ingredient water is added; except that pimentos may be canned with or without added water, and sweet potatoes in mashed form are canned without added water, and asparagus may be canned with added water, asparagus juice, or a mixture or both. For the purposes of this section, asparagus juice is the clear, unfermented liquid expressed from the washed and heated sprouts or parts of sprouts of the asparagus plant; mixtures of asparagus juice and water are considered to be water when such mixtures are used as a packing medium for canned asparagus. In the case of artichokes, citric acid or a vinegar is added in such quantity as to reduce the pH of the finished canned vegetable to 4.5 or below. The following optional ingredients, in the case of the vegetables specified, may be added:

(1) Citric acid or a vinegar, in the cases of all vegetables (except artichokes, in which such ingredient is prescribed, and except canned mushrooms, in which no such ingredient is permitted), in a quantity not more than sufficient to permit effective processing by heat without discoloration or other impairment of the article.

(2) An edible vegetable oil, in the cases of artichokes and pimientos.

(3) In the case of potatoes, purified calcium chloride, calcium sulfate, calcium citrate, monocalcium phosphate, or any mixture of two or more such calcium salts, in a quantity reasonably necessary to firm the potatoes, but in no case in a quantity such that the calcium contained in any such calcium salt or mixture is more than 0.051 percent of the weight of the finished food.

(4) Snaps, in the cases of shelled beans, black-eyed peas, and field peas.

(5) Salt may be added to any of the canned vegetables in this section, in a quantity sufficient to season the food.

(6) In the cases of all vegetables (except canned mushrooms) one or more of the following optional seasoning ingredients may be added in a quantity sufficient to season the food:

(i) A vinegar.

(ii) Spice.

(iii) Refined sugar (sucrose).

(iv) Refined corn sugar (dextrose).

(7) In the case of canned mushrooms, ascorbic acid (vitamin C) may be added in a quantity not to exceed 37.5 milligrams for each ounce of drained weight of mushrooms.

The food is sealed in a container, and so processed by heat as to prevent spoilage.

(f) (1) If the optional ingredient specified in paragraph (c) (2) of this section is present, the label shall bear the statement "_____ Oil Added" or "With Added _____ Oil," the blank being filled in with the common or usual name of the oil.

(2) If the optional ingredient specified in paragraph (c) (3) of this section is present, the label shall bear the statement "Trace of _____ Added" or "With Added Trace of _____," the blank being filled in with the words "Calcium Salt" or "Calcium Salts," as the case may be, or with the name or names of the particular calcium salt or salts added.

(3) If the optional ingredient specified in paragraph (c) (4) of this section is present, the label shall bear the statement "With Snaps."

(4) If optional seasoning ingredient of paragraph (c) (6) (i) of this section is present, the label shall bear the statement "Seasoned with Vinegar" or "Seasoned with _____ Vinegar," the blank being filled in with the common or usual name of the vinegar.

(5) If optional seasoning ingredient of paragraph (c) (6) (ii) of this section is present, the label shall bear the statement "Spice Added" or "With Added Spice."

(6) If a vinegar, spice, and vegetable oil, or any two of these are present, the label may bear, in lieu of the statements prescribed in this section, showing the presence of such ingredients, a combination of such statements, as for example, "With Added Cider Vinegar, Spice, and Olive Oil."

(7) If asparagus juice is used as a packing medium in canned asparagus, the label shall bear the statement "Packed in Asparagus Juice."

2. Part 51 is amended by adding the following new section:

§ 51.503 Canned mushrooms; fill of container; label statement of substandard fill. The standard of fill of container for canned mushrooms is a fill such that:

(a) The weight of drained mushrooms in a container the dimensions of which are specified in the following table is not less than the weight of drained mushrooms prescribed in such table for such container:

Trade designation	Over-all dimensions sealed can		Weight of drained mushrooms
	Diameter	Height
	Inches	Inches	Ounces (avoirdupois)
202 x 204	2 1/4	2 1/4	2
211 x 212	2 13/16	2 1/4	4
300 x 400	3	4	8
307 x 510	3 7/16	5 5/16	16
603 x 700	6 3/16	7	68

(b) The drained weight of mushrooms in containers of a size not specified in paragraph (a) of this section is not less than 56 percent of the water capacity of the container, if such water capacity is less than 11.0 ounces avoirdupois; not less than 59 percent of the water capacity of the container, if such water capacity is 11.0 ounces or more but less than 25 ounces avoirdupois; and not less than 62 percent of the water capacity of the container, if such water capacity is 25 ounces avoirdupois or more.

(c) Water capacity of containers is determined by the general method provided in § 10.1 of this chapter.

(d) Drained weight is determined by the following method: Tilt the opened container so as to distribute the contents evenly over the meshes of a circular sieve which has been previously weighed. The diameter of the sieve is 8 inches if the quantity of contents of the container is less than 3 pounds, and 12 inches if such quantity is 3 pounds or more. The bottom of the sieve is woven-wire cloth which complies with the specifications for such cloth set forth under "2380 Micron (No. 8)" in table 1 of "Standard Specifications for Sieves," published March 1, 1940, in L. C. 584 of the U. S. Department of Commerce, National Bureau of Standards. Without shifting the material on the sieve, so incline the sieve as to facilitate drainage. Two minutes after drainage begins, weigh the sieve and drained mushrooms. The weight so found, less the weight of the sieve, shall be considered to be the weight of drained mushrooms.

(e) If canned mushrooms fall below the applicable standard of fill of container prescribed in paragraph (a) or (b) of this section, the label shall bear the general statement of substandard fill specified in § 10.2 (b) of this chapter, in the manner and form therein specified.

Effective date. These regulations shall become effective 90 days after the date of publication of this order in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

TITLE 32A—NATIONAL DEFENSE, APPENDIX

Chapter III—Office of Price Stabilization, Economic Stabilization Agency

[General Overriding Regulation 35]

GOR 35—PASS THROUGH FOR STEEL, PIG IRON, COPPER AND ALUMINUM COST INCREASES

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, Executive Order 10161, and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order No. 2, this General Overriding Regulation 35 is hereby issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

This General Overriding Regulation permits manufacturers who process steel, pig iron, copper, and aluminum to pass through at each stage of fabrication, the increases in ceiling prices which have recently been authorized for these metals.

On May 21, 1952, the Acting Director of the Office of Defense Mobilization directed the Office of Price Stabilization to increase the ceiling prices of brass-mill products and copper wire-mill products in order to meet the situation which had arisen when the Chilean Government terminated its agreement to sell copper to the United States at 27½ cents per pound. In compliance with this directive, Ceiling Price Regulation 68, covering brass-mill products, and Ceiling Price Regulation 110, covering copper wire-mill products, were amended on June 30, 1952, to provide substantial increases in the ceiling prices of these commodities.

On July 24, 1952, the Acting Director of Defense Mobilization directed the Office of Price Stabilization to increase prices for carbon iron and steel and other steel mill products. In compliance with this directive, Revision 1 of Supplementary Regulation 100 to the General Ceiling Price Regulation was issued on August 19, and steel producers subject to the voluntary agreement were simultaneously permitted to take the increases provided in this Revision. On September 4, 1952, Supplementary Regulation 116 to the General Ceiling Price Regulation was issued providing equivalent treatment for pig iron.

During July, the three major producers of aluminum applied for increases in their ceiling prices to reflect various cost increases which had been incurred in materials, freight, and labor. These applications were submitted under certain provisions of General Overriding Regulation 29, relating to commodities extremely critical to the defense program. Following the review of these applications, the Office of Price Stabilization on August 6, 1952, authorized price increases for aluminum pig and ingot and primary aluminum fabrications.

The ceiling price increases authorized for copper, brass, steel, and pig iron were substantially in excess of any amounts that could be justified by the existing standards of the Office of Price Stabilization and were granted only on the basis of specific directives of the Acting Director of the Office of Defense Mobilization. The increase for aluminum, while in accordance with agency standards, was permissible only in view of the extreme importance of that metal to the defense program.

The impact of these ceiling price increases on subsequent fabricators of these metals is very substantial in many cases. Ordinarily, however, such subsequent fabricators would be permitted to make corresponding adjustments in their ceiling prices only to the extent justified under existing agency standards particularly the Industry Earnings Standard. In view of the special circumstances involved in these metals price increases, however, the Director of Price Stabilization has determined that more specific action is required in order to protect subsequent fabricators from undue hardship resulting from the actions which the agency had been directed to take.

Following careful exploration of a number of alternative approaches, the Director has decided to permit this price increase for the three primary metals to be passed through at subsequent stages of fabrication without absorption and, of course, without pyramiding. This procedure will, in effect, restore the operating position of each subsequent fabricator to the same level which he would have experienced if it had not been necessary to increase the ceiling prices for the basic metals.

While this action thus compensates subsequent fabricators for the increases which had to be granted for the three basic metals, it is important to emphasize that it is limited to this objective only. It is not intended to provide or permit any adjustments for other changes in costs of any kind whatever. The effects of any other kind of cost increases on industries or individual concerns will continue to be considered in the future, as in the past, on the basis of existing agency standards. Where relief under such standards is appropriate, every effort will be made to grant it as promptly as possible.

In essence, this regulation provides, first, that primary processors of pig iron and steel, aluminum, brass and copper wire-mill products will be permitted to reflect immediately in their ceiling prices the exact amount of the cost increases which they have incurred as a result of the ceiling price increases authorized for these metals. For simplicity of administration, it has been assumed that the suppliers of these metals will in all cases have increased their actual selling prices by the exact amount authorized. While this may not be universally true, all the information available to the Office of Price Stabilization indicates that these metals have in the recent past and are currently being sold at ceiling. An appendix to the regulation lists the ceiling price increases authorized for pig iron and mill products. Adjustments may be made on the basis of these listed increases.

At subsequent stages of fabrication, the problem becomes more complex. There is no way in which a purchaser of electric motors, for example, can determine for himself the extent to which the manufacturer of motors has been permitted to increase his prices under this regulation. Moreover, there will be numerous cases in which fabricators may not wish to increase their actual prices by the full amount permitted under this regulation. It would obviously be inappropriate to permit manufacturers to pass through cost increases which they have not, in fact, experienced.

Under the regulation processors at subsequent stages may adjust their ceiling prices only when their suppliers at earlier stages of fabrication have raised their selling prices over their old ceilings. Generally OPS regulations have established ceiling prices for commodities at successive levels of fabrication in approximate relation to each other. For this reason, where selling prices at any stage of fabrication are below ceilings, processors at subsequent stages are usually able to absorb increases in their suppliers' prices until and unless these exceed the old ceilings.

The adjustments provided in this regulation are limited to those reflecting increases in costs of "manufacturing materials," which are defined as including only materials that enter directly into the commodities whose ceiling prices are being adjusted, and packaging materials and containers other than returnable containers. No adjustments can be taken to reflect increased cost of capital equipment. The cost of capital equipment represents an element of overhead, and the calculation of unit overhead involves too great complexities to permit its handling under this regulation. Moreover, the impact of changes in volume on unit overhead will generally be far greater than those resulting from the metals' price increases. Adjustments for any actual increases in overhead costs will therefore be considered under existing agency standards, on the same basis as any other cost elements.

The regulation establishes the following general procedure: Each processor who sells his product to other manufacturers for further fabrication, and who has raised his price above his previous ceiling, must provide each subsequent manufacturer with sufficient information to permit him to determine the amount of the cost increase resulting from this regulation. He can then calculate, in accordance with the procedures established in the regulation, the amount of the ceiling price increase to which he is, in turn, entitled. If he sells his product to other manufacturers for still further processing, he must, of course, provide similar notification. It is recognized that this notification procedure may be burdensome in some cases, but there is no other way in which subsequent manufacturers can obtain the information needed to determine the adjustments to which they may be entitled. However, the Office of Price Stabilization will undertake to review this procedure in the light of actual experience with a view to determining at an early date whether the procedure can be simplified consistent with the basic objectives of the regulation.

Moreover, it is clear that the difficulties involved will be least serious for the manufacturers who are most in need of price relief—those who purchase directly from the mill. They can readily make their adjustments on the basis of the information supplied in Appendix A. For some manufacturers of consumer durable goods, particularly for those who make a large number of different commodities, it may in some cases be difficult to compute an adjustment under this regulation. However, these manufacturers will not be affected as quickly or as strongly by the increased cost of mill products.

It is recognized also that the cost increases resulting from the adjustments permitted under this regulation may not all occur at one time, as far as any particular manufacturer is concerned. If he is purchasing a variety of products from different sources, he probably will not receive new shipments of all these products or from all these sources at any one time. Consequently, he may, at his option, adjust his ceiling prices step-by-step as soon as he is affected by any particular increase, or he may prefer to postpone his adjustments until he has clearer information with respect to the total impact of his increases. It would, of course, be preferable if all adjustments could be made simultaneously, but there is no way in which this can be done under the circumstances.

The regulation provides two general methods by which a manufacturer can calculate the adjustments to which he may be entitled. The first is by calculating an adjustment for an individual commodity on the basis of the materials-cost increases incurred for that individual commodity. For multi-product concerns, however, this procedure would involve serious difficulties and provision has therefore been made for calculating a group adjustment factor or factors. These factors can, of course, be applied only to commodities processed directly or indirectly from the three primary metals.

The regulation also makes appropriate provision for integrated companies which themselves manufacture the primary metals and also process them further into semi-manufactured or end products.

The regulation provides that each manufacturer who takes advantage of its provisions must keep accurate records of his calculations and transactions. It does not, at present, require any reports of these calculations or adjustments to be filed with the Office of Price Stabilization, but such reports may be required subsequently. For example, it may be decided to conduct surveys in particular areas to determine how well this regulation is accomplishing its purpose. In that event, reports may be required from representative manufacturers.

In the formulation of this regulation there has been consultation with industry representatives, including trade association representatives, to the extent practicable, and consideration has been given to their recommendations.

So far as practicable, the Director has given due consideration to the national effort to achieve maximum production in furtherance of the objectives of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, and to relevant facts of general applicability. In the judgment of the Director, the provisions of this regulation comply with all the applicable requirements with respect to the establishment of ceiling prices set forth in the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended.

Every effort has been made to conform this regulation to existing business practices, cost practices, or methods, or means or aids to distribution. Insofar as any provisions of this regulation may operate to compel changes in business practices, cost practices or methods, or means or aids to distribution, such provisions are found by the Director of Price Stabilization to be necessary to prevent circumvention or evasion of this regulation.

AUTHORITY: Sections 1 to 21 issued under sec. 704, 64 Stat. 816, as amended; 50 U. S. C. App. Sup. 2154. Interpret or apply Title IV, 64 Stat. 803, as amended; 50 U. S. C. App. Sup. 2101–2110, E. O. 10161, Sept. 9, 1950, 15 F. R. 6105; 3 CFR 1950 Supp.

SECTION 1. What this regulation does. This is an adjustment regulation. It permits manufacturers to adjust their ceiling prices in order to "pass through" increases in costs resulting from ceiling price increases for steel, pig iron, copper and aluminum. Adjustments may be made by primary processors as well as by manufacturers at subsequent stages of processing.

Primary processors calculate their adjustments on the basis of the increases authorized for steel-mill products by Revision 1 of SR 100 to the GCPR, and by parallel action for steel producers under the voluntary agreement; for aluminum-mill products by SR 113 to the GCPR; for pig iron by SR 116 to the GCPR; for brass-mill products by Amendment 1 to CPR 68; and for copper wire-mill products by Amendment 1 to CPR 110. These ceiling price increases are listed in Appendix A.

Subsequent processors calculate their adjustments on the basis of increases which their suppliers obtain and pass on to them under this regulation. Subsequent processors are to be notified of the increases made by their suppliers.

The adjustment provisions of this regulation do not apply to distributors since increases in manufacturers' prices may be passed through under the provisions of the applicable distribution regulations. However, manufacturers may request their distributors to notify them of the increases taken on commodities covered by this regulation.

SEC. 2. Coverage. This regulation applies in the United States, its territories and possessions, and in the District of Columbia. The adjustment provisions cover manufacturers who further process any of the products listed in Appendix A, or any commodities manufactured from such products. However, no adjustments may be made by sellers under CPR 93, Construction and Related Services and Sales of Installed Materials, and under CPR 156, Fabricated Structural Steel, Miscellaneous and Ornamental Iron, and Vessel Shop Products for Field Assembly or Erection. These two regulations provide for the use of current costs in the calculation of ceiling prices. Consequently, no adjustment for increased materials costs is required.

The notification provision covers both manufacturers and distributors who sell any of these products or commodities to manufacturers.

SEC. 3. When you may make your adjustments. The ceiling price adjustments authorized by this regulation may be made at any time convenient to you. You may decide for the present to make no adjustments or to take only part of your permitted increase. If so, you may later take whatever part remains, as well as any additional increases to which you may then be entitled.

It may, in some cases, be desirable to make more than one adjustment. For example, a manufacturer who buys both mill products and fabricated parts, will be affected immediately by the increase in the cost of his mill products, while his fabricated-parts costs may not rise for some period of time. In that situation, he may well decide to avail himself promptly of the adjustment to which he is entitled on account of the increase in the cost of his mill products. He may, if he wishes, make later adjustments for the increase in the cost of the fabricated parts.

SEC. 4. General description of how you make your adjustments. To make your adjustment you first find out what kind of cost increases entitle you to an adjustment. This is dealt with in section 5. You next learn how to determine the exact amount of the cost increase which may be reflected. This is spelled out in sections 6 and 7. Having found how to determine the kind and the amount of the cost increases which you may "pass through," you have a choice of two methods for adjusting the ceilings of the commodities to which the cost increases apply—an individual-commodity method and a group factor method.

Under section 8 you allocate cost increases on an individual-commodity basis. You adjust the old ceiling of a commodity to reflect the particular cost increases which apply to it. Under section 9 cost increases are allocated on a group basis. You calculate a percentage adjustment factor which represents the average increase for a group of commodities. This factor may then be used to adjust the ceilings of each of the commodities in that group.

If you cannot or are unable without undue burden to make your adjustments either by the individual-commodity method or by the group-factor method, you may propose an alternate method under section 10.

SEC. 5. Cost increases which entitle you to make an adjustment. This section relates only to the kind of cost increases which entitle you to make an adjustment. It does not cover either the amount of the cost increases or the method for making the adjustment.

(a) You may adjust your ceilings for increases incurred by you above your suppliers' old ceilings of any of the products listed in Appendix A or of any commodity made from any of these products, provided you use such product or commodity as a "manufacturing material." The term "manufacturing material" includes only materials that enter directly into the commodities whole ceiling prices are being adjusted, and packaging materials and containers, other than returnable containers. It does not include, for example, expendable tools or any materials used in replacing, maintaining, or expanding your plant and equipment.

You may make an adjustment only for increases above your supplier's old ceiling price. If your supplier was selling below his old ceiling and the increase he takes does not result in a selling price above the old ceiling, no adjustment may be made.

You need not, of course, make an adjustment for all eligible cost increases. For example, a manufacturer may be buying many different manufacturing materials from a large number of suppliers. However, only two of the increases entitling him to an adjustment are of real significance in his cost of production. He may, therefore, decide to limit his adjustment to the two important increases and ignore the rest.

(b) Exclusions—(1) Products listed in Appendix A. No adjustment may be taken under this regulation on sales by the manufacturer of any of the products listed in Appendix A. However, if you are a manufacturer of any such products, and also use them in the manufacture of processed commodities, you should refer to section 14, which deals specifically with this problem.

(2) Conversion steel. No adjustments for the use of conversion steel may be made under this regulation. Adjustment provisions for users of conversion steel are available in other OPS regulations. These provisions can continue to be used as before.

(3) Imported steel. No adjustment may be made under this regulation for any increases in the cost of imported steel.

SEC. 6. How to determine the amount of your cost increase on mill products and pig iron. To make the calculation of an adjustment on these manufacturing materials as simple as possible, two appendices have been added to this regulation.

(a) Purchases from mill suppliers. Appendix A lists the authorized ceiling price increases for steel, aluminum, brass and copper wire-mill products, and for pig iron. If you purchase any of these materials directly from the manufacturer, you may reflect in your adjustment the full amount of the listed increases. This regulation does not require (with one exception later noted) manufacturers of any of these materials to notify their customers of their increases because it is presumed they have been selling at their old ceilings and will take the listed increases in full. You may, therefore, make your adjustment immediately to reflect the appropriate amount of the listed increases.

(b) Purchases from warehouses. If you normally purchase any steel products from a warehouse you must turn to Appendix B. That appendix lists the authorized warehouse markups for the steel products listed in Appendix A. In order to obtain the adjustment to which you are entitled you add to the increase listed in Appendix A the warehouse markup listed in Appendix B.

Whether you are entitled to take the warehouse increase on a particular material depends on where you obtained your supply of that material during your last complete fiscal year ending not later than July 31, 1952. If during that period you bought 75 percent or more (by weight) of that material directly from mills, you may take only the increase listed in Appendix A.

If you bought more than 25 percent (by weight) of that material from warehouses, you must use the average increase weighted on the basis of the amount bought from each class of supplier during your last complete fiscal year. You calculate this average increase as follows:

(1) Multiply the physical amount bought from mills by the increase listed in Appendix A.

(2) Multiply the physical amount bought from warehouses by the warehouse increase (Appendix A increase, plus mark-up factor listed in Appendix B).

(3) Add the results obtained under (1) and (2).

(4) Divide the result under (3) by the total quantity of the material bought from both sources. This gives you the amount of the cost increase you are permitted to pass through in making your adjustment.

(c) Increases not listed in appendices. If you are unable to find the authorized increase for a steel-mill, aluminum-mill brass-mill, copper wire-mill or pig iron product in the appendices you should write to your supplier. He is legally required to inform you of his authorized ceiling price increase within 14 days of the time he receives your inquiry.

Example 1. You are a manufacturer of steel stampings, and during your last fiscal year you purchased 100 percent of your cold-rolled carbon steel sheet from a warehouse located in the New York metropolitan area. The increase for carbon steel sheet as shown in Appendix A is $4.50 a ton. The warehouse markup as shown in Appendix B is 46 percent. 46 percent of $4.50 is $2.07. Applying this markup to the mill price increase of $4.50 ton, gives you $6.57 per ton as the amount you may use in calculating your permitted increase for steel stampings.

Example 2. The facts are the same as above except that you purchased only 20 percent of your steel sheet from a warehouse, and the rest from a steel mill. You may only use $4.50 per ton as your cost increase for steel sheet.

Example 3. The facts are the same except that you purchased 60 percent of your steel sheet from a warehouse and 40 percent from a mill. Assuming your total purchases were 10,000 tons, your calculations would be as follows:

	Tons purchased	Cost increase per ton	Total cost increase
Mill	4,000	$4.50	$18,000
Warehouse	6,000	6.57	39,420
Total	10,000		57,420

Increase per ton is $57,420 divided by 10,000 tons, or $5.74 per ton.

SEC. 7. How to determine the amount of your cost increase on manufacturing materials made from mill products or pig iron.—(a) Where 75 percent or more of the particular manufacturing material was bought from one class of supplier during your last complete fiscal year ending not later than July 31, 1952. You may reflect in your adjustment for a particular manufacturing material the increase in his selling price above his old ceiling which your largest regular supplier has taken under this regulation. You may not make an adjustment until (1) you have received a shipment from your largest regular supplier, in an amount equal to a normal order, at a price above his old ceiling; and (2) he has given you appropriate notification of his increase, as required by section 13. However, if you are unable to obtain delivery of that particular material from your largest regular supplier, and you have obtained a shipment in an amount equal to a normal order from another supplier of the same class, you may make your adjustment on the basis of the increase in his selling price above his old ceiling (for sales to the class of purchaser to which you belong) taken by that supplier.

(b) Where less than 75 percent of the particular manufacturing material was bought from one class of supplier during your last complete fiscal year ending not later than July 31, 1952. You have a choice of two methods:

(1) You may reflect in your adjustment the increase in his selling price above his old ceiling taken by the manufacturing supplier from whom you bought the largest amount of the particular material during your last fiscal year ending not later than July 31, 1952. You may not make an adjustment until (i) you have received a shipment from your largest manufacturing supplier in an amount equal to a normal order, at a price above his old ceiling; and (ii) he has given you appropriate notification of his increase as required by section 13. However, if you are unable to obtain delivery of the particular material from your largest manufacturing supplier, and you have obtained shipment in an amount equal to a normal order from another manufacturing supplier, you may make an adjustment on the basis of the increase in his selling price above his old ceiling (for sales to the class of purchaser to which you belong) taken by that supplier.

(2) You may reflect in your adjustment an average increase weighted on the basis of the amount of the material bought from each class of supplier during your last complete fiscal year, ending not later than July 31, 1952, calculated as follows:

(i) Multiply the physical amount bought from all manufacturing suppliers, by the increase taken by your largest manufacturing supplier.

(ii) Multiply the physical amount bought from all distributors, by the increase taken by your largest distributor supplier. (The term "distributor" includes warehouse, wholesaler and jobber.)

(iii) Add the results of (i) and (ii). Divide this sum by the total quantity of the manufacturing material bought from all sources. This gives you the average increase you are permitted to pass through in making your adjustment.

NOTE: You may not make an adjustment under this method until first, you have received a shipment from your largest manufacturing supplier and from your largest distributor supplier, each in an amount equal to a normal order, and at a price above his old ceiling; and, second, you have received appropriate notification of increases as required by section 13. However, if you are unable to obtain delivery of the particular material from either supplier, and you have obtained shipment in an amount equal to a normal order from another supplier of the same class, you may make an adjustment on the basis of the increase in his selling price above his old ceiling (for sales to the class of purchaser to which you belong) taken by that supplier.

SEC. 8. How to calculate an adjusted ceiling price for an individual commodity. To calculate an adjusted ceiling price for an individual commodity you must do the following:

(a) List the physical amount, used in the production of one unit of the commodity, of each "manufacturing material" for which you are entitled to make an adjustment, and for which you have decided to make one. The "unit" of the commodity is the one in which you customarily quote your price, for example, each, dozen, gross, thousand, lb., ton.

(b) List the dollar-and-cent amount of the cost increase which you are permitted to reflect for each of the materials listed in (a). The increase should be shown on the basis of the unit in which you normally buy the materials, for example, each, dozen, gross, thousand, lb., ton.

(c) Multiply the physical amount of each material listed in (a) by its cost increase listed in (b). This gives you the adjustment to which you are entitled for each manufacturing material.

(d) Add up the individual increases found in (c). This gives you the dollar-and-cent figure representing your total adjustment. You add this to the ceiling price of the commodity, to its largest buying class of purchaser, in order to obtain your adjusted ceiling price. For sales to other classes of purchasers you apply your customary differentials, between classes of purchasers. You must continue to use the same terms and conditions of sale.

NOTE: You may not calculate an adjusted ceiling price for any individual commodity which belongs to a group of commodities for which you have determined an adjustment factor under section 9.

Example: You are producing an electric fan. You purchase carbon-steel sheets direct from the steel mill, and the armature and bearings from parts manufacturers. Prices for other items in your bill of materials were not raised above suppliers' old ceilings.

EXAMPLE: ELECTRIC FAN

Purchased materials	Unit of purchase	Physical amounts required per generator	Increase shown in App. A	Suppliers' old ceiling	Suppliers' new selling price	Increase in suppliers' selling price over old ceiling	Increase per unit of commodity
Carbon steel sheet	Tons	4 pounds	$4.50/ton				$0.009
Armature and field	Unit	1		$3.00	$3.30	$.30	.30
Bearings	do	2		1.00	1.06	.06	.12
Total permitted increase							.429

SEC. 9. How to calculate a group factor. (a) You may calculate a group factor for any unit of your business not larger than a plant. You may use a unit smaller than a plant if you keep accounting records adequate to permit you to make the necessary calculations. You may calculate a group factor for your entire business if you operate in a single plant.

If you choose this method, you must use it for all commodities made in the unit of your business which you have used. You cannot make a section 8 adjustment for any commodity produced in that unit of your business.

(b) List the physical amount used by the unit of your business during your last complete fiscal year ending not later than July 31, 1952, of each manufacturing material for which you are entitled to make an adjustment, and for which you have decided to make one.

(c) List the dollar-and-cent amount of the cost increase which you are permitted to reflect for each of the materials listed in (b). The increase should be shown on the basis of the unit or quantity in which you normally buy the material, for example, each, dozen, gross, thousand, lb., ton.

(d) Multiply the physical amount of each material listed in (b) by its price increase found in (c).

(e) Add up the individual increases. This gives you the total materials cost increase which you are permitted to reflect.

(f) Divide the result under (e) by the net sales of all commodities produced in that unit of your business during your last complete fiscal year ending not later than July 31, 1952, adjusted (as indicated below) for changes in your finished-goods inventory and for transfers to other units of your business. (You must use the same fiscal year used in paragraph (b)). The resulting percentage is your group factor.

(1) The inventory adjustment is made as follows:

(i) Find the values at the beginning and at the end of your last complete fiscal year, of your finished-goods inventory for the unit of your business. You must use the value as shown on the records which you keep for tax purposes.

(ii) Add the value of your end-of-the-year inventory to your net sales.

(iii) From the total under (ii) subtract the value of your beginning-of-the-year inventory. This gives you the figure by which you divide the result under (e).

(2) You must include in net sales the value of any commodity or material transferred from that unit to another unit of your business. The value shall be that shown on your records. If your records do not show a value, you may not use that unit for making your calculations.

(3) To obtain an adjusted ceiling price for a commodity included in the unit of your business you multiply the ceiling price of the commodity, to its largest buying class of purchaser, by the group factor. This gives you a dollar-and-cent figure which you add to the ceiling price of the commodity, to its largest buying class of purchaser, to obtain your adjusted ceiling price. For sales to other classes of purchasers you apply your customary differentials between classes of purchasers. You must continue to use the same terms and conditions of sale.

NOTE: You may not apply the group factor to any commodity which does not contain at least one of the materials listed in paragraph (b) even though that commodity is made by the unit of your business for which the factor was determined.

Example: You are producing a line of refrigerators in a separate unit of your business and you wish to calculate a group factor to be applied to the ceiling prices of all the refrigerators produced in that unit. You buy cold-rolled sheet steel and stainless steel direct from the mill, and you purchase your refrigeration units and miscellaneous accessories from parts manufacturers. In such a case your calculations might take the following form:

Purchased materials	Physical amounts used in last complete fiscal year	Permitted increase	Total permitted increase for materials
Cold rolled sheet steel	3,000 tons	$4.50 per ton	$13,500
Refrigerating unit:
¼ hp	80,000 units	$8.50 per unit	680,000
¾ hp	20,000 units	$15.50 per unit	310,000
Stainless steel	500 tons	$27.00 per ton	13,500
Insulation material (no pass-through permitted by this GOR)
Miscellaneous steel parts:
Handles	100,000 units	$0.013 per unit	1,300
Hinges	16,000 dozen	$0.10 per dozen	1,600
Nuts	1,000 pounds	$0.05 per pound	50
Bolts	1,000 pounds	$0.05 per pound	50
			(A) 1,020,000

Adjusted net sales calculated as follows:

Sales 1951	$19,500,000
Plus ending inventory of finished goods	2,500,000
	22,000,000
Less beginning inventory of finished goods	2,000,000
Adjusted net sales		(B) $20,000,000

Divide total dollar increase (A) by adjusted net sales (B) $\frac{1,020,000}{20,000,000} = 5.1$ percent

You use the 5.1 percent to adjust your old ceiling prices for all commodities made in that unit.

Commodities	Old ceiling price	5.1% × old ceiling price (amount which may be passed through)	New ceiling price
Semi DeLuxe 8.2 cubic feet	$152.91	$7.80	$160.71
Stripped 8.1 cubic feet	137.18	6.99	144.17
Stripped 6.1 cubic feet	117.11	5.97	123.08

SEC. 10. Option to propose an alternate method for calculating adjusted ceiling prices. If you find that you cannot or are unable without undue burden to calculate adjusted ceiling prices under either section 8 or section 9, you may propose an alternate method. An alternate method will be approved only where there is a clear showing that use of section 8 or section 9 would be impossible or unduly burdensome.

You should submit your proposed method in writing to the Office of Price Stabilization, Washington 25, D. C. Your proposal should be identified as an "Application under Section 10 of GOR 35" and must include the following:

(a) A statement of the reasons why the use of sections 8 and 9 would be impossible or unduly burdensome.

(b) A detailed step-by-step description of the method you propose.

(c) A clear demonstration, including the use of representative commodities made by you, showing that the proposed method will produce substantially the same results as sections 8 and 9.

The Director of Price Stabilization may approve your proposal in whole or in part, modify or reject it. Unless and until you have received written approval from him you may not use your proposal.

SEC. 11. Subsequent adjustments. You may wish to make more than one adjustment in order to reflect cost increases, not reflected in your previous adjustment, to which you are entitled under this regulation. If you have calculated an individual-commodity adjustment under section 8, you may simply add the additional increases, calculated under section 8, to your previously adjusted ceiling price.

If you have calculated a group adjustment factor under section 9, there are two ways of obtaining a new group factor. First, you may make the calculations prescribed by section 9, using both the old increases, reflected in your first group factor, and the additional increases which you now wish to reflect. Second, you may calculate a separate factor under section 9, representing only the additional increases not reflected in your first adjustment. This separate factor must then be added to your original group factor to give you your new group factor. Whether you use the first or the second method, the new group factor must be applied to the unadjusted ceiling prices of the commodities included in the group.

You may not change the unit of your business to which the group factor applies. The new group factor must apply to the same unit to which the old factor applies. However, group factors may be applied to new commodities brought out in the unit of your business to which the factor applies. This is spelled out in section 12.

SEC. 12. Adjustment of ceiling prices for new, modified, and minor-change commodities. You may adjust under this regulation ceiling prices established under the new commodity provisions of the basic regulation covering your commodities. The way you make your adjustment will depend on how the ceiling price of the new commodity is established.

(a) Ceiling prices established by a comparison technique. The ceiling price of any "modified" commodity, any "minor-change" commodity, or any other new commodity which is established by reference to the unadjusted ceiling price of a comparison commodity may be adjusted in one of two ways.

(1) If the new commodity is made in a unit of your business for which you have calculated a group factor under section 9, you may apply that factor to the ceiling price of the new commodity.

(2) If the new commodity is not made in a unit of your business for which you have calculated a group factor, you may make an individual commodity adjustment under section 8.

Example: You have calculated a group factor of 2 percent under section 9 for the unit of your business in which you produce laundry washers and driers. You now introduce a new model drier, Model Z, which is similar to Models X and Y, models currently in your line. The unadjusted ceiling prices of Models X and Y under CPR 22 are $100 and $110 respectively. (Their adjusted ceiling prices under this regulation are $102 (100×102 percent) and $112.20 (110×102 percent) respectively.) You determine the ceiling price of the new commodity under section 4 of CPR 161. In doing so you use as the ceiling prices of Models X and Y their unadjusted ceiling prices of $100 and $110 respectively. Your unadjusted ceiling price for Model Z under section 4 of CPR 161 is $105. You apply the 2 percent group factor to this ceiling price. The result is $107.10. This is your adjusted ceiling price for your Model Z drier.

(b) Ceiling prices established by reference to competitors' prices.—(1) Where established before September 10, 1952. (i) If the commodity is made by a unit of your business for which you have calculated a group factor under section 9, you may apply that factor to the ceiling price of the new commodity.

(ii) If the new commodity is not made by a unit of your business for which you have calculated a group factor, you may make an individual commodity adjustment under section 8.

(2) Where established after September 10, 1952. There are two alternatives:

(i) If your competitor makes an adjustment, under this regulation of the ceiling price which you "borrowed," you may make a comparable adjustment of your ceiling price.

(ii) You may apply in writing to the Office of Price Stabilization, Washington 25, D. C., for an adjustment of your ceiling price. Your application must be identified as an "Application under section 12 (b) (2) 08 GOR 35" and must include a statement of the amount of the increase in the cost of your manufacturing materials resulting from increases in the cost of products listed in Appendix A, or of increases above suppliers' old ceiling prices of commodities processed from such products. You can combine this application with the initial report that may be required in order to establish the ceiling price under your basic regulation. In other words, you may request that increased steel, copper and aluminum costs be reflected immediately.

(c) Ceiling prices established by letter order—(1) Where established before September 10, 1952. (i) If the commodity is made by a unit of your business for which you have calculated a group factor under section 9, you may apply that factor to the ceiling price of the new commodity.

(ii) If the new commodity is not made by a unit of your business for which you have calculated a group factor, you may make an individual commodity adjustment under section 8.

(2) Where established after September 10, 1952. The letter order establishing your ceiling price will indicate whether and how you may make an adjustment. The order will also indicate the unadjusted ceiling price of which you advise your purchasers, in compliance with the notification provision.

(d) Ceiling prices established by a manufacturer's individual formula. You may adjust a ceiling price calculated by an individual formula established under the basic regulation covering your commodities. There are two ways in which such a ceiling price can be adjusted.

(1) If the commodity is made by a unit of your business for which you have calculated a group factor under section 9, you may apply that factor to the ceiling price of the new commodity.

(2) If the new commodity is not made by a unit of your business for which you have calculated a group factor, you may make an individual-commodity adjustment under section 8.

SEC. 13. Notification of unadjusted ceiling prices—(a) Mandatory notification by manufacturers who adjust their ceiling prices. In order to enable manufacturers who buy from you to pass through the increase which you have put into effect, it is essential that they be able to determine the amount of the increase in your selling price above your unadjusted ceiling price. The first time you deliver a commodity at a price exceeding your unadjusted ceiling you must notify any purchaser who is himself engaged in manufacturing operations or who normally resells to manufacturers.

It is recommended that you inform your purchaser of your unadjusted ceiling price on the first invoice on which you bill him at a price exceeding that old ceiling. He is then able to determine the amount he can pass through, not merely on the first increase you take over your old ceiling but also for all subsequent increases, in case you do not immediately put into effect the full amount of the adjustment to which you are entitled. However, you may, if you wish, use any other method of notifying him that is more convenient for you. For example, you may send your purchaser a single list showing the unadjusted ceiling prices of all the commodities which he buys from you, for which you are going to charge more than the unadjusted ceiling price. Again, you may specify the dollar-and-cent amount or the percentage by which your selling price exceeds your unadjusted ceiling price; further notification would, of course, then, be necessary in the event you make later adjustments and increase your selling price.

(b) Notification by distributors and by manufacturers of mill products where requested by buyers. (1) Manufacturers who buy from distributors have the right to request notification of the amount of the increase in selling price in excess of the distributor's old ceiling. This is the amount by which the distributor's supplier has increased his selling price over his old ceiling, because of the steel, copper and aluminum increases, plus the markup taken by the distributor on the amount of his supplier's increase.

(2) In some cases buyers of steel-mill, aluminum-mill, brass-mill, copper wire-mill products and of pig iron may be unable to determine the amount of their suppliers' increase from the information in the appendices. They must, then, turn to their suppliers for the required information.

(3) Where notification is requested, an answer must be given within 14 days after receipt of the request.

SEC. 14. Integrated manufacturers and transferred materials. This section deals with a manufacturing material which you produce in one unit of your business and transfer to another unit of your business where it is used in producing a commodity whose ceiling price you wish to adjust. Such a manufacturing material (which is referred to as a "transferred material") may also be sold to another person.

You may make an adjustment for the cost increase to which you are entitled, at any stage of processing where it is convenient for you to do so. However, regardless of the stage at which you decide to make your adjustment, you may not make an additional adjustment at a subsequent stage, for the same material, but must simply pass through the adjustment made at the earlier stage. Therefore, the adjustment permitted on one processed commodity can in no event exceed the increases on the materials going into it. Appropriate records must be kept, indicating how adjustments for transferred materials were made between different units of your business.

No adjustment may be taken under this regulation on sales of any of the products listed in Appendix A. However, if you manufacture such products and are also engaged in further processing—using these products as manufacturing materials—you may adjust the ceiling price of the processed commodity to reflect the increase for the manufacturing material listed in Appendix A.

You will ordinarily find it simplest to base your adjustment on the increase, shown in Appendix A, for the manufacturing material which is at the most advanced stage of fabrication.

Example 1. You are a manufacturer of steel wire, which you produce from steel rod which you purchase. Steel wire is included in Appendix A, and consequently you may not adjust your price for wire under this regulation to reflect the increased cost of rod. (You take the increase under Revision 1 of SR 100 to the GCPR.)

Example 2. You are a manufacturer of aluminum houseware, which you produce from aluminum sheet which you roll yourself from pig aluminum which you purchase. You also sell some sheet. You may not increase the price of sheet under this regulation, since sheet is listed in Appendix A. However, you may adjust the price of the houseware to reflect the increase in the ceiling price of sheet as shown in Appendix A.

NOTE: To find the permitted adjustment for the houseware you will find it simpler and more advantageous to base your calculations on the increase shown for sheet in Appendix A, rather than on that shown for pig.

Example 3. The facts are the same as in Example 2, except that you are a fully integrated producer, and manufacture your own pig. You may still have your adjustment for houseware on the increase shown for sheet in Appendix A, rather than on that shown for pig, since sheet represents the most advanced stage of fabrication listed in Appendix A.

SEC. 15. Optional method for determining a uniform adjusted ceiling price for a commodity manufactured in two or more plants. If the commodity whose ceiling prices you are adjusting is manufactured in more than one of your plants, and is customarily sold at a uniform price, but in adjusting the ceiling price for each plant different ceiling prices result, you may compute a uniform ceiling price. To do this, you first determine the adjusted ceiling price for each plant and multiply it by the number of units of the commodity sold from that plant during your last complete fiscal year. You then divide the total dollar amount of such sales from all plants by the total number of units sold from all plants. The resulting figure is your uniform ceiling price for the commodity.

Example. The same commodity is produced in two plants. Because of differences in your materials-cost changes, each plant has different adjusted ceiling prices. The sales during your last fiscal year also were different. Assuming the figures shown below, proceed in the manner indicated.

	Adjusted ceiling price	Sales in units for your last fiscal year	Sales at adjusted ceiling prices
Plant A	$2.00	1,500	$3,000
Plant B	2.10	1,000	2,100
Total		(A) 2,500	(B) 5,100

Divide the total of sales at adjusted ceiling prices for both plants (B) by the total number of units sold by both plants (A) $\frac{5,100}{2,500}$=$2.04.

$2.04 is the uniform adjusted ceiling price for sales from both plants.

SEC. 16. Excise, sales or similar taxes. (a) Where the tax is included in your selling price. (1) If your unadjusted ceiling price for a commodity includes any excise, sales or similar tax which is not separately stated, you must first ascertain the amount of such tax and exclude it from your unadjusted ceiling price. Your unadjusted ceiling price, with such tax so excluded, may then be used in making any appropriate computations for determining your adjusted ceiling price. After completing the computations, you may then add on the appropriate amount of such tax for inclusion as part of your adjusted ceiling price.

(2) If subsequent to the establishment of an adjusted ceiling price which includes any excise, sales or similar tax, the amount of such tax is reduced or eliminated, you must recompute and reduce your ceiling price to reflect the appropriate amount of the reduction in or elimination of such tax.

(3) If, subsequent to the establishment of any adjusted ceiling price, any excise, sales or similar tax is first imposed or any such tax which had been included in your ceiling price is increased, you may recompute and increase your ceiling price to reflect the appropriate amount of such new tax or the increase in such tax.

(b) Where the tax is separately stated and collected. If your unadjusted ceiling price for a commodity did not include any excise, sales or similar tax you may in addition to your adjusted ceiling price, determined under this regulation, collect the amount of any such tax paid as such by you. In the case of an increase in any excise, sales or similar tax or any new such tax which is not effective until after you make your adjustment, you may, in addition to your ceiling price, if not prohibited by the tax law, state separately and collect the amount of such increase or new tax actually paid as such by you. A tax once stated separately from your ceiling price may not thereafter be included in your ceiling price under this regulation.

SEC. 17. Rounding. Cost increases on particular manufacturing materials, and group factors calculated under section 9 may only be rounded downwards. Adjusted ceiling prices may be rounded in the manner prescribed in the basic regulation applicable to the particular commodity.

SEC. 18. Further action by the Director. The Director of Price Stabilization may issue supplementary regulations to this general overriding regulation or otherwise take special action to adjust the ceiling prices of particular commodities or industries to reflect the higher costs of steel, pig iron, copper and aluminum. This will be done wherever the procedure provided by this general overriding regulation is not appropriate because of the practices of the particular industry, or where, for any other reason, action specially tailored to the industry is necessary or appropriate.

Where specific provision is made for an industry in a tailored regulation, adjustments permitted under this regulation will no longer be required and, consequently, the privilege of making them may be withdrawn.

SEC. 19. Applicability of other OPS regulations to you. All the provisions of the regulations under which your ceiling prices are presently established continue to be applicable to you except to the extent that they are expressly inconsistent with this regulation. Wherever such provisions refer to ceiling prices "established under this regulation," or use equivalent language, your ceiling prices as adjusted under this general overriding regulation are included. This means that you will continue to look to these regulations to find, for example, what records and reports you are required to keep, in addition to those required by this regulation, or what acts are prohibited.

SEC. 20. Records and reports.—(a) Record-keeping requirements. In addition to the records and reports required by other OPS regulations applicable to you, you must prepare and preserve for the life of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, and for two years thereafter, all records necessary to determine whether you have correctly computed your ceiling price adjustment under this regulation. You must preserve your suppliers' notifications to you of their old ceiling prices, and copies of invoices, paid bills or similar data to show the materials costs you used in computing a ceiling price adjustment under this regulation. The records to be preserved under this paragraph include appropriate work sheets.

(b) Reports. The Director of Price Stabilization may from time to time require information or reports subject to the approval of the Bureau of the Budget, in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

SEC. 21. Definitions. The definitions in the basic regulation covering your commodities shall apply to all terms used in this regulation, except where one of the following definitions applies, or where the context requires otherwise.

Class of supplier. There are two classes of suppliers: manufacturers and distributors. A supplier who manufactures the commodity being sold falls into one class, a supplier who merely resells the commodity falls into the second class.

Largest regular supplier. This means a regular supplier of yours from whom in the most recent representative period you have purchased the largest quantity of a particular material. If you are purchasing a material for the first time your first supplier may be regarded as your "largest regular supplier."

Old Ceiling price. This means your unadjusted ceiling price under the regulation which covers the commodity whose ceiling price you are adjusting under this regulation.

Effective date. The effective date of this General Overriding Regulation is September 10, 1952.

NOTE: The record-keeping and reporting requirements of this regulation have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

JOSEPH H. FREEHILL,
Acting Director of Price Stabilization.

SEPTEMBER 10, 1952.

[Ceiling Price Regulation 22, Amdt. 55]

CPR 22—MANUFACTURERS' GENERAL CEILING PRICE REGULATION

REPORTS UNDER SECTION 32 FOR CHEMICAL SPECIALTIES

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, Executive Order 10161, and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order No. 2, this Amendment 55 to Ceiling Price Regulation 22 is hereby issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

This amendment makes OPS Public Form No. 128 inapplicable to any chemical specialty. It has been found that this form is not appropriate or convenient for reporting section 32 ceiling prices for chemical specialties. The burden imposed upon manufacturers of such products by OPS Public Form No. 128 is disproportionate to the benefits to be achieved by requiring use of the form.

This amendment therefore exempts manufacturers of these products from the requirement that their reports of ceiling prices under section 32 be made on OPS Public Form 128.

In the formulation of this regulation, special circumstances have rendered consultation with industry representatives, including trade association representatives, impractical.

AMENDATORY PROVISION

Section 32 (g) (3) (ii) of Ceiling Price Regulation 22 is amended to read as follows:

(ii) Chemicals. The term "chemicals" as used in subparagraph (2) of this paragraph means a substance obtained by a chemical process or used for producing a chemical effect including, but not limited to, basic materials such as acids, alkalies, salts and organic chemicals; products to be used in further manufacture such as plastic materials, adhesives, dry colors, dyes and pigments; and products to be used as materials or supplies in other industries such as fertilizers, pesticides and explosives. The term also includes chemical specialties. Not included are paints, varnishes, lacquers, animal and vegetable oils, and finished products to be used for ultimate consumption such as drugs, cosmetics and soaps.

Effective date. This amendment is effective September 15, 1952.

CPR 120—CEILING PRICES FOR TERRITORIAL EATING AND DRINKING ESTABLISHMENTS

SR 1—ADJUSTMENT FOR INCREASES IN FOOD COSTS IN ALASKA, GUAM, AND HAWAII DUE TO THE WEST COAST MARITIME STRIKE

REVOCATION

Supplementary Regulation 1 to Ceiling Price Regulation 120 permits restaurant operators in the territories of Alaska, Guam and Hawaii to increase their ceiling prices established under Ceiling Price Regulation 120, in order to overcome an increase in costs and a squeeze on their margins caused by the maritime strike on the west coast of the United States.

It was stated in the Statement of Considerations accompanying the Supplementary Regulation that the Office of Price Stabilization would revoke the increases granted when it deemed that the strike emergency had ended.

Ths Office of Price Stabilization has been advised that the maritime strike on the west coast has been settled and has determined that the emergency caused by the strike has ended. Therefore, Supplementary Regulation 1 to Ceiling Price Regulation 120 is being revoked. In the formulation of this action special circumstances have rendered consultation with industry representatives, including trade association representatives, impracticable.

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, Executive Order 10161 and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order No. 2, Supplementary Regulation 1 to Ceiling Price Regulation 120 is hereby revoked, effective September 10, 1952.

CPR 166—CEILING PRICES FOR TEXTILE PRODUCTS SOLD IN PUERTO RICO

ADDITION OF APPENDIX A

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, Executive Order 10161, and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order No. 2, this Amendment 1 to Ceiling Price Regulation 166 is hereby issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

Ceiling Price Regulation 166 establishes ceiling prices for textile products sold in Puerto Rico at various levels of distribution.

Section 5 of the regulation requires that sellers of textile products shall prepare and keep a textile reference book, in which they must enter, prior to the offer for sale or sale of textile products, the information required by section 5 of the regulation. Reference is made in this section to a suggested form of reference book which is contained in Appendix A to the regulation. Due to a clerical error Appendix A was omitted. Accordingly, this amendment adds to Ceiling Price Regulation 166 an Appendix A containing the suggested form of the reference book.

In the formulation of this amendment special circumstances have rendered consultation with industry representatives, including trade association representatives, impracticable.

AMENDATORY PROVISIONS

Ceiling Price Regulation 166 is amended by inserting at the end thereof the following new matter:

GENERAL CEILING PRICE REGULATION

USED TRUCKS NOT ACQUIRED FOR PURPOSE OF SALE

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, Executive Order 10161 (15 F. R. 6105), and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order No. 2 (16 F. R. 738), this Amendment 34 to General Ceiling Price Regulation is hereby issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

This amendment exempts from the General Ceiling Price Regulation sales of used trucks not acquired for the purpose of sale, provided that the used truck may not be sold at a price higher than the ceiling price of the truck when new. In the event the seller cannot determine the ceiling price of the truck when new he may not sell the truck for a price higher than his own acquisition cost.

Used trucks have previously been excluded from the coverage of section 14 (t) (1) of the General Ceiling Price Regulation, applicable to most used supplies and equipment not acquired or produced for the purpose of sale. As a result, a seller of a used truck has had to apply for the establishment of a ceiling price under section 7 of the GCPR. The issuance of a letter order in each case has created an administrative burden not warranted by the benefits derived therefrom. This amendment therefore makes section 14 (t) (1) applicable to used trucks not acquired for the purpose of sale.

Sales of used trucks by dealers, whether franchised or non-franchised, and by individuals who acquired the truck for resale rather than use, continue to be covered by the GCPR.

In the preparation of this amendment, consultation was held with industry representatives, including trade association representatives, and consideration was given to their recommendations.

AMENDATORY PROVISIONS

The General Ceiling Price Regulation is amended in the following respect:

Subparagraph (2) of section 14 (t) is amended by deleting the words "used truck" therefrom so that the subparagraph as amended will read as follows:

(2) This exemption does not apply to used rails or trackwork, demolition projects, scrap or waste materials, or to any commodity which is now or hereafter specifically covered by any supplementary regulation to the General Ceiling Price Regulation or any numbered ceiling price regulation.

(Sec. 704, 64 Stat. 816, as amended; 50 U. S. C. App. Sup. 2154)

Effective date. This amendment shall become effective September 15, 1952.

JOSEPH H. FREEHILL,
Acting Director of Price Stabilization.

GENERAL CEILING PRICE REGULATION

NOTICES OF PARITY ADJUSTMENTS

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, Executive Order 10161, and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order No. 2, this Amendment 35 to the General Ceiling Price Regulation is hereby issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

This amendment to section 11 of the General Ceiling Price Regulation (GCPR) provides for the filing of notices of "parity" adjustment increases in the OPS District Office for the district in which the processing plant is located, irrespective of the location of the selling units through which the production of that plant is sold. However, if the records of the processing plant are not maintained at that plant, the notices may be filed with the District Director in whose district those records are maintained.

Amendment 30 to the GCPR requires notices of "parity" adjustment increases to be sent to each District Director within whose district the manufacturer or processor has a selling unit. As stated in the Statement of Considerations to that amendment, that action was taken in order to decentralize the administration of "parity" adjustment filings. The result, however, is burdensome for manufacturers and processors who operate selling units in more than one OPS District. To alleviate this burden, the Director of OPS considered it advisable to change the place where such notices are to be filed, as above stated.

In addition, when the Director of Price Stabilization deems it advisable he may direct certain manufacturers or processors to make their filings with the National Office of the Office of Price Stabilization.

This amendment also makes minor changes in the items of information to be submitted to OPS.

In the formulation of this amendment there has been consultation with industry representatives, including trade association representatives, to the extent practicable, and consideration has been given to their recommendations. In the judgment of the Director of the Office of Price Stabilization the provisions of this amendment are generally fair and equitable, are necessary to effectuate the purposes of Title IV of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, and comply with all the applicable standards of that act.

AMENDATORY PROVISIONS

The General Ceiling Price Regulation is hereby amended in the following respects:

1. Section 11 (f) is amended to read as follows:

(f) Notice of "Parity" Adjustment Increases. (1) If you are a processor or a manufacturer to whom the provisions of section 11 (b) (2) are applicable, you may not increase your ceiling price for such commodity until you first notify, as specified in this paragraph, the District Director of the Office of Price Stabilization in whose district you have your processing plant. However, if the records required in section 16, pertaining to the commodities produced in that processing plant, are not maintained in the district where the processing plant is located, you may notify the District Director in whose district those records are maintained. Your notice shall be sent by registered mail and contain the following information:

(i) Name and address of the processing plant which incurs the increased cost for the listed commodity or product processed therefrom;

(ii) A description of the commodity you are selling;

(iii) Name and address of each selling unit which sells the commodity and your existing ceiling price at each such selling unit;

(iv) The highest price you paid or incurred, during the base period or during the periods provided for in paragraph (d) of this section, for a customary purchase (or, if applicable, the commodity exchange quotation) of the commodity or product referred to under subdivision (i) of this subparagraph and processed at that plant; or, if you have previously increased your ceiling price, then the price upon which you based your existing ceiling price;

(v) The new cost or new commodity exchange quotation, whichever is applicable;

(vi) The increased ceiling price at each selling unit listed in subdivision (iii) of this subparagraph.

In the case of increased cost of ingredients, furnish the figures substantiating the conversion of your increase in cost to the increase in the ceiling price of the commodity.

2. Section 11 (f) (2) is amended so that the portion thereof preceding (i) shall read as follows:

(2) If you are either a producer-processor pricing under section 11 (b) (3) (i), or a processor operating under "open" price or deferred payment contracts and pricing under section 11 (b) (3) (ii), you may not increase your ceiling price for such commodity until you first notify the District Director of the Office of Price Stabilization in whose district you have your processing plant. However, if the records required in section 16, pertaining to the commodities produced in that processing plant, are not maintained in the district where the processing plant is located, you may notify the District Director in whose district those records are maintained. Your notice shall be sent by registered mail and contain the following information:

3. Section 11 (f) (3) is amended so that the portion thereof preceding (i) shall read as follows:

(3) If you are a cooperative-processor pricing under section 11 (b) (3) (iii), you may increase your ceiling price without first giving any notice, but must, within 120 days after the close of the "pool" or the end of each normal accounting period during which you increased your ceiling price, notify the District Director of the Office of Price Stabilization in whose district you have your processing plant. However, if the records required in section 16, pertaining to the commodities produced in that processing plant, are not maintained in the district where the processing plant is located, you may notify the District Director in whose district those records are maintained. Your notice shall be sent by registered mail and contain the following information:

4. A new subparagraph (4) is added at the end of section 11 (f) to read as follows:

(4) Notwithstanding the other provisions of paragraph (f), the Director of the Office of Price Stabilization may, in writing, require you to file your notices of "parity" adjustment increases with the National Office of the Office of Price Stabilization, Washington, D. C.

Effective date. This Amendment 35 to the General Ceiling Price Regulation is effective September 15, 1952.

NOTE: The record-keeping and reporting requirements of this amendment have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

GCPR, SR 34—ADJUSTMENT OF CEILING PRICES OF MANUFACTURERS AND DISTRIBUTORS OF FRESH AND SEMI-DRY SAUSAGE MADE IN WHOLE OR IN PART FROM BEEF OR STUFFED IN SHEEP CASINGS

CERTAIN SELLERS TO FILE WITH DISTRICT INSTEAD OF REGIONAL OFFICES

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, Executive Order 10161, Economic Stabilization Agency General Order 2, this Amendment 1 to General Ceiling Price Regulation, Supplementary Regulation 34, Revised is hereby issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

The accompanying amendment to General Ceiling Price Regulation, Supplementary Regulation 34, Revised (SR 34 Rev.) requires that certain sellers file reports with their District Office instead of their Regional Office of the Office of Price Stabilization. It has been determined that the filings, required under section 10 of this regulation, may be processed more effectively at the district office level due to the fact that intimate knowledge of the reporting seller's operations may be more readily obtained. Furthermore, this amendment conforms to recent amendments to CPRs 24, 74, 92, and 101, which directed certain sellers covered by those regulations to file reports with the District rather than the Regional office.

The files of sellers affected by this amendment are being transferred from the Regional to the appropriate district offices of the Office of Price Stabilization so that a more effective administration of the regulation will be attained.

In the judgement of the Director of Price Stabilization, the provisions of this amendment are generally fair and equitable and necessary to effectuate the purposes of Title IV of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended. In formulating this amendment, the Director of Price Stabilization has consulted with industry representatives, including trade association representatives, as far as practicable and has given full consideration to their recommendations.

General Ceiling Price Regulation, Supplementary Regulation 34 is amended in the following respect:

1. Section 10 (a) (1) is amended by deleting the words "Regional Director" wherever they appear and inserting the words "District Director" therefor.

2. Section 10 (b) (2) (i) is amended to read as follows:

(i) You must make such modification in your increased ceiling price as is required in the notice from the Regional office, District office or National office; and Effective date. This amendment shall become effective on September 15, 1952.

NOTE: The record-keeping and reporting requirements of this amendment have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

GCPR, SR 63—AREA MILK PRICE ADJUSTMENTS

AMPR 6—MILK PRODUCTS FOR FLUID CONSUMPTION IN THE SPRINGFIELD, MASSACHUSETTS, MILK MARKETING AREA

CHANGE IN FILING REQUIREMENTS

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, Executive Order 10161 (15 F. R. 6105), Economic Stabilization Agency General Order No. 2 (16 F. R. 738), Supplementary Regulation 63 to the General Ceiling Price Regulation (16 F. R. 9559), and Delegation of Authority No. 41 (16 F. R. 12679), this Amendment 1 to Area Milk Price Regulation 6 (Revision 1) is hereby issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

On June 20, 1952, Area Milk Price Regulation 6 (Revision 1) was issued pursuant to Region 1 Redelegation of Authority No. 22 (17 F. R. 260). Under section 7, applications made pursuant thereto are required to be filed with the Springfield District Office of the Office of Price Stabilization. Under section 8, certain reports are required to be filed with that office. Section 14 confers upon the Director of that office the powers therein specified. Under section 16, the Director of the Springfield District Office is empowered to issue a Letter Order establishing ceiling prices for fluid milk products under circumstances therein stated.

On August 15, 1952, pursuant to section 3(a)(1) of the Administrative Procedure Act, an amendment of the Organization Statement as published in the FEDERAL REGISTER dated January 21, 1952 (17 F. R. 675), was issued which provides in section 33, in part, as follows: "The Boston Regional Office will service the entire State of Massachusetts; this area was formerly serviced by the Boston and Springfield, Massachusetts, District Offices."

Consequently, it is necessary that applications, and reports, required by this regulation to be filed with the Springfield District Office, will hereafter have to be filed with the Boston Regional Office; and that powers which are conferred upon the Director of the Springfield District Office will hereafter have to be exercised by the Director of the Boston Regional Office. For the purpose of conforming to these necessary requirements, this amendment is issued. In the formulation of this Amendment, special circumstances have rendered consultation with industry representatives impractical.

AMENDATORY PROVISIONS

Area Milk Price Regulation 6 (Revision 1), issued under Supplementary Regulation 63, as amended, to the General Ceiling Price Regulation, is amended in the following respects:

1. Sections 7, 14 and 16 are amended so as to change the phrase "Springfield District Office," where it appears, to read: Boston Regional Office.

2. Section 8 is amended by changing the phrase "Springfield District Office of the Office of Price Stabilization, Springfield", where it appears, to read: Boston Regional Office of the Office of Price Stabilization, Boston 9.

Effective date. This Amendment 1 to Area Milk Price Regulation 6 (Revision 1) is effective September 10, 1952.

Director of Regional I Office,
Boston 9, Massachusetts.

CHAPTER III—OFFICE OF PRICE STABILIZATION, ECONOMIC STABILIZATION AGENCY

[General Ceiling Price Regulation, Supplementary Regulation 118]

GCPR, SR 118—CEILING PRICES FOR SALES BY MANUFACTURERS AND BRAND OWNERS OF NEW REPLACEMENT SECOND LINE TIRES

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, Executive Order 10161 (15 F. R. 6105), and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order No. 2 (16 F. R. 738), this supplementary regulation to the General Ceiling Price Regulation (16 F. R. 5424) is hereby issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

Prior to the outbreak in Korea, automobile tire manufacturers and brand owners were marketing "second line" as well as "first line" standard pressure tires and only first line low pressure tires. As of March 15, 1951, NPA prohibited the manufacture of more than one price line of standard tread depth passenger car tires. The tire manufacturing industry generally abandoned production of second line tires in favor of first line tires. This prohibition was lifted, effective January 1, 1952. Currently, manufacturers and brand owners are again engaged in producing and marketing second line standard pressure tires. For these tires, ceiling prices were already established by the GCPR freeze of prices, and these are the ceiling prices still in effect. In addition, the manufacturers introduced for the first time second line low pressure tires.

Second line tires are ordinarily sold by manufacturers and brand owners, and by resellers at subsequent levels of distribution as well, at prices which reflect narrower margins above cost than first line tires.

Since the ceiling prices of tires and tubes are governed by GCPR, sellers are required to establish ceiling prices for new tires under section 4 or 5. When applied to the pricing of new second line low pressure tires, the provisions of these sections may require the use of second line standard pressure tires as comparison commodities. Ceiling prices computed under sections 4 and 5 may therefore require individual manufacturers to apply the same margins over direct cost for each size of the new second line low pressure tire as are reflected by their GCPR ceilings for the most nearly comparable size of the second line standard pressure tires.

Since direct costs of manufacturing any given size of tire may vary considerably from manufacturer to manufacturer, the Director is of the opinion that a tailored regulation is desirable for the new second line low pressure tires to avoid abnormal ceiling price disparities within the industry which traditionally maintained fairly uniform price structures. The range of price relationships of these second line standard pressure tires to first line standard pressure tires in the three popular sizes, representing 90 percent of the sales, varies from 72.6 percent to 79.2 percent. This supplementary regulation establishes ceiling list prices for second line low pressure tires at 75 percent of the ceiling prices for the first line equivalent of these tires. It will thus afford consumers approximately the same average saving as is available in the standard pressure second line tires as compared to the first line of the same tires.

The Director cannot ignore the possibility that individually computed ceiling prices and the customary practice of the industry to meet the low cost producer's price might discourage existing producers of the popular size tires from maximizing their output. Conceivably, a high cost producer might even be forced to withdraw production of such popular sizes altogether. Consideration has also been given to the possibility that smaller tire producers now planning to enter the field of popular size second line low pressure tire production might shelve these plans altogether.

Sellers of second line low pressure tires other than manufacturers and brand owners will be required by existing OPS regulations to bring their ceiling prices for these tires into conformity with the new lower ceilings established by this supplementary regulation.

In view of the nature of this supplementary regulation, special circumstances have rendered consultation with industry representatives, including trade association representatives, impracticable.

REGULATORY PROVISIONS

Sec.
1. What this supplementary regulation does.
2. Manufacturers' and Brand Owners' ceiling prices.
3. Records.
4. Incorporation of GCPR provisions.
5. Definitions.

AUTHORITY: Sections 1 to 5 issued under sec. 704, 64 Stat. 816, as amended: 50 U. S. C. App. Sup. 2154. Interpret or apply Title IV, 64 Stat. 803, as amended: 50 U. S. C. App. Sup. 2101-2110, E. O. 10161, Sept. 9, 1950, 15 F. R. 6105, 3 CFR, 1950 Supp.

SECTION 1. What this supplementary regulation does. This supplementary regulation establishes ceiling prices for sales by manufacturers and brand owners of all sizes of new second line low pressure tires. This is accomplished by requiring that each manufacturer and brand owner individually apply to his published retail list price for the same size first line low pressure tire a specified percentage to arrive at his reference or retail list price for the second line low pressure tire. The retail list or reference prices so computed less the same discounts, allowances and services which a manufacturer or brand owner extended to his various classes of purchasers in his sales of second line tires are his ceiling prices. As to sales by manufacturers and brand owners of these second line low pressure tires, this supplementary regulation supersedes the GCPR.

SEC. 2. Manufacturers' and brand owners' ceiling prices. (a) Your ceiling prices to your various classes of purchasers for all your sales of second line low pressure tires are your reference or retail list prices computed under paragraph (b) of this section less the same discounts off list, allowances and services, other than those of a temporary nature and which had a specified termination date, which you extended to each of those classes of purchasers in your sales of second line tires during the 30-day period preceding the issuance of this regulation.

(b) Your reference or retail list price for any size second line low pressure tire is 75 percent of the published retail list price which you had in effect during the 30 day period preceding the effective date of this regulation for the same size first line low pressure tire.

(c) If you customarily expressed your retail list prices in multiples of five cents, then you may round to the nearest nickel your reference or list prices computed in accordance with this section. If you elect to do so, you must similarly round your retail or reference prices computed under this supplementary regulation to reflect decreases as well as increases. You may not, however, round any prices which are arrived at by applying discounts or allowances off your list prices.

Example: You want to compute your ceiling prices for a 6.70 x 15 size second line low pressure tire. Your retail list price for your first line 6.70 x 15 tire is $22.05. $22.05 x 75% = $16.54. Your reference or retail list price for your second line 6.70 x 15 tire is $16.55 ($16.54 rounded to the nearest nickel, if your retail list prices were normally so rounded.) Your ceiling price to your "A" Dealer is $11.88 (rounding not being permitted).

SEC. 3. Records. You shall prepare and preserve for the life of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, and for two years thereafter, and keep available for examination by the Office of Price Stabilization all price lists and discounts, allowances and services structure sheets which you used in computing your ceiling prices for new second line low pressure tires under this supplementary regulation.

SEC. 4. Incorporation of GCPR provisions. Except as herein specifically modified, all of the provisions of the General Ceiling Price Regulation remain in effect.

SEC. 5. Definitions. (a) A "brand owner" is one who markets a passenger car tire under his own brand name or label, even though he does not himself manufacture it.

(b) A "second line tire" is a tire designed to sell at a lower price than the brand owner's first line tire and which is generally recognized in the trade as that brand owner's second line tire.

(c) A "first line tire" is one which is designed at a quality level to replace and to sell in competition with an original equipment quality tire.

(d) An "original equipment tire" is that quality rubber tire in a brand owner's line generally produced for sale to a manufacturer of passenger cars and intended for use on such vehicles as part of its original equipment.

(e) "You" means any seller subject to this supplementary regulation.

NOTE: The record-keeping requirements of this regulation have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

Effective date. This supplementary regulation is effective September 10, 1952.

[General Overriding Regulation 31, Revocation]

GOR 31—AIR FREIGHT DURING STRIKE EMERGENCY ON SHIPMENTS TO HAWAII

REVOCATION

General Overriding Regulation 31 permits sellers in Hawaii to add to their ceiling prices otherwise established for certain commodities, the increase in costs of shipping these commodities by air freight in order to overcome an increase in costs and a squeeze on their margins caused by the maritime strike on the west coast of the United States.

It was stated in the Statement of Considerations accompanying that regulation that the Office of Price Stabilization would revoke that regulation as soon as the strike emergency ended as to all commodities not actually delivered or in transit at that time.

The Office of Price Stabilization has been advised that the maritime strike on the west coast has been settled and has determined that the emergency caused by the strike has ended, therefore, General Overriding Regulation 31 is being revoked. In the formulation of this action special circumstances have rendered consultation with industry representatives, including trade association representatives, impracticable.

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, Executive Order 10161 and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order No. 2, General Overriding Regulation 31 is hereby revoked, effective September 10, 1952.

(1) The subjects listed below, comprising 7 units, are mandatory and are required for eligibility:

Mathematics (1) (Algebra to quadratics)	1
Mathematics (2) (Algebra—quadratics and beyond)	1
Mathematics (3) (Plane Geometry)	1
English 1, 2, and 3	3
Physics	1
Total units	7

(d) To satisfy the requirements of § 40.3 (c) a candidate may submit both high-school and college credits. Because of the great variation in academic standards and credit requirements among schools, the Commandant reserves the right to evaluate each academic record submitted on its individual merits. In general, college credits from an accredited institution will be given greater weight than high-school credits for the same amount of work, but in no case will one semester of college work be considered equivalent to more than one unit of high-school work.

(c) Achievement tests. Each candidate will be tested for knowledge in all of the following subjects:

(1) English (Grammar, Composition, Literature, and Reading Comprehension).
(2) Mathematics (Algebra and Plane Geometry).
(3) Science (Physics).

* * * * *

(g) Computation of final mark. The final mark of each candidate will be computed by averaging the following five sub-scores in accordance with the indicated weights:

English	20
Mathematics	20
Science	20
Aptitudes and Abilities	20
General Adaptability	20
Total	100

(Sec. 1, 63 Stat. 503, 545, as amended; 14 U. S. C. 92, 633. Interpret or apply sec. 1, 63 Stat. 508, as amended; 14 U. S. C. 182)

6. Section 40.11 is amended to read as follows:

§ 40.11 Schedule of examinations. (a) The schedule of examinations will normally be as follows:

First day: 8 a. m. to 12 noon—Mathematics and science; 1 p. m. to 4:30 p. m.—English, questionnaires.

Second day: 8 a. m. to 12 noon—Aptitude tests, questionnaires; 1 p. m. to 4:30 p. m.—Interviews.

(b) All materials necessary for taking the examination will be furnished each candidate. Drawing instruments and slide rules will not be permitted.

(c) Physical examinations will be given only to those candidates who have high final marks and are in line for appointment. They will usually be given about two months after the competitive examination. Medical Boards will consist of Medical Officers of the Public Health Service, Navy, Army or Air Force.

(Sec. 1, 63 Stat. 503, 545, as amended; 14 U. S. C. 92,633. Interpret or apply sec. 1, 63 Stat. 508, as amended; 14 U. S. C. 182)

7. Section 40.13 is amended to read as follows:

§ 40.13 Scope of studies for required subjects—(a) Mathematics—(1) Algebra to quadratics; one unit. (i) The meaning, use, evaluation, and necessary transformations of simple formulas involving ideas with which the pupil is familiar, and the derivation of such formulas from rules expressed in words.

(ii) The graph and graphical representation in general. The construction and interpretation of graphs.

(iii) Negative numbers; their meaning and use.

(iv) Linear equations in one unknown quantity, and simultaneous linear equations involving two unknown quantities, with verification of results. Problems.

(v) Ratio, as a case of simple fractions; proportion, as a case of equation between two ratios; variation. Problems.

(vi) The essentials of algebraic technic.

(vii) Exponents and radicals.

(2) Algebra; quadratics and beyond; one unit. (i) Numerical and literal quadratic equations in one unknown quantity. Problems.

(ii) The binomial theorem for positive integral exponents, with applications.

(iii) Arithmetic and geometric series.

(iv) Simultaneous linear equations in three unknown quantities.

(v) Simultaneous equations, consisting of one quadratic and one linear equation, or of two quadratic equations of certain types. Graphs.

(vi) Logarithms.

(3) Plane geometry; one unit. (i) The usual theorems and constructions of good textbooks, including the general properties of plane rectilinear figures; the circle and the measurement of angles; similar polygons; areas; regular polygons; and the measurement of the circle.

(ii) The solution of numerous original exercises, including loci problems.

(iii) Applications to the mensuration of lines and plane surfaces.

(iv) The examination will consist partly of book propositions and partly of originals. In the former type of question the candidate will be asked to give proofs of standard theorems which are assumed to have been presented to him in his course of study, or to reproduce standard constructions. In the latter type are included the demonstrations of theorems which are not assumed to be familiar to the candidate, problems of measurement and calculation, and problems in working out of unfamiliar constructions and the identification of unfamiliar loci. Questions calling for simple geometrical knowledge and understanding may fall under either type.

(v) The originals on the examination will, in general, depend for their solution on propositions mentioned in the syllabus of the Educational Testing Service, but occasionally the original will be so framed that a solution will occur more readily to the candidate who is familiar with such important geometrical facts as the properties of the 30° and the 45° right triangles.

(vi) The candidate is not required to give proofs of constructions unless a proof is specifically called for by the questions, and such proofs will not be regarded as constituting a part of the book-work requirement but will have the status of originals.

(b) English 1, 2, and 3; grammar, composition, and literature; three units. (1) Entrance to the Coast Guard Academy is based on the assumption that each successful candidate will be adequately grounded in the principles of English grammar and composition. The ability to write and speak clearly, correctly, and effectively should be the outgrowth of the candidate's experience in his secondary school English courses. There should be, in those courses, special emphasis on spelling, punctuation, and good usage as the normal requirements for successful work in composition. It is taken for granted that all candidates will have some ability to write clear and well-organized paragraphs or short essays, although the entrance examination may not require any such composition. Advantage should be taken of the oral work that is now a recognized part of most secondary English courses.

(2) The candidate's preparation in literature should conform to the standards set up in most States as a minimum for the college preparatory courses. These standards call for the appreciative reading and understanding of a number of Shakespeare's plays, some narrative and descriptive poems, and several of the classic short stories and novels. A survey of American or English literature is essential for the requirements in English. The candidate who has read widely and intelligently will generally be better prepared than the candidate who has limited the scope of his reading to one or two authors or one or two books. Because of the vast extent of the field and because of the wide variation in secondary English courses, no specific list of books or authors can be given. Standard high school texts or course outlines suggested by many of the State educational systems are adequate guides to preparation in this field.

(3) The examination in English is designed to test the candidate's knowledge of good modern usage, the sum of his reading experience, and his ability to comprehend what he reads.

(c) Physics; one unit. Secondary school courses in physics are so well standardized that a definition of a unit is unnecessary. Candidates with a credit in physics as required in § 40.6 (a) (1) will have adequate preparation for the examination.

(Sec. 1, 63 Stat. 503, 545, as amended; 14 U. S. C. 92, 633. Interpret or apply sec. 1, 63 Stat. 508, as amended; 14 U. S. C. 182)

8. Section 40.14 is amended to read as follows:

§ 40.14 Sample questions—(a) General purpose. The following examples of questions from objective type examinations are printed for the information of candidates who may be unfamiliar with this type of test. Questions are answered by marking an answer sheet in accordance with instructions supplied with the tests.

(b) Mathematics.

(1) The equation $X^2+aX+b=0$ has equal roots if:
(i) $a=-2\sqrt{b}$.
(ii) $a=2b$.
(iii) $a^2=2b$.
(iv) $a=\frac{b^2}{4c}$.
(v) None of the above.

(2) Which of the following statements is not true? If two triangles are similar,
(i) Corresponding sides are in the same proportion.
(ii) Two angles of one are equal, respectively, to two angles of the other.
(iii) Their areas are proportional to the squares of corresponding sides.
(iv) They are congruent.
(v) None of the above.

(c) English.

(1) Which of the five alternatives is nearest in meaning to the word printed in capital letters:
Lackadaisical: (i) tawdry, (ii) pardonable, (iii) spiritless, (iv) workable, (v) willowy.
Galaxy: (i) lily, (ii) lightening, (iii) assembly, (iv) stain, (v) wilderness.

(2) Which of the following was written by Charles Dickens? (i) aVnity Fair, (ii) David Copperfield, (iii) Anthony Adverse, (iv) Forever Amber, (v) Tom Sawyer.

(1) Ohm's Law is:
(i) $F=ma$.
(ii) $PV=RT$.
(iii) $E=IR$.
(iv) $v=v_0+at$.
(v) None of the above.

(Sec. 1, 63 Stat. 503, 545, as amended; 14 U. S. C. 92, 633. Interpret or apply sec. 1, 63 Stat. 508, as amended; 14 U. S. C. 182)

9. Section 40.17(c) is amended to read as follows:

§ 40.17 Appointments. * * *

(c) Having been appointed and having taken the oath of office a cadet will be reimbursed for the actual mileage from his home to the Academy at the rate of 6 cents per mile.

(Sec. 1, 63 Stat. 503, 545, as amended; 14 U. S. C. 92, 633. Interpret or apply sec. 1, 63 Stat. 508, as amended; 14 U. S. C. 182)

10. Section 40.18 is amended to read as follows:

§ 40.18 Deposit required. A cadet, upon admission to the Coast Guard Academy, shall be credited with the sum of $600 to defray the cost of his initial clothing and equipment, this sum to be deducted subsequently from his pay in accordance with regulations promulgated by the Secretary of the Treasury. In addition each cadet upon appointment shall deposit with the Superintendent of the Academy the sum of $100, this amount to be used to help defray initial clothing and equipment costs which exceed the amount of the $600 credited. The Superintendent of the Academy in exceptional circumstances is authorized to waive this requirement in part, but the amount so waived shall be made up by deductions in amounts to be determined by the Superintendent from the cadet's monthly cash allowances. A cadet may use so much of this $100 as may be necessary to defray his traveling expenses to the Academy. The amount thus used will be deposited with the Superintendent of the Academy when the cadet shall have been paid his mileage.

(Sec. 1, 63 Stat. 503, 545, as amended; 14 U. S. C. 92, 633. Interpret or apply sec. 1, 63 Stat. 508, as amended, sec. 3 P. L. 122, 82d Cong.; 14 U. S. C. 183)

11. Section 40.19 is amended to read as follows:

§ 40.19 Pay of cadets. A cadet in the Coast Guard receives the same pay and allowances as are now or may hereafter be provided by law for midshipmen in the Navy. At present these equal $973.44 per annum and commutation for one ration per day. Pay commences upon the date the oath of office as a cadet is taken. A cadet's pay is not a wage or salary for services rendered. It is money furnished by the Government for uniforms, equipment, textbooks, and other expenses incidental to his training. A cadet does not receive allowances for dependents. Cadet pay is disbursed and expended only as directed by the Superintendent.

(Sec. 1, 63 Stat. 503, 545, as amended; 14 U. S. C. 92, 633. Interpret or apply sec. 1, 63 Stat. 508, as amended; 14 U. S. C. 182)

In examining the acuteness of hearing with the voice, one ear of the candidate shall be closed while the other ear is being examined, and his eyes shall be covered to prevent lip reading.

[Docket Nos. G-1308, G-1676]

SOUTHERN NATURAL GAS CO.

NOTICE OF FINDINGS AND ORDER

SEPTEMBER 5, 1952.

Notice is hereby given that on September 4, 1952, the Federal Power Commission issued its order entered September 3, 1952, amending prior order (15 F. R. 3296) and issuing certificate of public convenience and necessity in the above-entitled matter.

Secretary.

[Docket Nos. G-1813, G-1937, G-2023]

INDIANA GAS & WATER CO., INC., ET AL.

ORDER CONSOLIDATING PROCEEDINGS AND FIXING DATE FOR HEARING

SEPTEMBER 4, 1952.

In the matters of Indiana Gas & Water Company, Inc., Docket No. G-1813; Panhandle Eastern Pipe Line Company, Docket No. G-1937; Indiana Gas & Water Company, Inc. v. Panhandle Eastern Pipe Line Company, Docket No. G-2023.

By its order of June 3, 1952, the Commission consolidated for hearing and disposition the proceedings in Docket Nos. G-1813 and G-1937 and set said proceedings for hearing commencing August 11, 1952. Following a motion for postponement of hearing filed by Commission staff counsel on August 6, 1952, the Secretary, on August 7, 1952, issued a notice of continuance of hearing until September 15, 1952.

On August 4, 1952, Indiana Gas & Water Company, Inc. filed a complaint against Panhandle Eastern Pipe Line Company, Docket No. G-2023, in which it claimed that unlawful discrimination would result unless Panhandle were required to purchase and operate at its own expense the facilities for which a certificate of public convenience and necessity is applied for at Docket No. G-1813. The complaint also requests that the proceeding thereon be consolidated with those at Docket Nos. G-1813 and G-1937. Panhandle Eastern Pipe Line Company's answer to the complaint, filed August 28, 1952, denies any such connection of Docket No. G-2023 with Docket Nos. G-1813 and G-1937 as would permit consolidation and requests that the complaint be dismissed.

It appears that the complaint, Docket No. G-2023, involves kindred questions with Docket Nos. G–1813 and G–1937 and should appropriately be heard with the proceedings at these dockets. It further appears that the issues to be considered in Docket No. G–2023 are not so novel to those in Docket No. G–1813 and G–1937 as to require further postponement of the date of hearing in the latter dockets in order to permit the running of the usual period of notice of hearing in Docket No. G–2023.

The Commission finds:

(1) Good cause exists to consolidate the proceedings on the above applications for the purpose of hearing.

(2) Good cause exists and it is reasonable to waive the notice provisions of § 1.19 (b) of the Commission's general rules and regulations to the extent that hearings in Docket No. G–2023 may commence on September 15, 1952, as has been ordered in Docket Nos. G–1813 and G–1937 by the Commission's order of June 3, 1952.

The Commission orders:

(A) The proceedings upon the applications of Indiana Gas & Water Company, Inc. at Docket No. G–1813, of Panhandle Eastern Pipe Line Company at Docket No. G–1937, and the complaint of Indiana Gas & Water Company, Inc. against Panhandle Eastern Pipe Line Company at Docket No. G–2023 be and the same are hereby consolidated for purpose of hearing.

(B) Pursuant to the authority contained in and subject to the jurisdiction conferred upon the Federal Power Commission by sections 7 and 15 of the Natural Gas Act and the Commission's rules of practice and procedure, a hearing be held commencing September 15, 1952, at 10:00 a. m., e. d. s. t., in the Hearing Room of the Federal Power Commission, 1800 Pennsylvania Avenue NW., Washington, D. C., concerning the matters involved and the issues presented by such applications and complaint.

(C) Interested State Commissions may participate as provided by §§ 1.8 and 1.37 (f) (18 CFR 1.8 and 1.37 (f)) of the said rules of practice and procedure.

Date of issuance: September 5, 1952.

By the Commission.

(b) Application for insurance on a Corporation form entitled "Application for Tobacco Crop Insurance on Sharecropper Interest" may be made by any owner-operator or tenant-operator to cover the interest(s) which a sharecropper(s) has in a tobacco crop in which such farm operator has an interest: Provided, That if the sharecropper has an individual contract his insurance shall be in force under his individual contract and not under a sharecropper interest contract. Under any sharecropper interest contract, notwithstanding any provision(s) of the policy issued by the Corporation to the contrary, (1) the applicant shall be considered the insured under such contract and the interest(s) insured shall be considered as his interest(s), (2) premiums (except for discounts for early payment and reductions based on good experience) and losses shall be computed and transfers of interest shall be made in the same manner and under the same terms and conditions as if the sharecropper(s) had signed (and the Corporation had accepted) an individual application for insurance on the form provided by the Corporation for that purpose, (3) for purposes of determining any reduction in premium for good experience, the first sharecropper interest contract accepted for an operator shall be considered to have the same number of years without a loss which the operator has under his individual contract, (4) the applicant shall designate on his annual acreage report the name of each sharecropper and the acreage allocated to him, (5) any indemnity shall be paid to the insured for the benefit of the sharecropper(s) (or transferee(s)) allocated the insurance unit on which the loss occurred and payment shall be made by joint check payable to the insured and said sharecropper(s) (or transferee(s)), (6) collateral assignments shall not be honored but the insured shall from the proceeds of the joint check be entitled to any amounts owed him for advances to finance the current tobacco crop on the insurance unit, and (7) the Corporation shall not deduct from any indemnity any amount in excess of the current premium on the insurance unit, except amount(s) owing the Corporation by the sharecropper(s) (or transferee(s)) allocated the insurance unit on which the loss occurred.

(c) For any crop year applications shall be submitted to the county office on or before the following applicable closing date preceding such crop year:

Land rented for cash or a fixed commodity rent shall be considered as owned by the lessee.

(b) The coverage per acre for both yield-quality insurance and investment insurance is progressive depending upon (1) whether the acreage is harvested or unharvested (acreage destroyed or substantially destroyed before harvest shall be considered unharvested) in the case of types 41, 51, 52, 54, and 55, or (2) whether harvest has begun on the insurance unit or the acreage is destroyed or substantially destroyed before the beginning of harvest in the case of types 11, 12, 13, 14, 21, 22, 23, 31, 35, and 36.

Cancellation may be made by either party giving written notice to the other party on or before the applicable cancellation date preceding the planting of the crop for which the cancellation is to become effective; Provided, however, If any amount due the Corporation remains unpaid on such cancellation date or if by such date the insured has not complied with a request by the Corporation that arrangements satisfactory to the Corporation be made for the payment of the following year's premium, the time during which the Corporation may cancel shall be extended 15 days beyond the following closing date for filing applications for insurance. Any notice of cancellation by the insured shall be in writing and shall be filed with the county office of the Corporation. 10. Section 13 of the policy shown in § 417.16 is amended to read as follows:

13. Released acreage. Any insured acreage on which the tobacco crop has been destroyed or substantially destroyed may be released by the Corporation. No insured acreage may be put to another use until the Corporation releases such acreage. On any acreage where the tobacco has been partially destroyed but not released by the Corporation, proper measures shall be taken to protect the crop from further damage. 11. Section 20 of the policy shown in § 417.16 is amended to read as follows:

20. Determination of person to whom indemnity shall be paid. If the insured dies, is judicially declared incompetent or disappears after the planting of the tobacco crop in any year any indemnity which is, or becomes, part of his estate shall be paid to the legal representative of the estate. Should no such representative be qualified, the Corporation may pay the indemnity to the person(s) it determines to be beneficially entitled thereto or to any one or more of such persons on behalf of all such persons, or may withhold payment until a legal representative of the estate is qualified. In such cases, and in any other case where an indemnity is claimed by a person(s) other than the original insured or adverse interests appear with respect to any insurance unit the determination of the Corporation as to the existence or non-existence of a circumstance in the event of which payment may be made and of the person(s) to whom such payment shall be made shall be final and conclusive. Payment of an indemnity shall constitute a complete discharge of the Corporation's obligations with respect to the loss for which such indemnity is paid and shall be a bar to recovery by any other person(s).

12. Section 27 of the policy shown in § 417.16 is amended by changing paragraph (a) to read as follows:

(a) In addition to the terms and provisions in the application and policy, the Tobacco Crop Insurance Regulations for Continuous Contracts in effect for the crop year involved shall govern with respect to (1) minimum participation requirements, (2) closing dates for filing applications for insurance, (3) refund of excess note payments, and (4) creditors.

13. Section 28 of the policy shown in § 417.16 is amended by changing paragraph (f) to read as follows:

(f) "Market price" in the case of tobacco of types 11, 12, 13, 14, 21, 22, 23, 31, 32, 35, and 36 means the average auction price of the applicable type (less warehouse charges), as determined by the Corporation, during the first twenty-five market days of auction sales for the belt area, adjusted where applicable for normal trend, except that a shorter period may be used if the Corporation determines that approximately 60 percent of the tobacco crop is sold in such period. In the case of tobacco of types 41, 51, 52, 54, and 55, the "market price" shall be that price determined by the Corporation.

14. Section 28 of the policy shown in § 417.16 is further amended by changing paragraph (i) to read as follows:

(i) "Sharecropper" means a person who works tobacco with workstock and equipment not furnished by himself and is entitled to receive a share of the tobacco or of the proceeds therefrom.

TITLE 9—ANIMALS AND ANIMAL PRODUCTS

Chapter I—Bureau of Animal Industry, Department of Agriculture

Subchapter D—Exportation and Importation of Animals and Animal Products

PART 95—SANITARY CONTROL OF ANIMAL BYPRODUCTS (EXCEPT CASINGS), AND HAY AND STRAW, OFFERED FOR ENTRY INTO THE UNITED STATES

IMPORTATION OF CERTAIN ANIMAL BYPRODUCTS

On June 19, 1952, there was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (17 F. R. 5521) a notice of proposed amendments of the regulations governing the sanitary control of animal byproducts (except casings), and hay and straw, offered for entry into the United States (9 CFR Part 95, as amended). After due consideration of all relevant material submitted in connection with the notice, the Secretary of Agriculture, pursuant to the authority conferred upon him by section 2 of the act of Congress approved February 2, 1903, as amended (sec. 2, 32 Stat. 792, as amended; 21 U. S. C. 111), hereby amends Part 95, Subchapter D, Chapter 1, Title 9, Code of Federal Regulations, as follows:

1. Section 95.1 (l) is amended to read as follows:

§ 95.1 Definitions. • • •

(l) Bone meal. "Bone meal" means ground animal bones and hoof meal and horn meal.

• • • • •

2. Section 95.11 is amended to read as follows:

§ 95.11 Bones, horns, and hoofs for trophies or museums. Clean, dry bones, horns, and hoofs, that are free from undried pieces of hide, flesh, and sinew and are offered for entry as trophies or for consignment to museums may be imported without other restrictions.

3. Section 95.12 (c) is amended by changing the first sentence to read as follows:

§ 95.12 Bones, horns, and hoofs; importations permitted subject to restrictions. • • •

(c) They shall be handled at the establishment under the direction of an inspector in a manner to guard against the dissemination of anthrax, foot-and-mouth disease, and rinderpest, and the bags, burlap, or other containers thereof, before leaving the establishment, shall be disinfected by heat or otherwise, as directed by the Chief of Bureau or burned at the establishment. • • •

4. Present § 95.14 is revoked. Present § 95.13 is redesignated § 95.14 and amended to read as follows:

§ 95.14 Blood meal, tankage, and similar products for use as fertilizer or animal feed; requirements for entry. Dried blood or blood meal, lungs or other organs, tankage, meat meal, wool waste, wool manure, and similar products for use as fertilizer or as feed for domestic animals shall not be imported unless such products:

(a) Originated in and were shipped directly from a country not declared by the Secretary of Agriculture to be infected with foot-and-mouth disease or rinderpest; or

(b) Are accompanied by the certificate of a consular officer showing that in the process of manufacture the particular product was heated throughout to a temperature of not less than 156° Fahrenheit (68.9° Centigrade).

5. A new § 95.13 is added to read as follows:

§ 95.13 Bone meal for use as fertilizer or as feed for domestic animals; requirements for entry. Steamed or degelatinized or special steamed bone meal, which, in the normal process of manufacture, has been prepared by heating bone under a minimum of 20 pounds steam pressure for at least one hour at a temperature of not less than 250° Fahrenheit (121° Centigrade), may be imported without further restrictions for use as fertilizer or as feed for domestic animals if such products are free from pieces of bone, hide, flesh, and sinew and contain no more than traces of hair and wool. Bone meal for use as fertilizer or as feed for domestic animals which does not meet these requirements will not be eligible for entry.

(Sec. 2, 32 Stat. 792, as amended; 21 U. S. C. 111)

The effect of the foregoing amendments is to restrict the entry of all animal bones, including crushed bones, to be used as fertilizer or as feed for domestic animals; to permit the entry of such bones only when consigned to an establishment approved by the Department for handling and further processing in a manner to prevent the dissemination of anthrax, foot-and-mouth disease, and rinderpest; to permit the entry of specially treated bone meal (including hoof meal and horn meal) which has been treated in a manner to assure the destruction of any anthrax spores present in such product; to prohibit the entry of any other bone meal (including hoof meal and horn meal) for use as fertilizer or as feed for domestic animals which does not meet these requirements; and to impose stricter requirements upon the importation of tankage, meat meal, wool waste, wool manure and similar products than are presently imposed.

The foregoing amendments shall be effective on the 14th day of October 1952.

Done at Washington, D. C., this 8th of September 1952.

[SEAL] CHARLES F. BRANNAN,
Secretary of Agriculture.

AUTHORITY: §§ 134.8 to 134.19 issued under sec. 302, 60 Stat. 1001; 22 U. S. C. 842.

UNITED STATES AIRCRAFT ACCIDENTS ABROAD

§ 134.8 Reporting accidents—(a) To airline and Civil Aeronautics Administration representatives. If a scheduled United States air carrier is involved, the airline representative concerned will probably be the first to be informed of the accident, in which event he will be expected to report the accident to the Foreign Service post, to the nearest Civil Aeronautics Administration office, and to his home office in the United States. If this is not the case, the Foreign Service post should report promptly to the nearest office of the airline concerned, and to the nearest office of the Civil Aeronautics Administration, any accident occurring to a scheduled civil air carrier of United States registry within its consular district. To be properly prepared, each post should obtain and have on file for ready reference, the address and telephone number of representatives of any United States airline engaged in scheduled operations within or over the post district.

(b) To Department and supervisory Foreign Service offices. A Foreign Service post should report promptly to the Department accidents to any United States civil aircraft occurring in the post district. The report should summarize all available information and, in the case of a scheduled United States air carrier, should state whether the airline has taken over the responsibility of notifying the nearest Civil Aeronautics Administration field office. This report should be submitted by the most expeditious means possible (priority telephone or telegraph message) at Government expense. If the accident involves a private plane or non-scheduled air carrier, these circumstances should be reported, also whether the nearest office of the Civil Aeronautics Administration has been informed. In the latter case, the Department will ascertain from the Civil Aeronautics Board whether it desires to investigate the case, and inform the Foreign Service post accordingly. Consular posts should submit a similar report to their supervisory missions or to their supervisory consular offices in territories where there are no United States missions. Supplementary reports should be supplied the Department and the supervisory Foreign Service office whenever considered appropriate. A final report, after the urgency has diminished and when the post's role is negligible should cover the post's activities in connection with the accident (see § 134.16 (b)).

§ 134.9 Arranging for entry and travel of investigating and airline representatives. Representatives of the Civil Aeronautics Board, the Civil Aeronautics Administration and the United States airline involved may not have the documents necessary for entry into the country where the accident occurred. The local Foreign Service post should lend all assistance possible in obtaining the entry of such representatives into the country where the accident occurred and in expediting their travel to the scene of the accident.

§ 134.10 Rendering assistance at the scene of the accident. Always in the case of a scheduled United States air carrier and whenever necessary in the case of a non-scheduled carrier or private plane, a local Foreign Service post should dispatch a member of its staff to the scene of the accident in order to insure that proper protection is afforded United States citizens and property involved in the accident and that any evidence as to the cause of the accident is preserved until the arrival of United States Government investigating personnel. (For steps to be taken when the aircraft was carrying a courier or diplomatic pouches, see § 134.14 (b).) In the absence of an airline representative, the Foreign Service representative should lend the competent local authorities all possible assistance compatible with the provisions of § 134.11 in caring for the survivors, identifying and disposing of the remains of victims, salvaging and protecting property and preserving wreckage pending an investigation. If an airline representative is already at the scene of the accident or if one arrives shortly thereafter, the Foreign Service representative should assist him in the discharge of his recognized responsibilities in connection with passengers and cargo. However, the Foreign Service representative is also obligated to assist investigating personnel of the United States Government by preserving evidence as to the cause of the accident. Any attempt on the part of the airline representative to exceed his recognized sphere of activity should be called to the attention of the airline involved and the competent local authorities.

§ 134.11 Arranging for the payment of expenses attendant upon an accident. (a) The Department of State has no funds from which expenses attendant upon an accident to United States aircraft can be paid. In emergencies involving scheduled carriers and in the absence of airline representatives, or other authority, the Foreign Service post should request a deposit from the airline (through the Department if desired) with specific authorization to incur whatever financial obligations the airline is willing to assume for the hiring of guards (in case local police protection is considered inadequate), the provision of accommodations, medical care, and onward transportation for survivors and for other expenses resulting from the accident. In accidents involving a private plane or non-scheduled carrier, the Foreign Service post is not in a position to expend any funds without prior authorization from the Department. In such cases, and in extreme cases involving scheduled carriers, when airline and investigation personnel may be delayed in reaching the scene, the Foreign Service representative, as the representative of all segments of the United States Government in the area, should endeavor to protect and promote the interests of the Government, the airline, and the individual citizen by any means available to him that are consistent with these regulations, and should request funds and instructions as required from the Department.

(b) The local Foreign Service post is not authorized to expend any funds for guarding the wreckage to preserve evidence as to the cause of the accident unless the Civil Aeronautics Board or the Civil Aeronautics Administration authorizes in advance the expenditure of such funds on a reimbursable basis. In the absence of such advance authorization, the Foreign Service post can arrange only for such protection as local authorities are willing to furnish gratuitously.

(c) Voluntary services and personal services in excess of those authorized by law may be accepted and utilized in the case of an aircraft accident since the law which normally prohibits such acceptance (31 U. S. C. 665) does not apply "in case of sudden emergency involving the loss of human life or the destruction of property".

§ 134.12 Protective services for survivors—(a) Medical care and hospitalization. The Foreign Service representative should lend any assistance possible (see §§ 134.10 and 134.11) in arranging for the best medical and hospital attention available for injured survivors of the accident. If a scheduled United States carrier is involved in an accident, the primary responsibility for providing medical care for passengers and crew rests with the airline, and in such situations the Foreign Service representative should assist the airline in every way that is feasible (see §§ 134.10 and 134.11).

(b) Accommodation and onward transportation. If a scheduled United States carrier is involved in an accident, primary responsibility for providing accommodation and onward transportation for passengers and crew rests with the airline, and in such situations the Foreign Service representative should assist the airline in every way that is feasible (see §§ 134.10 and 134.11). If the accident involves a private plane or non-scheduled carrier, he should assist passengers and members of the crew who do not require hospitalization in any way compatible with §§ 134.10 and 134.11 in obtaining appropriate comfortable accommodations accessible from the scene of the accident. If practicable, surviving passengers should remain in the vicinity of the accident until the United States Government investigating personnel can obtain from them all information pertaining to the accident. Surviving passengers leaving the vicinity should furnish addresses at which they can be reached later. The Foreign Service representative should assist the passengers, in so far as he can under the provision of §§ 134.10 and 134.11, in obtaining necessary clearances from local authorities and in getting onward transportation by the most expeditious means of common carrier transportation available. The surviving aircraft crew will be expected to remain in the vicinity of the accident until otherwise instructed by the investigating personnel.

§ 134.13 Protective services with respect to deceased victims of accident—(a) Interim disposition of remains. Generally, local authorities will assume custody of the remains of deceased victims of the accident and consign them to a mortuary until final disposition can be made.

(b) Identification of remains. When necessary, the local Foreign Service post should assist in identifying the remains of United States citizens who are victims of the accident by requesting the Department to procure dental charts, passport application data and photographs, fingerprints, or other United States records.

(c) Reports on deaths of United States citizens. The local Foreign Service post shall report the deaths of United States citizens occurring in an aircraft accident in accordance with the procedure prescribed in §§ 120.1 to 120.8 of this chapter.

(d) Disposition of remains. When a scheduled United States air carrier meets with an accident, the United States airline concerned will usually transport the identifiable remains of victims of the accident to the place of final interment designated by the next of kin. If the Foreign Service post is requested, or finds it necessary, to dispose of identifiable remains, it shall follow the procedure prescribed in §§ 120.9 to 120.14 of this chapter. Where remains are unidentifiable, the local authorities may be expected to make final disposition of these remains locally in accordance with the health requirements of the country concerned, usually by common burial or by cremation, and without regard to the disposition desired by possible next of kin.

§ 134.14 Salvage of mail and other property—(a) Mail. Article 3, sections 6 and 7, of the Air Mail Provisions annexed to the Universal Postal Union Convention, Paris, 1947, provide that the personnel who survive the aircraft accident shall, when possible, deliver the mail to the post office nearest the place of the accident or to the one best-qualified to reforward the mail. If the aircraft personnel are unable to do this, the local post office concerned shall make every effort, without delay, to take delivery of the mail and to forward it to the offices of designation by the most rapid means, after determining the condition of the correspondence and reconditioning it if damaged. Most post offices are familiar with these provisions, but if in any case the mail is not being properly cared for, the local Foreign Service post should bring the proper procedure to the attention of the nearest post office.

(b) Diplomatic pouches. Immediately upon arriving at the scene of the accident, the Foreign Service representative should ascertain whether the aircraft was carrying a courier or diplomatic pouches. If a courier is found to be aboard, the same personal arrangements should be made for him as are made for other passengers (see §§ 134.10 to 134.13). An immediate search should also be made for whatever diplomatic pouches the courier may have been carrying and for any pouches that may have been carried as regular cargo. Usually, the cargo manifest will list diplomatic pouches carried as air freight or cargo. The passenger manifest normally will list the total number of pieces of luggage or pouches checked by a courier (if one is aboard), but since he usually carries his pouches with him into the cabin of the plane, the pouch invoices on his person or in his briefcase will offer positive proof of the number of pouches he has in his custody. If any are found, they should be cleared through appropriate government officials of the country and taken to the nearest United States Foreign Service office to await disposition instructions. If it is learned that the postal authorities have already recovered United States diplomatic pouches that may have been involved, these pouches should be obtained from the postal authorities and taken to the nearest United States Foreign Service office to await disposition instructions. A telegraphic message should be dispatched to the Department and to the regional courier office having jurisdiction over that area, giving a description of the pouches recovered. This description should include the office of addressor and addressee and the classification indicator (C, A, or S). The Department and the regional courier office will coordinate instructions to the office for the disposition of these pouches.

(c) Baggage, personal effects and cargo. The Foreign Service representative should request the local authorities to arrange for the security storage and protection of such baggage, personal effects and cargo as is recoverable from the aircraft until the property can be released to its owners by local customs and accident investigating authorities, or by the courts. When released, the personal effects of United States citizens, who died in the accident, should be taken into possession and disposed of by the local Foreign Service post in accordance with the procedure prescribed in §§ 120.15 to 120.55 of this chapter.

§ 134.15 Protection and preservation of wreckage. In so far as local law permits, the Foreign Service representative should see that arrangements are made (by the airline representative with the local authorities, if a scheduled carrier is involved) for the protection of the wrecked aircraft and its property contents against further damage, pilferage, and access by unauthorized persons, until the arrival of the accident investigation personnel. The prior removal of any of the wreckage or the contents of the aircraft should be prevented unless such action is necessitated by very compelling reasons, such as the need for treating the injured or for removing bodies, or when the wreckage constitutes a public hazard. When under the latter conditions the wreckage and contents of the aircraft must be moved or disturbed in any way, if possible, a record should be made or photographs taken showing the position and condition of the wreckage prior to disturbance. In the case of a private aircraft or non-scheduled carrier, protection should be arranged for the wrecked aircraft and its contents pending the receipt of information from the Department as to whether the Civil Aeronautics Board will investigate the case, and until final disposition is made of the property. If the owner of a private aircraft is killed in the wreck and is a United States citizen, the aircraft constitutes part of his personal estate and should be disposed of in accordance with the provisions of §§ 120.15 to 120.55 of this chapter. For rules governing the payment of expenses in connection with the protection and preservation of wrecked United States aircraft, see § 134.11.

§ 134.16 Records and reports in connection with investigation—(a) Records. The Foreign Service representative should maintain a record of the various transactions taking place prior to the arrival of airline, Civil Aeronautics Board and Civil Aeronautics Administration representatives. This record should include all pertinent details with respect to the disposition of persons and property, obligations assumed, arrangements made, et cetera, and should also include any statements made by witnesses.

(b) Reports. Reports should be submitted to the Department for its information and the information of aviation authorities and other interested parties in the United States regarding the progress of any investigation which is held and its final outcome when known.

FOREIGN AIRCRAFT ACCIDENTS INVOLVING UNITED STATES PERSONS OR PROPERTY

§ 134.17 Reports on accident. When an accident occurs to a foreign aircraft in the district of a Foreign Service post and United States citizens or property are involved, the local Foreign Service post shall report the disaster fully to the Department and to the supervisory mission (or the supervisory consular office where there is no mission).

§ 134.18 Protection of United States citizens involved. The local Foreign Service post shall follow substantially the procedures prescribed in §§ 134.11 to 134.13 in protecting United States citizens (whether alive or dead) involved in a foreign aircraft accident.

§ 134.19 Protection of United States property. The local Foreign Service office shall follow substantially the procedures set forth in §§ 134.11 and 134.14 in protecting United States mail and baggage, personal effects and cargo belonging to United States citizens.

These regulations shall become effective October 1, 1952.

Issued: September 5, 1952.

TITLE 32A—NATIONAL DEFENSE, APPENDIX

Chapter III—Office of Price Stabilization, Economic Stabilization Agency

[Ceiling Price Regulation 24, Amdt. 18]

CPR 24—CEILING PRICES OF BEEF SOLD AT WHOLESALE

EXPORTS OF BEEF

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, Executive Order 10161, Economic Stabilization Agency General Order 2, Delegation of Authority by the Secretary of Agriculture with respect to meat, as amended, and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order 5, Revision, this Amendment 18 to Ceiling Price Regulation 24 is hereby issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

This amendment to Ceiling Price Regulation 24 transfers the control of exports of beef products from CPR 24 to Ceiling Price Regulation 61.

On the basis of the experience gained since the issuance of CPR 24, it now appears that the provisions of section 7 (b) of CPR 24 for exported beef products do not provide for all the costs that are normally incurred in exporting. CPR 61 does provide for such costs. In addition, CPR 61, which permits a percentage export mark-up based on actual experience in its prescribed base period, is more appropriate for pricing this commodity in the export market. It is for these reasons that control of ceiling prices of export sales and sales for export are transferred to CPR 61. The other provisions of CPR 24, for example, the grading and cutting requirements, continue to apply to export sales and sales for export of beef products.

In formulating this amendment, the Director of Price Stabilization has consulted, so far as practicable, with industry representatives, including trade association representatives, and has given full consideration to their recommendations. In his judgment the provisions are generally fair and equitable, are necessary to effectuate the purposes of Title IV of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, and comply with all the applicable standards of the Act.

All standards prescribed in this amendment were, prior to the issuance of Ceiling Price Regulation 24, in general use in the meat industry. Such standards as are prescribed are indispensable to price control of beef, since no practicable alternative to such standardization exists for securing effective price control of this commodity. It is not believed that this amendment will cause any substantial changes in business practices; cost practices or methods, or means or aids to distribution; however, to the extent that such changes may be compelled, they are necessary to prevent circumvention or evasion of Ceiling Price Regulation 24, as amended.

AMENDATORY PROVISIONS

Ceiling Price Regulation 24 is amended in the following respects:

1. Section 7 (b) is deleted and a new section 7 (b) is added, to read as follows:

(b) Exports sales and sales for export. You shall compute your ceiling prices for export sales and sales for export (as those terms are defined in Ceiling Price Regulation 61) of any beef product under the appropriate provisions of CPR 61. These ceiling prices are your ceiling prices under this regulation, for these sales in lieu of any ceiling prices otherwise established by this regulation. All other provisions of this regulation continue to apply to these sales.

(Sec. 704, 64 Stat. 816, as amended, 50 U. S. C. App. Sup. 2154)

Effective date. This amendment shall become effective September 16, 1952.

Director of Price Stabilization.

[Ceiling Price Regulation 74, Amdt. 12]

CPR 74—CEILING PRICES OF PORK SOLD AT WHOLESALE

EXPORTS OF PORK

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, Executive Order 10161, Economic Stabilization Agency General Order 2, Delegation of Authority by the Secretary of Agriculture to the Economic Stabilization Agency with respect to meat, as amended, and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order 5, Revision, this Amendment 12 to Ceiling Price Regulation 74 is hereby issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

This amendment to Ceiling Price Regulation 74 transfers the control of exports of pork from CPR 74 to Ceiling Price Regulation 61.

On the basis of the experience gained since the issuance of CPR 74 it now appears that the provisions of section 8 of CPR 74 for exported pork do not provide for all the costs that are normally incurred in exporting. CPR 61 does provide for such costs. In addition, CPR 61, which permits a percentage export mark-up based on actual experience in its prescribed base period is more appropriate for pricing this commodity in the export market. It is for these reasons that control of ceiling prices of export sales and sales for export are transferred to CPR 61. The other provisions of CPR 74, for example, the cutting requirements, continue to apply to export sales and sales for export of pork.

In formulating this amendment, the Director of Price Stabilization has consulted so far as practicable with industry representatives, including trade association representatives, and has given full consideration to their recommendations. In his judgment the provisions of this regulation are generally fair and equitable, are necessary to effectuate the purposes of Title IV of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, and comply with all the applicable standards of the Act.

All standards prescribed in this amendment were, prior to the issuance of Ceiling Price Regulation 74, in general use in the meat industry. Such standards as are prescribed are indispensable to price control of pork, since no practicable alternative to such standardization exists for securing effective price control of this commodity. It is not believed that this amendment will cause any substantial changes in business practices, cost practices or methods, or means or aids to distribution; however, to the extent that such changes may be compelled, they are necessary to prevent circumvention or evasion of Ceiling Price Regulation 74, as amended.

AMENDATORY PROVISIONS

Ceiling Price Regulation 74 is amended in the following respects:

1. Section 8 is deleted and a new section 8 is added to read as follows:

SEC. 8. Export sales and sales for export. You shall compute your ceiling prices for export sales and sales for export (as those terms are defined in Ceiling Price Regulation 61) of any pork under the appropriate provisions of CPR 61. These ceiling prices are your ceiling prices under this regulation for these sales in lieu of any ceiling prices otherwise established by this regulation. All other provisions of this regulation continue to apply to these sales.

CPR 92—Ceiling Prices of Lamb, Yearling, and Mutton Products Sold at Wholesale

Exports of Lamb, Yearling, and Mutton Products

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, Executive Order 10161, Economic Stabilization Agency General Order 2, Delegation of Authority by the Secretary of Agriculture to the Economic Stabilization Agency with respect to meat, as amended, and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order 5, Revision, this Amendment 9 to Ceiling Price Regulation 92 is hereby issued.

Statement of Considerations

This amendment to Ceiling Price Regulation 92 transfers the control of exports of lamb, yearling, and mutton products from CPR 92 to Ceiling Price Regulation 61.

On the basis of the experience gained since the issuance of CPR 92 it now appears that the provisions of section 7 (b) of CPR 92 for exported lamb, yearling, and mutton products do not provide for all the costs that are normally incurred in exporting. CPR 61 does provide for such costs. In addition, CPR 61, which permits a percentage export mark-up based on actual experience in its prescribed base period is more appropriate for pricing this commodity in the export market. It is for these reasons that control of ceiling prices of export sales and sales for export are transferred to CPR 61. The other provisions of CPR 92, for example, the grading and cutting requirements, continue to apply to export sales and sales for export of lamb, yearling, and mutton products.

In formulating this amendment, the Director of Price Stabilization has consulted so far as practicable with industry representatives, including trade association representatives, and has given full consideration to their recommendations. In his judgment the provisions of this regulation are generally fair and equitable, are necessary to effectuate the purposes of Title IV of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, and comply with all the applicable standards of the Act.

All standards prescribed in this amendment were, prior to the issuance of Ceiling Price Regulation 92, in general use in the meat industry. Such standards as are prescribed are indispensable to price control of lamb, yearling, and mutton products, since no practicable alternative to such standardization exists for securing effective price control of this commodity. It is not believed that this amendment will cause any substantial changes in business practices, cost practices or methods, or means or aids to distribution; however, to the extent that such changes may be compelled, they are necessary to prevent circumvention or evasion of Ceiling Price Regulation 92, as amended.

Amendatory Provisions

Ceiling Price Regulation 92 is amended in the following respects:

1. Section 7 (b) is deleted and a new section 7 (b) is added to read as follows:

(b) Export sales and sales for export. You shall compute your ceiling prices for export sales and sales for export (as those terms are defined in Ceiling Price Regulation 61) of any lamb, yearling, or mutton products under the appropriate provisions of CPR 61. These ceiling prices are your ceiling prices under this regulation, CPR 92, for these sales in lieu of any ceiling prices otherwise established by this regulation. All other provisions of this regulation continue to apply to these sales.

CPR 101—Ceiling Prices of Veal Sold at Wholesale

Exports of Veal

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, Executive Order 10161, Economic Stabilization Agency General Order 2, Delegation of Authority by the Secretary of Agriculture to the Economic Stabilization Agency with respect to meat, as amended, and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order 5, Revision, this Amendment 8 to Ceiling Price Regulation 101 is hereby issued.

Statement of Considerations

This amendment to Ceiling Price Regulation 101 transfers the control of exports of veal from CPR 101 to Ceiling Price Regulation 61.

On the basis of the experience gained since the issuance of CPR 101 it now appears that the provisions of section 8 (b) of CPR 101 for exported veal do not provide for all the costs that are normally incurred in exporting. CPR 61 does provide for such costs. In addition, CPR 61, which permits a percentage export mark-up based on actual experience in its prescribed base period is more appropriate for pricing this commodity in the export market. It is for these reasons that control of ceiling prices of export sales and sales for export are transferred to CPR 61. The other provisions of CPR 101, for example, the grading and cutting requirements, continue to apply to export sales and sales for export of veal.

Amendatory Provisions

Ceiling Price Regulation 101 is amended in the following respects:

1. Section 8 (b) is deleted and a new section 8 (b) is added to read as follows:

All other provisions of this regulation continue to apply to these sales.

2. Section 10 (c) is deleted and section 10 (d) is redesignated 10 (c).

3. Section 13 (e) is deleted and section 13 (f) is redesignated 13 (e).

GCPR, SR 34—Adjustment of Ceiling Prices of Manufacturers and Distributors of Fresh and Semi-Dry Sausage Made in Whole or in Part From Beef or Stuffed in Sheep Casings

Export Sales of Fresh and Semi-Dry Sausage Made in Whole or Part From Beef or Stuffed in Sheep Casings

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, Executive Order 10161, Economic Stabilization Agency General Order 2, Delegation of Authority by the Secretary of Agriculture with respect to meat, as amended, and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order 5, Revision, this Amendment 2 to Supplementary Regulation 34, Revised, to the General Ceiling Price Regulation, is hereby issued.

Statement of Considerations

This amendment to Supplementary Regulation 34, Revised, transfers the control of exports of sausage from SR 34, Revised, to Ceiling Price Regulation 61.

On the basis of the experience gained since the issuance of SR 34, Revised, it now appears that the provisions of section 8 of SR 34, Revised, for exported sausage do not provide for all the costs that are normally incurred in exporting. CPR 61 does provide for such costs. In addition, CPR 61, which permits a percentage export mark-up based on actual experience in its prescribed base period, is more appropriate for pricing this commodity in the export market. It is for these reasons that control of ceiling prices of export sales and sales for export are transferred to CPR 61. The other provisions of SR 34, Revised, continue to apply to export sales and sales for export of sausage.

In formulating this amendment, the Director of Price Stabilization has consulted, so far as practicable, with industry representatives, including trade association representatives, and has given full consideration to their recommendations. In his judgment the provisions are generally fair and equitable, are necessary to effectuate the purposes of Title IV of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, and comply with all the applicable standards of the Act.

All standards prescribed in this amendment were, prior to the issuance of SR 34, Revised, in general use in the meat industry. Such standards as are prescribed are indispensable to price control of sausage, since no practicable alternative to such standardization exists for securing effective price control of this commodity. It is not believed that this amendment will cause any substantial changes in business practices; cost practices or methods, or means or aids to distribution; however, to the extent that such changes may be compelled, they are necessary to prevent circumvention or evasion of Supplementary Regulation 34, Revised, to the General Ceiling Price Regulation, as amended.

Amendatory Provisions

SR 34, Revised, is amended in the following respects:

1. Section 8 is deleted and a new section 8 is added to read as follows:

SEC. 8. Exports sales and sales for export. You shall compute your ceiling prices for export sales and sales for export (as those terms are defined in Ceiling Price Regulation 61) of any sausage under the appropriate provisions of CPR 61. These ceiling prices are your ceiling prices under this regulation for these sales in lieu of any ceiling prices otherwise established by this regulation. All other provisions of this regulation continue to apply to these sales.

[General Overriding Regulation 6, Amdt. 6]

GOR 6—Exemptions Relating to Specified Nonprofit Organizations

Sales by Society of St. Vincent de Paul and Sales of Independent Order of Odd Fellows Supplies

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, Executive Order 10161, and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order No. 2, this Amendment 6 to General Overriding Regulation is hereby issued.

Statement of Considerations

This amendment to General Overriding Regulation 6 adds certain merchandise sales to those exempted by the regulation from any price regulations issued by the Office of Price Stabilization. The sales here exempted are sales of used and waste goods by the Society of St. Vincent de Paul and of the official supplies of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows when sold by that organization through its Sovereign Grand Lodge, Grand Bodies, Grand Lodges, Grand Encampments, Rebekah Assemblies, Department Councils and subordinate bodies.

The Society of St. Vincent de Paul is a religious and charitable nonprofit organization which, in the furtherance of a rehabilitation program accepts donations of merchandise from the public. The merchandise is either given away to needy persons or is sold at low prices. Waste materials are also sold to dealers at prevailing prices. The proceeds from all sales are used to assist the poor.

The Independent Order of Odd Fellows and its affiliated bodies are nonprofit organizations which as one of their activities sell official regalia and other supplies to the various constituent organizations and their members. The articles sold, the quality of the merchandise, the manner of distribution and the price at which they are sold are strictly controlled by the governing body of the organization, The Sovereign Grand Lodge of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows. Any income received in excess of the actual cost of official supplies is used to defray the administrative, fraternal, charitable and educational expenses of the organization.

Generally, the considerations stated in support of General Overriding Regulation 6 and the amendments thereto are likewise applicable to the sales here referred to. In the judgment of the Director of Price Stabilization the exemptions provided for by this amendment will not impair the carrying out of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, and it is accordingly not necessary for ceilings to be applied to these sales.

To the extent practicable under the circumstances, the Director has consulted with persons involved prior to the issuance of this amendment and has given consideration to their recommendations.

Amendatory Provisions

General Overriding Regulation 6 is amended in the following respects: By adding the following new sections numbered 9 and 10.

SEC. 9. Sales by the Society of St. Vincent de Paul. No price regulation issued by the Office of Price Stabilization applies to sales by the Society of St. Vincent de Paul of used and waste goods donated by members of the public to that organization and sold in the condition received or as reconditioned by the organization.

SEC. 10. Sales of Independent Order of Odd Fellows supplies. No price regulation issued by the Office of Price Stabilization applies to sales by the Independent Order of Odd Fellows, comprising the Sovereign Grand Lodge, Grand Bodies, Grand Lodges, Grand Encampments, Rebekah Assemblies, Department Councils and subordinate bodies, of the official regalia, supplies and of articles bearing the official emblem, motto or other distinguishing mark of these organizations.

Effective date. This amendment to General Overriding Regulation 6 is effective September 11, 1952.

R. 6266) a notice of proposed rule making, in accordance with section 4 (a) of the Administrative Procedure Act, which notice set forth certain revisions of Part 31 and Appendix B thereof and of Part 1 with respect to continuing property records to be maintained by Class A and Class B Telephone Companies, and that the period in which interested parties were afforded an opportunity to submit comments expired on August 11, 1952, that only the United States Independent Telephone Association submitted comments during that period and that the aforementioned comments were in favor of adopting the amendments as proposed; and

It further appearing, that the period for filing comments or briefs in reply to the original comments or briefs expired on September 2, 1952, and that no comments or briefs were filed in reply to the comments of the United States Independent Telephone Association; and

It further appearing, that a few minor editorial changes have been made in the rule amendment herein ordered that were not set forth in the notice of proposed rule making; and

It further appearing, that the aforesaid changes are not substantive but consist of improvements in the language and punctuation of the rule, and, accordingly, compliance with the requirements of section 4 of the Administrative Procedure Act is not necessary; and

It further appearing, that authority for the promulgation of these amendments is contained in sections 4 (i) and 220 of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended; and

It further appearing, that under section 220 (g) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, notice of alterations by the Commission in the required manner or form of keeping accounts shall be given by the Commission at least six months before the same are to take effect;

It is ordered, That effective six months after the date of this order, Part 31 and Appendix B thereof and Part 1 of the Commission's rules and regulations are amended as set forth below: Provided, however, That any company may follow the regulations and practices set forth in such amendments as of January 1, 1953.

FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION,
[SEAL] T. J. SLOWIE,
Secretary.

1. Delete §§ 31.2–24, 31.2–25 and 31.2–26 and substitute the following:

§ 31.2–24 Retirement units. The "retirement units" (note also § 31.2–25 (b) (1)) are listed in § 31.8. Additions to or revisions of that list will be issued, when necessary, by the Commission, to which any applications for such additions or revisions shall be presented by the company. (See also paragraph 2 of Appendix B of this part.)

§ 31.2–25 Telephone plant retired. (a) To the end that the telephone plant accounts (note §§ 31.2–20, 31.2–21) shall at all times disclose the original cost (note § 31.01–3 (x)) of all property in service, the original cost of retired property, whether replaced or not (except as provided in paragraph (b) (2) of this section), shall be credited to the account or accounts in this classification to which such cost was charged. Every company shall, therefore, take such measures and establish such procedure as will insure strict compliance with these requirements. When any item of property subject to plant retirement accounting is worn out, lost, sold, destroyed, abandoned, surrendered upon lapse of title, becomes permanently unserviceable, is withdrawn, or for any other reason is retired from service, the amount in the plant accounts applicable to that item shall be credited to the appropriate plant accounts, and the retirement entry shall refer to the source (or to the supporting records showing the source) in the continuing property record from which the cost was obtained. (Note also paragraph (e) of this section.)

(b) Depreciable telephone plant: For the purpose of avoiding undue refinement in accounting for the replacement of small items of property, the accounting for retirements and replacements of depreciable telephone plant shall be as follows:

(1) Retirement units: This group includes major items of property, a list of which is shown in § 31.8. The original cost of any such item retired shall be credited to the plant account and charged to account 171, "Depreciation reserve," whether or not replaced. (Note also paragraph (b) of account 171.) The original cost of property installed in place of the property retired shall be charged to the appropriate telephone plant account.

(2) Minor items: This group includes any part or element which is not designated as a retirement unit. The original cost of any minor item of property retired and not replaced shall be credited to the plant account and charged to account 171 (note also paragraph (b) of the text of that account), except that if the original cost of a minor item of property is included in the specific or average cost for a retirement unit of which the minor item is a part, no separate credit to the telephone plant account is required when such a minor item is retired. Except as provided in the note under account 231, "Station apparatus," in § 31.8, if minor items of property are replaced (apart from the retirement unit of which they form a part or with which they are associated) no adjustment shall be made in account 171. The cost of the replacement shall be charged to the account appropriate for the cost of repairs of the property, except that if the replacement effects a substantial betterment (the primary aim of which is to make the property affected more useful, of greater durability, of greater capacity, or more economical in operation) the excess cost of (i) such a replacement over (ii) the estimated cost at the then current prices of replacing without betterment the minor items being retired, shall be charged to the appropriate telephone plant account.

(c) Station installations, drop and block wires: When stations are removed from customers' premises, the original cost of the station installations carried in account 232, "Station installations," and of any drop and block wires carried in account 233, "Drop and block wires," thereby retired from service shall be credited to the plant accounts and charged to account 607, "Station removals and changes." The latter account shall be credited with the salvage value (note § 31.01–3 (bb)) of such property recovered. The cost of the removal of the station apparatus, inside, drop and block wires shall be charged to account 607.

(d) Land: The original cost of land retired shall be credited to account 211, "Land." If the land is sold, the difference between such original cost and the sale price (less commissions and other expenses of making the sale) of the land shall be credited to account 401, "Credits for telephone plant sold," or debited to account 410, "Debits for telephone plant sold," as may be appropriate. If the land is retained by the company and held for sale, its cost shall be charged to account 103, "Miscellaneous physical property." The accounting for leaseholds retired shall be as provided for in the texts of account 172, "Amortization reserve," and account 613, "Amortization of intangible property."

(e) Determination of the cost of property to be retired: The cost of telephone plant retired shall be the amount at which such property is included in the telephone plant accounts. When it is impracticable to determine the cost of each item due to the relatively large number or small cost of such items, the average cost of all the items covered by an appropriate subdivision of the account shall be used in determining the cost to be assigned to such items when retired: Provided, That the method used in determining average cost gives due regard to the quantity, size, and kind of items, the area in which they were installed and their classification in other respects, as called for by the rules of the Commission regarding continuing property records and by the system of continuing property records accepted by the Commission specifically for use of the accounting company. This method of average cost may be applied in retirement of such items as telephones, bell boxes, station installations, poles, crossarms, wire, cable, cable terminals, conduit, and nonmultiple private branch exchange switchboards. Any company may use average cost of property installed in a year or band of years. It should be understood, however, that the use of average costs shall not relieve the company of the requirement for maintaining its continuing property records in such manner as to show, where practicable, dates of installation and removal so as to provide these data for purposes of mortality studies.

(f) The accounting for the retirement of organization, franchises, patent rights, and other intangible property, shall be as provided for in the texts of account 172, "Amortization reserve," account 413, "Miscellaneous debits to earned surplus," account 613, "Amortization of intangible property," and account 100:4, "Telephone plant acquisition adjustment."

(g) When telephone plant is sold together with the telephone traffic associated therewith, the original cost of the property shall be credited to the appropriate plant accounts and the estimated amounts carried with respect thereto in the depreciation and amortization reserve accounts shall be charged to such reserve accounts. The difference, if any,

between (1) the net amount of such debit and credit items and (2) the consideration received (less commissions and other expenses of making the sale) for the property shall be included, if a debit, in account 410, "Debits for telephone plant sold," and if a credit, in account 401, "Credits for telephone plant sold." The accounting for depreciable telephone plant sold without the traffic associated therewith shall be in accordance with the accounting provided in paragraph (b) of account 171, "Depreciation reserve."

§ 31.2–26 Continuing property record required. (a) Not later than June 30 of the year following that in which a company becomes subject (note § 31.–01–1) to these accounts (note § 31.01–3 (a)) each company shall file with the Commission three copies of a complete plan of the method to be used in the compilation of a continuing property record with respect to each class of property for which such records are hereinafter prescribed. The plan shall include a list of the property-record units proposed for use under each plant account. A narrative statement shall accompany the list of proposed property-record units, describing in detail the content and method of maintenance of all forms and other records which are designed for use in compiling the continuing property record, to the end that a ready analysis with respect to the sufficiency thereof may be made. In preparing this narrative statement, the company shall include typical examples indicating the use of, and relationship between, the various forms and records.

NOTE: Companies subject to these accounts on June 30, 1943, were required by the then effective rules to compile a continuing property record with respect to property as at December 31, 1936, and to reflect therein all subsequent additions and retirements.

(b) Any company may, in lieu of submitting the plan provided for in paragraph (a) of this section, submit to the Commission not later than June 30 of the year following that in which the company becomes subject to these accounts, a statement in triplicate that it concurs in and proposes to pursue in all particulars a plan filed with the Commission by another company which it is believed conforms fully to the requirements of paragraph (a) of this section.

(c) Not later than June 30 of the year following that in which a company becomes subject to these accounts each company shall begin the preparation of a continuing property record with respect to property of each class represented in the several plant accounts comprised by balance-sheet accounts 100:1, "Telephone plant in service," and 100:3, "Property held for future telephone use," and with respect to property represented in account 103, "Miscellaneous physical property." These records shall be completed not later than 2 years after the prescribed date of beginning with respect to property as at the date the company becomes subject to these accounts and with respect to the changes effected therein between such date and the end of the calendar year preceding the date that these records are required to be completed. Property changes (whether made by companies already subject to these rules or those becoming subject hereafter) affecting the period subsequent to the end of that year for which the records are required to be completed shall be promptly processed in the continuing property record to the end that the record shall provide reasonably current data at all times.

(d) The continuing property record shall be arranged in conformity with the plant accounts prescribed in this system of accounts. It shall be compiled on basis of original cost (or other book cost consistent with the provisions of this system of accounts). The record or records supplemental thereto shall contain such detailed description and classification of property-record units as will permit their ready identification and verification. They shall be maintained in such manner as will meet the following basic objectives:

(1) An inventory of property-record units which may be readily spot-checked for proof of physical existence.

(2) The association of costs with such property-record units to assure accurate accounting for retirements.

(3) The determination of dates of installation and removal of plant retired to provide data for use in connection with depreciation studies.

The record or records supplemental thereto shall accordingly reveal clearly, in relation to designated accounting areas, detailed and systematically summarized information as to the kind, character, size, quantity, location, year of placement and retirement where practicable, ownership, and actual or apportioned original cost (or other appropriate book cost) of the telephone plant and other property-record units aggregately represented by the concurrent balances in accounts 100:1, "Telephone plant in service," 100:3, "Property held for future telephone use," and 103, "Miscellaneous physical property." In order that there may be on hand at the time of retirement a maximum of pertinent cost data, every effort shall be made at the time plant is constructed and/or installed to obtain all such available cost data by subcontracts, trades, and if practicable, by retirement units.

NOTE: See Appendix B, Standard Practices for the Establishment and Maintenance of Continuing Property Records by Telephone Companies Having Investment in Account 100:1, "Telephone Plant in Service," in Excess of $8,000,000.

2. Delete Appendix B in its entirety and substitute the following:

APPENDIX B

STANDARD PRACTICES FOR THE ESTABLISHMENT AND MAINTENANCE OF CONTINUING PROPERTY RECORDS BY TELEPHONE COMPANIES HAVING INVESTMENT IN ACCOUNT 100:1, "TELEPHONE PLANT IN SERVICE," IN EXCESS OF $8,000,000

1. Accounting areas. (a) The continuing property record, as related to each primary plant account, shall be established and maintained by subaccounts for each accounting area. An accounting area is the smallest territory of the company for which accounting records of investment are maintained for all plant accounts within the area. Areas already established for administrative, accounting, valuation, or other purposes may be adopted for this purpose when appropriate. In no case shall the boundaries of accounting areas cross State lines. In determining the limit of each area, consideration shall be given to the quantities of property, construction conditions, operating districts, county and township lines, taxing district boundaries, city limits, and other political or geographical limits, in order that the areas adopted may have a maximum adaptability, within the confines of practicability, for both the company's purposes and those of Federal, State, and municipal authorities.

(b) Not later than June 30, following the year in which a company's investment in account 100:1, "Telephone plant in service," exceeded $8,000,000, there shall be filed with the Commission three copies of a list of accounting areas, to be accompanied by descriptions of the boundaries of each area. Description of proposed major changes in accounting areas, such as consolidation, subdivision, addition or elimination of areas shall be submitted in triplicate to the Commission thirty days in advance of the proposed effective dates of such changes.

2. Property-record units. (a) In each of the established accounting areas, the "property-record units" (in terms of which the continuing property record is to be maintained) shall be set forth separately, classified by size and type and with the amount of original cost (or other appropriate book cost) associated with such units. When a list of property-record units has been accepted by the Commission, the property-record units set forth therein shall become the property-record units referred to in this statement of standard practices. When it is found necessary to revise this list because of the addition of units used in providing new types of service, or new units resulting from improvements in the art, or because of the grouping or elimination of units which no longer merit separate recognition as property-record units, three copies of such changes shall be submitted to the Commission.

(b) With respect to land in fee classifiable in account 207, "Right of way," and land classifiable in account 211, "Land," the property-record unit to be set forth in the continuing property record shall be a parcel of land. A land parcel means one continuous plot within an accounting area. Each land parcel shall be identified as to functions and location. In the continuing property record or in records supplemental thereto there shall be shown with respect to each land parcel the area, identity of vendors, grantors, or other conveyors of title, identification of deeds, or other instruments, and original cost.

(c) The continuing property record shall reveal the location, the essential details of construction, and the cost of each building. In cases where the underlying records of construction costs of buildings are available, such costs shall be so analyzed and the analyses so maintained that, upon any retirement of one or more retirement units or of minor items (without replacement), a reasonably accurate estimate of the cost of the plant retired can be made. In cases where no construction cost details are available and a retirement of a portion of such a building is made, the cost of the plant retired shall be determined on an estimated basis by allocating to such plant retired an equitable portion of the estimated cost of the contract or trade (e. g., masonry, plumbing, etc.) in which the specific retirement is being made. Allocations shall be made in such a manner as to insure that the unit being retired will carry its ratable share of architectural and engineering fees and other similar indirect costs.

(d) The continuing property record shall reveal the location, the essential details of construction, and the cost of each type of central office (manual, step-by-step, etc.) in each building, and of each large private branch exchange. Because of the small number of interim retirements and the comparatively small amounts involved therein, unless such annual retirements become at least 25% of the balance at the beginning of the year with respect to any central office, the cost of each central office need not be broken down into the individual retirement units of which it is composed. The underlying records of construction cost shall be so maintained that, upon any retirement of one or more retirement units or of minor items (without replacement), a reasonably accurate estimate of the cost of the plant retired can be made.

(c) The continuing property record shall show the number and nature of items included in account 261, "Furniture and office equipment," and account 264, "Vehicles and other work equipment," whether such items are retired on an average cost basis or otherwise.

3. Method of determining original cost (note § 31.01–3 (x)) of property-record units. Original cost of the property-record units shall be determined by analyses of the construction costs incurred as shown by completion reports, or other data, covering the respective construction work orders or authorizations, provided that in those cases where the actual original cost of property cannot be ascertained, such original cost shall be estimated. Such estimated original cost shall be consistent with the accounting practices in effect at the time of construction of the property. Costs shall be allocated to and associated with the property-record units in such manner as to assure accurate accounting for retirements.

4. Average costs. (a) In the development of average costs for plant consisting of a large number of similar units, such as telephones, bell boxes, station installations, poles, crossarms, wire, cable, cable terminals, conduit, and nonmultiple private branch exchange switchboards, units of similar size and type within each specified accounting area and plant account may be grouped without regard to year of construction. Each such average cost shall be set forth in the continuing property record or in records supplemental thereto and in support thereof.

(b) The averaging of costs permitted under the provisions of the foregoing paragraph is restricted to the averaging of costs incurred within an accounting area as defined in paragraph 1 (a). The provisions of paragraph 4 (a) shall not be interpreted as permitting the inclusion within such average cost of the cost of units involved in any unusual or special types of construction. The units involved in such unusual or special types of construction shall be recorded at actual cost by locations.

(c) When classes of plant are subdivided between exchange and toll, the bases of the average costs shall be confined to items priced in the respective subdivisions.

5. Identification of property-record units. There shall be shown in the continuing property record, or in records supplemental thereto and in support thereof, a complete description of the property-record units in such detail as to identify plainly such units. The description (except for classes of plant for which it is impracticable, such as station apparatus, station installations, and drop and block wires) shall include the identification of the work order under which constructed, the year of installation (unless not determinable at reasonable expense with respect to past acquisitions or installations), the specific location of the property within each accounting area in such manner that it can be readily spot-checked for proof of physical existence, the accounting company's number or designation, and any other description used in connection with the determination of the original cost. Descriptions of units of similar size and type shall follow prescribed groupings.

6. Reinstalled units. When units with respect to which average costs are not applied under the practices herein prescribed are removed or retired and subsequently reinstalled, the date when the unit was first charged to the appropriate plant account shall, when required for adequate service life studies and reasonably accurate retirement accounting, be shown in addition to the date of reinstallation.

7. Age of property. The continuing property record or records supplemental thereto and in support thereof shall be so maintained as to disclose the age of existing property and the service life of property retired. Exceptions from this requirement for any property-record units shall be submitted as part of the company's plan of continuing property records.

8. Reference to sources of information. There shall be shown by appropriate reference the source of all entries. All drawings, computations, and other detailed records which support either the quantities or the costs included in the continuing property record shall be retained as a part of or in support of the continuing property record.

9. Jointly owned property. (a) With respect to jointly owned property, there shall be shown in the continuing property record or records supplemental thereto:

(1) The identity of all joint owners.

(2) The percentage of ownership of the physical units vested in the accounting company.

NOTE: When plant is constructed under arrangements for joint ownership, the amount received by the constructing company from the other joint owner or owners shall be credited as a reduction of the gross cost of the plant in place. When a sale of a part interest in plant is made, the fractional interest sold shall be treated as a retirement and the amount received shall be treated as salvage. The continuing property record or records supplemental thereto shall be so maintained as to identify retirements of this nature separately from physical retirements of jointly owned plant.

(b) If jointly owned property is substantial in relation to the total of the same kind of property owned wholly by the company, such jointly owned property shall be appropriately segregated in the continuing property record.

3. Amend § 1.547 Reports to be filed under Part 31 of this chapter, of Part 1 as follows:

a. Delete from paragraph (r) the reference to paragraph (c) of § 31.2–26.

b. Delete paragraphs (u), (v), (w), and (x) and substitute the following:

(u) Appendix B—Standard Practices, CPR: Section 1 (b). Continuing property record; (1) list of accounting areas (with descriptions) and (2) descriptions of subsequent proposed changes in the list.

(v) CPR: Section 2 (a). Continuing property record; proposed revisions in list of property-record units.

PART 3—RADIO BROADCAST SERVICES

TELEVISION BROADCAST STATIONS; SEPARATIONS, POWER AND ANTENNA HEIGHT REQUIREMENTS

In the matter of amendment of §§ 3.610 and 3.614 of the Commission's rules and regulations pertaining to television broadcast stations.

By the Commission. Commissioners Hyde and Hennock not participating. Commissioner Jones dissenting.

1. Section 3.610[1] of the Commission's TV rules divides the country into three zones and establishes the following minimum co-channel assignment and station separations for each zone:

Zone	Channels 2–13	Channels 14–83
I	170 miles	155 miles
II	190 miles	175 miles
III	220 miles	205 miles

The section provides further that where the boundary line between two zones passes through a community, that community shall be considered to be located in the lower-numbered zone. The section also provides that the minimum co-channel separation between a station or assignment in one zone and a station or assignment in another zone shall be that of the zone requiring the lower separation.

2. Section 3.614 (b) of the Commission's TV rules pertaining to power and antenna heights provides that VHF stations in Zones II and III may employ maximum powers with antenna heights up to 2000 feet, and that for heights exceeding 2000 feet, the power will be decreased in accordance with the chart designated as Appendix C Figure 2b of the rules. VHF stations in Zone I, however, may employ maximum power only with antenna heights up to 1000 feet, and stations employing heights greater than 1000 feet must decrease power in accordance with the chart designated as Appendix C Figure 2a of the rules.

3. The Commission has received a number of requests for interpretations of the above sections in connection with their application to cases where a transmitter is located in a different zone from the city to which the channel is assigned. The basic question presented by these requests is the "location of the station" for purposes of applying the Commission's rules with respect to mileage separations and maximum heights and powers. Specifically, the question in each case is whether the station is located at the transmitter site or in the community to which the channel is assigned.

4. In the Commission's Sixth Report and Order (Docket 8736 et al.) the Commission determined that the transmitter site shall be used where available in measuring all separations both for rule making purposes and licensing purposes. The Commission's determinations with respect to minimum mileage separations and the utilization of maximum power at specified antenna heights were based upon the service rendered and the resulting interference. Such determinations were predicated upon the operation of stations at the separations and heights and powers specified in the rules. Thus, the Commission concluded in the Sixth Report that where a transmitter site is in existence or is proposed, that transmitter site shall be used as the point of reference rather than the city to which the channel is assigned (paragraphs 106–108). These decisions were implemented by the Commission's new television rules. Thus, in § 3.611 it is provided that in considering petitions to amend the Table of Assignments, and for the purpose of determining station separations in licensing proceedings, the existing or proposed transmitter sites shall be used where available.

5. Accordingly, the zone in which the transmitter of a television station is located or proposed determines the applicable rules with respect to co-channel mileage separations and maximum antenna heights and powers for VHF stations. Following are examples of the application of the rules to situations where the transmitter is located in a different zone from the city to which the channel employed by the stations is assigned:[2]

(1) Where a VHF station employs a channel assigned to a city in Zone II and locates its transmitter in Zone I, the station is required to maintain a separation of only 170 miles to all other stations and assignments in Zones I and II.

(2) Where a VHF station employs a channel assigned to a city in Zone III and locates its transmitter in Zone II, the station is required to maintain a separation of only 190 miles to other stations and assignments in Zones I and II.

(3) Where a VHF station employs a channel assigned to a city in Zone I and locates its transmitter in Zone II, the station is required to maintain a separation of 190 miles to other stations and assignments in Zone II, and 170 miles to other stations and assignments in Zone I.

(4) Where a VHF station employs a channel assigned to a city in Zone II and locates its transmitter in Zone III, the station is required to maintain a separation of 220 miles to other stations and assignments in Zone III, and a separation of 190 miles to other stations and assignments in Zone II.

(5) Where a station employs a VHF channel assigned to a city in Zone II and locates its transmitter in Zone I, the rules governing the utilization of maximum heights and powers for Zone I VHF stations apply.

(6) Where a station employs a VHF channel assigned to a city in Zone I and locates its transmitter in Zone II, the rules governing the utilization of maximum heights and powers for Zone II VHF stations apply.

7. The Commission is of the view that paragraphs should be added to §§ 3.610 and 3.614 interpreting these rules with respect to cases where the transmitter is located in one zone and the city to which the channel is assigned is located in another zone. Since these amendments are interpretative of existing rules, provisions of section 4 of the Administrative Procedure Act with respect to notice of proposed rule making are inapplicable and the amendments are made effective immediately. The authority for the issuance of the amendments are contained in sections 1, 4 (i) and (j), 301, 303 (a), (b), (c), (d), (e), (f), (g), (h), and (r) and 307 (b) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, and section 4 of the Administrative Procedure Act.

8. In view of the foregoing, it is ordered, that, effective immediately, §§ 3.610 and 3.614 are amended by the addition of interpretative sections as set out below:

1. Section 3.610 of the Commission's rules and regulations is amended by the addition of the following paragraph:

(d) The zone in which the transmitter of a television station is located or proposed to be located determines the applicable rules with respect to co-channel mileage separations where the transmitter is located in a different zone from that in which the channel to be employed is located.

2. Section 3.614 of the Commission's rules and regulations is amended by the addition of the following paragraph:

(c) The zone in which the transmitter of a television station is located or proposed to be located determines the applicable rules with respect to maximum antenna heights and powers for VHF stations when the transmitter is located in Zone I and the channel to be employed is located in Zone II, or the transmitter is located in Zone II and the channel to be employed is located in Zone I.

(Sec. 4, 48 Stat. 1066, as amended; 47 U. S. C. 154. Interpret or apply secs. 301, 303, 48 Stat. 1081, 1085; 47 U. S. C. 301, 303)

[1] The Sixth Report and Order provided that the new TV rules adopted thereby would become effective 30 days from the date of publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER. Such publication was made on May 2, 1952 (17 F. R. 3905); and, therefore, the new rules became effective June 2, 1952.

[2] The examples set out with respect to minimum co-channel separations refer to VHF channels. The principle applies equally, however, to UHF channels.

[3] Commissioner Jones dissents for the same reasons stated in his dissents in Yankee Network, Inc., 4 RR 164; Memorandum Opinion of the Commission ruling on the Bar Association petition, 7 RR 371; and the Sixth Report and Order, 1 RR 91:599.

TITLE 50—WILDLIFE

Chapter I—Fish and Wildlife Service, Department of the Interior

Subchapter C—Management of Wildlife Conservation Areas

PART 31—PACIFIC REGION

SUBPART—TULE LAKE NATIONAL WILDLIFE REFUGE, CALIFORNIA

PHEASANT HUNTING PERMITTED

Basis and purpose. On the basis of observations and reports of field investigations conducted by representatives of the Fish and Wildlife Service and the California Fish and Game Commission, it has been determined that there is a surplus of pheasants on the Tule Lake National Wildlife Refuge that can best be removed by permitting public hunting on parts of the refuge.

Since the following regulation is a relaxation of existing restrictions applicable to the Tule Lake National Wildlife Refuge, notice and public procedure thereon are not required (60 Stat. 237; 5 U. S. C. 1001, et seq.).

Effective immediately upon publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER, the following section is added:

§ 31.346 Pheasant hunting permitted. The hunting of pheasants shall be permitted on November 22, 23, 29, and 30, 1952, on the areas of the Tule Lake National Wildlife Refuge specified in § 31.342, and on such other areas as may be designated by posting by the officer in charge in accordance with the provisions of Parts 18 and 21 of this subchapter, and subject to the provisions, conditions, restrictions, and requirements of §§ 31.343 to 31.345, inclusive.

Notice is hereby given that the Department is considering the approval of a proposed amendment, hereinafter set forth, to the rules and regulations (7 CFR 953.100 et seq.; Control Committee rules and regulations) that are currently in effect pursuant to the applicable provisions of the marketing agreement, as amended, and Order No. 39, as amended (7 CFR Part 939) regulating the handling of Beurre D'Anjou, Beurre Bosc, Winter Nelis, Doyenne du Comice, Beurre Easter, and Beurre Clairgeau varieties of pears grown in Oregon, Washington, and California. This is a regulatory program effective under the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.). The amendment to the said rules and regulations has been proposed by the Control Committee, established under said amended marketing agreement and order as the agency to administer the terms and provisions thereof.

The proposed amendment is as follows:

Renumber § 939.110 Application for exemption certificate as "§ 939.110a" and insert as a new § 939.110 the following:

§ 939.110 Determination of district percentages. (a) The Control Committee, at its meeting held on or before August 1 of each year for the purpose of making recommendations to the Secretary under the provisions of § 939.50, shall estimate the district percentages which the grades and sizes of each variety of pears permitted to be shipped from each district under the recommended regulation bears to the total quantity of each variety of pears which could be shipped from that district in the absence of regulation.

(b) Any notice issued or given pursuant to this estimate shall specifically state that each of the said percentages is merely an estimate subject to change, and is not to be relied upon until final action is taken as hereinafter provided. Each exemption committee, as hereinafter constituted in each district, shall meet and elect a district chairman and a secretary, either at or within ten days following said meeting of the Control Committee. Said district chairman shall immediately notify the secretary of the Control Committee of the names of the chairman and the secretary. The chairman of each exemption committee shall call a meeting of such committee within his district not later than a date to be determined each year by the Control Committee at the meeting specified in paragraph (a) of this section.

(c) At said district meeting, the district percentage estimates made by the Control Committee shall be reviewed by the exemption committee, and, if found to be not in accordance with conditions then existing within the district, said committee shall recommend proper adjustments to the Control Committee. Each exemption committee shall make only one recommendation for adjustment of district percentages in any one season, and said recommendation shall be made not later than the date specified by the Control Committee, except that should a major change occur in the crop or crops in any district after such date, the exemption committee may recommend a further change in such percentages. On the basis of the information submitted to it by the exemption committees and such other information and evidence as is available to it, the Control Committee shall establish all district percentages to be used in computing exemptions to growers. In the event no adjustment is recommended by the exemption committees by the date above specified, the Control Committee shall immediately, on the basis of information and evidence available to it, establish the district percentages to be used in computing exemptions to growers.

(d) The Control Committee shall give prompt notice to growers and handlers of the final percentages to be used in computing exemptions to growers.

(e) Any action taken by an exemption committee shall be approved by four affirmative votes, and each such committee shall keep accurate minutes and records of the proceedings of each of its meetings. A copy of such minutes and records shall be forwarded to the secretary of the Control Committee promptly after each meeting.

All persons who desire to submit written data, views, or arguments for consideration in connection with such proposal should do so by forwarding same to the Director, Fruit and Vegetable Branch, Production and Marketing Administration, Room 2077 South Building, Washington 25, D. C., not later than the tenth day after publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

Issued at Washington, D. C., this 9th day of September 1952.

[Docket No. 10115]

OPERATIONAL FIXED STATIONS AND FIXED STATIONS IN DOMESTIC FIXED PUBLIC SERVICE

NOTICE OF PROPOSED RULE MAKING

In the matter of a new policy to govern the assignment of frequencies in the band 72–76 Mc to operational fixed stations and fixed stations in the domestic fixed public service.

1. Notice is hereby given of proposed rule making in the above entitled matter.

2. Footnotes NG–3 and NG–5 to the Table of Frequency Allocations permit the assignment of frequencies in the band 72–76 Mc to operational fixed stations and fixed stations in the Domestic Fixed Public Service under certain conditions. The recent lifting of the TV "freeze" and the adoption of an engineered Table of Assignments for TV stations throughout the country makes it desirable that the standards for making assignments in this band be revised and made more definite.

3. The Commission believes it is possible to make provision for certain fixed uses in the band 72–76 Mc and at the same time give adequate protection to TV reception. To this end, it is proposing the establishment of standards for such assignments which do not attempt to eliminate completely all possibilities of interference but rather which minimize its probabilities. It is proposed, therefore, to delete the criteria presently contained in the various rules with respect to the protection to be accorded television in the assignment of frequencies in the band 72–76 Mc to fixed stations and substitute the following:

(a) Whenever it is proposed to locate a 72–76 Mc fixed station 80 or more miles from the site of a TV transmitter operating on either channel 4 or 5, or from the post office of a community in which such channels are assigned but are not in operation, the fixed station will not be required to afford any protection to the reception of television on such channels.

(b) Whenever it is proposed to locate a 72–76 Mc fixed station less than 80, but more than 10 miles from the site of a TV transmitter operating on either channel 4 or 5 (or from the post office of a community in which such channels are assigned but are not in operation), such stations will be authorized only if:

(1) There are fewer than 100 family dwelling units[1] located within a circle centered at the location of the proposed fixed station[2] the radius of which shall be determined by use of the chart entitled, "Chart for Determining Radius From Fixed Station in 72–76 Mc/s Band to Interference Contour Along Which 10 Percent of Service From Adjacent Channel Television Station Would Be Destroyed."[3]

(2) The applicant agrees to eliminate any interference caused by his operations to TV reception on either channel 4 or 5 that might develop within that circle by whatever means are found necessary within 30 days of the time knowledge of said interference is first brought to his attention by the Commission.

(3) Vertical polarization is used.

Provided, however, That the Commission may, in a particular case, authorize the location of a fixed station within a circle as determined under (1) above containing 100 or more family dwelling units upon a showing that:

(i) The proposed site is the only suitable location.

(ii) It is not feasible, technically or otherwise, to use other available frequencies.

(iii) The applicant has a plan to control any interference that might develop to TV reception from his operations.

(iv) The applicant is financially able and agrees to make such adjustments in the TV receivers affected as may be necessary to eliminate interference caused by his operations.

(c) With respect to proposed separations between transmitters of 10 miles or less, preliminary data indicate there are important secondary effects which may result in interference not otherwise predictable. The Commission currently has this problem under study and when completed conditions for grant, if any, will be prescribed. Pending completion of this study, all applications seeking authority to operate with a separation of less than 10 miles will be returned without action.

(d) In any event, if, after a 72–76 Mc fixed station has been authorized, a TV station on channel 4 or 5 is, for any reason, permitted to operate with a transmitter site so located as to bring the fixed station within the interference parameters described above, the fixed station permittee must assume the responsibilities set forth therein and eliminate any interference his operations might cause within 90 days of the time knowledge thereof is first brought to his attention by the Commission. If, however, such operation of the new television station places the fixed station in category (c) above, the licensee of such fixed station shall within such 90 day period either discontinue operation or relocate his transmitter to conform to these criteria.

4. During the pendency of this proceeding, all grants that are made under the existing rules will be made on a temporary basis only and will expire 90 days after the date on which these rule making proceedings are concluded, at which time parties holding such authorizations will be eligible to secure new authorizations for a normal license period only in accordance with such rules and standards as the Commission may have adopted.

5. This proposal is issued pursuant to the authority contained in sections 4 (i) and 303 of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended.

6. Any interested party who is of the opinion that the proposed amendment should not be adopted or should not be adopted in the form set forth herein may file with the Commission on or before October 13, 1952, a written statement or brief setting forth his comments. Comments in support of the proposed amendment may also be filed on or before the same date. Comments or briefs in reply to the original comments may be filed within 10 days from the last day for filing said original comments or briefs. The Commission will consider all such comments that are submitted before taking action in this matter, and if any comments appear to warrant the holding of a hearing or oral argument, notice of the time and place of such hearing or oral argument will be given.

7. In accordance with the provisions of § 1.784 of the Commission's rules and regulations, an original and 14 copies of all statements, briefs, or comments shall be furnished the Commission.

Adopted: September 3, 1952.

Released: September 4, 1952.

[1] As defined by the U. S. Bureau of Census.

[2] Family dwelling units 70 or more miles distant from the TV antenna site are not to be counted.

[3] This chart, which is filed as part of the original document and copies of which may be obtained from the Federal Communications Commission, is a nomograph for the solution of the following equation:

$$\log_{10} h\sqrt{P} = 3.45 - 0.0431S + 2 \log_{10} r + 0.0431r$$

where:

r = distance in miles from 72–76 Mc fixed station to the contour at which the service area of the TV station is reduced by 10 percent.

h = height in feet of the center of the transmitting antenna array of the operational fixed station with respect to the average level of the terrain between 2 and 10 miles from such antenna in the direction of the TV station. The method for determining this is explained in detail in § 3.684 (d) of the TV Broadcast Rules.

P = effective radiated power in watts of the operational fixed station and equals the power output of the transmitter adjusted for transmission line loss and antenna gain. In symbols where:

P_o = output of transmitter in watts

L = transmission line efficiency, percent

G = power gain of the antenna with respect to half wave dipole in free space.

settlement shall be made on the basis of purity and germination tests of the seed as determined from a representative sample of the lot of seed which shall be drawn at the time of settlement:

(i) When damage or deterioration has resulted from negligence on the part of the producer or other person having control of the storage structure;

(ii) When the quantity of seed in the lot delivered is in excess of the quantity in the lot represented by the original tests;

(iii) When the lot number or other lot identification on the analysis report and/or germination test certificate does not agree with the lot number or other identification shown on the lot of seed delivered; or

(iv) when the entire lot of seed at the time of settlement is not the identical seed placed under loan. (If the purity determined at the time of settlement varies from the purity indicated on the purity analysis report furnished by the producer to a greater extent than the tolerances permitted under the Federal Seed Act, it shall be presumed that the seed is not the identical seed placed under loan and settlement shall be made on the basis of the quality determined at the time of delivery unless the producer establishes to the satisfaction of the county committee that the identical seed was delivered.)

(2) Quality guaranteed. If the seed is stored in an approved warehouse and the warehouseman guarantees the quantity and quality of the seed, settlement shall be made with the producer at the applicable support rate on the basis of the quality and quantity of the seed shown on the warehouse receipt.

(d) Purchase agreements. If the producer has notified the county committee of his intention to sell seed under a purchase agreement in accordance with the provisions of § 601.1518 of the 1952 C. C. C. Grain Price Support Bulletin 1, eligible seed will be purchased upon delivery at the applicable support price.

(1) Quality not guaranteed. If the quality of the seed is not guaranteed by an approved warehouseman, settlement will be made on the basis of the quantity of seed actually delivered and the quality shown by official purity analysis reports and germination test certificates based on representative samples taken not more than five calendar months prior to the first day of the month in which the seed is delivered to CCC, except that in the following cases settlement shall be made on the basis of purity and germination tests of the seed as determined from a representative sample which shall be drawn from the lot of seed at time of delivery:

(i) When the purity of the seed determined at time of delivery varies from the purity indicated on the original purity analysis report furnished by the producer to a greater extent than the tolerances permitted under the rules and regulations of the Federal Seed Act;

(ii) When the quantity of seed in the lot delivered is in excess of the quantity in the lot represented by the tests;

(iii) When the lot number or other lot identification on the analysis report and/or germination test certificate does not agree with the lot number or other identification shown on the lot of seed delivered; or

(iv) When the county committee determines that the physical condition of the seed indicates the original reports and certificates are no longer representative.

(2) Quality guaranteed. If the seed is stored in an approved warehouse and the warehouseman guarantees the quality and quantity of the seed, settlement will be made with the producer at the applicable support rate on the basis of the quality and quantity of the seed shown on the warehouse receipt.

(e) Disposition of seed which at time of delivery does not meet the purity requirements of eligibility for loan. In the case of farm-storage and unguaranteed warehouse-storage loans (see paragraphs (b) and (c) (1) of this section), if on the basis of the purity analysis made from the sample taken at time of delivery, the seed does not meet the minimum purity requirements of eligibility for loan, the producer shall be furnished the results of the purity analysis and notified that if he does not (1) have the seed recleaned at his own expense to meet the minimum purity requirements of eligibility for loan; or (2) repay his loan and pay any expenses incurred in removing the seed from a warehouse or a CCC bin, the producer shall be liable for any deficiency on the loan after disposing of the seed as follows:

(1) In the case of salable seed, the seed shall be sold at public or private sale in accordance with section 7 (b) of the chattel mortgage or section 9 (b) of the note and loan agreement.

(2) In the case of seed which is not salable, the seed shall be disposed of at the expense of the producer.

(f) Ineligible seed under purchase agreements. Seed which does not meet the eligibility requirements of §§ 601.1976 and 601.1983 will not be accepted under purchase agreements.

(g) Cost of quality determinations, appeals. Expenses incident to taking one sample of eligible seed tendered for delivery and the cost of making one official germination test and purity analysis of such lot of seed shall be borne by CCC. If the producer is not satisfied with the result of the test made at time of delivery, the producer may request that another representative sample of the lot of seed be drawn and submitted to a seed testing laboratory approved by the Director, Grain Branch, PMA, to conduct such appeal tests. The cost of resampling and retesting for the appeal germination and purity determinations shall be assumed by the producer requesting the appeal and funds to cover such cost shall accompany the request when transmitted to the county committee. The results of such laboratory germination test and purity analysis, without taking into consideration tolerances, shall be final.

(h) Refund of paid-in freight. Where any seed delivered to CCC has been shipped by the producer, or for him, "in line," as determined by CCC, from point of origin to an approved warehouse for storage where transit privileges are in effect, freight (including transportation tax) at a rate not exceeding the lowest published rate, or the lowest transcontinental rate, where applicable, paid on the inbound rail movement will be refunded to the producer: Provided, That (1) the shipment has been properly registered for transit; (2) the paid railway freight bill or a validated copy thereof, representing the identical seed, is endorsed to CCC in accordance with the covering tariffs at the transit point, and turned over to CCC; (3) a freight certificate signed by the warehouseman is turned over to CCC; and (4) the refunded freight is limited to the quantity of seed shown on the warehouse receipt. The freight certificate shall show the original shipping point, date and number of waybill, car initials and number, date and number of freight bill, name of the carrier,, transit weight, and rate paid in, the total amount of freight paid, and such other information as CCC may require. Refunds for paid-in freight under this paragraph will be made by the appropriate PMA commodity office subsequent to actual delivery of the seed to CCC pursuant to a loan or purchase agreement.

PART 933—ORANGES, GRAPEFRUIT, AND TANGERINES GROWN IN FLORIDA

LIMITATION OF SHIPMENTS

§ 933.587 Orange Regulation 221.—(a) Findings. (1) Pursuant to the marketing agreement, as amended, and Order No. 33, as amended (7 CFR Part 933), regulating the handling of oranges, grapefruit, and tangerines grown in the State of Florida, effective under the applicable provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended, and upon the basis of the recommendations of the committees established under the aforesaid amended marketing agreement and order, and upon other available information, it is hereby found that the limitation of shipments of oranges, as hereinafter provided, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act.

(2) It is hereby further found that it is impracticable and contrary to the public interest to give preliminary notice, engage in public rule making procedure, and postpone the effective date of this section until 30 days after publication thereof in the FEDERAL REGISTER (60 Stat. 237; 5 U. S. C. 1001 et seq.) because the time intervening between the date when information upon which this section is based became available and the time when this section must become effective in order to effectuate the declared policy of the act is insufficient; a reasonable time is permitted, under the circumstances, for preparation for such effective time; and good cause exists for making the provisions hereof effective not later than September 15, 1952. Shipments of oranges, grown in the State of Florida, are presently subject to regulation by grades and sizes, pursuant to the amended marketing agreement and order, and will so continue until September 15, 1952; the recommendation and supporting information for continued regulation subsequent to September 14 was promptly submitted to the Department after an open meeting of the Growers Administrative Committee on September 9; such meeting was held to consider recommendations for regulation, after giving due notice of such meeting, and interested persons were afforded an opportunity to submit their views at this meeting; the provisions of this section, including the effective time hereof, are identical with the aforesaid recommendation of the committee, and information concerning such provisions and effective time has been disseminated among handlers of such oranges; it is necessary, in order to effectuate the declared policy of the act, to make this section effective during the period hereinafter set forth so as to provide for the continued regulation of the handling of oranges; and compliance with this section will not require any special preparation on the part of the persons subject thereto which cannot be completed by the effective time hereof.

(ii) Any oranges, except Temple oranges, grown in the State of Florida which are of a size smaller than 2 10/16 inches in diameter, measured midway at a right angle to a straight line running from the stem to the blossom end of the fruit, except that a tolerance of 10 percent, by count, of oranges smaller than such minimum size shall be permitted, which tolerance shall be applied in accordance with the provisions for the application of tolerances, specified in the revised United States Standards for Florida oranges (§ 51.302; 17 F. R. 7879): Provided, That in determining the percentage of oranges in any lot which are smaller than 2 10/16 inches in diameter, such percentage shall be based only on those oranges in such lot which are of a size 3 inches in diameter and smaller.

(2) As used in this section, the terms "handler," "ship," and "Growers Administrative Committee" shall each have the same meaning as when used in said amended marketing agreement and or-

PART 984—WALNUTS GROWN IN CALIFORNIA, OREGON, AND WASHINGTON

REVISION OF PACK SPECIFICATIONS AND MINIMUM STANDARDS

After consideration of a unanimous recommendation of August 26, 1952, by the Walnut Control Board, the Administrative agency for operations under the marketing agreement and order (7 CFR Part 984) regulating the handling of walnuts grown in California, Oregon and Washington, effective pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937 as amended (48 Stat. 31, as amended; 7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), and other available information, it is hereby found and determined that the presently effective pack specifications and minimum standards (16 F. R. 9187; 17 F. R. 2831; 7 CFR 984.103 and 984.104) should be further revised as herein provided.

The Walnut Control Board believes that it is an economic waste to require merchantable walnuts which are to be shelled to meet the existing pack specifications for external appearance and condition. It is necessary under the presently effective pack specifications for handlers in many instances to subject merchantable walnuts to a bleaching process in order that they will meet the pack specifications prescribed in regard to external appearance and condition. The Board believes that, in addition to being an economic waste, the bleaching of such walnuts impairs the quality of the shelled product, because the material used in bleaching enters some of the walnuts through splits in the shells and results in the deterioration of the kernels.

The Board recommended that lots of walnuts for shelling which can be brought up to the requirements set forth in the pack specifications in respect to external appearance and condition, as demonstrated by the bleaching of a sample of such walnuts in accordance with the methods generally used by the handler involved, should be considered as meeting such requirements. In order to facilitate sampling and inspection, the Board recommended that lots to which this procedure is applicable should not exceed 25,000 pounds.

After consideration of the facts and circumstances, it has been concluded that the recommended changes should be made: And it is hereby ordered, That the portions of §§ 984.103 (b) (2) and 984.104 (b) (4) preceding subdivision (i) of this subparagraph in each instance be amended by inserting the following proviso immediately preceding the colons at the end of each portion: ": Provided, That with respect to any lot of walnuts not exceeding 25,000 pounds which the Walnut Control Board finds will be used solely for shelling, and which is subsequently used solely for that purpose, compliance with the requirements for external appearance and condition may, at the option of the particular handler, be determined by examination of a representative sample of such lot which is selected by the inspector, and, under supervision of the inspector, is bleached by the method generally used by such handler."

The revision set forth herein is a relaxation of existing pack specifications and minimum standards and will relieve persons affected thereby of some of the restrictions in regard to grading. The change has been discussed in the industry during the last few months and growers and handlers are generally familiar with it. Such revision would require no preparation by persons affected which cannot be made by the effective date hereof. Handling of 1952 crop walnuts will begin in the latter part of September and it is necessary to have this revised regulation in effect prior to the beginning of the handling of the 1952 crop. Therefore, good cause exists for not giving preliminary notice, engaging in public rule making proceedings, and postponing the effective date of this document later than the date of its publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

(Sec. 5, 49 Stat. 753, as amended; 7 U. S. C. and Sup. 608c)

Issued at Washington, D. C., this 9th day of September 1952, to become effective upon its publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

TITLE 32A—NATIONAL DEFENSE, APPENDIX

Chapter III—Office of Price Stabilization, Economic Stabilization Agency

[Ceiling Price Regulation 168]

CPR 168—CEILING PRICES FOR SITKA SPRUCE AND WEST COAST HEMLOCK MANUFACTURED AND SOLD IN ALASKA

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, Executive Order 10161, and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order No. 2, this Ceiling Price Regulation 168 is hereby issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

This regulation establishes dollar-and-cents ceiling prices for mill sales of Sitka Spruce and West Coast Hemlock lumber manufactured in Alaska and sold for delivery to points within the Territory. Prior to the effective date of this regulation ceiling prices for the sales of this lumber were established by the General Ceiling Price Regulation.

Production of spruce and hemlock lumber in Alaska is concentrated in the Tongass and Chugash National Forests, which embrace a large area extending from Prince William Sound and the Kenai Peninsula in the north to the southeastern tip of the Alaska Panhandle. During 1951, twenty-four sawmills cut logs from the two National forests, their combined output totaling 59,000,000 board feet, 80 percent of which was the commercially desirable Sitka Spruce and the balance practically all commercially acceptable West Coast Hemlock. Four of the large mills, owned by two companies, were responsible for over 81 percent of the 1951 production of lumber covered by this regulation. In terms of grades the cut of spruce and hemlock in this area averages approximately 15 percent clear and shop, and 85 percent common, such as boards, dimension, and timbers. The lumber industry ranks third among Alaska's flourishing productive industries.

More than 80 percent of the spruce and hemlock lumber produced in Alaska is used in the Territory. This represents only half the total consumption of lumber, however, the balance being shipped into the Territory from the Pacific Northwest. The huge construction projects in the Anchorage and Fairbanks areas combined with an intensive construction program throughout Alaska has stimulated the demand for lumber. Frame buildings predominate in residential, industrial and military construction in the Territory. Although little spruce and hemlock is shipped into Alaska, the local lumber meets active competition from Douglas Fir and Ponderosa Pine, produced principally in Oregon and Washington. Only when shipping space is not available to move lumber from the Pacific Coast is this element of direct competition diminished to any noticeable degree.

The General Ceiling Price Regulation freeze of lumber prices came after the close of the 1950 mill season. Normally the mills make any necessary adjustment in their prices at the opening of the season. Hence, mill prices established by the General Ceiling Price Regulation contained certain distortions. The freeze also came on the heels of a succession of increases in log prices and mill wages which has been compensated for in varying degrees by price adjustments.

The issuance of Ceiling Price Regulation 128 has now injected other distortions, since spruce and hemlock prices in Alaska have always been related to fir and hemlock prices in the Pacific Northwest.

This regulation corrects these distortions by removing spruce and hemlock lumber produced in Alaska and sold there, from the General Ceiling Price Regulation, and places that lumber under this regulation, establishing dollar and cents ceiling prices f. o. b. mill at the same f. o. b. mill prices established in Ceiling Price Regulation 128 for Douglas Fir and hemlock in the Pacific northwest plus an amount to compensate for the freight differential in different zones of Alaska. The prices established in Ceiling Price Regulation 128 are, on the whole, slightly higher than the weighted average of the General Ceiling Price Regulation base period prices for Alaska mills. The use of Ceiling Price Regulation 128 prices as base prices for Alaska mills will, therefore, provide moderate relief over present ceilings. The overall effect of this regulation will be to increase the existing level of ceiling prices of spruce and hemlock produced in Alaska by about $10 per thousand board feet. The Office of Price Stabilization has determined, however, that this regulation, in accordance with section 402 (d) (4) of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, also reflects adjustments for increases in costs of material and labor occurring since the highest price was received in the period January 1 to June 24, 1950 through July 26, 1951.

It has been the practice of Alaska mills to quote the same price for spruce and hemlock lumber in most grades and types, while in the States the producers normally try to get a premium for their spruce over the hemlock. Local buyers will take both species at the same price, for in any given lot of mill run lumber there would be no more than 20 percent hemlock.

Every effort has been made to conform this regulation to existing business practices, cost practices or methods, or means or aids to distribution. Insofar as any provision of this regulation may operate to compel changes in business practices, cost practices, or means or aids to distribution, such provisions are found by the Director of Price Stabilization to be necessary to prevent circumvention or evasion of this regulation.

In the formulation of this regulation, there has been consultation with industry representatives, including trade association representatives, which began as early as the summer of 1951, and full consideration has been given to their recommendations. In the opinion of the Director, this regulation is necessary to effectuate the purposes of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended.

WHAT THIS REGULATION DOES

SECTION 1. What this regulation does. This regulation establishes ceiling prices for Alaska-produced Sitka Spruce (Picea Sitchensis) and West Coast Hemlock (Tsuga Heterophylla) lumber, graded in accordance with Standard Grading and Dressing Rules No. 14 of the West Coast Bureau of Lumber Grades and Inspection, (effective August 1, 1947), as amended, which is shipped from a mill in Alaska and reaches the purchaser in Alaska without becoming an integral part of the stock of a distribution yard. If, at the time the sale is made, the lumber is not a part of the regular distribution yard stock, it is a sale within the coverage of this regulation. This regulation supersedes the General Ceiling Price Regulation for all such sales. Sales from mills in Alaska for delivery in the continental United States are covered by CPR 128.

CEILING PRICES

SEC. 20. F. o. b. or f. a. s. sales. If your mill is located in Alaska south and east of Cape Spencer, your ceiling prices for sales f. o. b. mill or f. o. b. mill's customary and shipping point, or f. a. s. mill dock are the prices set forth in Appendix A to this regulation for the kind, size, grade, and type of lumber sold. If your mill is located in Alaska north and west of Cape Spencer, your ceiling prices for sales f. o. b. mill or f. o. b. mill's customary shipping point, or f. a. s. mill dock, are the prices set forth in Appendix A to this regulation for the kind, size, grade, and type of lumber sold, plus $13.00 per thousand board feet.

SEC. 21. Delivered sales. Your ceiling prices for delivered sales are the amounts which would be your ceiling prices if you were selling the same lumber f. o. b. or f. a. s. as determined under section 20 of this regulation, plus freight charges computed by multiplying the weight shown in Appendix B to this regulation for the amount and kind of lumber shipped, by the applicable freight rate in effect at the time of shipment, plus the following amounts or a combination of the following amounts as appropriate:

(a) Scow, barge, or steamship. For a delivered sale shipped by scow, barge, or steamship, the actual cost of wharfage and handling at the point of origin may be included.

(b) Rail shipment. For a delivered sale shipped by rail, the actual cost incurred by you in, or the prevailing charge for, removing the lumber from the rail car, whichever is lower, may be included.

(c) Truck shipment. For delivered sales shipped by trucks owned or operated by you, the actual shipping cost incurred by you or the freight charges computed under the first unnumbered paragraph of this section, whichever is lower, may be included.

(d) Special charges. If you are required by circumstances beyond your control to transfer your lumber from a deep water dock upon which it has been placed preparatory to loading upon a vessel, to another loading point, the actual cost incurred by you in making the transfer may be included.

(e) Mixed car or mixed truck shipments. When you make a mixed car or mixed truck shipment, as defined in section 39 of this regulation, an additional $3.50 per 1,000 board feet may be included.

SEC. 22. Retail sales. Your ceiling prices for retail sales are the prices which would be your f. o. b. mill, f. o. b. mill's customary shipping point, or f. a. s. mill's dock ceiling prices for other than a retail sale plus $9.00 per 1,000 board feet. You may not include in your ceiling price any of the charges provided for in sections 21 and 23 of this regulation.

SEC. 23. Commission sales. When a sale of your lumber is brought about by the efforts of a lumber commission man, your ceiling price is the otherwise applicable ceiling price of the lumber sold, plus 3 percent of the f. o. b. ceiling price, not to exceed the actual commission paid the lumber commission man. This addition may not be charged if the lumber commission man does not operate independently of both you and the buyer, or if you share in the profits of the lumber commission man, or if the lumber commission man is related to any owner or part-owner of the mill and did not sell for the mill before the effective date of this regulation. "Related" as the term is used in this section, means related to the owner or part-owner, or the spouse of the owner or part-owner, by blood or marriage within the second degree.

SEC. 24. Special transactions—(a) Applications. If you cannot ascertain a ceiling price for lumber subject to this regulation under any other provision of this regulation, because you wish to sell lumber with special workings, specifications, services, or other extras not specifically mentioned in this regulation, or for any other reason, you must file an application by registered mail, return receipt requested, with the Territorial Office of Price Stabilization, Juneau, Alaska, for approval of a special ceiling price. Your application must set forth all the relevant facts, including the following:

(1) A description of the lumber for which the application is filed, as follows: Species, grade, condition, measurements, and quantity of the lumber and detailed description of the workings, specifications, services, or other extras involved.

(2) The proposed use to which the buyer will put the lumber for which you are proposing a special ceiling price.

(3) Your proposed ceiling price.

(4) The differential between your proposed ceiling price and the ceiling price of the most nearly comparable item which is listed in appendix A to this regulation; or, if that differential cannot be ascertained, a statement of the reasons therefor.

(b) After an application has been filed under this section, and before action by the Director of Price Stabilization or his delegatee, you may sell your lumber at a price not higher than the ceiling price proposed in your application: Provided, That you agree to, and later, refund to the buyer the amount, if any, by which your price exceeds the ceiling price established by the Director.

(c) (1) After receipt of an application the Director, or his delegatee, will approve or disapprove your proposed ceiling price, will request additional information about it, or will establish a different ceiling price, for the item that is the subject of your application.

(2) If the Director, or his delegatee, does not notify you to the contrary, or request additional information from you within 20 days after the receipt of your application, as indicated by your return receipt, or within 15 days after the receipt of requested additional information, your proposed ceiling price shall be deemed to have been approved, subject to nonretroactive disapproval or modification at a later time.

(3) Approval of applications by the Director under this section are subject to a finding by the Director that proposed ceiling prices are in line with the level of ceiling prices otherwise established by this regulation.

(d) Effect on other transactions. A special ceiling price approved pursuant to application made under this section shall be the ceiling price for all like future transactions between the same seller and buyer, unless a specific ceiling price for that lumber shall be established by changes in this regulation, or unless the approval is subsequently revoked or modified by the Director.

SEC. 25. Modification of proposed ceiling prices by the Director of Price Stabilization. The Director of Price Stabilization may at any time disapprove or reduce ceiling prices established under section 24 of this regulation so as to bring them into line with the level of ceiling prices otherwise established by this regulation.

GENERAL PROVISIONS

SEC. 30. Cash discounts. If the buyer pays cash, your ceiling prices determined under other provisions of this regulation are reduced by the amount of the discount which, during the period from January 25, 1951, through February 24, 1951, you allowed a purchaser of the same class for the payment of cash within the same period of time. If you were not in business between January 25 and February 24, 1951, your ceiling prices determined under other provisions of this regulation are reduced by 2 percent for cash payment within 10 days from date of invoice or date of bill of lading, whichever is later.

SEC. 31. Pricing rules. (a) You must apply the following rules in determining ceiling prices under this regulation:

(1) Where an order or confirmation fails to specify a particular grade of lumber, you may charge only the ceiling price for No. 2 common, except that where grades lower than No. 2 common are shipped, you may charge only the ceiling prices for the grades actually shipped.

(2) Where shipment is made of lumber different from, and higher priced than, that specifically ordered or confirmed, you may charge only the ceiling price for the lumber ordered or confirmed.

(3) Where a random length shipment is made which contains a percentage of short lengths greater than that permitted in Appendix A of this regulation, you must separately determine the ceiling prices for the excess short lengths.

(4) In all random length shipments, you may not charge more than the appropriate ceiling prices for the average length shipped.

(5) Where the purchaser waives moisture content requirements, the price charged shall not exceed the ceiling price for green lumber; and in the case of such a sale on a delivered basis, the appropriate established weights for dry lumber shall be used in computing transportation charges.

SEC. 32. Petitions for amendment. If you wish to have this regulation amended, you may file a petition for amendment in accordance with the provisions of Price Procedural Regulation 1.

SEC. 33. Adjustable pricing. Nothing in this regulation prohibits you from making a contract or offer to sell lumber subject to this regulation at (a) the ceiling price in effect at the time of delivery, or (b) the lower of a fixed price or the ceiling price in effect at the time of delivery. You may not, however, deliver or agree to deliver at a price to be adjusted upward in accordance with any increase in ceiling price after delivery.

SEC. 34. Record-keeping requirements. (a) Every person who sells products covered by this regulation, shall make and keep for inspection by the Director of Price Stabilization for a period of two years, accurate records or invoices of each sale made in any month after the effective date of this regulation in which the seller sold 20,000 board feet or more of lumber subject to this regulation. The records must show:

(1) The dates of sales;

(2) The names and addresses of the buyers;

(3) The kind of sales involved, i. e., delivered, f. o. b., f. a. s.;

(4) A description (i. e., the grade, condition, dressing, quantity, etc.) of the lumber sold;

(5) The prices charged, including all additions, extras, and discounts;

(6) The point of origin and point of destination of the shipment, the means of transportation used, and the amount of any additions for transportation.

SEC. 35. Invoices. (a) On all sales of lumber covered by this regulation, you must submit an invoice to the buyer. The invoice must include your name and address, the buyer's name and address, the date of sale, the f. o. b. (or f. a. s.) price, and a description of the lumber. Any working, specifications, extra, or service which bears upon the price charged for your lumber must be set forth in the invoice, but the invoice need not show separately the charge for such items.

(b) For sales on a delivered basis, involving water, rail, or truck shipment, your invoice must also show:

(1) The destination of the shipment;

(2) The applicable water, rail, or truck rate;

(3) The delivered price.

SEC. 36. Interpretations. If you want an official interpretation of this regulation, you should write to the Territorial Counsel of the Territorial Office of Price Stabilization, Juneau, Alaska. Any action taken by you in reliance upon and in conformity with a written official interpretation will constitute action in good faith pursuant to this regulation. Further information on obtaining official interpretations is contained in Price Procedural Regulation 1, Revised.

SEC. 37. Prohibitions and violations. (a) You shall not do any act prohibited or omit to do any act required by this regulation, nor shall you offer, solicit, attempt, or agree to do or omit to do any such acts. Specifically, but not in limitation of the above, you shall not, regardless of any contract or other obligation, sell and no person in the regular course of trade or business shall buy from you at a price higher than the ceiling prices established by this regulation, and you and buyers from you shall keep, make, and preserve true and accurate records and reports required by this regulation.

(b) If you violate any provisions of this regulation, you are subject to criminal penalties, enforcement action, and actions for damages. Prices lower than the ceiling prices may be charged, paid, or offered.

(c) If any person subject to this regulation fails to prepare or keep any record or file any report required by this regulation in conection with the establishment of his ceiling price, or if any person subject to this regulation fails to determine a ceiling price or to apply to the Territorial Office of Price Stabilization for Alaska for the establishment of a ceiling price, if he is required to do so, the Director of Price Stabilization, or his delegatee, may issue an order fixing his ceiling prices. Any ceiling price fixed in this manner will be in line with ceiling prices generally established by this regulation. The order fixing the ceiling prices may apply to all deliveries or transfers completed prior to the date of issuance of the order. The issuance of such an order will not relieve the seller of his obligation to comply with the requirements of this regulation, or of the various penalties for failure to do so.

SEC. 38. Evasions. Any means or device which results in obtaining indirectly a higher price than is permitted by this regulation or in concealing or falsely representing information as to which this regulation requires records to be kept is a violation of this regulation. This prohibition includes, but is not limited to, means or devices making use of commissions other than those authorized in this regulation, services, cross sales, transportation arrangements, premiums, discounts, special privileges, upgrading, tie-in agreements, and trade understandings, as well as the omission from records of true data and the inclusion in records of false data.

SEC. 39. Definitions—(a) Delivered sale. A sale described in an order invoice or otherwise as a "delivered sale," "selling price delivered," or "f. o. b. mill" or "f. a. s. with freight paid or allowance included" to a given destination is a delivered sale.

(b) Distribution yard. A distribution yard is a wholesale or retail lumber yard located near a lumber consuming area which receives, unloads, and sorts, lumber shipments from mills or other yards; which receives most of its lumber by water or rail shipment and sells it principally for truck shipment; which maintains a varied stock of lumber from different regions and which is equipped to make quick delivery of many different items of lumber. Lumber is deemed to be part of the stock of a distribution yard only if it was part of the stock of the yard at the time the contract of sale was made. For example; if a retail yard makes a contract to supply lumber for a project and subsequently brings the lumber from a mill, puts it in the yard, and delivers it as needed, that lumber is not a sale from the stock of the distribution yard, but is a mill sale and is covered by this regulation.

(c) Manufacturer. This term means any person who produces lumber subject to this regulation. The verb "manufacture" shall be construed accordingly.

(d) Mill. "Mill" means that which is commonly referred to in the lumber industry as a saw mill or planing mill and which is engaged primarily in manufacturing lumber from logs or rough lumber by sawing or planing.

(e) Mixed car and mixed truck shipments. A mixed car shipment is a shipment of at least 1,000 board feet, of each of 4 or more of the lumber items shown below, and a mixed truck shipment is a shipment of at least 250 board feet of each of 4 or more of the lumber items shown in this paragraph.

(1) Boards and strips (any working not listed below), dimension, plank and small timbers, timbers and box.

(2) Flooring.

(3) Siding.

(4) Ceiling, partition.

(5) Stepping.

(6) Finish and clears, thick clears, shop.

(7) Casing and base, molding.

(8) Lath, shingle band sticks (12 M pieces minimum).

(9) Well curbing.

(10) Gutter.

(11) Silo stock (when worked to pattern).

(12) Shingles, shakes, any species, stained or natural (20 squares minimum).

(f) Person. This term includes any individual, corporation, partnership, association or any other organized group of persons, or the legal successor or representative of the foregoing, and the United States and any other Government or their political subdivisions or agencies.

(g) Records. This term includes books of account, sales lists, sales slips, orders, vouchers, contracts, receipts, invoices, bills of lading, and other papers and documents.

(h) Retail sale. A retail sale is a sale of less than 20,000 feet BM delivered by truck to a buyer who is contractor or ultimate consumer and who will use the lumber for construction or maintenance; it is not a sale to a commercial or industrial user for use in manufacturing; nor is it a sale to a buyer who purchases the lumber for resale. The size of the sale is to be determined by the total quantity involved in the sale contract, without regard to whether it may be broken up into smaller quantities for delivery.

(i) Sell. This term includes sell, supply, dispose, barter, trade, exchange, lease, transfer, deliver, and contracts and offers to do any of the foregoing. The terms "buy" and "purchase" shall be construed accordingly.

(j) You. The pronoun "you" indicates any person who manufactures lumber subject to this regulation. The terms "your" and "yours" shall be construed accordingly.

Effective date. This Ceiling Price Regulation is effective September 16, 1952.

NOTE: The reporting and record keeping requirements of this regulation have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

For fractional or odd widths in paragraphs 425 through 433, price as next wider even width and compute footage on next wider even width.

Wider than 12″:
- For VG add $20.00 per M to 12″ price for each additional 2″.
- For FG add $10.00 per M to 12″ price for each additional 2″.

Thickness: For fractional and odd thicknesses not listed, add $15.00 per M to next thicker even size and compute footage on nominal rough size of the frational or odd thickness.

For thicknesses heavier than 8″, add $10.00 per M for each 1″ thicker than 8″.

Turning squares: Add $25.00 per M to B & Btr price of the same size.

Regular loading random length is 6′ to 20′.
For S1S, S1E, S2S, S2E, S1S1E, S1S2E, S2S1E, A. L. S., price the same as S4S, A. L. S. except when orders call for one grade only when an addition of $4.00 per M BM may be made to the price of S4S.
Scaffold plank (rought only), paragraph 315 8″ and wider, add $60.00 per M BM to the rough select structural price.
Barge framing (paragraph 308) add $5.00 to price of select structural of corresponding size.
Barge planking and decking (par. 309) add $15.00 to price of select structural of corresponding size.
Surfaced ¼″ off or to American Lumber Industrial Standards, add $3.00 per M to the price of the same grade, width, and length.
Lengths: Fractional lengths under 8′ add $2.00 per M to corresponding grade and compute footage on 8′ count.
Accumulated 4′ and/or 5′ No. 2 and higher grades sold separately or in R/L shipments.
Deduct $20 from the 6/20′ price of corresponding size and grade; for No. 3 charge same price as for No. 4 random lengths.
Omitting length in R/L (6/20′) loading: Omitting 6′ or 6′ and 8′, or 6′ and 8′ and 10′, add to the 6/20′ price of same size and grade $3.00 per M BM; omitting 12′ and shorter use specified length price.

For specified even lengths longer than 24′, add $3.00 per MBM to the 24′ price of the same size and grade for each two feet longer than 24′.
For specified average R/L: Where an average length is specified in any random length order, the price shall be the specified length price of the length specified as an average and no addition may be made for omission of short lengths in a R/L loading.
When any random length shipment includes lengths over 20′, and no average is specified if the inclusion of lengths longer than 20′ is at shipper's option, the 6/20′ price shall apply to all lengths; however, if buyer's order definitely requires the inclusion of lengths longer than 20′ or the order is for random lengths all longer than 20′, such lengths shall be priced as follows:
For 22′ and 24′, add $8.00 per MBM to the 6/20′ price, for these lengths only.
For 26′ and 28′, add $12.00 per MBM to the 6/20′ price, for these lengths only.
For 30′ and 32′ or longer, add $16.00 per MBM to the 6/20′ price, for these lengths only.
Widths: Wider than 12″—Add $4.00 for each 2″ wider than 12″ for the same size and grade. Odd or fractional widths, except 3″, add $5.00 to price of next wider even width and compute footage on nominal rough measurements of the odd or fractional width.
Thickness: Fractional thicknesses over 2″ and under 3″, add $5.00 to price of 3″ of corresponding width and compute footage on nominal rough measurement of the fractional thickness.
Dense grain, for paragraph 224, add $12.50 per M.
For rough dimension, dry or green: Deduct $3.00 per M.
Bundling: Add $3.00 per M.
Center matched, flooring, outgaged and other patterns: First add grade differentials then add the following specified working charge:

	Green or dry S2S and CM or shiplap	Green or dry flooring, outgaged or other patterns
2″ thickness—no droppings allowed	$5.00	$10.00
2″ thickness—droppings allowed	3.00	5.00

Ripping or resawing:
Not diagonal or tapered—for 2 x 4 add $4 per M
For 2 x 6 and wider add $3 per M } Product of the piece to be shipped.
Diagonal or tapered resawing add $10 per M

For omitting one to two lengths in one group—Add $4.00 per M to the R/L group price.
For omitting any three or more lengths in one group, use specified length price of the lengths shipped.
For omitting any lengths in R/L groups covering more than one length bracket, the additions permitted for omitting any length or lengths in the previous notes may be made only within the bracket from which the lengths have been omitted.
Where an average length is named in a random length specification covering one or more price brackets which include no lengths over 40′, the maximum price shall be the specified length price of the average length specified. In this case no addition may be made for omission of any lengths as permitted under other notes.
If the average specified is an odd length, the price of the next higher even length shall apply.
Widths: Odd or fractional widths under 12″ not listed add $3.00 to price of nearest even width and compute footage on nominal rough measurement of the odd or fractional width.
Widths wider than 12″, add $3.00 per M for each additional 2″ or fraction thereof to the 12″ price of corresponding thickness. Compute footage under this note on nominal rough measure.
Thickness: Fractional thicknesses between 3″ and 4″, price same as 4″ of corresponding width.
Fractional or odd thicknesses over 1″ and including 3″ add $3.00 to 4″ price of corresponding width; over 3″ and under 6″ add $3.00 to 6″ price of corresponding width in Table (25), this paragraph. Compute odd or fractional thicknesses on nominal rough measurement of the odd or fractional thickness.
Windmill stock, paragraph 172: Use select structural price plus additions for FONC.
Barge framing, paragraph 308, add $5.00 to select structural price of corresponding size.
Barge planking and decking, paragraph 309—Add $15.00 per M to select structural price of same size.
Scaffold plank (rough only), paragraph 315, 8″ and wider, add $60.00 per M BM to the rough select structural price of corresponding size.

No. 4 (all species covered by this regulation) 6 x 6 and larger, A. L. rough or dressed, dry or green, $32. Use green weights.

Notes applying to timbers—table (17)

Workings: Surfacing S1S, S1E, S2S, S2E, S1S1E, S1S2E, S2S1E and S4S A. L. S. 6 x 6 to 16 x 16″ add $6.00 per M; if thicker than 16″ or wider than 20″ add $15.00 per M.

Surfacing ½″ off—Add $3.00 per M to price of the same surfaced A. L. S. grade, width and length.

Surfacing lengths longer than 40′—Add $1.00 per M per lineal foot for each additional foot over 40′.

Lengths: For accumulated 4′, 5′ and/or 6′ No. 1 and higher grades, sold separately or in R/L shipments, deduct $20.00 per MBM from the price of S/20′ of corresponding grade; for No. 2 and No. 3, charge same price as for No. 4 R/L.

For omitting short lengths in R/L loading, 20′ and shorter—Add to the R/L price of the same size and grade (applies to all grades):

8′ and/or 10′—$1.00.
12′ and shorter—$3.00.
14′ and shorter—Specified length price of lengths shipped.

Omitting lengths in price groups longer than 20′, add to the R/L group price (applies to No. 1 and lower grades):

Omitting 1 length—$2.00.
Omitting 2 lengths—$4.90.
Omitting 3 lengths—Specified length price of lengths shipped.

For omitting lengths longer than 20′ in select structural, and higher grades within a R/L group—Add to the R/L group price:

For omitting one or two lengths in one group—Add $4.00 per M to the R/L group price.

For omitting any three or more lengths in one group, use specified length price of the lengths shipped.

For omitting any lengths in R/L groups covering more than one length bracket, the addition permitted for omission of any length or lengths may be made only within the bracket from which lengths have been omitted but such additions to the 8/20′ brackets may not result in a price higher than the bracket price for 22/30′.

Specified average length: Where an average length is named in a random length specification covering one or more price brackets which include no lengths over 40′, the maximum price shall be the specified length price of the average length specified.

If the specification includes lengths over 40′, the price shall be the same as if no average length was required.

No addition may be made for omission of any length or lengths as covered by footnotes above in either case.

If the average specified is an odd length, the price of the next higher even length shall apply.

Widths: Odd or fractional widths not listed (within listed widths) add $4.00 per M to price of next wider even width. Compute footage on nominal rough measure, of the odd or fractional width.

Thickness: Odd or fractional thicknesses not listed—Add $4.00 per M to the next larger listed even thickness. Compute footage on nominal rough measure of the odd or fractional thickness.

Barge framing, paragraph 308—Add $5.00 to price of select structural of corresponding size.

Barge planking and decking, paragraph 309—Add $15.00 per M to price of select structural of corresponding size.

For timbers over 40 feet, add $5.00 per foot up to and including 50′. Timbers longer than 50 feet are special transactions, and application must be made under Sec. 24 of this regulation for a ceiling price.

General notes. (a) Additions to ceiling prices for the special provisions permitted by this paragraph may be made only when the special provisions are specifically requested by the buyer, and when they are not included in the requested grade in order to satisfy the standards set forth in Standard Grading and Dressing Rules No. 14, issued by the West Coast Bureau of Lumber Grades and Inspection, effective August 1, 1947. When additions are made for Paragraphs 222, 223, 224, 225, 227, and 229, the seller must retain a copy and furnish the buyer with an official certificate of grade by either the West Coast Bureau of Lumber Grades and Inspection, the Pacific Lumber Inspection Bureau, A. M. Hickox Inspection Service, Inc., Portland, Oregon, or by A. E. Green, Eugene, Oregon. This certificate must be attached to the original invoice, except on truck orders involving more than one shipment where a certificate must be furnished either upon completion of the order or at the end of every 30-day period during the time of shipment on such specific order. This rule applies regardless of quantity, except that an order for less than 20,000 board feet for truck shipment direct to the job may be covered by mill certificate only.

(b) Grain. Where grain paragraphs may be applied to grade paragraphs in accordance with rules No. 14, the the following additions may be made to the applicable ceiling prices:

For Paragraph 222—$2.50 Per M.
For Paragraph 223—$5.00 Per M.
For Paragraph 224—$12.50 Per M.

(ii) Eighty-five percent Heartwood, Paragraphs 212 and 216—$2.50 per M may be added to the applicable ceiling price of same size, length, and grade.

(iii) Ninety percent Heartwood, paragraph 225 (c) and (f)—$6.00 per M may be added to the applicable ceiling price of same size, length, and grade.

(iv) Ninety percent heartwood, paragraph 212 and 216—$5.00 per M may be added to the applicable ceiling price of same length and grade.

12 x 14	25.00	20.00
12 x 16	30.00	25.00

(iii) For grades shown in paragraphs 422, 423, 424, 308, 309 (thicknesses over four inches only), and 315—you may make the same additions as for select structural.

(i) Working charges. The following working charges may be added to the ceiling price of surfaced lumber of the same size, length, and grade:

	Outgaging
	6 x 6 to 16 x 20	Over 16 x 20 to 24 x 30	Larger than 24 x 30

(5) Log cabin siding. (i) All grades one inch and two inches—you may add $15.00 per M to the ceiling price of the same grade, size, and seasoning.

(ii) All grades three inches—you may add $18.00 per M to the ceiling price of the same grade, size, and seasoning.

(iii) Machine droppings—you may include up to 15 percent at $10.00 per M less than the ceiling price for the grade ordered.

(iv) For less than 3 MBM—you may add a flat set-up charge of $15.00 to the applicable ceiling prices.

(b) The board measure of dressed lumber must be based upon the corresponding dimensions of rough green lumber. No lumber may be sold on less than one inch count unless otherwise specifically stated in the regulation.

(c) No addition may be made for "hit or miss" dressing. Where an addition is authorized in any table for surfacing ¼″ off or for Industrial Standard sizes, such addition is the maximum addition that may be made to the American Lumber Standard surfaced price for any surfacing thicker or wider than American Lumber Standard sizes. If a ceiling price table does not provide an addition for surfacing ¼″ off or to industrial standard sizes, an addition of $5.00 per M/BM may be made to the applicable ceiling prices for surfacing thicker or wider than the American Lumber Standard; this addition may be made only if the ceiling price table addition for surfacing is specifically for American Lumber Standard sizes. This addition may not be made for "hit or miss" surfacing, or when machine is set for both width and thickness to full nominal rough size as shown in Standard Grading and Dressing Rules No. 14.

(d) Bundling: You may add $3.00 per M to the board and dimension ceiling prices.

(e) Banding or strapping: When requested by the buyer, you may add $2.50 per M to the ceiling prices.

(f) Stencilling: On 10 percent or more pieces, bundles, or packages of any shipment to an extent beyond grade marking and/or the simple identification of pieces or lots, when requested by the buyer, you may add $1.50 per M to the ceiling prices. This addition may not be made for grade marking or for grade or lot identification even though a stencil is employed for such marking.

(g) Surfacing: For any surfacing that does not remove the item surfaced from being classified as rough lumber insofar as the table of established weights is concerned, no charge may be made for surfacing if rough weight is made for surfacing if rough weight is used in computing delivered prices. Alternatively, a seller may charge for surfacing, if permitted by Appendix A price tables, but the freight charges must be computed on net surfaced size under "Shipping Weight Formula for Sizes not Listed."

(h) Open car loading: When requested by the buyer and when the material is of a type ordinarily loaded in box cars, a flat charge of $15.00 per car may be made. This charge covers the cost of stakes and all other material required to secure the load firmly. Timbers six inches thick, wider than eight inches and all timbers thicker than six inches are not subject to this charge.

(i) Packaging in sling lots: When material is loaded on open cars, as permitted in paragraph (h) hereof, and, when requested by the buyer, is packaged in sling lots or otherwise whereby the load is divided into individual parcels for the purpose of facilitating mechanical unloading, an additional flat charge of $15.00 per car may be made to cover the cost of all labor and material used in the packaging.

CPR 31—IMPORTS

INCLUSION OF TIN IN APPENDIX A (5)

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, Executive Order 10161, and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order No. 2, this Amendment 14 to Ceiling Price Regulation 31 is hereby issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

When the United States Government ceased to be the sole importer of tin on August 1, 1952, Appendix A (3) of CPR 31 was amended (Amendment 13 effective August 21) to give clear effect to this change.

The effect of this amendment clarifying the coverage of CPR 31 required application by importers and wholesalers of tin of the margin technique for establishing ceiling prices for imported tin.

It has been called to the attention of the Office of Price Stabilization, however, that present CPR 31 pricing techniques are not satisfactory in the case of tin because of the particular circumstances surrounding its importation and marketing in the United States. It is, therefore, considered appropriate that application of the margin technique of CPR 31 to imported tin should be withheld pending further study. Inasmuch as the private importation of tin has been permitted only since August 1, it is not feasible to make a determination on the basis of data now available as to the full effect of CPR 31.

In the meantime, it is considered feasible to maintain as a level of ceiling price the offering price for tin of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation. The RFC presently maintains, and proposes to continue to maintain, a large stock pile of tin and is offering such tin to all buyers at $1.21½ per lb., f. o. b. New York, metal content. It presently has firm contracts covering the next two years for the importation of large quantities of tin. Under the circumstances, the standing offer of the RFC constitutes an effective market limitation on the maximum price for tin.

The fact that the RFC price may operate as an effective limit to upward movement of tin prices at the present time would not, of course, operate in and of itself as a determination of an appropriate ceiling price for imported tin at some lower level. It is considered appropriate, however, to use the RFC price as an interim measure of ceiling price for the time necessary to complete a comprehensive study.

The effect of this amendment is to exclude imported tin from the requirements of CPR 31 so long as the price charged by a seller does not exceed $1.21½ per pound, f. o. b. New York. This places importers and wholesalers of imported tin under the provisions of the General Ceiling Price Regulation so long as this condition exists. If a seller wishes to charge more than such ceiling price, he would automatically be required by the operation of this amendment to comply with the provisions of CPR 31 before he can make such a sale. He is not precluded, however, from establishing at any time a ceiling price under CPR 31 which is higher than the RFC offering price.

FINDINGS OF THE DIRECTOR

In view of the nature of this amendment, special circumstances have rendered extensive consultation with industry representatives, including representatives of trade associations. In the judgment of the Director of Price Stabilization, the provisions of this amendment are generally fair and equitable, are necessary to effectuate the purposes of Title IV of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, and comply with all the applicable standards of that act.

AMENDATORY PROVISIONS

Appendix A of Ceiling Price Regulation 31 is amended by the addition of the following paragraph:

5. Any sale of the following important commodities is excepted from coverage by this regulation provided that the selling price does not exceed $1.21½ per pound, metal content, f. o. b. New York; however, a seller may choose to comply with the provisions of CPR 31 and calculate a ceiling price under that regulation even though such price may be higher than the $1.21½ per pound price:

Tin—metal, ore, concentrates, powder, scrap alloys------ 88, 382, 392, 1785, 1786.

Effective date. This amendment 14 to Ceiling Price Regulation 31 shall become effective September 12, 1952.

JOSEPH H. FREEHILL,
Acting Director of Price Stabilization.

[Ceiling Price Regulation 24, Amdt. 19]

CPR 24—CEILING PRICES OF BEEF SOLD AT WHOLESALE

MISCELLANEOUS AMENDMENTS

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, Executive Order 10161, Economic Stabilization Agency General Order 2, Delegation of Authority by the Secretary of Agriculture with respect to meat, as amended, and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order 5, Revision, this Amendment 19 to Ceiling Price Regulation 24, is hereby issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

The accompanying amendment to Ceiling Price Regulation 24 makes several substantive changes as well as certain clarifications and corrections of a minor nature.

1. In response to numerous requests from the meat trade, ceiling prices were established, in Amendment 15 to CPR 24, for certain specially trimmed strip loins and strip loin steaks. These newly defined products were normally used by hotels and restaurants that specialized in catering for large banquets and serving expensive meals. These hotels and restaurants could not use the fat and trimmings that would normally have to be trimmed off the regular loins and steaks, since they do not have the opportunity to serve ground beef or stew dishes to any substantial extent. Accordingly, prices were established for closely trimmed loins and steaks, so that the products could be utilized without further cutting or trimming. However, it must be recognized that the elimination of the excess fat and trimmings from these products necessitated a high ceiling price which put these products out of the reach of the average hotel or restaurant.

These closely trimmed loins and steaks should have been added to the pricing schedules in addition to the prices already contained therein. This would have given buyers and sellers an election so that they could deal in the type of product which they preferred. However, in amending the regulation, the new closely trimmed products were inserted in the pricing schedules in lieu of the regularly trimmed products. This amendment merely restores to the pricing schedules the regular strip loins and the steaks derived from such strip loins, for the benefit of those buyers who do not wish to handle the higher priced closely trimmed products.

The pricing schedules have been slightly rearranged to consolidate all of the fabricated cuts from each primal cut. Thus, all of the steaks have been brought together, and all of the ground beef prices have likewise been consolidated. The definitions in Appendix A have been rearranged to conform with the pricing schedules, and have been corrected slightly wherever necessary.

There were some instances where sellers began doing business after December 31, 1950, and consequently, did not have any 1950 history covering sales to purveyors of meals. This amendment enables those sellers who began doing business prior to the issuance of CPR 24 to qualify as hotel supply houses or combination distributors, as the case may be, on the basis of their sales made during the period from January 1, 1951 to April 30, 1951.

2. The definitions of cured and smoked tongues have been amended to conform more closely with industry practice. The ceiling prices for these tongues, originally calculated on the basis of the trim standards of the former definition, have been changed to reflect this change.

Dollars-and-cents ceiling prices have been established in Schedule VIII for barrel beef. This beef, which is normally exported to Canada and Newfoundland, consists mainly of plates of beef which are cured and packed in hardwood barrels. A new definition has also been added to cover this product.

3. The ceiling prices in Schedule VIII (B), section 27, on sales by non-slaughtering processors, hotel supply houses, combination distributors, and also peddler truck sales, to retailers, have been changed in order to reflect more accurately normal margins on these sales. The ceiling prices for dried beef in Schedule VIII (B) have also been changed to reflect more closely normal selling margins.

4. Ceiling prices have been established for flake steaks in packages exceeding one pound in weight. Heretofore only packages weighing one pound or less were priced in section 28.

Inasmuch as a large number of reports have been filed pursuant to section 4 (c) for certain specialty beef products which are very similar to each other, the Director of Price Stabilization has deemed it advisable to establish a specific dollars-and-cents ceiling price for these products. Therefore, a new item called "dinner steaks", and defined in Appendix 8 (f) (8), is added to Schedule IX. However, a seller who already established a ceiling price for this item under Supplementary Regulation 61 to the General Ceiling Price Regulation may at his option retain this latter ceiling price.

5. The definitions of "combination distributor" and "hotel supply house" have been revised to permit those sellers to qualify who did not make any sales during 1950, but who did make sales to purveyors of meals during the four month period from January 1, 1951, to April 30, 1951. Thus sellers who, in good faith, made a financial investment and began doing business with purveyors of meals, prior to the issuance of CPR 24, may now qualify as combination distributors or as hotel supply houses, as the case may be.

6. The definition of beef carcass has been changed to make clear that the spinal cord and the hanging tender may be removed.

7. The definition of dried beef which required the moisture content to be limited so that the resulting weight did not exceed 60 percent of the green weight, has been changed to permit the resulting weight to equal 65 percent of the green weight. This will conform more closely to industry practice.

8. That part of the definition of "wafer steak" pertaining to trimming which limited the fat content to 10 percent by chemical analysis has been changed to require that the steak contain not more than 10 percent of trimmable fat. This wil permit the use of better quality cuts than are normally used in making this product. To conform the definition to industry practice, the requirement that at least 3 slices be used in making the wafer steaks has been changed to require not less than 2 slices. Moreover, the weight classifications for wafer steaks in Schedule IX have been changed in order to make clear that different ceiling prices are established for consumer size and institutional size packages.

In formulating this amendment, the Director of Price Stabilization has consulted so far as practicable with industry representatives, including trade association representatives, and has given full consideration to their recommendations. In his judgment the provisions of this regulation are generally fair and equitable, are necessary to effectuate the purposes of Titles I and IV of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, are necessary and appropriate to promote the national defense, and comply with all the applicable standards of the act.

All standards prescribed in this amendment were, prior to the issuance of Ceiling Price Regulation 24, in general use in the meat industry. Such standards as are prescribed are indispensable to price control of beef, since no practicable alternative to such standardization exists for securing effective price control of this commodity. It is not believed that this amendment will cause any substantial changes in business practices, cost practices or methods, or means or aids to distribution; however, to the extent that such changes may be compelled, they are necessary to prevent circumvention or evasion of Ceiling Price Regulation 24, as amended.

Bruises and grubs shall be trimmed out. The hanging tender may be removed. The inside of the carcass shall be thoroughly cleaned by washing. The beef carcass shall not be broken in any other manner than as provided below.

7. Appendix 4 is amended to read as follows:

APPENDIX 4—FABRICATED BEEF CUT DEFINITIONS

(a) When used in this regulation, the term fabricated beef cut means any of the following cuts meeting the following minimum specifications, and derived from specified beef wholesale cuts, as provided for in Appendix 2. All cuts shall be made in accordance with the specifications provided herein.

(1) Round (rump and shank off) means that part of a round remaining after the shank and rough rump have been removed.

The shank shall be removed by a cut starting at the bottom end of the gambrel cord, following the natural muscle seam to the stifle (knee) joint, passing through the bones of the joint severing the shank from the round. The rough rump shall be removed by a straight cut starting at a point on the outside or skin surface of the round, so as to meet the top part of the aitch bone, then following the curvature of the aitch bone to the protuberance of the femur bone (round bone) leaving no part of the aitch bone in the round. The rump shall then be separated from the round by sawing through the ball of the femur bone (round bone). All cod or udder fat shall be removed from the round, rump and shank off.

(2) Boneless round means that part of the round remaining after all bones (including tail bones) and shank have been removed. The shank shall be removed as described in Appendix 4 (a) (1). The ragged pieces of meat, all cod or udder fat, and other fat in excess of one inch shall be removed. The rump shall not be removed.

(3) and (4) Boneless insides or top rounds, boneless outsides or bottom rounds, and boneless knuckles or faces, means the three natural muscle pieces into which the round is separated after the rough rump, shank and femur bone (round bone) have been removed. The shank and rough rump shall be removed as described in Appendix 4 (a) (1). The knuckle shall be separated by cutting through the natural muscle seams between the knuckle and outside muscles on the one side, and the knuckle and the inside muscles on the other side leaving one and one-half inches of the wedge-shaped pieces of meat from the overlapping inside muscle attached to the knuckle. The patella (knee cap bone) and all cartilage or connecting tissue shall be removed.

The inside and outside pieces shall be separated by a cut starting at the termination of the gambrel cord separating the shank and portion equally between the inside and outside, and continuing the cut in a straight line to a point on the rump and which is just barely on the outside edge of the large muscle seam that is visible at this end.

The gland which lies in the center between the inside and outside muscles shall be cut through so as to leave a portion of this gland in both muscles.

The cod or udder fat and all other fat in excess of one inch shall be removed.

(5) Boneless rump means that part of the rough rump remaining after all of the bones (including the tail bones) have been removed. Ragged pieces of meat and fat in excess of one inch on the top or outside skin surface shall be removed.

(6) Gooseneck boneless round means the outside (bottom) round and boneless rump, in one piece. It shall be made by separating the outside muscle with boneless rump attached from the knuckle and inside muscles by the method described in Appendix 4 (a) (3) and (4). All fat in excess of one inch on the top of outside skin surface of the rump shall be removed.

(7) Hind shank means the hind shank of the beef with lean meat attached. It shall be removed from the round as described in Appendix 4 (a) (1).

(8) Short loin (bone-in) means that portion of the trimmed full loin remaining after the severance of the sirloin (loin end) from the trimmed full loin, which shall be obtained by a cut perpendicular to the contour of the outside or skin surface of the trimmed full loin begun at a point which is the juncture on the chine bone of the 5th and 6th lumbar vertebrae and continuing in a straight line perpendicular to the contour of the outside or skin surface of the trimmed full loin to and through a point flush against the end of the hip (pin) bone, but leaving no part of the hip (pin) bone in the short loin. The backbone of the short loin shall include five (5) lumbar vertebrae, one and one-half (1½) thoracic vertebrae, and part of the 13th rib.

(9) Sirloin (bone-in) means the thick portion of the trimmed full loin remaining after the severance of the short loin from the trimmed full loin. The backbone of the sirloin shall include one (1) lumbar vertebra, five (5) sacral vertebrae (tip or rear corner of the fifth (5th) sacral vertebra shall have been sawed off in separating the round from the trimmed full loin and flank), and the entire hip bone (ilium).

(10) Sirloin (boneless) means that part of a sirloin after all the bone and the sirloin tenderloin have been removed. All flank meat and the fat from the flank side of the boneless sirloin shall be removed. All fat in excess of one inch on the outside skin surface shall be removed.

(11) Top sirloin (boneless) means that part of the boneless sirloin, which is the top lean muscle that covered the hip bone (ilium) from the chine bone side of the sirloin to the natural seam (or blue seam) which separates the bottom lean muscle from the top lean muscle.

The top sirloin shall be separated from the bottom sirloin by cutting through the natural muscle seam (or blue tissue) and continuing through the meat with the knife held at a 45 degree angle to the cutting surface of the block. All fat in excess of one inch on the outside skin surface shall be removed.

(12) Bottom sirloin (boneless) means that part of the boneless sirloin remaining after the removal of the top sirloin. All flank meat and the fat from the flank side of the bottom sirloin shall be removed. All fat in excess of one inch on the outside skin surface shall be removed.

(13) Regular strip loin (bone-in) means that part of the full loin, after the full tenderloin, sirloin, protruding edge of the chine bone, and the flank edge of the short loin have been removed, or that part remaining of a short loin after the short tenderloin, protruding edge of chine bone and the flank edge of the short loin have been removed. The strip loin shall be cut from the stripped full loin in a straight line perpendicular to the outside or skin surface of the loin from a point which is the juncture of the 5th and 6th lumbar vertebrae and continuing in the same straight line through a point flush against the end of the hip (pin) bone, but leaving no part of the hip (pin) bone in the strip loin.

The protruding edge of the chine bone shall be removed by sawing through the lower extremity of the spinal cord groove when the loin is lying with the flesh side down. The flank edge of the strip loin shall be cut off in a straight line from the sawed end of the 13th rib, which is 10 inches from the center of the protruding edge of the 13th thoracic vertebra and continuing in a straight line with full length of the strip loin parallel to the chine bone and perpendicular to the outside skin surface of the strip loin. Rough fat on the inside of the strip loin shall be trimmed smooth and all fat in excess of one inch on the outside skin surface shall be removed.

(14) Regular strip loin (boneless) means that part of a strip loin remaining after all bones have been removed. All fat in excess of one inch on the outside skin surface shall be removed.

(15) Trimmed strip loin (bone-in) means a strip loin prepared as described in Appendix 4 (a) (13) except that the flank end of the loin shall be removed to a point not more than two (2) inches downward from the lower end of the eye muscle, and the fat shall not exceed one-half inch on the outside skin surface. The backstrap and all fat lying on the inside of the loin shall be removed.

(16) Trimmed strip loin (boneless) means a strip loin prepared in the manner described in Appendix 4 (a) (15) from which all bones have been removed.

(17) Tenderloin means the tenderloin muscle with the attached side strip muscle lying inside of the full loin. The tenderloin shall be removed from the full loin by cutting along the inside of the chine bone following the conformation of this bone from the tip of the loin or at the point where the 13th rib joins the 13th thoracic vertebra at the end of the chine bone or at a point adjacent to the 5th sacral vertebra and by a cut at the butt end of the tenderloin which shall be made along the hip bone following the natural seam (or blue seam) in the sirloin end of the loin. Full beef tenderloin shall be devoid of any head muscle and all the excess fat shall be removed from the back of the tenderloin so as to expose the gland which lies about 6 inches forward from the butt end of the tenderloin. All the fat lying beyond the exposed gland shall be tapered down to a point that in no case shall extend beyond three-quarters of the length of the entire tenderloin.

Beef tenderloin also means the trimmed sirloin tenderloin which is that portion of the tenderloin muscle removed from the sirloin. It shall be devoid of any head muscle and all excess fat shall be removed from the back of the sirloin tenderloin so as to expose the gland as described herein. Beef tenderloin also includes the trimmed tip tenderloin which is the portion of the tenderloin muscle removed from a short loin. The fat on the back of the tenderloin shall be tapered down as described herein and at no point shall exceed one-half inch. All fat from the lower half shall be removed.

(18) Oven prepared rib means that part of seven-bone rib remaining after the chine bone and short ribs have been removed. The chine bone, or bodies of the thoracic vertebrae, shall be entirely removed by cutting to the point at which they join the feather bones, exposing the lean meat, but leaving the feather bones attached to the rib cut. The short ribs shall be removed by a cut which begins at a point on the 12th rib not more than 8 inches from the protruding edge of the 12th thoracic vertebra and continuing in a straight line to a point on the 6th rib which is not more than 8 inches from the protruding edge of the 6th thoracic vertebra (chine bone). All the blade bone, including the cartilage, shall be removed.

(19) Boned, rolled and tied rib means that part of the regular 7-rib cut remaining after all bones, including the blade bone and cartilage, have been removed. The intercostal meat shall be removed.

Boned, rolled and tied rib shall be rolled into a cylindrical shape and tied with at least five loops of string. Ragged pieces on the ends shall be trimmed off.

(20) Regular short ribs means the portion of the rib cut off in fabricating oven prepared ribs, as described in this Appendix 4 (a) (18) and shall include the rib sections of seven ribs.

Plate short ribs means stripped pieces cut from the short plate up to and not beyond the point where the ribs join the costal cartilages (rib cartilages).

(21) Trimmed short ribs means the portion of the rib cut off in fabricating oven prepared ribs, as described in Appendix 4 (a) (18), and shall include the rib sections of the 6th, 7th, 8th, and 9th ribs.

(22) Boneless chuck (clod-in) means that part of the chuck remaining after all bones and the back strap have been removed. Boneless chuck shall be made only from regular chucks (square cut).

No trimming of boneless chuck is required and the intercostal meat may be left attached.

(23) Boneless chuck (clod out) means the same as the boneless chuck described in Appendix 4 (a) (22) except that the shoulder clod shall be removed.

(24) Boneless clod means the thick meaty portion of the regular chuck lying above the blade and rib bones.

It shall be separated from the chuck by a first cut starting at the knuckle joint and continuing in the same line along the ridge of the blade bone through to the chine bone, and by a second cut starting from the extreme corner of the brisket end of the 5th rib following the first natural muscle seam above the rib bones to a point about midway between the knuckle bone and the end of the 5th rib, then upward to the second natural muscle seam above the rib bones and the following this natural muscle seam to the knuckle end of the clod. Pull knuckle end of clod upward, separating in the natural muscle seam at the blade bone, then cut along edge of blade bone to enable clod to be pulled loose from the chuck.

(25) Boneless brisket (deckle off) means that part of the green brisket remaining after all the bones, intercostal meat and deckle have been removed. The deckle means the layer of fat, meat and tissues lying between the rib bones, the rib (costal) cartilages, the breast (sternum) bone and the lean principal muscle of the brisket. The deckle shall be removed at the natural seam leaving the thick layer of fat attached to the deckle and exposing the lean meat surface lying directly below. This lean surface shall be free of all fat except minute flakes of fat that adhere closely to the lean after the deckle has been removed. The hard fat along the sternum edge (the area on the bone side of the brisket which is adjacent to and directly under the sternum bone) of the boneless brisket shall be trimmed level with the boned surface of the brisket and to within one-half inch of the lean lying between this hard fat and the border of skin surface fat. All ragged pieces of meat from both bone and skin side of the boneless (deckle off) brisket and all fat in excess of one inch on the outside skin surface, including the breast curve, shall be removed. The web muscle (full lip) shall be left attached with the thin tissue edge, trimmed to expose the narrow portion of lean meat.

(26) Boneless short plate means that part of the short plate remaining after the skirt and all bones have been removed. The fell shall be stripped from the flank side of the plate. All fat exceeding one-half inch shall be removed.

(27) Cube steaks mean any lean muscle meat (not containing an outer surface of fat in excess of one-quarter of an inch) derived from the boneless sirloin or boneless round of prime, choice, good or commercial grade of beef, cut into steaks of uniform size, tenderized in accordance with normal business practice. Cube steaks can be made either by hand or by machine.

(28 Flank steak means the flat, oval-shaped lean muscle of meat embedded in the cod or udder end of the flank which shall be obtained by loosening the narrow end of the steak piece at the cod or udder end of the flank, cutting through the membrane along both sides of the steak, then pulling and cutting the steak loose and severing it from the thick membrane which lies directly under and to which it is attached. None of the thick membrane shall be left on the steak. All fat shall be trimmed from the steak, but the thin membrane on the top surface of the steak shall not be removed.

(29) Sirloin steak (boneless) means steaks cut from a boneless sirloin which has been trimmed as described in this Appendix 4 (a) (10). Only complete steaks shall be made.

(30) Top sirloin steak (boneless) means steaks cut from a top sirloin which has been trimmed as described in this Appendix 4 (a) (11). Only complete steaks shall be made.

(36) Regular ground beef (bulk) means ground, chopped or comminuted fresh beef derived from the skeletal portion of the dressed carcass (but not including head meat), which contains no offal, added blood, cartilage, bone, cereal product, water or ice, or any adulterant or other foreign substance except seasoning, and which does not have a fat content in excess of 25 percent by chemical analysis. Ground beef shall be ground twice, the final grinding through a plate with holes not more than 3/16 of an inch in diameter, or 3/8 of an inch in the case of chile meat, or chopped in a rotary cutter, or by any other means giving equivalent results.

In lieu of grinding, the meat may be chopped in a rotary cutter or by other means giving equivalent results. The meat may be formed into loaves and packed in suitable solid fibre, corrugated or other containers; or it may be prepared in bulk containers, wax paper lined. The meat shall be quick-frozen immediately after preparation and shall be in prime condition at the time of delivery at destination. [Ceiling Price Regulation 169]

CPR 169—IRON ORES PRODUCED IN MINNESOTA, WISCONSIN, OR MICHIGAN

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, Executive Order 10161, and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order No. 2, this ceiling price regulation is hereby issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

This regulation establishes ceiling prices for merchant iron ore produced in Minnesota, Wisconsin or Michigan, which area is commonly known as the Lake Superior District.

The iron ore industry in the Lake Superior District is made up of 22 operating companies owning or managing 187 mines. The Lake Superior District for many years has produced approximately 80 percent of all the iron ore required by the steel plants and pig iron producers in the United States. In 1951 a total of approximately 94 million tons of iron ore was mined and shipped from this District. This was divided as follows:

	Million tons
Open pit direct shipping	53.4
Gravity concentrate open pit mines	21
Underground	19½
Taconites	½0

Of this total tonnage, approximately 20 percent is merchant, i. e., ore which is sold to consumers not affiliated with the producers.

A meeting of the members of the Iron Ore Industry Advisory Committee representing independent producers of iron ore in the Lake Superior District was held in Washington on July 17, 1952. These members urged that immediate price relief be granted because of the increased costs anticipated from wage negotiations then being conducted. Because of the special factors affecting the production and delivery of iron ore in the Lake Superior District, producers in that area are considered to be an industry for the purposes of the Industry Earnings Standard generally used by the Office of Price Stabilization as a means of measuring the general fairness and equitableness of ceiling prices, and a survey was undertaken to determine whether a ceiling price adjustment was required by that standard.

The dollars-and-cents ceiling prices established in this regulation are based on the results of that survey. Data obtained from companies considered to be a representative sample of the industry indicated that as a result of the new wage agreements consummated by the producers in the Lake Superior District costs have risen to the point where the industry's average return on net worth has fallen below 85 percent of its average return in 1947–1949 (the applicable base period). Increases in other cost factors, notably supplies, also contributed to the deficiency in earnings under the ceiling prices applicable prior to the issuance of this regulation.

This regulation establishes ceiling prices for sales of iron ore produced in Minnesota, Wisconsin or Michigan which are 75 cents per gross ton higher than the ceiling prices which were established heretofore by the General Ceiling Price Regulation. In the opinion of the Director, these new ceiling prices are generally fair and equitable and are adequate to encourage the high rate of production needed for the defense effort.

The pricing techniques embodied in this regulation reflect the customary pricing practices of the industry. Dollars-and-cents ceiling prices, per gross ton delivered at Lower Lake ports, have been established for the various grades of standard ores and appropriate differentials have been established for other grades. Provisions are also set forth for calculating ceiling prices for ores sold on the basis of delivery at points other than Lower Lake ports. Although Lake Superior ore is principally sold delivered at Lower Lake ports, producers quote, and sell, on terms of delivery at Upper Lake ports or at mine. Under interpretations of the General Ceiling Price Regulation, they were permitted to adjust their delivered prices to reflect increases in transportation costs occurring after the base period of that regulation and this regulation contains provisions permitting continuance of that practice.

So far as practicable, the Director has given due consideration to the national effort to achieve maximum production in furtherance of the objectives of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, and to relevant factors of general applicability. In the judgment of the Director the provisions of this regulation comply with all of the requirements with respect to the establishment of ceiling prices set forth in the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended.

In the formulation of this regulation there has been consultation with industry representatives, including trade association representatives, and consideration has been given to their recommendations.

The provisions of this ceiling price regulation and their effect upon business practices, cost practices, or means of aids to distribution in the industry have been considered. It is believed that no changes in such practices or methods have been effected. To the extent, however, that the provisions of this regulation may operate to compel changes in such practices or methods, such provisions are necessary to prevent circumvention or evasion of the regulation and effectuate the policies of the act.

SECTION 1. What this regulation does.—(a) Persons, products and transactions covered. (1) This regulation establishes ceiling prices for sales by any person of iron ores produced in Minnesota, Wisconsin or Michigan and delivered on and after July 26, 1952.

(2) This regulation also applies, insofar as his purchases are concerned, to any person who in the regular course of trade or business, buys any of the products covered by this regulation.

(3) This regulation exempts from price control exchange of iron ore between producers or between consumers, or between consumers and producers except for final adjustment as provided by section 2 (d) of this regulation.

(b) Geographical applicability. This regulation applies to sales and deliveries of iron ores in the 48 states of the United States and the District of Columbia.

SEC. 2. Ceiling prices for iron ores produced in Minnesota, Wisconsin or Michigan—(a) Standard ores. (1) The ceiling price per gross ton delivered at Lower Lake ports for standard ores having an iron content, natural, of 51.50 percent is:

Mesabi Non-Bessemer	$9.05
Mesabi Bessemer	9.20
Old Range Non-Bessemer	9.30
Old Range Bessemer	9.45
High Phosphorous	9.05

(2) The ceiling prices established in this paragraph (a) must be adjusted for variations in iron, phosphorous, and silica content and for shipments in less than cargo lots in accordance with the provisions of section 4.

(b) Special ores—(1) Manganiferous ore. The ceiling price per gross ton delivered at Lower Lake ports for manganiferous ore is the sum obtained by multiplying the combined natural iron and natural manganese analyses of such ore by the single Old Range Non-Bessemer unit value of $0.18058 and for any manganese in excess of 3 percent add 15¢ for each unit of natural manganese and a proportional amount for each fraction of a unit.

(2) Siliceous ore. The ceiling price, delivered at Lower Lake ports, for siliceous ore having an iron content, natural, of 38.30 percent is $5.20 per gross ton. Adjustments for variations in natural iron content must be made upon the basis of a single unit value of 0.13577. Adjustments for low phosphorous content shall be made in accordance with section 4 (b).

(3) Lump ore. The ceiling price per gross ton delivered at Lower Lake ports for lump ore having an iron content, natural, of 51.50 percent is $9.30 per gross ton plus $1.00 per gross ton for lump quality. Adjustments for variations in iron content must be made upon the basis of a unit value of $0.20000; in the case of Bessemer lump having an iron content, natural, of 51.50 percent the ceiling price delivered at Lower Lake ports, shall be $9.30 per gross ton plus $1.00 per gross ton for lump quality and plus the Bessemer differential of $0.15 per gross ton; adjustments for variations in iron content must be made upon the basis of a unit value of $0.20291.

(4) Aluminiferous ore. The ceiling price, per gross ton delivered at Lower Lake ports, for aluminiferous ore is the sum obtained by multiplying the natural iron content by the single unit value set forth in the table contained in section 4 (a) for the category of ore into which the aluminiferous ore being priced falls.

(5) Other special ores. The ceiling price, delivered at Lower Lake ports, for any off-grade or premium ore not specifically named in this paragraph (b) is:

(i) The sum of the seller's 1950 weighted average spot price for such ore plus the difference between the seller's 1950 weighted average spot price for standard ore and the ceiling price established by this regulation for such standard ore; or

(ii) If a ceiling price cannot be determined under (i) of this subparagraph (5), the ceiling price established by the Office of Price Stabilization upon application by the seller. Such application should be addressed to the Industrial Materials and Manufactured Goods Division, Office of Price Stabilization, Washington 25, D. C., and should contain the seller's name and address, the type of ore and a metallurgical analysis of the ore for which a ceiling price is requested, the seller's proposed ceiling price, and a statement of the basis upon which such proposed ceiling price was determined. The ceiling price established by the Office of Price Stabilization pursuant to such application shall be in line with the level of ceiling prices established by this regulation.

(c) Ore sold for delivery other than at Lower Lake ports. (1) When ore is sold for delivery at the mine, Upper Lake railroad weights shall govern and there shall be deducted from the ceiling prices otherwise established by this regulation an amount equal to the total of:

(i) Upper Lake rail freight (including handling charges) at the rates in effect at time of shipment;

(ii) Lake freight to Lower Lake ports (including unloading charges) at the rate in effect at time of shipment;

(iii) A sum equal to the transportation tax paid on such Upper Lake rail and Lake freight; and

(iv) The sum of $0.02 per gross ton.

(2) When ore is sold for delivery at Upper Lake ports, vessel bill of lading weights shall govern and there shall be deducted from the ceiling prices otherwise established by this regulation an amount equal to the total of:

(i) Lake freight to Lower Lake ports (including unloading charges) at the rate in effect at time of shipment;

(ii) A sum equal to the transportation tax paid on such Lake freight;

Provided, however, That in the case of lump ore, railroad weights minus 0.5 percent shall be used instead of vessel bill of lading weights in the above calculation.

(d) Exchanges. Exchanges of iron ores between producers or between consumers, or between producers and consumers, shall not be considered as sales under this regulation or any other regulation previously issued by this Agency.

If the exchanges are unequal the portion of any exchange for which payment is made shall be considered a sale subject to this regulation and any settlements or final adjustment made must be made at ceiling prices no higher than those provided by this regulation.

SEC. 3. Adjustments in ceiling prices to reflect changes in transportation rates and taxes. The ceiling prices established in section 2 (a) and (b) shall be increased or decreased to reflect increases or decreases after December 1, 1950, in established railroad freight rates from the mine to the Upper Lake ports, in established vessel freight rates from Upper Lake ports to the Lower Lake ports and in taxes on any such rates.

SEC. 4. Adjustments in ceiling prices for variations in iron, phosphorus, or silica content, etc.—(a) Differentials for variations in iron content. The differentials for adjusting ceiling prices for variations in iron content, natural, of ores subject to this regulation must be added to or deducted from the ceiling prices established under section 2 in accordance with the provisions of this paragraph. The following table sets forth the unit values for the respective standard ores and the following subparagraphs set forth the differentials for adjustment.

Mesabi Non-Bessemer	$9.05	$0.17573

High Phosphorous	9.05	.17573

(1) When less than 51.50 percent but not less than 50.00 percent iron content, natural, deduct at the rate of one unit value for each unit or fraction thereof.

(2) When less than 50.00 percent but not less than 49.00 percent iron content, natural; from the price computed for 50.00 percent iron content, natural, deduct at the rate of one and a half times the unit value for the unit or fraction of a unit less than 50.00 percent.

(3) When less than 49.00 percent iron content, natural; from the price computed for 49.00 percent iron content, natural, deduct at the rate of two times the unit value for the unit or fraction of a unit less than 49.00 percent.

(4) When iron content, natural, exceeds 51.50 percent, add at the rate of one unit value for each unit or fraction of a unit above 51.50 percent.

(b) Premiums for low phosphorous content. Bessemer ore is ore which contains not more than 0.045 percent phosphorus, dry. Premiums for phosphorous content less than 0.045 percent shall not exceed that set forth in the following standard phosphorus table.

Chapter VI—National Production Authority, Department of Commerce

[NPA Order M-24, as amended September 12, 1952]

M-24—TIN PLATE AND TERNEPLATE

This order as amended is found necessary and appropriate to promote the national defense and is issued pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended. In the formulation of this order as amended, there has been consultation with industry representatives, including trade association representatives, and consideration has been given to their recommendations. However, consultation with representatives of all trades and industries affected by the issuance of this order as amended has been rendered impracticable by the fact that the order affects a very substantial number of different trades and industries.

EXPLANATORY

This order as amended constitutes a complete revision of NPA Order M-24 as amended March 4, 1952, and as further amended by Amendment 1 of August 12, 1952. The restrictions imposed on the end use of terneplate have been eliminated by deleting Schedule B and all references thereto, and by revising Schedule A and sections 1, 3, 4, 5, 6, and 8.

SECTION 1. What this order does. This order specifies the items and purposes for which tin plate may be manufactured and used, and prescribes the maximum weight of the coating of tin per single base box permitted for a specified item or purpose. This order also provides that secondary tin only may be used to make terne metal, and limits the percentage of tin in terne metal used for coating terneplate. NPA Order M-8, as amended, contains certain limitations on the use of tin in the manufacture of tin plate and terneplate, but permits the use of tin for tin plate, terne metal, and terneplate in accordance with the provisions of this order.

SEC. 2. Definitions. As used in this order:

(a) "Tin plate" means steel sheets coated with tin, and includes electrolytic tin plate, hot-dipped tin plate, primes, seconds, unassorted, waste-waste, menders, unmended menders, and unassorted temper tin plate. Tin plate (except waste-waste) is furnished as "Specification Production Plate" or "Mill Accumulation Plate," and each such class includes primes, seconds, and unassorted. "Specification Production Plate" is plate produced against orders for specific end uses. "Mill Accumulation Plate" is plate arising in the production of "Specification Production Plate" not applicable against such orders, and, as provided in section 7 of this order, is to be so identified when sold, manifested, and shipped.

(b) "Terneplate" means steel sheets coated with terne metal, and includes special coated manufacturing ternes, manufacturing ternes, roofing ternes generally coated in tin mill coating machines, and long ternes which are steel sheets coated in sheet mill coating machines.

(c) "Reconditioned tin plate or terneplate" means damaged tin plate or terneplate which has been put into usable condition by recoating.

(d) "Waste-waste" means hot-dipped or electrolytic tin-coated steel sheets or steel sheets covered with terne metal which have been rejected during processing by the producer because of imperfections which disqualify such sheets from sale as primes, seconds, or unassorted.

(e) "Unmended menders" means tin-coated steel sheets arising in the production of electrolytic tin plate which have been set aside by the producer by reason of surface appearance which disqualifies such sheets from sale as primes, seconds, or unassorted.

(f) "Menders" means tin-coated steel sheets arising in the production of electrolytic tin plate which have been set aside by the producer by reason of surface appearance which disqualifies such sheets from sale as primes, seconds, or unassorted, and mended either into coke tin plate primes, seconds, or unassorted by hot-dipping in tin, or into unassorted terneplate by hot-dipping in terne metal.

(g) "Unassorted temper tin plate" means primes, seconds, or unassorted tin plate arising in the production of hot-dipped or electrolytic tin plate which has been packaged without regard to temper.

(h) "Other coated secondaries" means steel sheets or strips coated with tin or terne metal which are not defined or classified elsewhere in this section, and includes lacquered or lithographed misprints.

(i) "Person" means any individual, corporation, partnership, association, or any other organized group of persons, and includes any agency of the United States Government or of any other government.

(j) "NPA" means the National Production Authority.

SEC. 3. Restrictions on use of tin plate. Subject to the exceptions provided in sections 4 and 5 of this order, tin plate and reconditioned tin plate may be used only for the items or purposes set forth in Schedule A of this order, and only in accordance with the limitations, restrictions, and conditions specified in Schedule A with respect to the particular item or purpose for which such plate is to be used.

SEC. 4. Permitted uses of tin plate and terneplate—(a) Certain grades of tin plate. Subject to the provisions of any other order, regulation, direction, or directive of NPA, any person may use specification production plate, reconditioned tin plate, and menders without regard to the restrictions and limitations of this order if his total annual consumption of all such plate does not exceed 100 base boxes.

(b) Certain other grades of tin plate; terneplate. Subject to the provisions of any other order, regulation, direction, or directive of NPA, any person may use terneplate, mill accumulation plate, unassorted temper tin plate, unmended menders, waste-waste, and other coated secondaries without regard to the restrictions and limitations of this order.

SEC. 5. Optional uses of tin plate—(a) Substitution of material with lighter tin coating. Wherever Schedule A of this order permits use of tin plate with a specified maximum permitted coating of tin per base box, tin plate coated with less tin per base box may be used; or if tin mill black plate is adaptable, it may be used as a substitute.

(b) Substitution of electrolytic tin plate. Where hot-dipped tin plate is permitted to be used in the manufacture of an item listed in Schedule A, the manufacturer may substitute electrolytic tin plate.

(c) Substitution of tin plate menders. Tin plate menders arising in the production of electrolytic tin plate may be used where either hot-dipped tin plate or electrolytic tin plate is permitted under Schedule A.

SEC. 6. Manufacture of tin plate, terne metal, and terneplate—(a) Tin plate. Tin plate may be manufactured only for the items or purposes set forth in Schedule A of this order and shall be tested as in this paragraph provided. Coating shall be determined on the basis of average spot-coating tests, in the case of electrolytic tin plate, and on the basis of pot yield in the case of hot-dipped tin plate.

(b) Terne metal and terneplate. Secondary tin only may be used to make terne metal. No person may use terne metal containing more than 15 percent tin in tin mill coating machines, or for coating roofing ternes. No person may use terne metal containing more than 10 percent tin in sheet mill coating machines.

SEC. 7. Restrictions on sale and delivery. No person shall sell or deliver any tin plate, terneplate, or reconditioned tin plate or terneplate which he knows or has reason to believe will be accepted or used in violation of the terms of this order, or any other order or regulation of NPA. No person shall sell or deliver any tin plate, terneplate, or reconditioned tin plate or terneplate which he knows or has reason to believe will be exported outside of the continental limits of the United States, its territories and possessions, and Canada, except as permitted by section 9 (c) of this order. No person shall sell or deliver Mill Accumulation Plate unless the same is identified as such when sold, manifested, or shipped.

SEC. 8. Certification of delivery of tin plate. Except as otherwise permitted by section 9 (c) of this order, no person shall sell or deliver any tin plate unless he has received from the purchaser a certificate signed manually. This certificate shall be by letter in substantially the following form and, once filed by a purchaser with a seller, covers all future deliveries of tin plate from the seller to that purchaser:

To ----------Seller:
The undersigned purchaser certifies, subject to criminal penalties for misrepresentation, that he is familiar with Order M-24 of the National Production Authority, and that all purchases from you of items regulated by that order, and the acceptance and use of the same by the undersigned, will be in compliance with said order, and any amendments thereto.

SEC. 9. Exceptions. (a) The restrictions in this order shall not apply to military requirements for tin plate or terneplate intended for manufacture of items of a special design or style not normally produced or used commercially, nor to tin plate or terneplate intended for manufacture of items for emergency rations and supplies for lifeboats.

(b) The provisions of this order do not apply to the use of tin plate or terneplate which on April 3, 1951, was in the process of manufacture or in the inventory of a consumer, or in the inventory of a manufacturer for the account of a consumer.

(c) The restrictions of this order shall not apply to the sale or delivery for export of tin plate, terneplate, or reconditioned tin plate or terneplate where the person selling or delivering the same has received a validated export license therefor from the Office of International Trade, or has received from another person a certificate signed manually, or where a general export license is applicable. This certificate shall be by letter in substantially the following form, the purchaser striking therefrom the inapplicable words, and shall be filed with each purchase order with the person selling or delivering to such other person tin plate, terneplate, or reconditioned tin plate or terneplate for export:

To----------Seller:
The undersigned purchaser certifies, subject to criminal penalties for misrepresentation, that (he has received a certification from another person that) the Office of International Trade has issued to (him) (such other person) (validated export license No. ------) (an applicable general license) for export shipment of all of the items included in the attached purchase order, and that all purchases from you of items included in the said purchase order and the acceptance of the same by the undersigned will be in compliance with the said license.

SEC. 10. Request for adjustment or exception. Any person affected by any provision of this order may file a request for adjustment or exception upon the ground that such provision works an undue or exceptional hardship upon him not suffered generally by others in the same trade or industry, or that its enforcement against him would not be in the interest of the national defense or in the public interest. In examining requests for adjustment or exception claiming that the public interest is prejudiced by the application of any provision of this order, consideration will be given to the requirements of the public health and safety, civilian defense, and dislocation of labor and resulting unemployment that would impair the defense program. Each request shall be in writing, by letter in triplicate, and shall set forth all pertinent facts, the nature of the relief sought, and the justification therefor.

SEC. 11. Records and reports. (a) Each person participating in any transaction covered by this order shall make and preserve, for at least 3 years thereafter, accurate and complete records of receipts, deliveries, inventories, production, and use, in sufficient detail to permit the determination, after audit, whether each transaction complies with the provisions of this order. This order does not specify any particular accounting method and does not require alteration of the system of records customarily used, provided such records supply an adequate basis for audit. Records may be retained in the form of microfilm or other photographic copies instead of the originals by those persons who, at the time such microfilm or other photographic records are made, maintain such copies of records in the regular and usual course of business.

(b) All records required by this order shall be made available for inspection and audit by duly authorized representatives of the National Production Authority, at the usual place of business where maintained.

(c) Persons subject to this order shall make such records and submit such reports to the National Production Authority as it shall require, subject to the terms of the Federal Reports Act of 1942 (5 U. S. C. 139–139F).

SEC. 12. Communications. All communications concerning this order shall be addressed to the National Production Authority, Washington 25, D. C., Ref: NPA Order M–24.

SEC. 13. Violations. Any person who wilfully violates any provision of this order, or any other order or regulation of NPA, or who wilfully furnishes false information or conceals any material fact in the course of operation under this order, is guilty of a crime and upon conviction may be punished by fine or imprisonment or both. In addition, administrative action may be taken against any such person to suspend his privilege of making or receiving further deliveries of materials or using facilities under priority or allocation control and to deprive him of further priorities assistance.

NOTE: All reporting and record-keeping requirements of this order have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

This amended order shall take effect September 12, 1952.

The purpose of this order is to conserve pure tungsten and pure molybdenum so as best to serve the interests of the national defense program and of defense-supporting activities. It prohibits certain uses of pure tungsten and pure molybdenum and requires the filing of a monthly report concerning inventories and deliveries of these metals.

SEC. 2. Definitions. As used in this order:

(a) "Person" means any individual, corporation, partnership, association, and any other organized group of persons, and includes any agency of the United States or any other government. A person who keeps separate inventory records for any separate operating or producing units shall treat each such separate operating or producing unit as a separate person for the purposes of this order, unless NPA otherwise directs or permits upon application of such person.

(b) "Pure tungsten" means the element tungsten in substantially pure form, processed to the extent that it is hydrogen-reduced powder, ingot, wire, rod, sheet, and chemicals and compounds, or carbon-reduced powder. (j) "NPA" means the National Production Authority.

SEC. 3. Relation to other regulations and orders. All provisions of any NPA regulation or order are superseded to the extent that they are inconsistent with this order, but in all other respects the provisions of such regulations and orders shall remain in full force and effect. NPA may, from time to time, issue directives as to deliveries or uses of pure tungsten and pure molybdenum and, unless otherwise provided therein, such directives will prevail over the provisions of this order. The provisions of this order do not in any way affect alloy steels.

SEC. 4. Substitution required. No person, whether pursuant to a DO rated order or otherwise, shall incorporate any pure tungsten or pure molybdenum into any product or material when substitution of some other element or material (other than a restricted alloying material as defined in section 2 of NPA Order M–80) for pure tungsten or pure molybdenum is commercially feasible.

SEC. 5. Uses prohibited. No person shall use pure tungsten in the manufacture of pigments of any type, or as a coloring or coating material for rubber, linoleum, paper of any kind including but not limited to wallpaper; or grinding wheels: Provided, however, That these prohibitions do not apply to:

(a) The use of pure tungsten in the manufacture of pigments for coloring employed by the United States Government in the production of currency, bonds, stamps, and/or other Government securities.

(b) The use of pure tungsten in printing inks.

(c) The use of pure tungsten required by any person to comply with any order or directive of NPA.

(d) The use by any person of not more than 50 pounds (tungsten content) of pure tungsten in any consecutive 3-month period, beginning on or after March 1, 1951.

SEC. 6. Limitations on inventory. No person shall place an order for or accept delivery of pure tungsten or pure molybdenum at a time when his inventory exceeds, or by acceptance of such delivery would be made to exceed, 60 days' requirements at his then scheduled rate and method of operation. Except as modified by the preceding sentence, the inventory provisions of NPA Reg. 1 apply.

SEC. 7. Request for adjustment or exception. Any person affected by any provision of this order may file a request for adjustment or exception upon the ground that such provision works an undue or exceptional hardship upon him not suffered generally by others in the same trade or industry, or that its enforcement against him would not be in the interest of the national defense or in the public interest. In examining requests for adjustment or exception claiming that the public interest is prejudiced by the application of any provision of this order, consideration will be given to the requirements of the public health and safety, civilian defense, and dislocation of labor and resulting unemployment that would impair the defense program. Each request shall be in writing, by letter in triplicate, and shall set forth all pertinent facts, the nature of the relief sought, and the justification therefor.

SEC. 8. Records and reports. (a) Each person participating in any transaction covered by this order shall make and preserve, for at least 3 years thereafter, accurate and complete records of receipts, deliveries, inventories, production, and use, in sufficient detail to permit the determination, after audit, whether each transaction complies with the provisions of this order. This order does not specify any particular accounting method and does not require alteration of the system of records customarily used, provided such records supply an adequate basis for audit. Records may be retained in the form of microfilm or other photographic copies instead of the originals by those persons who, at the time such microfilm or other photographic records are made, maintain such copies of records in the regular and usual course of business.

(b) All records required by this order shall be made available for inspection and audit by duly authorized representatives of the National Production Authority, at the usual place of business where maintained.

(c) Every person who at any time in a calendar month had in his possession or under his control or who during a calendar month consumed more than 25 pounds of pure tungsten or pure molybdenum shall report to NPA on Form NPAF–113 on or before the fifteenth day of the following month.

(d) Persons subject to this order shall make such records and submit such other reports to the National Production Authority as it shall require, subject to the terms of the Federal Reports Act of 1942 (5 U. S. C. 139–139F).

SEC. 9. Communications. All communications concerning this order shall

TITLE 15—COMMERCE AND FOREIGN TRADE

Chapter III—Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, Department of Commerce

Subchapter C—Office of International Trade

[6th Gen. Rev. of Export Regs., Amdt. 12[1]]

PART 373—LICENSING POLICIES AND RELATED SPECIAL PROVISIONS

MISCELLANEOUS AMENDMENTS

A. Section 373.22 Special provisions for exportations to Switzerland is amended in the following particulars:

a. The present provisions of the section are designated as paragraph (a) Import certificate requirement.

b. A new paragraph (b) is added to read as follows:

(b) Exceptions. (1) The Office of International Trade will consider the granting of an exception to the requirement for submission of the blue import certificate where the ultimate consignee has been unable to obtain the required document and the granting of an exception will not be contrary to the objectives of the United States export control program. The OIT may waive the requirement of the submission of the blue import certificate where the refusal by the foreign government to issue the import certificate constitutes discrimination against the United States exporter, or for any other valid reason of similar importance. Each such request or exception shall be by letter, in duplicate, accompanying the license application to which it applies, addressed to the Office of International Trade, Department of Commerce, Washington 25, D. C. The letter request should include, among other things, the nature and duration of the business relationship between the applicant and the importer shown on the license application; the reason or reasons for the foreign importer's inability to obtain the blue import certificate from his government; a statement as to whether the exporter has previously submitted to the OIT any blue import certificates issued in the name of the importer and a listing of OIT case numbers to which these certificates applied; and any other facts which would justify the granting of an exception. The applicant should also attach to his letter request, or have on file in the OIT, a statement from the consignee and purchaser in accordance with § 372.3 (d) of this subchapter. No request will be considered or granted unless such statement is submitted or is on file in the OIT.

(2) Where the letter request relates to more than one license application, whether submitted at the same time or at a later date, the original letter request shall be attached to one application and a copy of the letter request shall be attached to each additional application to which it is equally applicable. Any application to which a copy of the letter request is attached shall contain a reference (OIT case number, if known, or applicant's reference number) to the application to which the original letter request was attached.

This part of the amendment shall become effective as of September 4, 1952.

B. Section 373.23 Special provisions for exportations to Austria, the Belgian Congo or Sweden is amended to read as follows:

§ 373.23 Special provisions for exportations to Austria, the Belgian Congo or Sweden. (a) Each applicant for a license to export commodities to Austria, the Belgian Congo, or Sweden shall show in the space provided on the application, Form IT-419, the number of the import certificate or other import authorization[2] upon which the application is based. However, the Office of International Trade will consider the granting of an exception to this requirement where the ultimate consignee is unable to furnish the United States exporter with the import certificate number or other import authorization and the granting of an exception will not be contrary to the objectives of the United States export control program. The OIT may waive the requirement where it is shown that the inability of the foreign importer to provide the required information was due to discrimination against the United States exporter by the foreign government or for any other valid reason of similar importance.

(b) Each request for exception shall be by letter, in duplicate, accompanying the license application to which it applies, addressed to the Office of International Trade, Department of Commerce, Washington 25, D. C. The letter request should include, among other things, the nature and duration of the business relationship between the applicant and the importer shown on the license application; the reason or reasons for the foreign importer's inability to obtain the number of the import certificate or other import authorization from his government; a statement as to whether the exporter has previously submitted to the OIT any numbers of import certificates or other import authorizations issued in the name of the importer and a listing of OIT case numbers to which such certificates applied; and any other facts which would justify the granting of an exception. The applicant should also attach to his letter request, or have on file in the OIT, a statement from the consignee and purchaser in accordance with § 372.3 (d) of this subchapter. No request will be considered or granted unless such statement is submitted or is on file in the OIT.

(c) Where the letter request relates to more than one license application, whether submitted at the same time or at a later date, the original letter request shall be attached to one application and a copy of the letter request shall be attached to each additional application to which it is equally applicable. Any application to which a copy of the letter request is attached shall contain a reference (OIT case number, if known, or applicant's reference number) to the application to which the original letter request was attached.

This part of the amendment shall become effective as of September 4, 1952.

C. Section 373.34 Confirmation of country of ultimate destination and verification of actual delivery is amended in the following particulars:

a. Subparagraph (2) Exemptions of paragraph (a) Scope is amended to read as follows:

(2) Exemptions. The provisions of this section shall not apply to any shipment or application for export license covering any shipment to be made under a project license; nor to an application for license to export commodities classified in a single entry on the Positive List the total value of which as shown on the application is less than $500; nor to an application for license to export a commodity to a foreign government or government agency as purchaser or ultimate consignee; nor to a shipment made by a relief agency registered with the Advisory Committee on Voluntary Foreign Aid, Department of State, to a member agency in the foreign country.

b. Paragraph (c) Submission of import certificates is amended to read as follows:

(c) Submission of import certificates. (1) The applicant must attach to his license application, covering a proposed exportation described in paragraph (a) of this section, the original import certificate, issued or certified by the government of the importing country, to the purchaser, ultimate consignee, or his agent and covering the commodity or commodities described by the export license application.

(2) Where the import certificate covers commodities for which more than one export license application must be submitted, the original import certificate shall be attached to the first such application and a copy of the original import certificate shall be attached to each subsequent application to which it is equally applicable. Any application to which a copy of the import certificate is attached shall contain a reference (OIT case number, if known, or applicant's reference number) to all other applications submitted at any time against the same import certificate. The applicant may not submit applications for quantities of commodities in excess of the quantities covered by an import certificate.

c. The note following paragraph (c) Submission of import certificates is amended in the following particulars:

1. A new Note 1 Translation requirements is added to read as follows:

1. Translation requirements. All abbreviations, coded terms, or other expressions having special significance in the trade or to the parties to the transaction must be explained. Documents in a foreign language must be accompanied by an accurate English translation. Such translation need not be made by a translating service, but, if not, must be certified by the applicant to be a correct translation. (See § 372.9 of this subchapter.)

2. Notes 1, 2, and 3 are respectively renumbered Note 2 Purchase order, Note

[1] This amendment was published in Current Export Bulletin No. 678, dated September 4, 1952.

[2] For exportations to Austria, the applicant must show the Austrian import identification number.

3 Applicant's responsibility for full disclosure, Note 4 Import certificates as a factor in licensing.

3. A new Note 5 Return of import certificates is added to read as follows:

5. Return of import certificates. U. S. exporters may be requested by their foreign importers to return unused or partially used import certificates. In such cases the U. S. exporter should forward the certificate to his importer as soon as he determines that the certificate will not be used with a new or resubmitted license application, or an appeal. In order to meet these requests, import certificates on file in the OIT will be returned to exporters in accordance with the procedures indicated below:

(a) Where the U. S. exporter submits an import certificate covering a quantity in excess of the quantity shown on the export license application, the Office of International Trade will assume that subsequent applications will be submitted against the import certificate. In such cases, the Office of International Trade will retain the import certificate until such time as the exporter requests the return thereof. When requesting the return of the import certificate, the exporter should submit his request in writing, showing the name and address of the consignee, applicable OIT case numbers to which the certificate applies, import certificate number, and a statement that such import certificate will not be used in connection with a new or resubmitted application for export. Appropriate notation will be made on the certificate by the Office of International Trade.

(b) The OIT will automatically return the applicable import certificate to the U. S. exporter (applicant) whenever an application for export covers the same type and amount of the commodity as that shown on the import certificate, but such application is rejected or approved in a reduced quantity. Appropriate notation will be made on the certificate by the OIT.

(c) In instances where the U. S. exporter does not intend to ship the total quantity of commodities for which a license has been issued and desires the return of the import certificate, he should submit his request in writing for return of the certificate together with request for cancellation or amendment of the unexpired license to show the quantity which he intends to ship. (See § 380.2 of this subchapter.) In such cases exporters shall submit the amendment form, Form IT-763 (in addition to the letter request), as provided by the regular amendment procedure. Appropriate notation will be made on the import certificate by the OIT.

4. Note 4 Substitution for import certificate is renumbered Note 6 and amended to read as follows:

6. Substitution for import certificate. Prior to October 20, 1952, the Office of International Trade will continue to accept an ultimate consignee statement in lieu of an import certificate provided only that all of the following conditions are complied with:

(a) The ultimate consignee has attempted to obtain an import certificate, but has been unable to obtain such import certificate.

(b) The applicant enters the following certification in the commodity description column of Form IT-419, Application for Export License:

The applicant has been advised by the ultimate consignee named herein that the said consignee has attempted to obtain an import certificate covering commodities specified in this application but was unable to obtain such import certificate.

(c) The ultimate consignee statement is submitted pursuant to all of the requirements shown in § 372.3 (d) of this subchapter.

d. Paragraph (g) Request for exception and the note at the end thereof are amended to read as follows:

(g) Request for exception. (1) Any license applicant affected by the provisions of paragraph (c) of this section may file a request for exception upon the grounds that the foreign importer has been unable to obtain the required document. Such requests will not be considered where the granting of an exception would be contrary to the objectives of the United States export control program. The OIT will consider exceptions where it is shown that this procedure is inapplicable to the transaction (e. g., the shipment will not be imported for consumption into the named country of destination) or that the refusal to issue the certificate constitutes discrimination against United States exporter, or for any other valid reason of similar importance. Each such request shall be by letter, in duplicate, accompanying the license application to which it applies, addressed to the OIT, Department of Commerce, Washington 25, D. C. The letter request should include, among other things, the nature and duration of the business relationship between the applicant and the importer shown on the license application; a statement as to the country or countries in which the commodities will be used; the reason or reasons for the foreign importers inability to obtain the import certificate from his government; a statement as to whether the exporter has previously submitted to the OIT any import certificates issued in the name of the importer and a listing of such OIT case numbers, where applicable, and any other facts which would justify the granting of an exception. The applicant should also attach to his letter request, or have on file in the OIT, a statement from the consignee and purchaser in accordance with § 372.3 (d) of this subchapter. No request for exception will be considered or granted unless such statement is submitted or is on file in the OIT.

(2) Where the letter request relates to more than one license application, whether submitted at the same time or at a later date, the original letter request shall be attached to one application and a copy of the request shall be attached to each additional application to which it is equally applicable. Any application to which a copy of the request is attached shall contain a reference (OIT case number, if known, or applicant's reference number) to the application to which the original letter request was attached.

NOTE: 1. Applicants are advised that delay may be entailed in the review of a license application under this exception clause in view of the necessary added consideration.

2. The Office of International Trade can give no assurance that an export license will be issued for any exportation where an exception to this section is requested. It must be recognized that delay will usually be present in processing such applications, although the Office of International Trade will process the applications as quickly as possible.

This part of the amendment shall become effective as of September 4, 1952, except that, as provided above in Note 6 of § 373.34 (c), the discontinuance of the acceptance of ultimate consignee statements in lieu of import certificates shall become effective as of October 20, 1952.

CIVIL AERONAUTICS BOARD

[14 CFR Part 241]

[Economic Regs. Draft Release 57]

FILING OF REPORTS BY CERTIFICATED AIR CARRIERS

NOTICE OF PROPOSED RULE MAKING

SEPTEMBER 8, 1952.

Notice is hereby given that the Board has under consideration amendment of Part 241 of the Economic Regulations (14 CFR Part 241) for the purpose of formally requiring certificated air carriers to report certain data on coach, tourist and low fare off-peak services hitherto furnished in response to an informal request from the Board. The proposed new reporting requirements would call for less detailed information in certain respects than that currently being furnished on a voluntary basis. It is proposed to make these changes effective December 1, 1952.

Accordingly, the Board proposes changes in the reporting requirements for certificated carriers by setting up a new Schedule C-2 in CAB Form 41, entitled "Schedule C-2—Coach, Tourist, and Low Fare Off-Peak Services." Carriers performing coach operations have been furnishing the Board with special monthly statements giving detailed data on these low fare services. Some of the details presently being submitted are no longer needed by the Board on a recurrent basis for the evaluation of the low fare operations and others would be adequate in a condensed form. Therefore, in order to reduce the reporting and also to provide for standardization of the data which will continue to be needed, the form of report and instructions are proposed.[1] The proposed report would be required for all domestic coach and low fare off-peak services, international tourist services, and similar differential fare services.

The data in the proposed report would supplement that now reported on CAB Form 41. Moreover, because of changes that have taken place and which may be expected to occur in the low fare services, it is anticipated that information in the detail covered by the proposed report will continue to be needed for some time. It is believed, therefore, that the reporting should be formalized as part of the regular carrier reports. Accordingly, the proposed report has been set up as a new Schedule C-2 of CAB Form 41.[1]

This amendment is proposed under the authority of sections 205 (a) and 407 (a) of the Civil Aeronautics Act, as amended (52 Stat. 984, 1000; 49 U. S. C. 425, 487).

Interested persons may participate in the proposed rule making through the submission of written data, views or arguments pertaining thereto, in triplicate, addressed to the Secretary, Civil Aeronautics Board, Washington 25, D. CRUDE OIL FROM NAVAL PETROLEUM RESERVE NUMBERED 1 (ELK HILLS), KERN COUNTY, CALIFORNIA

NOTICE OF PUBLIC SALE

Pursuant to the act of Congress approved June 4, 1920 as amended (34 U. S. C. 524), relating to the conservation, care, custody, protection and operation of the Naval Petroleum Reserves, the United States of America (hereinafter referred to as "Navy") hereby invites bids for the purchase of such quantities of crude oil as may be allocated to and available for sale by Navy from well No. X55-30R in the Carneros Zone under provisions of Unit Plan Contract NOd-4219 dated June 19, 1944, as supplemented and amended, and relating to Naval Petroleum Reserve Numbered 1 (Elk Hills), Kern County, California, for the period specified in the paragraph next succeeding.

The term of the contract for the sale and purchase of the above-described crude oil will commence at 7:00 a. m., P. s. t., on the tenth day following approval of such contract by the President of the United States and will continue for such period of time as may be necessary for the testing of said well, provided, however, that in no event shall said term exceed one (1) year. (It is estimated that a period of approximately six (6) months will be necessary for the testing of said well.)

The public sale will take place in Room 229, U. S. Post Office and Court House Building, Los Angeles, California, at 10:00 a .m., P. s. t., October 1, 1952. All bids must conform to the terms and conditions of the Invitation for Bids and the above-cited act. The bids and statements will be publicly opened and read aloud at said time and place; any interested parties may be present and will be heard with respect to the subject matter. A bidder who has complied with the provisions of the Invitation for Bids may forthwith, after all bids have been read, increase the bid price or prices, and such increase or increases shall be immediately incorporated in his bid by written amendment thereto signed by the bidder. No change will be permitted which will have the effect of lowering any price bid. After all bidders present have been heard, the bids will be taken under advisement by Navy and an acceptance by the Secretary of the Navy will be made within sixty (60) days thereafter; subject, however, to approval of the contract by the president of the United States. Navy reserves the right in the public interest to reject all bids and order a new public sale.

The crude oil offered for sale is all such oil available for sale by Navy from said well No. X55-30R in said Carneros Zone during the contract term described in paragraph 2 above. The quantities of crude oil which will be available for sale are indefinite. Said well No. X55-30R is a discovery well to the Carneros Zone in Naval Petroleum Reserve Numbered 1 (Elk Hills), California, and has not been subjected to extensive production testing. The crude oil available will be that produced during a production test during the term of the contract. No guarantee is made as to quantities expected to be available; however preliminary tests indicate initial production of approximately two hundred (200) barrels daily. Said well X55-30R is located in Naval Petroleum Reserve Numbered 1, in the SE¼ of Section 30, Township 30 South, Range 23 East, Mount Diablo Base and Meridian. Deliveries of said crude oil will be made at the production tanks in the NE¼ of said Section 30. Navy reserves the right to reduce or stop production of such crude oil or to terminate the contract under certain conditions described in the Invitation for Bids and Exhibit A attached thereto.

The Invitation for Bids which contains complete information concerning form of bids, bond requirements, payment, deliveries, volume measurements, quality of oil, provisions respecting price, form of contract, information to be supplied by bidders, etc., may be obtained by the prospective bidders from the Director, Naval Petroleum and Oil Shale Reserves, Room 410, Mining Exchange Building, Denver 2, Colorado, or the Inspector, Naval Petroleum Reserves in California, P. O. Box 77, Tupman, California, or the Commanding Officer, U. S. Naval Supply Depot, San Pedro, California.

HANDLING OF MILK IN NEW YORK METROPOLITAN MILK MARKETING AREA

DETERMINATION THAT A HEARING SHOULD NOT BE HELD

Provisions of the order, as amended, regulating the handling of milk in the New York metropolitan milk marketing area (7 CFR Part 927) require that whenever there is a difference, for each of 3 consecutive months, of more than 6 points between the index of cost of production and the index of wholesale prices or of more than 15 points between the index of cost of production and the index of the Class I-A price, a public hearing shall be called to consider those and other economic conditions, or announcement of a determination that such a hearing should not be held together with reasons for such a determination.

For each of the months of May, June and July 1952, the index of the cost of production has been higher than the index of wholesale prices by 6.1, 7.4 and 6.9 points respectively, and also higher than the index of the Class I-A price by 16, 18 and 18 points respectively. During a period of eight consecutive months from November 1950 to June 1951 there was also a difference of more than 6 points between the index of cost of production and the index of wholesale prices. However, the divergence at that time was in the opposite direction. The index of wholesale prices was higher than the index of cost of production and by amounts substantially larger than the currently existing differences. This divergence existing during the period November 1950–June 1951 resulted in the announcement of two determinations that a hearing should not be held. Such determinations were made on April 10, 1951 (16 F. R. 3264), and on August 10, 1951 (16 F. R. 8049).

The supply of pool milk has been running at or near record high levels for the past several months. Despite moderate increases in fluid milk sales, the percentage of the total supply of pool milk which was utilized as fluid milk was lower in each month of the period December 1951–May 1952 than in the same month a year earlier. In June 1952 such percentage (38.9) was slightly (1.2) higher than in June 1951 and exactly the same as in 1950. In July 1952, a supply of pool milk 1.8 percent lower than in July 1951 coupled with record high fluid milk sales 6.4 percent higher than a year earlier resulted in a percentage fluid utilization for the month higher than for the previous two years and about the same as in 1948 and 1949. Short season supplies during the past four years have been ample to meet market requirements.

One factor of importance to be considered is that the present Class I-A pricing formula operates through application of the utilization adjustment percentage) to increase the price whenever fluid sales increase relative to the available supply. For example, the use of a utilization adjustment percentage in computing the September 1952 Class I-A price which was 2 points higher than that used in computing the September 1951 price resulted in a price about 12 cents higher than it would be otherwise. Should the reserve supply decline to the same level as in the base year of 1948 (thus raising the utilization adjustment percentage to 100), that factor alone would raise the level of the Class I-A price 53 cents per hundredweight.

It is concluded that, at least for the next several months, the Class I-A prices in prospect through operation of the pricing formula now contained in the order are prices which properly reflect economic conditions affecting the supply of and demand for milk in the New York metropolitan area and which meet the standards of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act.

Accordingly, it is hereby determined that a public hearing should not be held.

Issued at Washington, D. C., this 10th day of September 1952.

[SEAL] CHARLES F. BRANNAN,
Secretary of Agriculture.

TENNESSEE GAS TRANSMISSION CO. AND NIAGARA GAS TRANSMISSION LTD.

ORDER POSTPONING HEARING

SEPTEMBER 8, 1952.

In the matter of Tennessee Gas Transmission Company and Niagara Gas Transmission Limited, Docket No. G-1921; Tennessee Gas Transmission Company, Docket Nos. G-1922 and G-1969.

On July 28, 1952, the Commission, by order, fixed a date for hearing in the above-consolidated proceedings for September 15, 1952.

Tennessee Gas Transmission Company, in its application in Docket No. G-1969, among other things, states:

Applicant seeks herein a certificate of public convenience and necessity to increase the design deliverability capacity of its pipeline system, as authorized and proposed, by an additional 66,000 Mcf of natural gas per day and to provide by means of its over-all storage program, a peak-day deliverability sufficient to meet the requirements of its proposed market.

In a prior proceeding, Docket No. G-1573, in which Tennessee was issued a certificate, the Commission stated:

It appears to be reasonable and in the public interest that for the purposes of these reopened proceedings Tennessee's incremental study of its deliverability estimates should be accepted. However, we consider it reasonable to require Tennessee, in any future proceedings on applications for certificates of public convenience and necessity involving material increase in its total system deliverability capacity, to present evidence showing a complete system deliverability study on a year-by-year basis. Tennessee has been so notified by the Commission and such notice constitutes a part of the record herein.

Prior hereto the Commission, by letter, requested Tennessee to submit on or before September 5, 1952 such a deliverability study along with other pertinent data. Likewise, Niagara Gas Transmission Limited was requested to submit certain pertinent data on or before September 1, 1952. All of the required information has not been furnished.

The Commission finds: It is necessary and appropriate for an expeditious hearing and to carry out the provisions of the Natural Gas Act to postpone the above hearing as hereinafter ordered.

The Commission orders: The hearing in the above-consolidated proceedings now set to commence on September 15, 1952, be and the same hereby is postponed to a date to be hereinafter fixed by order of the Commission.

Date of issuance: September 9, 1952.

By the Commission. Chairman Buchanan dissenting.

OHIO FUEL GAS CO.

NOTICE OF APPLICATION

SEPTEMBER 8, 1952.

Take notice that the Ohio Fuel Gas Company (Applicant), an Ohio corporation, address, Columbus, Ohio, filed on August 15, 1952, an application for (1) an order disclaiming jurisdiction of the Commission over the construction, abandonment and operation of certain natural gas facilities, or, in the alternative, (2) a certificate of public convenience and necessity pursuant to section 7 of the Natural Gas Act, authorizing the construction and operation of approximately 13.9 miles of 10¾ inch natural-gas transmission pipeline in Clark and Champaign Counties, in Ohio, extending from Applicant's existing Line "Z" to Urbana, replacing 13.3 miles of 6⅝ inch line (Line Z–8), between the same points, an order pursuant to section 7 (b) of the Natural Gas Act, authorizing and approving the abandonment of the 13.3 miles of said 6⅝ inch line, and authorization to construct and operate measurement facilities and to deliver natural gas to the Liquid Carbonic Corporation near Urbana.

Applicant states that Line Z–8 was constructed in 1897 and used to serve Tremont City and Urbana, in Ohio. Since 1946, said Line Z–8 has transported natural gas for Applicant's market in the City of Bellefontaine, Ohio, also. In 1950 said Line Z–8 was replaced with the aforementioned 13.9 miles of 10¾ inch pipe in order to provide safely adequate market service and to eliminate pressure limitations upon the 6⅝ inch line. In 1951, the Liquid Carbonic Corporation was attached to the replacement facilities as a main line industrial customer.

Applicant estimates that the operation of the new facilities and elimination of high operating expense of old facilities will result in a net decrease of $3,800 in its annual operating expenses. Applicant also states that the service to the Liquid Carbonic Corporation improves the annual load factor and permits increased annual sales without requiring a corresponding increase in transmission capacity.

The total overall capital cost of the new facilities was $247,343. The retirements consisted of $31,800 Credit to Fixed Capital, $700 Cost of Retiring, and $1,200 Salvage.

Protests or petitions to intervene may be filed with the Federal Power Commission, Washington 25, D. C., in accordance with the rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8 or 1.10) on or before the 29th day of September 1952. The application is on file with the Commission for public inspection.

UNITED FUEL GAS CO.

NOTICE OF APPLICATION

SEPTEMBER 8, 1952.

Take notice that United Fuel Gas Company (Applicant), a West Virginia corporation, address, Charleston, West Virginia, filed on August 29, 1952, an application for a certificate of public convenience and necessity pursuant to section 7 of the Natural Gas Act, authorizing the construction and operation of approximately 4,400 feet of 8⅝ inch natural-gas transmission pipeline extending from Applicant's existing Line X–1–M–1 to Applicant's proposed new storage pool X–49 in Putnam County, West Virginia.

Applicant proposes to acquire and activate the new Storage Pool X–49 to augment its storage program in order to provide capacity sufficiently flexible to meet the demands of its markets. The proposed storage pool contains approximately 1,800 acres and is expected to provide ultimately a maximum of 30,000 Mcf of deliverable gas per day at a maximum storage pressure of 850 pounds. The estimated maximum daily withdrawal rate at a minimum storage pressure of 300 pounds is 10,000 Mcf of natural gas. In addition to the proposed pipeline, Applicant proposes to acquire leaseholds, drill wells, install well and field lines, and maintain and operate a measuring station in connection with the initiation of storage operations in the proposed storage pool. No additional markets are proposed to be served by means of the proposed facilities.

The estimated cost of the proposed transmission line is $19,200 and the estimated cost of acquiring and activating the proposed storage field is $225,900. Applicant proposes to finance the proposed construction and activation by the issuance and sale of securities to its parent company, The Columbia Gas System, Inc.

Protests or petitions to intervene may be filed with the Federal Power Commission, Washington 25, D. C., in accordance with the rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8 or 1.10) on or before the 29th day of September 1952. The application is on file with the Commission for public inspection.

Central Illinois Light Company, Central Illinois Electric & Gas Company, and Morton Municipal Gas Company purchase all of their gas requirements under such Service Agreements from Panhandle at delivery points located on or near Panhandle's so-called Peoria lateral pipeline, while Illinois Power Company and Central Illinois Public Service Company purchase a portion of their gas requirements under such Service Agreements from Panhandle at delivery points on or near said Peoria lateral.

With the present facilities constituting Panhandle's Peoria lateral pipeline and the lateral pipelines extending therefrom, Panhandle may be unable to deliver the requirements of such customers under such Service Agreements at all times during the five winter months of January, February, March, November, and December. Panhandle therefore, proposes to construct additional pipeline facilities to enable it to deliver contract demand volumes.

AUTHORITY: §§ 6.1 to 6.9 issued under R. S. 161, sec. 3, 62 Stat. 1248, as amended, sec. 8, 65 Stat. 75; 5 U. S. C. 22, 7 U. S. C. Sup. 624.

§ 6.1 Basis and purpose. (a) The purpose of this part is to prescribe the policies and procedures of the Department of Agriculture in discharging its responsibilities under section 22 of the Agricultural Adjustment Act (of 1933), as amended (hereinafter referred to as "section 22") and section 8 (a) of the Trade Agreements Extension Act of 1951 (hereinafter referred to as "section 8 (a)"), and Executive Order No. 7233.

(b) Section 22 requires the Secretary of Agriculture (hereinafter referred to as the "Secretary") to advise the President whenever he has reason to believe that any articles are being, or are practically certain to be, imported into the United States under such conditions and in such quantities as to render or tend to render ineffective, or materially interfere with, any program undertaken by the Department of Agriculture, or any agency operating under its direction, or to reduce substantially the amount of any product processed in the United States from any agricultural commodity or product thereof with respect to which such a program is being undertaken. If the President agrees that there is reason for such belief, the President is directed to cause an immediate investigation to be made by the Tariff Commission. Executive Order No. 7233, issued November 23, 1935, among other things, provides that the Secretary may have representatives at hearings held by the Tariff Commission, who shall have the privilege of examining witnesses.

(c) Section 7 of the Trade Agreements Extension Act of 1951 (hereinafter referred to as "section 7"), requires the Tariff Commission, upon application of any interested party, or under certain other conditions, to make an investigation to determine whether any product upon which a concession has been granted under a trade agreement is, as a result, in whole or in part, of the duty or other customs treatment reflecting such concession, being imported into the United States in such increased quantities, either actual or relative, as to cause or threaten serious injury to the domestic industry producing like or directly competitive products.

(d) Section 8 (a) authorizes the Secretary to determine, in connection with an action proposed for any agricultural commodity under section 22 or under section 7 whether, due to the perishability of the agricultural commodity, a condition exists which requires emergency treatment. Whenever the Secretary makes and reports such determination to the President and to the Tariff Commission, the President is required to make his decision under section 7 or section 22 at the earliest possible date and, in any event not more than 25 calendar days after the submission of the Secretary's report to the Tariff Commission.

§ 6.2 Responsibility for actions under section 22 and section 8 (a). The primary responsibility within the Department of Agriculture for action on matters for which the Secretary is responsible under section 22 and section 8 (a) is assigned to the Administrator, Production and Marketing Administration (hereinafter referred to as the "Administrator"), but the Office of Foreign Agricultural Relations, and other offices, agencies, and bureaus of the Department whose activities will be affected by any action under section 22 or section 8 (a) shall be consulted by the Administrator in discharging his responsibility hereunder.

§ 6.3 Requests by interested persons for action by Department of Agriculture—(a) Section 22. A request for action under section 22 should be submitted in duplicate to the Administrator, Production and Marketing Administration, United States Department of Agriculture, Washington 25, D. C. Such request shall include a statement of the reasons why action would be warranted under section 22 and shall be supported by appropriate information and data.

(b) Section 8 (a). A request for action under section 8 (a) should be submitted in duplicate to the Administrator, Production and Marketing Administration, United States Department of Agriculture, Washington 25, D. C. Such request shall include a statement of the reasons why the commodity is perishable, and why, due to such perishability, a condition exists requiring emergency treatment, and shall be supported by appropriate information and data. A request under section 8 (a) submitted in connection with a proposed section 7 investigation shall not be acted upon until a section 7 application has been properly filed by the person making the request with the Tariff Commission, and a copy of such application and supporting information and data are furnished the Administrator.

§ 6.4 Investigations—(a) Section 22. The Administrator shall cause an investigation to be made whenever, based upon a request submitted pursuant to § 6.3 or upon other information available to him, he determines that there is reasonable ground to believe that the imposition of import quotas or fees under section 22 may be warranted, or that the termination or modification of import quotas or fees in effect under section 22 may be warranted.

(b) Section 8 (a). The Administrator shall cause an immediate investigation to be made whenever (1) a request is received for emergency treatment in connection with an application properly filed with the Tariff Commission under section 7; (2) a request is received for emergency treatment under section 22 if the Administrator determines that there is reasonable ground to believe that the imposition of import quotas or fees under section 22 may be warranted; or (3) the Administrator, upon the basis of other information available to him, has reasonable ground for believing that emergency treatment under section 8 (a) is necessary. The Administrator shall expedite to the fullest practicable extent his attention to requests for emergency treatment under section 8 (a), and such requests shall receive priority over requests for other action under section 22. The investigation shall cover (1) whether the commodity is a perishable agricultural commodity; (2) whether, due to the perishability of the commodity, a condition exists requiring emergency treatment as indicated by such factors as (i) the marketing season for the commodity, (ii) past and prospective domestic production, stocks, requirements, and prices, (iii) past and prospective imports; and (3) such other matters as the Administrator determines are relevant to a determination as to whether emergency treatment for the commodity is necessary. No public hearing shall be held in connection with investigations under this paragraph.

§ 6.5 Hearings under section 22. The Administrator is authorized to provide for such public hearings as he deems necessary to discharge the responsibility for action under section 22 vested in him by §§ 6.2 and 6.4 (a). In view of the need, however, for prompt action on requests for action under section 22, public hearings shall be held in connection with investigations conducted under § 6.4 (a) only when the Administrator determines that a public hearing is necessary to obtain supplementary information not otherwise available. Any public hearing which is held shall be conducted by representatives designated for the purpose by the Administrator; shall be preceded by such public notice as, in the opinion of the Administrator, will afford interested persons reasonable opportunity to attend and present information; and minutes of the proceedings at such hearing shall be obtained. Hearings shall be informal and technical rules of evidence shall not apply. Such hearings are for the purpose of obtaining information for the assistance of the Secretary. However, in discharging his responsibilities under section 22, the Secretary is not restricted to the information adduced at the hearings.

§ 6.6 Submission of recommendations under section 22. (a) The Administrator shall make a report to the Secretary upon the completion of each investigation made by him pursuant to § 6.4 (a). The report shall summarize the information disclosed by the investigation; shall contain the recommendations of the Administrator; and, in case action under section 22 is recommended, shall be accompanied by a suggested letter from the Secretary to the President recommending that the Tariff Commission be directed to conduct an investigation. Such report shall be submitted to the Office of Foreign Agricultural Relations and other offices, agencies, and bureaus of the Department of Agriculture whose activities would be affected, for concurrence or comment.

(b) The Secretary will recommend that the President direct the Tariff Commission to conduct an investigation under section 22 only if he has reason to believe, upon the basis of the information available to him, that import quotas or fees should be imposed.

§ 6.7 Submission of recommendations under section 8 (a) (emergency treatment)—(a) Section 22. The Administrator's report submitted pursuant to § 6.6 shall indicate whether or not emergency treatment is necessary. If emergency treatment is recommended, the report shall discuss the condition which requires emergency treatment and be accompanied by suggested letters from the Secretary to the President, to the Tariff Commission, and to the petitioner (if any) advising them of the Secretary's determination. The suggested letter from the Secretary to the President shall include a recommendation as to whether such emergency treatment should take the form of action by the President prior to receiving the recommendations of the Tariff Commission, or whether a decision by the President may appropriately be withheld until the recommendations of the Tariff Commission are received. If emergency treatment requested is not recommended, the report to the Secretary shall be accompanied by suggested letters from the Secretary to the petitioner and the Tariff Commission stating the action taken. Each such report shall be submitted to the Office of Foreign Agricultural Relations and other offices, agencies, and bureaus of the Department of Agriculture whose activities would be affected, for concurrence or comment.

(b) Section 7. The Administrator shall make a report to the Secretary upon the completion of each investigation made by him pursuant to § 6.4 (b). The report shall summarize the information disclosed by the investigation, including the points listed in § 6.4 (b) which were considered in reaching the recommendation, and shall contain the recommendations of the Administrator as to whether or not emergency treatment is required. If emergency treatment is recommended, the report shall discuss the condition which requires emergency treatment and shall be accompanied by suggested letters from the Secretary to the President, to the Tariff Commission, and to the petitioner advising them of the Secretary's determination. The suggested letter from the Secretary to the President shall include a recommendation as to whether such emergency treatment should take the form of action by the President prior to receiving the recommendations of the Tariff Commission, or whether a decision by the President may appropriately be withheld until the recommendations of the Tariff Commission are received. If emergency treatment is not recommended, the report to the Secretary shall be accompanied by suggested letters from the Secretary to the petitioner and to the Tariff Commission stating the action taken. Each such report shall be submitted to the Office of Foreign Agricultural Relations and other offices, agencies, and bureaus of the Department of Agriculture whose activities would be affected, for concurrence or comment.

§ 6.8 Representation at Tariff Commission hearings. The Department of Agriculture shall be represented at all hearings conducted by the Tariff Commission under section 22 by persons designated by the Administrator, assisted by a representative of the Office of Foreign Agricultural Relations and a representative of the Office of the Solicitor. Such representatives shall present the recommendations of the Department of Agriculture, shall submit such information and data in support thereof as are available, and shall exercise the right of examining other witnesses which is granted to the Secretary.

§ 6.9 Information. Persons desiring information from the Department of Agriculture regarding section 22 or section 8 (a), or any action with respect thereto, should address such inquiries to the Administrator, Production and Marketing Administration, United States Department of Agriculture, Washington 25, D. C.

Rescission of prior regulations. Sections 6.1 to 6.9, inclusive, shall supersede the regulations issued September 12, 1951 (16 F. R. 9343).

Issued this 11th day of September 1952.

Chapter VIII—Production and Marketing Administration (Sugar Branch), Department of Agriculture

Subchapter I—Determination of Prices

[Sugar Determination 873.5]

PART 873—SUGARCANE; FLORIDA

1952 CROP

Pursuant to the provisions of section 301 (c) (2) of the Sugar Act of 1948, as amended (hereinafter referred to as "act"), after investigation, and due consideration of the evidence presented at the public hearing held at Clewiston, Florida, on April 25, 1952, the following determination is hereby issued:

§ 873.5 Fair and reasonable prices for the 1952 crop of Florida sugarcane. A processor of sugarcane in Florida who, as a producer, applies for payment under the act shall be deemed to have complied with the provisions of section 301 (c) (2) of the act with respect to the 1952 crop, if the requirements of this section are met.

(a) Definitions. For the purpose of this section, the term: (1) "Price of raw sugar" means the price of 96° raw sugar in New York (duty paid basis, delivered) as determined in prior years; except that if the Director of the Sugar Branch determines that such price does not reflect the true market value of sugar, because of inadequate volume or other factors, he may designate the price to be effective under this determination.

(2) "Standard sugarcane" means sugarcane containing 12.5 percent sucrose in the normal juice.

(3) "Net sugarcane" means sugarcane, as delivered by a producer to a processor-producer, from which has been deducted the weight of trash determined in the customary manner.

(4) "Salvage sugarcane" means sugarcane containing less than 9.5 percent sucrose in the normal juice.

(b) Basic price. (1) The basic price for standard sugarcane shall be not less than $1.07 per ton for each one cent per pound of the average price of raw sugar determined in accordance with either of the following as agreed upon:

(i) The simple average of the daily prices of raw sugar for the week in which the sugarcane is delivered; or

(ii) The simple average of the weekly prices of raw sugar for the period beginning October 10, 1952, through May 28, 1953.

(2) The basic price for salvage sugarcane shall be as agreed upon between the processor-producer and the producer.

(c) Conversion of net sugarcane to standard sugarcane. Except for salvage sugarcane, net sugarcane shall be converted to standard sugarcane by applying to the average sucrose content of all sugarcane delivered by a producer during the period agreed upon under paragraph (b) (1) of this section, the applicable quality factor in accordance with the following table:

Average percent sucrose in normal juice:	Standard-sugarcane quality factor [1]
10.0	.75
10.5	.80
11.0	.85
11.5	.90
12.0	.95
12.5	1.00
13.0	1.05
13.5	1.10
14.0	1.15
14.5	1.20

[1] The quality factor for sugarcane of intermediate normal juice sucrose percentages shall be interpolated and for sugarcane having more than 15.5 percent sucrose in the normal juice shall be computed in proportion to the immediately preceding interval.

(d) Molasses payment. On each ton of net sugarcane ground there shall be paid to the producer a molasses payment equal to the product of 6.25 and one-half of the net liquidation from the disposal of blackstrap or final molasses in excess of 4.75 cents per gallon, f. o. b. sugarhouse tanks, during the 12 month period ending May 31, 1953.

(e) General. (1) The price for sugarcane specified in this section is applicable to sugarcane loaded on carts or trucks at the farm or, if sugarcane is customarily transported by railroad, loaded in railroad cars at the railroad siding nearest the farm: Provided, That if a producer delivers sugarcane directly to the mill the processor-producer shall pay the producer for transportation of such sugarcane an amount equal to the cost of transporting sugarcane by railroad or by other common carrier whichever is customarily used.

(2) The established customs and practices with respect to methods of sucrose analysis, deductions for frozen sugarcane because of decreased boiling house efficiency, fiber content determinations and deductions, definitions of delivery schedules and similar terms, as employed in connection with the purchase of the 1951 crop shall be employed in connection with the purchase of the 1952 crop.

(3) Nothing in subparagraphs (1) and (2) of this paragraph shall be construed as prohibiting modification of customs and practices which may be necessary because of unusual circumstances, any such modification to be subject to review by the Director of the Sugar Branch.

(4) In the event a general freeze causes abnormally low recoveries of raw sugar by a processor-producer in relation to the sucrose test of sugarcane, payment for such sugarcane may be made as mutually agreed upon between the producer and the processor-producer subject to approval by the Director of the Sugar Branch.

(5) The processor-producer shall not reduce returns to the producer below those determined in this section through any subterfuge or device whatsoever.

STATEMENT OF BASES AND CONSIDERATIONS

(a) General. The foregoing determination provides fair and reasonable prices to be paid by a processor-producer (i. e., a producer who is directly or indirectly a processor of sugarcane—hereinafter referred to as "processor") for sugarcane of the 1952 crop purchased from other producers. It prescribes the minimum requirements with respect to prices for sugarcane which must be met as one of the conditions for payment under the act.

(b) Requirements of the act. The act requires that in determining fair and reasonable prices public hearings be held and investigations made. Accordingly, on April 25, 1952, a public hearing was held at Clewiston, Florida, at which time interested persons presented testimony with respect to fair and reasonable prices for the 1952 crop of sugarcane. In addition, investigations have been made of conditions relating to the sugar industry in Florida. In this price determination, consideration has been given to the testimony presented at the hearing and to information resulting from investigations.

(c) 1952 Price determination. The 1952 price determination differs from the 1951 determination in the following respects: (1) The basic price per ton of standard sugarcane is $1.07 for each 1-cent per pound of the average price of raw sugar; (2) processors are required to pay transportation costs on sugarcane from the farm or nearest railroad siding to the mill; and (3) molasses payments to producers are based on 6.25 gallons per ton of sugarcane, the average production for the most recent five crops.

At the public hearing a processor representative testified that freight rates for 1951 crop sugarcane had increased 72 percent over the rates effective for the crops 1942 through 1950 and that a further increase to be effective for the 1952 crop will result in an over-all increase of 85 percent. This increase amounts to about 31 cents per ton on purchased sugarcane. The processor representative recommended that the price per ton for 1952 crop sugarcane be reduced by the entire amount of the increase in the freight rate for sugarcane above the level which prevailed for the 1950 crop. A producer representative recommended that in determining a fair and reasonable price for sugarcane, major consideration should be given to the relationship between farm and mill costs rather than to changes in transportation costs alone. The witness testified that, in his opinion, certain farm production costs had also increased substantially.

For this determination, an analysis has been made of the comparative costs, returns and profits of the Florida sugarcane and raw sugar industry obtained by survey for prior years and restated in terms of prospective conditions for the 1952 crop. Consideration also has been given to the recommendations made at the public hearing and to information obtained as a result of investigations. The analysis indicates that during recent years processing costs have risen more rapidly than have sugarcane production costs, principally because of the freight rate increases. A reduction in the price payable for sugarcane is required to restore a fair relationship of returns to costs for producers and processors. The reduction in the rate of payment per ton of sugarcane from $1.10 to $1.07 for each 1-cent per pound of the average raw sugar price requires producers, in effect, to bear a share of the increase in sugarcane freight rates proportionate to their share of total sugar proceeds.

The provision of this determination which requires processors to pay the cost of transporting sugarcane to the mill is included to standardize the point at which processors assume transportation costs of sugarcane. This provision will have no effect in instances where producers customarily have delivered sugarcane in freight cars at a railroad siding nearest the farm but will require any processor who heretofore has required delivery of cane to the mill, to assume the costs of sugarcane transportation to the mill from a point on or near the farm. A proviso is included which requires the processor to pay a producer who delivers sugarcane directly to the mill an amount equal to the cost of transporting sugarcane by railroad or by other common carrier which is customarily used. This proviso will permit, where feasible, the use of more economical methods of sugarcane transportation.

The change in the basis for molasses payments results from the use of a moving 5-year average of molasses recovery per ton of net sugarcane and will have little effect on producer returns. On the basis of analysis and examination of all pertinent factors, the provisions of this determination are deemed to be fair and reasonable.

Accordingly, I hereby find and conclude that the foregoing price determination will effectuate the price provisions of the Sugar Act of 1948.

Chapter IX—Production and Marketing Administration (Marketing Agreements and Orders), Department of Agriculture

PART 951—TOKAY GRAPES GROWN IN SAN JOAQUIN AND SACRAMENTO COUNTIES IN CALIFORNIA

MISCELLANEOUS AMENDMENTS

Notice is hereby given of the approval by the Secretary of Agriculture of the amendment, as hereinafter set forth, to the rules and regulations (7 CFR 951.100 et seq.: Subpart—Rules and Regulations) of the Industry Committee, established under the marketing agreement, as amended, and Order 51, as amended (7 CFR Part 951; 17 F. R. 7417), regulating the handling of Tokay grapes grown in San Joaquin and Sacramento Counties in the State of California, effective under the applicable provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.).

On August 12, 1952, the Secretary of Agriculture issued certain amendments (17 F. R. 7417) to the said marketing agreement and order, in which the provisions relating to the issuance of exemption certificates were revised and authorization was provided for the handling of grapes without limitation in such minimum quantities and in such types of shipments as the committee, with the approval of the Secretary, may establish. Changes in the committee's rules and regulations so as to effectuate such amendments should be made as soon as possible since shipments of grapes have begun and such changes should be applicable during as large a portion of the current grape shipping season as is practicable. It is hereby found, therefore, that it is impracticable and contrary to the public interest to give preliminary notice, engage in public rule-making procedure, and postpone the effective date hereof until 30 days after publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER (60 Stat. 237; 5 U. S. C. 1001 et seq.).

The amendment of the aforesaid rules and regulations is as follows:

1. Delete § 951.104 Crop.

2. Delete § 951.122 Exemption certificates, and substitute therefor the following:

§ 951.122 Exemption certificates. Exemption certificates shall be issued by the Industry Committee pursuant to the following rules and regulations:

(a) Applications for exemption certificates shall be submitted to the Industry Committee on forms prescribed and furnished by the committee and shall contain the following information:

(1) Name and address of applicant.

(2) Location of vineyard from which grapes are to be shipped pursuant to the exemption certificate.

(3) The number of acres and age of vines of Tokay grapes for which exemption is requested.

(4) Total quantity of Tokay grapes produced in the aforesaid vineyard for each of the preceding three seasons, the quantity shipped in fresh form for each of such seasons, and the quantity shipped under exemption certificates for each of such seasons.

(5) Quantity of grapes applicant has shipped in fresh fruit channels and disposed of otherwise from the beginning of the current season to the date of the application.

(6) The reasons beyond the control of the applicant why grapes for which exemption is requested do not meet the requirements of the grade and size regulation.

(7) Name of shipper if different from applicant.

(8) Such additional information as the Industry Committee may require in order to determine whether the applicant is entitled to an exemption certificate.

(b) It shall be the sole responsibility of the applicant to furnish requisite proof to the Industry Committee of adverse conditions beyond his control affecting his grapes. Conditions beyond the control of the grower may include adverse climatic conditions, excesses or shortages of water not caused by faulty irrigation practices, or other conditions not resulting from the failure of the grower to follow proper cultural and harvesting practices.

(c) The Industry Committee shall promptly investigate all statements contained in the application and thereafter shall determine whether such application shall be approved. Approval shall be evidenced by the issuance to the applicant of an exemption certificate. In the case of disapproval, a written notice of such disapproval and the reason therefor shall be forwarded to the applicant.

(d) The issuance of an exemption certificate shall permit the holder thereof to ship in fresh fruit channels a quantity of the restricted or prohibited grades or sizes sufficient to enable the applicant to ship as large a proportion of his crop of Tokay grapes as the average percentage of grapes so shipped from the district for the preceding three seasons or the average percentage of grapes produced in and so shipped from the aforesaid vineyard, during the preceding three seasons, whichever is greater.

(e) Each exemption certificate authorized by the Industry Committee shall be on a form prescribed by the committee and shall be signed by the Secretary or Assistant Secretary of the Industry Committee. It shall specify the defects for which exemption is granted and the period during which the exemption certificate shall be effective. Each exemption certificate shall be effective only for the defects specified therein. It shall be issued in quadruplicate; one copy shall be delivered to the grower, one copy shall be delivered to the shipper designated by the grower to receive a copy, one copy shall be delivered to the field representative of the Industry Committee, and one copy shall be retained by the Industry Committee.

(f) The committee may, at any time, cancel or modify an exemption certificate if it is determined that the need for such exemption no longer exists or that a different quantity of the restricted or prohibited grades and sizes then that provided by such exemption certificate will permit the applicant to ship the requisite percentage of his crop.

(g) Each shipper handling Tokay grapes pursuant to an exemption certificate shall keep an accurate record of all shipments, made pursuant to the certificate, in the appropriate blank spaces provided for therein. Such record shall include with respect to each shipment, the date, the number of the railroad car or license number of the truck in which such shipment is made, the name of the shipper, the shipping point, the consignment number, and the quantity of each size and grade of Tokay grapes in such shipment. When the quantity of grapes authorized by the exemption certificate has been shipped or shipments pursuant to an exemption certificate have been completed, the exemption certificate containing the record of shipments shall be submitted promptly to the Industry Committee or its duly authorized representative.

3. Delete § 951.170 Grapes for charitable purposes, and substitute therefor the following:

§ 951.170 Grapes not subject to regulation—(a) Grapes for charitable purposes. Any person who ships Tokay grapes for consumption by charitable institutions or for distribution by relief agencies or for relief purposes shall first deliver to the Industry Committee or its designated agent evidence satisfactory to the committee or its designated agent that said grapes actually will be used for one or more of the aforesaid purposes.

(b) Grapes for conversion into by-products, including wine and juice. Each handler who ships grapes to any point outside the State of California, or to any point within the State of California in any container containing less than 200 lbs. of grapes, for commercial conversion into by-products, wine, or juice shall obtain and furnish to the Industry Committee a certification to the United States Department of Agriculture and to the Industry Committee, executed by the purchaser of such grapes, that the grapes will be used for by-products, wine, or juice purposes.

(c) Shipments by types or in minimum quantities. Nothing contained in this subpart shall in any way restrict or limit shipments of grapes to any one person during any calendar day in quantities of five standard packages or less, or the equivalent thereof, for purposes other than resale.

Done at Washington, D. C., this 11th day of September 1952, to become effective upon publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

TITLE 14—CIVIL AVIATION

Chapter I—Civil Aeronautics Board

[Civil Air Regs., Amdt. 61-8]

PART 61—SCHEDULED AIR CARRIER RULES

OVER-THE-TOP OPERATIONS BY SCHEDULED AIR CARRIERS

Adopted by the Civil Aeronautics Board at its office in Washington, D. C. on the 10th day of September, 1952.

At the present time Part 61 of the Civil Air Regulations provides that scheduled air carrier aircraft may not fly lower than the pertinent minimum en route altitude for the route being traversed when on an instrument flight plan. The Administrator has not exercised the authority delegated to him to establish lower over-the-top minimum en route altitudes than those specified by him for regular instrument operations since he considers that the establishment and publication of more than one minimum en route altitude for a particular route or route segment would tend to cause confusion.

As a consequence, and realizing that some provision should be made for relaxing of the rules governing over-the-top operations by scheduled air carriers without the necessity of publishing additional altitudes for such operations, the Board by this amendment will allow over-the-top flight below the minimum en route altitude, provided certain conditions are complied with. Such operations may be conducted by day only, with a minimum of 1,000 feet of vertical clearance from higher and lower cloud layers, the cloud layers must be generally uniform and level, and flight visibility must be at least five miles. In addition, the base of any higher cloud cover must be at least 1,000 feet above the minimum en route altitude for the route or route segment.

An amendment is also made to § 61.271 with respect to altitude maintenance on initial approach to cover the situation created by an over-the-top approach below established minimum en route altitude.

Interested persons have been afforded an opportunity to participate in the making of this amendment, and due consideration has been given to all relevant matter presented. Since this amendment imposes no additional burden on any person, it may be made effective without prior notice.

In consideration of the foregoing the Civil Aeronautics Board hereby amends Part 61 of the Civil Air Regulations (14 CFR Part 61, as amended) effective immediately:

1. By amending the first paragraph of § 61.261 to read as follows:

§ 61.261 Flight altitude rules. Except during take-off and landing, the flight altitude rules prescribed in paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section, in addition to the applicable provisions of § 60.17 of this chapter, shall govern air carrier operations: Provided, That other altitudes may be established by the Administrator for any route or portion thereof where he finds, after considering the character of the terrain being traversed, the quality and quantity of meteorological service, the navigational facilities available, and other flight conditions, that the safe conduct of flight permits or requires such other altitudes. Contrary provisions herein notwithstanding, adherence to a minimum IFR altitude will not be required during the time a flight is proceeding in accordance with paragraph (c) of this section.

2. By amending the headnote of § 61.261 Flight altitude rules, paragraph (b) to read as follows:

(b) Night VFR or IFR operations (including over-the-top).

3. By adding a new paragraph (c) to § 61.261 to read as follows:

(c) Daytime over-the-top operations below minimum en route altitudes. Over-the-top operations may be conducted at flight altitudes lower than the minimum en route IFR altitudes by day only and in accordance with the following provisions:

(1) Such operations shall be conducted at least 1,000 feet above the top of lower broken or overcast cloud cover;

(2) The top of the lower cloud cover shall be generally uniform and level;

(3) Flight visibility shall be at least 5 miles;

(4) The base of any higher broken or overcast cloud cover shall be generally uniform and level and shall be at least 1,000 feet above the minimum en route IFR altitude for the route segment.

4. By amending § 61.271 to read as follows:

§ 61.271 Altitude maintenance on initial approach. (a) When making an initial approach to a radio navigational facility under IFR (excluding over-the-top conducted in accordance with the provisions of § 61.261 (c)), an aircraft shall not descend below the pertinent minimum altitude for initial approach specified by the Administrator for such facility until arrival over the radio facility has been definitely established;

(b) When making an initial approach on a flight being conducted in accordance with the provisions of § 61.261 (c), an aircraft shall not commence an instrument approach until arrival over the radio facility has definitely been established. In executing an instrument approach procedure under such circumstances, the aircraft shall not be flown at an altitude lower than 1,000 feet above the top of the lower cloud or the minimum altitude specified by the Administrator for that portion of the instrument approach procedure being flown, whichever is the lower.

(Sec. 205, 52 Stat. 984; 49 U. S. C. 425. Interpret or apply secs. 601, 604, 52 Stat. 1007, 1010; 49 U. S. C. 551, 554)

By the Civil Aeronautics Board.

CPR 9—TERRITORIES AND POSSESSIONS

SR 4—SPECIAL PROVISIONS FOR INCREASING CEILING PRICES OF SELLERS WHOSE COSTS ARE INCREASED BY WEST COAST STRIKE

REVOCATION

Supplementary Regulation 4, Revision 1 to Ceiling Price Regulation 9, Revision 1 permits sellers of commodities covered by Ceiling Price Regulation 9, Revision 1, in the Territory of Hawaii to pass through any increase in overland or ocean freight charges incurred by such sellers who because of the maritime strike on the west coast of the United States were forced to ship such commodities from ports in the continental United States other than west coast ports.

It was stated in the Statement of Considerations accompanying the Supplementary Regulation that the Office of Price Stabilization would revoke the increases granted as to such commodities not actually delivered or in transit at the time the strike emergency had ended.

The Office of Price Stabilization has been advised that the maritime strike on the west coast has been settled and has determined that the emergency caused by the strike has ended. Therefore, Supplementary Regulation 4, Revision 1 to Ceiling Price Regulation 9, Revision 1, is being revoked.

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, Executive Order 10161 and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order No. 2, Supplementary Regulation 4, Revision 1 to Ceiling Price Regulation 9, Revision 1, is hereby revoked, effective September 15, 1952.

CPR 34—SERVICES

SR 6—FROZEN FOODS LOCKERS; PROCESSING CHARGES FOR WILD DEER, ELK AND ANTELOPE IN COLORADO DURING THE 1951 HUNTING SEASON

EXTENDING COVERAGE OF REGULATION TO THE 1952 HUNTING SEASON

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, Executive Order 10161, and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order No. 2, this Amendment 1 to Supplementary Regulation 6 to Ceiling Price Regulation 34 is hereby issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

This Amendment to Supplementary Regulation 6 extends the period for which operators of frozen food lockers in the State of Colorado are permitted to increase their ceiling prices originally established by Ceiling Price Regulation 34, as amended, for processing wild deer, elk and antelope to include the processing of wild deer, elk and antelope killed during the Colorado 1952 hunting season. This amendment also clarifies the word "charges" as used in Supplementary Regulation 6 to indicate that the term refers to ceiling prices established under Ceiling Price Regulation 34, as amended.

The Statement of Consideration which accompanied Supplementary Regulation 6 to Ceiling Price Regulation 34 is equally applicable to this amendment and is incorporated herein by this reference.

In the formulation of this amendment special circumstances have rendered consultation with industry representatives, including trade associated representatives, impracticable.

In the judgment of the Director of Price Stabilization, this amendment is generally fair and equitable and complies with all applicable provisions of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended.

AMENDATORY PROVISIONS

1. Section 1 of Supplementary Regulation 6 to Ceiling Price Regulation 34 is amended to read as follows:

SECTION 1. Purpose. The purpose of this regulation is to permit operators of frozen food lockers in the State of Colorado to increase their ceiling prices for processing wild deer, elk and antelope killed during the 1951 and 1952 hunting seasons.

2. The first sentence of section 3 of Supplementary Regulation 6 to Ceiling Price Regulation 34 is amended to read as follows:

SEC. 3. Ceiling prices. If you operate a frozen foods locker in the State of Colorado, and as a part of that operation you process wild deer, elk and antelope, you may now increase your ceiling prices established by Ceiling Price Regulation 34, as amended, for processing wild deer, elk and antelope killed during the Colorado 1951 and 1952 hunting season by seventy cents per head.

Effective date. This Amendment 1 to Supplementary Regulation 6 to Ceiling Price Regulation 34, as amended, is effective September 15, 1952.

REVOCATION

Supplementary Regulation 1 to Ceiling Price Regulation 69, Revision 1 permits sellers of commodities covered by Ceiling Price Regulation 69, Revision 1, in the Territory of Hawaii to pass through any increase in overland or ocean freight charges incurred by such sellers who because of the maritime strike on the west coast of the United States were forced to ship such commodities from ports in the continental United States other than west coast ports.

It was stated in the Statement of Considerations accompanying the Supplementary Regulation that the Office of Price Stabilization would revoke the increases granted as to such commodities not actually delivered or in transit at the time the strike emergency had ended.

The Office of Price Stabilization has been advised that the maritime strike on the west coast has been settled and has determined that the emergency caused by the strike has ended. Therefore, Supplementary Regulation 1 to Ceiling Price Regulation 69, Revision 1, is being revoked.

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, Executive Order 10161 and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order No. 2, Supplementary Regulation 1 to Ceiling Price Regulation 69, Revision 1, is hereby revoked, effective September 15, 1952.

CPR 94—SALES OF USED PASSENGER AUTOMOBILES

RESTORING CHEVROLET AND GMC SUBURBANS TO COVERAGE UNDER CPR 94

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, Executive Order 10161 (15 F. R. 6105), and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order No. 2 (16 F. R. 738), this Amendment 6 to Ceiling Price Regulation 94 is hereby issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

Amendment 5 to CPR 94, effective July 31, 1952, was issued to remove from coverage under CPR 94, the Chevrolet Suburban and the GMC Suburban as well as the Graham automobile which is no longer being manufactured. The action with respect to the two suburban models was taken because it appeared that these suburban vehicles were designed primarily for the hauling of commodities and were erroneously listed in Appendix "A". However, subsequent to the issuance of Amendment 5 to CPR 94, the agency was informed in writing by the manufacturer of these suburban models that they are primarily designed to carry passengers, with the added appeal that they afford a convenient means for transporting cargo or luggage when desired. The manufacturer emphasized, however, that the primary purpose of these suburban models is to carry passengers.

In view of this assurance from the manufacturers concerning the primary purpose of these suburban models the Director has decided to issue this amendment to CPR 94, adding the Chevrolet Suburban and the GMC Suburban to listing in Appendix "A" and thereby restoring these suburbans to coverage under CPR 94.

In the formulation of this amendment there has been consultation with the affected industry representatives, to the extent practicable, and consideration has been given to their recommendations.

AMENDATORY PROVISIONS

GOR 5—EXEMPTIONS AND SUSPENSIONS OF CERTAIN CONSUMER DURABLE GOODS AND RELATED COMMODITIES

ADDITIONAL EXEMPTIONS

Due to a clerical error, GOR 5, Revision 1, Amendment 4, issued August 29, 1952, contains a misprint in section 4 thereof. The word "old" was erroneously inserted preceding the word "clocks" in the specification of what articles are not included in the classification of jewelry and precious stones to be decontrolled by section 13 of GOR 5, Revision 1, as amended. As a result of this misprint, it would appear that only old clocks remain under control. Actually, it was intended that all clocks, old and new, are not decontrolled by this amendment. This misprint is corrected as follows:

4. Section 13 is amended to read as follows:

SEC. 13. Jewelry and precious stones.

Jewelry: This includes all precious jewelry and precious metal jewelry, costume jewelry, jewelry mountings, wedding rings, religious jewelry, watch attachments, dresser sets and military sets, and men's jewelry. It also includes unfitted compacts, cigarette cases, and miscellaneous cases used as personal accessories such as cigar cases, match cases, pill boxes, and snuff boxes. It does not include watches or clocks. "Precious Jewelry" means any article or mounting, a component part of which is a "precious stone" (or "precious stones") as defined in the subparagraph immediately following when the value of the "precious stone" (or "precious stones") exceeds the value of the total of the other component parts of the finished article.

"Precious stones": "Precious stone" means a natural pearl, diamond, ruby, sapphire or emerald. The term "precious stone" also includes any other genuine stone, including a semi-precious stone, any synthetic stone or any cultured pearl or group of cultured pearls (combined in a single article), when the selling price for any such item by the cutter, wholesaler, dealer or importer is $25.00 or more.

TITLE 46—SHIPPING

Chapter II—Federal Maritime Board, Maritime Administration, Department of Commerce

Subchapter G—Emergency Operations

[Gen. Order 75]

PART 308—WAR RISK INSURANCE

Public Law 763, 81st Congress, authorizes the Secretary of Commerce, with the approval of the President, to provide insurance against loss or damage by war risks whenever it appears to the Secretary that such insurance adequate for the needs of the water-borne commerce of the United States cannot be obtained on reasonable terms and conditions from companies authorized to do an insurance business in a State of the United States. The President, on October 9, 1950, gave the required approval and on December 21, 1950, the Secretary made a finding that, as of any outbreak of war between any of the four great powers (France, Great Britain and/or any of the British Commonwealth of Nations, Union of Soviet Socialist Republics, the United States of America) insurance adequate for the needs of the water-borne commerce of the United States cannot be obtained on reasonable terms and conditions from companies authorized to do an insurance business in a State of the United States. The Secretary, by Department Order No. 117 (amended), Amendment No. 1, authorized the Maritime Administrator to perform the functions conferred upon the Secretary by Public Law 763, 81st Congress, except "to find that insurance adequate to the needs of the water-borne commerce of the United States cannot be obtained on reasonable terms and conditions from companies authorized to do an insurance business in a State of the United States."

The Maritime Administrator is prepared to provide war risk insurance specified in sections 1203 (a), (d), (e) and (f) of Public Law 763, 81st Congress for the interim period between the time commercial insurance, subject to the "Automatic Termination Clauses", is automatically terminated through the operation of such clauses and the time a full wartime insurance program is placed in effect. SUBPART A—GENERAL

§ 308.1 Eligibility of a vessel and its owner for insurance. (a) A vessel is eligible for interim insurance if it is:

(1) An American vessel as defined in section 1201 (a), Public Law 763, 81st Congress; or

(2) A foreign-flag vessel:

(i) Owned by a citizen or citizens of the United States as defined in section 1201 (d), Public Law 763, 81st Congress; or

(ii) Owned by a foreign corporation, the majority of the stock of which is owned by a citizen or citizens of the United States as defined in section 1201 (d), Public Law 763, 81st Congress or under long-term charter to such a citizen or citizens; and

(a) Regularly loading and/or discharging cargo and/or passengers at a port or ports in the continental United States or its territories or possessions, or

(b) In a service on a term (not voyage) basis for the sole account of the United States or any department or agency thereof, or

(c) In a service which, with respect to the vessel to be insured, is determined by the Maritime Administrator to be in the interest of the national defense or the national economy of the United States.

(b) Other foreign-flag vessels will be insured at the sole discretion of the Maritime Administrator but only when engaged in services found by him to be in the interest of the national defense or the national economy of the United States.

§ 308.2 Change in status of a vessel after interim binders have been issued. In the event of change in flag or service of a vessel from an eligible status to a status requiring a finding as to eligibility after any interim binders set forth in §§ 308.106, 308.205, and 308.305 have been issued, interim binders covering such a vessel shall cease to be effective unless a statement as required by § 308.3 is submitted and a finding is made that the vessel is eligible for insurance as provided therein before such change occurs. In the event of the sale, demise charter, requisition, confiscation or total loss of a vessel, or any other change in the status thereof, which, by the terms of a binder causes same to terminate, prompt notice shall be given in writing to the underwriting agent that issued the binder.

§ 308.3 Applications for insurance and payment of binding fees. Separate applications, in duplicate, shall be filed for war risk hull insurance, war risk protection and indemnity insurance, and Second Seamen's war risk insurance for each vessel to be covered by such insurance. Applications for insurance on a vessel not in category as described in subparagraphs (1), (2) (i), (2) (ii) (a) or (2) (ii) (b) of § 308.1 (a) shall be accompanied by a signed statement, in quadruplicate, setting forth the dates of the applications, the forms of insurance applied for, the name of the vessel, its flag, the name of the owner or charterer, the service in which the vessel is engaged and the reason such service should be considered to be in the interest of the national defense or the national economy of the United States, which statement shall be deemed to be a part of each application for insurance filed with respect to the vessel. Applications shall be made to the American War Risk Agency, 99 John Street, New York 38, N. Y., underwriting agent for the Maritime Administrator, in the forms set forth in §§ 308.101, 308.201, and 308.301. Applications and the accompanying statements, if any, shall be signed by the owner or charterer of the vessel unless he has filed with the above Underwriting Agent a written designation of a broker or brokers to act for him, in which case the applications may be signed by the designated broker or brokers. A check payable to the order of the Treasurer of the United States for the total amount of all binding fees payable by each applicant shall accompany the applications. Binding fees are not returnable unless applications are rejected.

§ 308.4 Period of interim binders if insurance thereunder does not attach. Interim binders set forth in §§ 308.106, 308.205, and 308.305 shall automatically expire one year from the date of issuance unless insurance thereunder attaches within that period. Renewals or extensions of interim binders, if required, shall be upon terms and conditions to be fixed by the Maritime Administrator.

§ 308.5 Time of attachement of insurance. The war risk insurance to be provided under this part shall attach on a vessel from the time commercial war risk insurance thereon, subject to the "Automatic Termination Clauses", terminates by reason of the operation of such Clauses or, if no commercial war risk insurance is in force thereon, it shall attach from the time commercial war risk insurance, had such insurance been maintained, would have terminated for the same reason.

§ 308.6 Premiums and payment thereof. Promptly upon the happening of the event causing the "Automatic Termination Clauses" of any war risk policies to become operative, the rates of premium for insurance under the interim binders will be fixed and the premiums shall be payable within ten days after receipt of notice of the amounts thereof by the assured. If premiums fixed for any interim binders are not paid within that period, such interim binders shall be null and void and of no effect and insurance thereunder shall not have attached unless the Maritime Administrator agrees otherwise. Premiums shall be paid to the underwriting agent that issued the binders by check payable to the order of the Treasurer of the United States. In the event that it is subsequently determined that insurance under interim binders did not attach, premiums paid will be refunded by the Maritime Administrator.

Contract MA-355

UNDERWRITING AGENCY AGREEMENT

WAR RISK INSURANCE

This Agreement made and entered into this 1st day of November 1951, by and between the United States of America, acting by the Secretary of Commerce (hereinafter called the "Secretary") and represented herein by the Maritime Administrator, and the American War Risk Agency (hereinafter called the "Underwriting Agent"), having an office for the transaction of business at 99 John Street, New York, New York, an association of domestic insurance companies (hereinafter sometimes called the "participating members"), each of which is authorized to do a marine insurance business in a State of the United States.

WITNESSETH

Whereas, under and pursuant to Public Law 763 of the Eighty-first Congress, the Secretary is authorized under certain circumstances to provide marine insurance and reinsurance against loss or damage by the risks of war, and to employ domestic companies or groups of domestic companies authorized to do a marine insurance business in a State of the United States as his Underwriting Agent; and

Whereas, the Secretary has determined to employ the aforesaid Underwriting Agent, as an underwriting agent in providing war risk insurance as set forth in paragraphs (a), (c), (d), (e) and (f) respectively of section 1203 of said Public Law 763, upon the terms and conditions hereinafter set forth:

Now, therefore, in consideration of the premises and of the mutual covenants and agreements, and upon the terms and conditions, hereinafter set forth, the parties hereto agree as follows:

1. The Secretary hereby authorizes the Underwriting Agent, as agent, and not as an independent contractor, to perform the functions hereinafter provided for, subject to the terms and conditions hereinafter specified, and in accordance with any Memoranda of Instructions which may be issued hereunder by the Secretary from time to time.

2. The Underwriting Agent agrees to utilize its offices and facilities to make available to the public the war risk insurance as set forth in paragraphs (a), (c), (d), (e) and (f) respectively of section 1203 of said Public Law 763. The Underwriting Agent may act through its Home Office, branch offices, agencies, or appointed sub-agents. The duties of the Underwriting Agent shall be as follows:

(a) The Underwriting Agent shall receive applications for and issue binders and policies subject to the rates and conditions named by the Secretary. The insurer under such binders and policies shall be the Secretary, and the binders and policies shall be executed or countersigned by the Underwriting Agent.

(b) The Underwriting Agent shall keep a full and complete record of all such applications, binders and policies, and shall also record any premium, charge or deposit required by the terms of any binder or policy, so that a record may be available at all times to the Secretary, both as to all applications received and binders and policies issued and as to all payments made by the assured in connection with such applications, binders and policies.

(c) The Underwriting Agent shall receive checks drawn to the order of the Treasurer of the United States for the premiums and charges involved, which checks shall be deposited by the Underwriting Agent in the Federal Reserve Bank nearest to its office, or in such other bank as may be authorized by the Secretary to receive such deposits.

(d) The Underwriting Agent shall prepare a monthly report, in summary form, of all applications received, and binders and policies issued or canceled by the Underwriting Agent on a standard form to be approved by the Secretary, and the Underwriting Agent shall transmit the same to the Secretary.

(e) The Underwriting Agent shall prepare and transmit such other reports as may be required by the Secretary.

(f) The Underwriting Agent shall receive from holders of policies issued by such Underwriting Agent any claims for return premiums on a standard form to be prescribed by the Secretary and shall certify thereon, if such is the fact, that the amounts with respect to which such return is claimed were previously paid and that, based upon the statements included in such application by the assured, the return premium applied for is payable in accordance with the regulations of the Secretary. Such applications and certifications shall be transmitted promptly to the Secretary.

(g) The Underwriting Agent shall receive reports of losses on vessels and disbursements, (insured pursuant to paragraphs (a) and (c), section 1203 of said Public Law 763), assemble all pertinent documents and facts relating thereto required to determine the validity of the claims, including the amounts thereof, and submit the same to the Secretary with its recommendation as to payment.

(h) The Underwriting Agent shall, if required by the Secretary, cooperate with the Secretary to establish and maintain an advisory underwriting committee to deal with specific underwriting problems, subject to regulations of the Secretary, and such other advisory committees as, to the Secretary, may seem necessary to safeguard the interest of the Secretary, including a loss committee to act as a recipient for information as to losses and to pass upon any recommendations made by the Underwriting Agent as to losses in excess of an amount to be fixed by the Secretary.

3. (a) The Underwriting Agent shall receive for its services such amount as the Secretary and the Underwriting Agent may, from time to time, agree to be fair and reasonable compensation. In addition to such fair and reasonable compensation, the Underwriting Agent shall receive reimbursement for out-of-pocket expenditures reasonably incurred, meaning payments to persons not regularly employed by the Underwriting Agent but excluding payments to attorneys unless such employment has been authorized by the Secretary, provided, however, that all such expenditures shall be subject to the review of the Secretary, and further provided that, except as authorized by section 1209 (d) of said Public Law 763, such expenditures shall not include any fee or other consideration paid to an insurance broker or any person acting in a similar intermediary capacity for services by virtue of his participation in arranging any of such insurance nor include any payment on account of solicitation for or stimulation of such insurance.

(b) A Statement of the compensation due to the Underwriting Agent (including reimbursement for out-of-pocket expenditures as herein provided) shall be submitted by the Underwriting Agent to the Secretary monthly or at such other intervals as the Secretary may direct, with an appropriate voucher, and the amount of such compensation, if approved, shall be promptly paid to the Underwriting Agent.

4. In the discharge of the duties and obligations arising under this Agreement, the Underwriting Agent shall conform to a standard of performance and accuracy reasonably to be expected of an insurance company in the administration of its own business and consistent with the highest degree of good faith. It is agreed, however, that the Underwriting Agent shall not be responsible for errors or omissions of agents or employees in whose selection and supervision it has exercised reasonable care, excepting that the Underwriting Agent assumes full and complete responsibility for the disposition of any funds received by it or its agents or employees under and pursuant to this Agreement. The exercise of reasonable care in the selection of agents or employees by the Underwriting Agent shall be deemed to include a determination by the Underwriting Agent that the agents or employees so selected are experienced in the transaction of such phases of the marine insurance business as may be delegated to such agents or employees by the Underwriting Agent. It is understood that the participating members of the association constituting the Underwriting Agent are or may be engaged in writing war risk insurance on vessels and disbursements as well as other types of war risk insurance for their own account, and it is agreed that they may write such insurance notwithstanding the operations of the Underwriting Agent on behalf of the Secretary.

5. (a) The Underwriting Agent shall keep books, records and accounts covering the operations and activities under this Agreement which shall be the property of the United States represented by the Secretary and shall be kept separate from those relating to other business of the Underwriting Agent, or of the participating members thereof, in accordance with regulations made from time to time by the Secretary, and shall at all times be subject to audit and inspection by the Secretary.

(b) The Comptroller General of the United States or any of his duly authorized representatives shall have access to and the right to examine any pertinent books, documents, papers and records of the Underwriting Agent or of any participating member or members thereof in the performance of and involving transactions related to this Agreement.

6. It is recognized that, in the conduct of its operations and activities hereunder, the Underwriting Agent shall act only as agent for the Secretary who shall be the principal in connection with all such operations and activities. The Underwriting Agent shall have no authority other than as provided in this Agreement and in Memoranda of Instructions issued hereunder, and any unauthorized acts of said Underwriting Agent shall be null and void, and of no effect. It is agreed that this Agreement authorizes the Underwriting Agent to execute and issue binders and policies of war risk insurance set forth in paragraph 2 of this Agreement in the name of the United States of America and to perform the other duties and functions provided for herein. It is further agreed, in view of the fact that the statutory power of the Secretary to write insurance is conditioned on the existence of certain facts of which the Underwriting Agent may have no knowledge or means of knowledge, that the Underwriting Agent may insert in all binders and policies, above its signature, a statement that it acts solely under this Agreement and makes no warranty, either express or implied, of its own authority hereunder or of the authority of the Secretary to sign or issue the said documents.

7. Notwithstanding the provisions of paragraph 3 hereof, in the event that the Underwriting Agent or any participating member or members thereof, after giving notice to the Secretary, shall be compelled to pay to the United States or its territories, or possessions, or to any State or political subdivision thereof, any tax (excepting income taxes of every nature) or fees or interest or penalty relating thereto claimed to be due by reason of the business transacted pursuant to this Agreement and which would not have been payable except for the operation of the Underwriting Agent hereunder, the Underwriting Agent and any participating member or members thereof shall be reimbursed by the Secretary therefor and for any special expenses necessarily incurred in connection therewith. Moreover, if the Secretary shall reject any claim for loss under any binder or policy of insurance issued pursuant to this Agreement and if legal proceedings be instituted against the Underwriting Agent or any participating member or members thereof with respect to such claim, or if the Underwriting Agent or any participating member or members thereof shall be obligated to defend any legal suit or proceeding on account of its action in rejecting any application or failing to issue any binder or policy or in cancelling any binder or policy, or in denying the payment of any return premium, the Secretary, upon due notice shall indemnify and hold harmless and defend the Underwriting Agent or any participating member or members thereof against any and all claims and demands (including costs and reasonable attorneys' fees in defending such claim or demand, whether or not the claim or demand be found to be valid) of whatsoever kind or nature whether or not such claim or damage is caused by the negligence of the Underwriting Agent or any participating member or members thereof or by whomsoever asserted, and if, in any such proceeding, the Underwriting Agent or any participating member or members thereof be compelled to make payment, the Secretary shall reimburse the Underwriting Agent and any participating member or members thereof for the amount of any such payment, provided always the action of the Underwriting Agent and any participating member or members thereof, which is the subject of the complaint, shall have been consistent with the standard of performance required hereunder. In any of the foregoing cases, the Underwriting Agent and any participating member or members thereof shall render to the Secretary such reasonable cooperation and assistance as the Secretary may require.

8. (a) This Agreement shall take effect as of the date of its execution by the Secretary, represented herein by the Maritime Administrator, and continue in force until terminated. It may be terminated, as of midnight on the last day of any calendar month, by either party giving at least fifteen (15) days' prior written notice to the other party by registered mail. Such termination shall not affect the obligation of the parties hereunder with respect to any insurance written or expenses incurred prior thereto.

(b) This Agreement may be terminated, modified or amended at any time by mutual consent.

(c) Without cancelling this Agreement, the participating members of the association constituting the Underwriting Agent may, upon not less than ten (10) days' prior written notice to the Secretary, change their share of participation by agreement among themselves, including the termination of the interests of one participating member and the assumption of its share by one or more of the other participating members or by the admission of other eligible domestic insurance companies to membership in the association. Any such change of apportionment or termination of participation shall not relieve any participating member of its obligations in respect to matters which occurred prior to any change or termination of its interest. Unless the Underwriting Agent is notified in writing by the Secretary, within ten (10) days after receipt of notice from the Underwriting Agent, that the proposed change in participation or termination or assumption is disapproved, such change shall be understood to be acceptable to the Secretary.

9. Any act or thing herein required or permitted to be done hereunder by the Secretary may be done by the Maritime Administrator or by such other official or officials of the Maritime Administration as the Administrator may designate. Any notice which the Underwriting Agent is required to give hereunder to the Secretary, or any documents which it is required to transmit hereunder to the Secretary, may be given or transmitted to the Maritime Administrator or to such other official or officials of the Maritime Administration, or such other organizations or corporations, persons or partnerships, as the Maritime Administrator in writing may designate.

10. The Underwriting Agent warrants that it has not employed any person to solicit or secure this Agreement upon any agreement for a commission, percentage, brokerage, or contingent fee. Breach of this warranty shall give the United States the right to annul this Agreement, or, in its discretion, to deduct from any amount payable hereunder the amount of such commission, percentage, brokerage, or contingent fee.

11. In any act performed under this Agreement, the Underwriting Agent shall not discriminate against any citizen of the United States of America on the ground of race, creed, color or national origin.

12. No person elected or appointed a member of or delegate to Congress or a Resident Commissioner, directly or indirectly, himself or by any other person in trust for him, or his use or benefit, or on his account shall hold or enjoy this Agreement in whole or in part, except as provided in section 206, Title 18, U. S. C. The Underwriting Agent shall not employ any member of Congress, either with or without compensation, as an attorney, agent, officer or director.

13. This Agreement shall be deemed to contain all the provisions required by section 104 of the Renegotiation Act of 1951. The Underwriting Agent (which term as used in this sentence means the party contracting to perform the work or furnish the materials required by this Agreement) shall, in compliance with said section 104, insert the provisions of this Article in each subcontract and purchase order made or issued in carrying out this Agreement.

14. In the event of any change, voluntary or otherwise, in the ownership of the Vessel or if the Vessel be placed under new management or be chartered on a bareboat basis or requisitioned on that basis, then, unless the Underwriter agrees thereto in writing, this Policy shall thereupon become cancelled from time of such change in ownership or management, charter or requisition; provided, however, that in the case of an involuntary temporary transfer by requisition or otherwise, without the prior execution of any written agreement by the Assured, such cancellation shall take place fifteen days after such transfer; and provided further that if the Vessel has cargo on board and has already sailed from her loading port, or is at sea in ballast, such cancellation shall be suspended until arrival at final port of discharge if with cargo or at port of destination if in ballast. This insurance shall not inure to the benefit of any such charterer or transferee of the Vessel, and if a loss payable hereunder should occur between such transfer and such cancellation the Underwriter shall be subrogated to all the rights of the Assured against the transferee, by reason of such transfer, in respect of all or part of such loss as is recoverable from the transferee and in the proportion which the respective amounts insured bear to the insured value. A pro rata daily return of net premium shall be made. The foregoing provisions with respect to cancellation in the event of change in ownership or management, charter or requisition shall apply even in the case of insurance "for account of whom it may concern".

Loss, if any (excepting claims required to be paid to others under the Collision Clause), payable to _____ or order. Sum Insured Hereunder _____ Dollars, at and from the _____ day of _____ 19 ____, _____ time to the _____ day of _____ 19____, _____ time.

On the Vessel called the _____ (or by whatsoever name or names the said Vessel is or shall be called).

The said Vessel, for so much as concerns the Assured, by agreement between the Assured and the Underwriter in this Policy, is and shall be valued at as follows:

Boilers, machinery, refrigerating machinery and insulation, motor generators and other electrical machinery, and everything, connected therewith _____	_____ $_____

Donkey boilers, winches, cranes, windlasses and steering gear shall be deemed to be a part of the hull and not of the machinery.

Special Conditions and Warranties: Unless physically deleted by the Underwriters, the following warranty shall be paramount and shall supersede and nullify any contrary provision of the Policy:

F. C. & S. CLAUSE

Notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained in the Policy, this insurance is warranted free from any claim for loss, damage or expense caused by or resulting from capture, seizure, arrest, restraint or detainment, or the consequences thereof or of any attempt thereat, or any taking of the Vessel, by requisition or otherwise, whether in time of peace or war and whether lawful or otherwise; also from all consequences of hostilities or warlike operations (whether there be a declaration of war or not), but the foregoing shall not exclude collision, explosion or contact with any fixed or floating object (other than a mine or torpedo), stranding, heavy weather or fire unless caused directly (and independently of the nature of the voyage or service which the vessel concerned or, in the case of a collision, any other vessel involved therein, is performing) by a hostile act by or against a belligerent power, and for the purpose of this warranty "power" includes any authority maintaining naval, military or air forces in association with a power; also warranted free, whether in time of peace or war, from all loss, damage or expense caused by any weapon of war employing atomic fission or radioactive force.

Further warranted free from the consequences of civil war, revolution, rebellion, insurrection, or civil strife arising therefrom, or piracy.

If war risks are hereafter insured by endorsement on the Policy, such endorsement shall supersede the above warranty only to the extent that their terms are inconsistent and only while such war risk endorsement remains in force.

Held covered in case of any breach of warranty as to cargo, trade, locality or date of sailing, provided notice be given and any additional premium required be agreed immediately after receipt of advices of breach or proposed breach by Owners.

The Underwriter to be paid in consideration of this insurance_____ Dollars being at the rate of_____ per cent.

In event of non-payment of premium thirty days after attachment this Policy may be cancelled by the Underwriter upon five days written notice being given the Assured. Such proportion of the premium, however, as shall have been earned up to the time of such cancellation shall be due and payable; but in the event of Total or Constructive Total Loss occurring prior to cancellation full annual premium shall be deemed earned.

To return—

_____ cents percent net for each uncommenced month if it be mutually agreed to cancel this Policy. As follows for each consecutive 30 days the Vessel may be laid up in port, viz:

	Without cargo on board	With cargo on board
1. Under repair.....	—% net.	—% net.
2. Not under repair....	—% net.	—% net.

For the purpose of this clause a Vessel loading or discharging cargo shall be considered as "with cargo on board".

Provided always: (a) that in no case shall a return be allowed when the within named Vessel is lying in a roadstead or in exposed and unprotected waters.

(b) that in the event of a return for special trade, or any other reason, being recoverable, the above rates of return of premium shall be reduced accordingly.

And arrival.

In the event of the Vessel being laid up in port for a period of 30 consecutive days, a part only of which attaches to this Policy, it is hereby agreed that the laying up period, in which either the commencing or ending date of this Policy falls, shall be deemed to run from the first day on which the Vessel is laid up and that on this basis the Underwriter shall pay such proportion of the return due in respect of a full period of 30 days as the number of days attaching hereto bear to thirty.

Additional insurances as follows are permitted:

(a) Disbursements, managers' commissions, profits or excess or increased value of hull and machinery, and/or similar interests however described, and freight (including chartered freight or anticipated freight) insured for time. A sum not exceeding in the aggregate 25 percent of the insured value of the Vessel.

(b) Freight or hire, under contracts for voyage. A sum not exceeding the gross freight or hire for the current cargo passage and next succeeding cargo passage (such insurance to include, if required, a preliminary and an intermediate ballast passage) plus the charges of insurance. In the case of a voyage charter where payment is made on a time basis, the sum permitted for insurance shall be calculated on the estimated duration of the voyage, subject to the limitation of two cargo passages as laid down herein. Any sum insured under this section shall be reduced as the freight or hire is earned by the gross amount so earned.

(c) Anticipated freight if the vessel sails in ballast and not under charter. A sum not exceeding the anticipated gross freight on next cargo passage, such sum to be reasonably estimated on the basis of the current rate of freight at time of insurance, plus the charges of insurance. Provided, however, That no insurance shall be permitted under this section if any insurance is affected under section (b).

(d) Time charter hire or charter hire for series of voyages. A sum not exceeding 50 percent of the gross hire which is to be earned under the charter in a period not exceeding 18 months. Any sum insured under this section shall be reduced as the hire is earned under the charter by 50 percent of the gross amount so earned but where the charter is for a period exceeding 18 months the sum insured need not be reduced while it does not exceed 50 percent of the gross hire still to be earned under the charter. An insurance under this section may begin on the signing of the charter.

(e) Premiums. A sum not exceeding the actual premiums of all interests insured for a period not exceeding 12 months (excluding premiums insured under the foregoing sections but including, if required, the premium or estimated calls on any Protection and Indemnity or War &c. Risk insurance) reducing pro rata monthly.

(f) Returns of premium. A sum not exceeding the actual returns which are recoverable subject to "and arrival" under any policy of insurance.

(g) Insurance irrespective of amount. Against risks excluded by the F. C. & S. Clause, and risks enumerated in the American Institute War and Strikes Clauses and General Average and Salvage Disbursements.

Warranted that no insurance on any interests enumerated in the foregoing sections (a) to (f), inclusive, in excess of the amounts permitted therein and no insurance subject to P. P. I., F. I. A. or other like term, on any interests whatever excepting those enumerated in section (a), is or shall be effected to operate during the currency of this Policy by or for account of the Assured, Owners, Managers or Mortgagees. Provided always that a breach of this warranty shall not afford the Underwriter any defense to a claim by a Mortgagee who has accepted this Policy without knowledge of such breach.

Beginning the adventure upon the said Vessel, as above, and so shall continue and endure during the period aforesaid, as employment may offer, in port and at sea, in docks, and graving docks and on ways, gridirons and pontoons, at all times, in all places, and on all occasions, services and trades whatsoever and wheresoever, under steam, motor power or sail; with leave to sail or navigate with or without pilots, to go on trial trips and to assist and tow vessels or craft in distress, but if without the approval of the Underwriter the Vessel be towed, except as is customary or when in need of assistance, or undertakes towage or salvage services under a pre-arranged contract made by Owners and/or Charterers, the Assured shall notify the Underwriter immediately and pay an additional premium if required but no such premium shall be required for customary towage by the Vessel in connection with loading and discharging. With liberty to discharge, exchange and take on board goods, specie, passengers and stores, wherever the Vessel may call at or proceed to, and with liberty to carry goods, live cattle, &c., on deck or otherwise.

Touching the Adventures and Perils which the said Underwriter is contented to bear and take upon itself, they are of the Seas, Men-of-War, Fire, Lightning, Earthquake, Enemies, Pirates, Rovers, Assailing Thieves, Jettisons, Letters of Mart and Counter-Mart, Surprisals, Takings at Sea, Arrests, Restraints and Detainments of all Kings, Princes and Peoples, of what nation, condition or quality soever, Barratry of the Master and Mariners and of all other like Perils, Losses and Misfortunes that have or shall come to the Hurt, Detriment or Damage of the said Vessel, &c, or any part thereof; excepting, however, such of the foregoing Perils as may be excluded by provisions elsewhere in the Policy or by endorsement. And in case of any Loss or Misfortune, it shall be lawful and necessary for the Assured, their Factors, Servants and Assigns, to sue, labor and travel for, in, and about the Defense, Safeguard and Recovery of the said Vessel, &c, or any part thereof, without prejudice to this Insurance, to the Charges whereof the Underwriter will contribute its proportion as provided below. And it is expressly declared and agreed that no acts of the Underwriter or Assured in recovering, saving or preserving the property insured shall be considered as a waiver or acceptance of abandonment.

This insurance also specially to cover (subject to the Average Warranty) loss of or damage to the subject matter insured directly caused by the following:

Accidents in loading, discharging or handling cargo, or in bunkering;

Accidents in going on or off, or while on drydocks, graving docks, ways, gridirons or pontoons;

Explosions on shipboard or elsewhere;

Breakdown of motor generators or other electrical machinery and electrical connections thereto, bursting of boilers, breakage of shafts, or any latent defect in the machinery or hull (excluding the cost and expense of replacing or repairing the defective part);

Contact with Aircraft or with any land conveyance;

Negligence of Master, Charterers other than an Assured, Mariners, Engineers or Pilots;

Provided such loss or damage has not resulted from want of due diligence by the Assured, the Owners or Managers of the Vessel, or any of them. Masters, Mates, Engineers, Pilots or Crew not to be considered as part owners within the meaning of this clause should they hold shares in the Vessel.

In the event of accident whereby loss or damage may result in a claim under this Policy, notice shall be given in writing to the Underwriter, where practicable, prior to survey, so that it may appoint its own surveyor if it so desires. The Underwriter shall be entitled to decide the port to which a damaged Vessel shall proceed for docking or repairing (the actual additional expense of the voyage arising from compliance with the Underwriter's requirements being refunded to the Assured) and the Underwriter shall also have a right of veto in connection with the place of repair or repairing firm proposed and whenever the extent of the damage is ascertainable the Underwriter may take or may require to be taken tenders for the repair of such damage. In the event of failure to comply with the conditions of this clause 15 per cent. shall be deducted from the amount of the ascertained claim.

In cases where a tender is accepted with the approval of the Underwriter, an allowance shall be made at the rate of 30 per cent. per annum on the insured value for each day or pro rata for part of a day from the time of the completion of the survey until the acceptance of the tender provided that it be accepted without delay after receipt of the Underwriter's approval.

No allowance shall be made for any time during which the Vessel is loading or discharging cargo or bunkering.

Due credit shall be given against the allowance as above for any amount recovered:

(a) In respect of fuel and stores and wages and maintenance of the Master, Officers and Crew or any member thereof allowed in General or Particular Average;

(b) From third parties in respect of damages for detention and/or loss of profit and/or running expenses; for the period covered by the tender allowance or any part thereof.

Notwithstanding anything herein contained to the contrary, this policy is warranted free from Particular Average under 3 percent, or unless amounting to $4,850, but nevertheless when the Vessel shall have been stranded, sunk, on fire, or in collision with any other Ship or Vessel, the Underwriter shall pay the damage occasioned thereby, and the expense of sighting the bottom after stranding shall be paid, if reasonably incurred, even if no damage be found.

Grounding in the Panama Canal, Suez Canal or in the Manchester Ship Canal or its connections, or in the River Mersey above Rock Ferry Slip, or in the River Plate (above a line drawn from the North Basin, Buenos Aires, to the mouth of the San Pedro River) or its tributaries, or in the Danube or Demerara Rivers or on the Yentkale Bar, shall not be deemed to be a stranding.

Average payable on each valuation separately or on the whole, without deduction of thirds, new for old, whether the Average be Particular or General.

No claim shall in any case be allowed in respect of scraping or painting the Vessel's bottom.

The warranty and conditions as to Average under 3 percent or unless amounting to $4,850 to be applicable to each voyage as if separately insured, and a voyage shall commence at the Assured's election when the Vessel either begins to load cargo or sails in ballast to a loading port. Such voyage shall continue until the Vessel has made not more than three passages or not more than two passages with cargo (whichever first occurs) and extend further until the Vessel thereafter begins to load cargo or sails (whichever first occurs), but such extension shall not exceed 30 days in port. A passage shall be deemed to be from the commencement of loading at the first port or place of loading until completion of discharge at the last port or place of discharge, or, if the Vessel sails in ballast, from the port or place of departure until arrival at the first port or place thereafter other than a port or place of refuge or a port or place for bunkering only. Each period in port of 30 days in excess of 30 days between passages shall itself constitute a passage for the purposes of this clause. When the Vessel sails in ballast to effect damage repairs such sailing or passage shall be considered part of the previous passage. In calculating whether the 3 percent or $4,850 is reached, Particular Average occurring outside the period covered by this Policy may be added to Particular Average occurring within such period, providing it occur on the same voyage as above defined, but only that portion of the claim arising within the period covered by this Policy shall be recoverable hereon. A voyage shall not be so fixed that it overlaps another voyage on which a claim is made on this or the preceding or succeeding Policy. Particular Average which would be excluded by the terms of this Policy shall not be included in determining whether the 3 percent or $4,850 is reached.

No recovery for a Constructive Total Loss shall be had hereunder unless the expense of recovering and repairing the Vessel shall exceed the insured value.

In ascertaining whether the Vessel is a Constructive Total Loss the insured value shall be taken as the repaired value, and nothing in respect of the damaged or break-up value of the Vessel or wreck shall be taken into account.

In the event of Total or Constructive Total Loss, no claim to be made by the Underwriter for freight, whether notice of abandonment has been given or not.

In no case shall the Underwriter be liable for unrepaired damage in addition to a subsequent Total Loss sustained during the period covered by this Policy.

General Average, Salvage, and Special Charges payable as provided in the contract of affreightment, or failing such provision, or there be no contract of affreightment, payable in accordance with the Laws and Usages of the Port of New York. Provided always that when an adjustment according to the laws and usages of the port of destination is properly demanded by the owners of the cargo, General Average shall be paid in accordance with same.

And it is further agreed that in the event of salvage, towage or other assistance being rendered to the Vessel hereby insured by any Vessel belonging in part or in whole to the same Owners or Charterers, the value of such services (without regard to the common ownership or control of the Vessels) shall be ascertained by arbitration in the manner below provided for under the Collision Clause, and the amount so awarded so far as applicable to the interest hereby insured shall constitute a charge under this Policy.

When the contributory value of the Vessel is greater than the valuation herein the liability of the Underwriter for General Average contribution (except in respect to amount made good to the Vessel) or Salvage shall not exceed that proportion of the total contribution due from the Vessel that the amount insured hereunder bears to the contributory value; and if because of damage for which the Underwriter is liable as Particular Average the value of the Vessel has been reduced for the purpose of contribution, the amount of the Particular Average claim under this Policy shall be deducted from the amount insured hereunder and the Underwriter shall be liable only for the proportion which such net amount bears to the contributory value.

In the event of expenditure under the Sue and Labor Clause, this Policy shall pay the proportion of such expenses that the amount insured hereunder bears to the insured value of the Vessel, or that the amount insured hereunder, less loss and/or damage payable under this Policy, bears to the actual value of the salved property; whichever proportion shall be less.

If claim for total loss is admitted under this Policy and sue and labor expenses have been reasonably incurred in excess of any proceeds realized or value recovered, the amount payable under this Policy will be the proportion of such excess that the amount insured hereunder (without deduction for loss or damage) bears to the insured value or the sound value of the Vessel at the time of the accident, whichever value was greater.

And it is further agreed that if the Vessel hereby insured shall come into collision with any other Ship or Vessel and the Assured or the Charterers or the Surety in consequence of the insured Vessel being at fault shall become liable to pay and shall pay by way of damages to any other person or persons any sum or sums in respect of such collision, the Underwriter will pay the Assured, or the Charterers, or the Surety, whichever shall have paid, such proportion of such sum or sums so paid as its subscription hereto bears to the value of the Vessel hereby insured, provided always that its liability in respect to any one such collision shall not exceed its proportionate part of the value of the Vessel hereby insured. And in cases where the liability of the Vessel has been contested, or proceedings have been taken to limit liability, with the consent in writing of the Underwriter it will also pay a like proportion of the costs which the Assured or Charterers shall thereby incur, or be compelled to pay; but when both Vessels are to blame, then, unless the liability of the Owners or Charterers of one or both such Vessels becomes limited by law, claims under the Collision Clause shall be settled on the principle of Cross-Liabilities as if the Owners or Charterers of each vessel had been compelled to pay to the Owners or Charterers of the other of such Vessels such one-half or other proportion of the latter's damages as may have been properly allowed in ascertaining the balance or sum payable by or to the Assured or Charterers in consequence of such collision; and it is further agreed that the principles involved in this clause shall apply to the case where both Vessels are the property, in part or in whole, of the same Owners or Charterers, all questions of responsibility and amount of liability as between the two Vessels being left to the decision of a single Arbitrator, if the parties can agree upon a single Arbitrator, or failing such agreement, to the decision of Arbitrators, one to be appointed by the Managing Owners or Charterers of both Vessels, and one to be appointed by the Underwriter; the two Arbitrators chosen to choose a third Arbitrator before entering upon the reference, and the decision of such single, or of any two of such three Arbitrators, appointed as above, to be final and binding. Provided always that this clause shall in no case extend to any sum which the Assured, or the Charterers, or the Surety, may become liable to pay or shall pay for removal of obstructions under statutory powers, for injury to harbors, wharves, piers, stages, structures, or any other objects (excepting other Vessels and property thereon), consequent on such collision, or in respect of the cargo, baggage or engagements of the Insured Vessel, or for loss of life, or personal injury. And provided also that in the event of any claim under this clause being made by anyone other than the Owners of the Vessel hereby insured, he shall not be entitled to recover in respect of any liability to which the Owners of the Vessel as such would not be subject, nor to a greater extent than the Owners would be entitled in such event to recover.

In witness whereof, the Maritime Administrator, acting for the Secretary of Commerce, has signed this Policy but it shall not be valid unless countersigned by an authorized underwriting agent.

HULL WAR RISK AND STRIKES CLAUSES

Endorsement attached to and made part of policy No. ---------- It is agreed that this insurance covers only those risks which would be covered by the attached policy (including running down liability under the Collision Clause) in the absence of the F. C. & S. warranty contained therein but which are excluded by that warranty. This insurance is also subject, however, to the following warranties and additional clauses:

(1) The Adventures and Perils Clause shall be construed as including the risks of piracy, civil war, revolution, rebellion or insurrection or civil strife arising therefrom, floating and/or stationary mines and/or torpedoes whether derelict or not and/or military or naval aircraft and/or other engines of war including missiles from the land and weapons of war employing atomic fission or radioactive force and warlike operations and the application of sanctions under international agreements, whether before or after declaration of war and whether by a belligerent or otherwise, but excluding arrest, restraint or detainment under customs or quarantine regulations, and similar arrests, restraints or detainments not arising from actual or impending hostilities or sanctions.

(2) This insurance also covers damage to or destruction of the property insured directly caused by strikers, locked out workmen, or persons taking part in labor disturbances or riots or civil commotions or caused by persons acting maliciously, but this paragraph shall not be construed to include or cover any loss, damage or expense caused by or resulting from delay, detention or loss of use.

(3) The Franchise warranty in the attached policy is waived and average shall be payable irrespective of percentage and without deduction of new for old. The provisions of the attached policy with respect to constructive total loss shall apply only to claims arising from physical damage to the insured vessel.

(4) Warranted free of any claim for delay or demurrage and warranted not to abandon in case of capture, seizure or detention, until after condemnation of the property insured.

(5) Warranted free of any claim based upon loss of or frustration of the insured voyage or adventure caused by arrests, restraints or detainments, of kings, princes, or peoples.

(6) Warranted free from any claim arising from capture, seizure, arrest, restraint, detainment, preemption, confiscation or requisition by the Government of the United States or of the country in which the vessel is owned or registered.

(7) Should the vessel be at sea at the natural expiry of this policy, this insurance shall be extended until midnight, G. m. t., of the day on which the vessel is moored at the next port to which she proceeds and 24 hours thereafter, provided notice be given to the Underwriting Agent as soon as practicable and an additional premium paid, if required.

(8) The "Breach of Warranty" clause in the printed policy is deleted.

(9) Warranted no War Risk Insurance in excess of the amount insured herein, whether for hull, machinery, disbursements, or other similar interests however described, exists or will be placed during the currency of this insurance, except as authorized by the Maritime Administrator, acting for the Secretary of Commerce.

(10) Warranted no cancellation except by mutual consent: Provided, however, That if the vessel shall be requisitioned by the United States on a basis whereby the United States provides the war risk insurance, then this insurance shall terminate and pro rata daily return premium shall be paid. In no other event shall there be any return of premium.

(11) For the purpose of determining liability under this policy for General Average contribution or Salvage and sue and labor expenses, the sum insured herein, or as stated in any binder of which this policy is a part, shall be deemed to be the "insured value" and the amount payable for the total loss of the vessel shall be deemed to be the "sound value".

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA

POLICY NO. P. & I. _____

Represented by the Maritime Administrator, acting for the Secretary of Commerce (sometimes hereinafter called the Underwriter), by this policy of insurance, in accordance with applicable provisions of law and subject to all limitations thereof, and in consideration of the stipulations herein named and of _____ dollars, being premium at the rate of _____, does insure _____ hereinafter called the Assured.

Loss, if any, payable to_____ or order. In the sum of_____ dollars at and from the _____ day of _____, 19____, _____ time until the_____day of _____, 19____, _____time, against the liabilities of the Assured as hereinafter described, and subject to the terms and conditions hereinafter set forth, in respect of the vessel _____ (or by whatsoever other name or names the said vessel is or shall be called),

The Underwriter undertakes to make good to the Assured all such loss and/or damage and/or expense as the Assured shall, as owner of the vessel named herein, have become legally liable to pay and shall pay on account of the liabilities, risks, events and/or happenings herein set forth:

Loss of life, injury and illness. (1) Liability for life salvage, loss of life of, or personal injury to, or illness of, any person, not including, however, unless otherwise agreed by endorsement hereon, liability to an employee (other than a seaman) of the Assured or, in case of his death, to his beneficiaries under any compensation act. Liability hereunder shall also include burial expenses not exceeding $200, where reasonably incurred by the Assured for the burial of any seaman. The term Person as aforesaid shall include any person or, persons carried on the insured vessel.

(a) Insurance hereunder shall not cover any liability under the provisions of Public Law 267, 64th Congress, approved September 7, 1916, as amended, now known as the Federal Employees Compensation Act, or under the provisions of section 2 (c) of Public Law 17, 78th Congress, approved March 24, 1943, as amended.

(b) Insurance hereunder in connection with the handling of cargo for the insured vessel shall commence from the time of receipt by the Assured of the cargo on dock or wharf, or on craft alongside for loading, and shall continue until due delivery thereof from dock or wharf of discharge or until discharge from the insured vessel on to a craft alongside.

Repatriation expenses. (2) Liability for expenses reasonably incurred in necessarily repatriating any member of the crew or any other person employed on board the insured vessel: Provided, however, That the Assured shall not be entitled to recover any such expenses incurred by reason of the expiration of the shipping agreement, other than by sea perils, or by the voluntary termination of the agreement. Wages shall be recoverable hereunder only when payable under statutory obligation during unemployment due to the wreck or loss of the insured vessel.

Collision. (3) Liability for loss or damage arising from collision of the insured vessel with another ship or vessel insofar as such liability is excluded from the liabilities insured under the following four-fourths Collision Clause in the United States of America Hull Policy (MA–240): "And it is further agreed that if the Vessel hereby insured shall come into collision with any other Ship or Vessel and the Assured or the Charterers or the Surety in consequence of the insured Vessel being at fault shall become liable to pay and shall pay by way of damages to any other person or persons any sum or sums in respect of such collision, the Underwriter will pay the Assured, or the Charterers, or the Surety, whichever shall have paid, such proportion of such sum or sums so paid as its subscription hereto bears to the value of the Vessel hereby insured, provided always that its liability in respect to any one such collision shall not exceed its proportionate part of the value of the Vessel hereby insured. And in cases where the liability of the Vessel has been contested, or proceedings have been taken to limit liability, with the consent in writing of the Underwriter it will also pay a like proportion of the costs which the Assured or Charterers shall thereby incur, or be compelled to pay; but when both Vessels are to blame, then, unless the liability of the Owners or Charterers of one or both such Vessels becomes limited by law, claims under the Collision Clause shall be settled on the principle of Cross-Liabilities as if the Owners or Charterers of each Vessel had been compelled to pay to the Owners or Charterers of the other of such Vessels such one-half or other proportion of the latter's damages as may have been properly allowed in ascertaining the balance or sum payable by or to the Assured or Charterers in consequence of such collision; and it is further agreed that the principles involved in this clause shall apply to the case where both Vessels are the property, in part or in whole, of the same Owners or Charterers, all questions of responsibility and amount of liability as between the two Vessels being left to the decision of a single Arbitrator, if the parties can agree upon a single Arbitrator, or failing such agreement, to the decision of Arbitrators, one to be appointed by the Managing Owners or Charterers of both Vessels, and one to be appointed by the Underwriter; the two Arbitrators chosen to choose a third Arbitrator before entering upon the reference, and the decision of such single, or of any two of such three Arbitrators, appointed as above, to be final and binding. Provided always that this clause shall in no case extend to any sum which the Assured, or the Charterers, or the Surety, may become liable to pay or shall pay for removal of obstructions under statutory powers, for injury to harbors, wharves, piers, stages, structures, or any other objects (excepting other Vessels and property thereon), consequent on such collision, or in respect of the cargo, baggage or engagements of the Insured Vessel, or for loss of life, or personal injury. And provided also that in the event of any claim under this clause being made by anyone other than the Owners of the Vessel hereby insured, he shall not be entitled to recover in respect of any liability to which the Owners of the Vessel as such would not be subject, nor to a greater extent than the Owners would be entitled in such event to recover."

Provided, however, That insurance hereunder shall not extend to any liability, whether direct or indirect, in respect of the engagements of or the detention or loss of time of the insured vessel.

(a) Claims hereunder shall be settled on the principles of Cross-Liabilities to the same extent only as provided in the four-fourths Collision Clause above mentioned.

(b) Where both vessels are the property, in part or in whole, of the same Owners or Charterers, claims hereunder shall be settled on the basis of the principles set forth in the four-fourths Collision Clause above mentioned.

(c) Claims hereunder shall be separated among the several classes enumerated in this policy and each class shall be subject to the special conditions applicable in respect to such class.

(d) Notwithstanding the foregoing, the Underwriter shall not be liable for any claims hereunder where the various liabilities resulting from such collision, or any of them, have been compromised, settled or adjusted without the written consent of the Underwriter.

Damage caused otherwise than by collision. (4) Liability for loss of or damage to any other vessel or craft, or to property on board such other vessel or craft, caused otherwise than by collision of the insured vessel with another vessel or craft.

(a) Where such other vessel or craft or property on board such other vessel or craft belongs to the Assured, claims hereunder shall be adjusted as if it belonged to a third person: Provided, however, That if such vessel, craft or property be insured, the Underwriter shall be liable hereunder only in so far as the loss or damage, but for the insurance herein provided, is not or would not be recoverable by the Assured under such other insurance.

Damage to docks, buoys, etc. (5) Liability for damage to any dock, pier, jetty, bridge, harbor, breakwater, structure, beacon, buoy, lighthouse, cable or to any fixed or movable object or property whatsoever, except another vessel or craft or property on another vessel or craft or on the insured vessel unless elsewhere covered herein.

(a) Where there would be a valid claim hereunder but for the fact that the damaged property belongs to the Assured, the Underwriter shall be liable as if such damaged property belonged to another, but only for the excess over any amount recoverable under any other insurance applicable on the property.

Wreck removal. (6) Liability for costs or expenses of or incidental to the removal of the wreck of the insured vessel if legally liable therefore; Provided, however, That:

(a) From such costs and expenses shall be deducted the value of any salvage from or which might have been recovered from the wreck inuring, or which might have inured, to the benefit of the Assured;

(b) The Underwriter shall not be liable for any costs or expenses which would be covered by full insurance under the United States of America Hull Policy (MA-240);

(c) In the event that the wreck of the insured vessel is upon property owned, leased, rented or otherwise occupied by the Assured, the Underwriter shall be liable for any liability for removal of the wreck which would be imposed upon the Assured by law in the absence of contract if the wreck had been upon the property belonging to another, but only for the excess over any amount recoverable under any other insurance applicable thereto.

Cargo. (7) Liability for loss of or damage to or in connection with cargo or other property (except mail or parcel post), including baggage and personal effects of persons other than members of the crew, and not exceeding $100 per person, to be carried, carried or which has been carried on board the insured vessel; Provided, however, That no liability shall exist hereunder for:

Specie, bullion, jewelry, etc. (a) Loss, damage or expense incurred in connection with the custody, carriage or delivery of specie, bullion, precious stones, precious metals, jewelry, silks, furs, banknotes, bonds or other negotiable documents, or similar valuable property;

Refrigeration. (b) Loss, damage or expense arising out of or in connection with the care, custody, carriage or delivery of cargo requiring refrigeration, unless the spaces, apparatus, and means used for the care, custody and carriage thereof have been surveyed by a classification or other competent disinterested surveyor under working conditions before the commencement of each round voyage unless otherwise agreed and found in all respects fit, and unless the Underwriter has approved in writing the form of contract under which such cargo is accepted for transportation;

Deviation. (c) Loss, damage or expense arising from any deviation, or proposed deviation, not authorized by the contract of affreightment, known to the Assured in time to insure specifically the liability therefor, unless notice thereof is given to the Underwriter and the Underwriter agrees, in writing, that such insurance is unnecessary;

Stowage in improper spaces. (d) Loss, damage or expense arising with respect to under deck cargo stowed on deck or with respect to cargo stowed in spaces not suitable for its carriage, unless the Assured shall show that every reasonable precaution has been taken by him to prevent such improper stowage;

Misdescription of goods. (e) Loss, damage or expense arising out of or as a result of the issuance of bills of lading which, to the knowledge of the Assured, improperly described the goods or their containers as to condition or quantity;

(f) Loss, damage or expense arising from issuance of clean bills of lading for goods known to be missing, unsound or damaged;

(g) Loss, damage or expense arising from the intentional issuance of bills of lading prior to receipt of the goods described therein, or covering goods not received at all;

(h) Loss, damage or expense arising from delivery of cargo without surrender of order bills of lading;

Freight. (i) Freight on cargo short-delivered, whether or not prepaid or whether or not included in the claim and paid by the Assured; And provided further, That:

(j) Liability hereunder shall in no event exceed that which would be imposed by law in the absence of contract;

Protective clauses required in contract of affreightment. (k) Liability hereunder shall be limited to such as would exist if the charter party, bill of lading, or contract of affreightment contained (i) a negligence general average clause in the form hereinafter specified under paragraph (12); (ii) a clause providing that any provision of the charter party, bill of lading, or contract of affreightment to the contrary notwithstanding, the Assured and the insured vessel shall have the benefit of all limitations of and exemptions from liability accorded to the owner or chartered owner of vessels by any statute or rule of law for the time being in force; (iii) such clauses, if any, as are required by law to be stated therein; (iv) and such other protective clauses as are generally in use in the particular trade;

Carriage of Goods by Sea Act. (l) When cargo carried by the insured vessel is under a bill of lading or similar document of title subject or made subject to the Carriage of Goods by Sea Act of the United States or a law of any other country of similar import, liability hereunder shall be limited to such as is imposed by said Act or law, and if the Assured or the insured vessel assumes any greater liability or obligation, either in respect of the valuation of the cargo or in any other respect, then the minimum liabilities and obligations imposed by said Act or law, such greater liability or obligation shall not be covered hereunder;

Limit of $500 per package. (m) When cargo carried by the insured vessel is under a charter party, bill of lading, or contract of affreightment not subject or made subject to the Carriage of Goods by Sea Act of the United States or a law of any other country of similar import, liability hereunder shall be limited to such as would exist if said charter party, bill of lading, or contract of affreightment contained a clause exempting the Assured and the insured vessel from liability for losses arising from unseaworthiness provided that due diligence shall have been exercised to make the vessel seaworthy and properly manned, equipped, and supplied, and a clause limiting the Assured's liability for total loss or damage to goods shipped to $500 per package, or in case of goods not shipped in packages, per customary freight unit, and providing for pro rata adjustment on such basis for partial loss or damage. The provisions of clauses (k), (l) and (m) herein may, however, be waived or altered by the Underwriter on terms agreed in writing;

Oral contract. (n) In the event cargo is carried under an arrangement not reduced to writing, the Underwriter's liability hereunder shall be no greater than if such cargo had been carried under a charter party, bill of lading or contract of affreightment containing the clauses referred to herein;

Assured's own cargo. (o) Where cargo on board the insured vessel is the property of the Assured, such cargo shall be deemed to be carried under a contract containing the protective clauses described in clauses (k), (l) and (m) herein; and such cargo shall be deemed to be fully insured under the usual form of cargo policy, and in case of loss of or damage to such cargo the Assured shall be insured hereunder in respect of such loss or damage only to the extent that he would have been if the cargo had belonged to another, but only in the event and to the extent that the loss or damage would not be recoverable from marine insurers under a cargo policy as above specified;

Transportation on land or on another vessel or craft. (p) No liability shall exist hereunder for any loss, damage or expense in respect of cargo or other property, including baggage and personal effects of persons other than members of the crew, being transported on land or on another vessel or craft;

Cargo on dock. (q) No liability shall exist hereunder for any loss, damage or expense in respect of cargo or other property, including baggage and personal effects of persons other than members of the crew, before loading on or after discharge from the insured vessel caused by flood, tide, windstorm, earthquake, fire, explosion, heat, cold, deterioration, collapse of wharf, leaky shed, theft, or pilferage unless such loss, damage or expense is caused directly by the insured vessel, her master, officers or crew.

Fines and penalties. (8) Liability for fines and penalties for the violation of any laws of the United States, or of any State thereof, or of any foreign country, Provided, however, That the Underwriter shall not be liable to indemnify the Assured against any such fines or penalties resulting directly or indirectly from the failure, neglect or fault of the Assured or its managing officers to exercise the highest degree of diligence to prevent a violation of any such laws.

Mutiny, misconduct. (9) Liability for expenses incurred in resisting any unfounded claim by the master or crew or other person employed on board the insured vessel, or in prosecuting such person or persons in case of mutiny or other misconduct; not including, however, costs of successfully defending claims elsewhere protected in this policy.

Quarantine expenses. (10) Liability for extraordinary expenses, incurred in consequence of the outbreak of plague, or other disease on the insured vessel, for disinfection of the vessel or of persons on board, or for quarantine expenses, not being the ordinary expenses of loading or discharging, nor the ordinary wages or provisions of crew or passengers; Provided, however, That no liability shall exist hereunder if the vessel be ordered to proceed to a port where it is known that she will be subjected to quarantine.

Putting in expenses. (11) Liability for port charges incurred solely for the purpose of putting into land an injured or sick seaman, and the net loss to the Assured in respect of bunkers, insurance, stores and provisions as the result of the deviation.

Cargo's proportion G/A. (12) Liability for Cargo's proportion of General Average, including special charges, so far as the Assured cannot recover the same from any other source: Provided, however, That if the charter party, bill of lading or contract of affreightment does not contain the negligence general average clause quoted below, the Underwriter's liability hereunder shall be limited to such as would exist if such clause were contained therein, viz:

Negligence G/A clause. "In the event of accident, danger, damage or disaster, before or after commencement of the voyage resulting from any cause whatsoever, whether due to negligence or not, for which, or for the consequence of which, the Carrier is not responsible, by statute, contract, or otherwise, the goods, the shipper and the consignee, jointly and severally, shall contribute with the Carrier in general average to the payment of any sacrifices, losses, or expenses of a general average nature that may be made or incurred, and shall pay salvage and special charges incurred in respect of the goods. If a salving ship is owned or operated by the Carrier, salvage shall be paid for as fully and in the same manner as if such salving ship or ships belonged to strangers."

Expenses and law costs. (13) Liability for costs, charges and expenses reasonably incurred and paid by the Assured in connection with any liability insured under this policy, provided that the Assured shall not be entitled to indemnity for the cost or expense of prosecuting or defending any claim or suit unless the same shall have been incurred with the approval in writing of the Underwriter, or the Underwriter shall be satisfied that such approval could not have been obtained under the circumstances without unreasonable delay, or that the expenses were reasonably and properly incurred. The cost and expense of prosecuting any claim in which the Underwriter shall have an interest by subrogation or otherwise shall be divided between the Assured and the Underwriter in proportion to the amounts which they would have been entitled to receive respectively, if the suit should be successful.

(14) Expenses which the Assured may incur under authorization of the Underwriter in the interest of the Underwriter.

GENERAL CONDITIONS AND LIMITATIONS

Prompt notice of claim. (15) In the event of any happening which may result in loss, damage or expense for which the Underwriter may become liable, prompt notice thereof, on being known to the Assured, shall be given by the Assured to the Underwriter, but failure to give such prompt notice because of wartime emergency conditions shall not prejudice this insurance. The Underwriter shall not be liable for any claim not presented to the Underwriter with proper proofs of loss within twenty-four (24) months after payment by the Assured.

Time for suit. (16) In no event shall suit on any claim be maintainable against the Underwriter unless commenced within twenty-four (24) months after the loss, damage or expenses resulting from liabilities, risks, events, occurrences and expenditures specified under this policy shall have been paid by the Assured.

Settlement of claims. (17) The Assured shall not make any admission of liability, either before or after any occurrence, which may result in a claim for which the Underwriter may be liable. The Assured shall not interfere in any negotiations of the Underwriter for settlement of any legal proceedings in respect of any occurrences for which the Underwriter is liable under this policy; Provided, however, That in respect of any occurrence likely to give rise to a claim under this policy, the Assured is obligated to and shall take such steps to protect his and the Underwriter's interests as would reasonably be taken in the absence of this or similar insurance. If the Assured shall fail or refuse to settle any claim as authorized or directed by the Underwriter, the liability of the Underwriter to the Assured shall be limited to the amount for which settlement could have been made or, if the amount is unknown, to the amount which the Underwriter authorized.

Defense of claims. (18) Whenever required by the Underwriter, the Assured shall aid in securing information and evidence and in obtaining witnesses and shall cooperate with the Underwriter in the defense of any claim or suit or in the appeal from any judgment, in respect of any occurrence as hereinbefore provided.

Assumed contractual liability. (19) Unless otherwise agreed by endorsement hereon, the Underwriter's liability shall in no event exceed that which would be imposed on the Assured by law in the absence of contract: Provided, however, That the Assured's right of indemnity from the Underwriter shall include any loss, damage or expense covered under the provisions of this policy arising as a result of any contract for the employment of tugs where such contract is one which is substantially similar to those customarily in use or in force during the currency of this policy. The Assured's right of indemnity hereunder shall not include any liability for loss, damage or expense arising from collision between the insured vessel and another vessel or craft, other than liability consequent on such collision, (a) for removal of obstructions under statutory powers, (b) for damage to any dock, pier, jetty, bridge, harbor, breakwater, structure, beacon, buoy, lighthouse, cable or similar structures, (c) in respect of the cargo of the insured vessel and (d) for loss of life, personal injury and illness.

Assignment. (20) No claim or demand against the Underwriter shall be assigned or transferred, and no person, other than a receiver of the property or the estate of the Assured, shall acquire any right against the Underwriter without the express consent of the Underwriter; Provided, however, That this shall not affect the rights of any assignee under an assignment made by virtue of any governmental order or decree, in which event such assignee shall have and possess all of the rights of its predecessor in assignment.

Subrogation. (21) The Underwriter shall be subrogated to all the rights which the Assured may have against any other person or entity, in respect of any payment made under this policy, to the extent of such payment, and the Assured shall, upon the request of the Underwriter, execute all documents necessary to secure to the Underwriter such rights.

Double insurance. (22) The Underwriter shall not be liable for any loss or damage against which, but for the insurance hereunder, the Assured is or would be insured under existing insurance excepting as provided in paragraph (1) (a) hereof.

Limitation of liability. (23) If and when the Assured under this policy has any interest other than as an owner or bareboat charterer of the insured vessel, in no event shall the Underwriter be liable hereunder to any greater extent than if such Assured were the owner or bareboat charterer and were entitled to all the rights of limitation to which a shipowner is entitled.

Risks excluded. (24) Notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained in this policy, the Underwriter shall not be liable for any loss, damage, or expense sustained, directly or indirectly by reason of:

(a) Loss, damage or expense to hull, machinery, equipment or fittings of the insured vessel, including refrigerating apparatus and wireless equipment, whether or not owned by the Assured;

(b) Cancelment or breach of any charter or contract, detention of the vessel, bad debts, insolvency, fraud of agents, loss of freight, passage money, hire, demurrage, or any other loss of revenue;

(c) Any loss, damage, sacrifice, or expense which would be payable under the terms of the United States of America Hull Policy (MA-240), on hull, machinery, etc., whether or not the insured vessel is fully covered by insurance sufficient in amount to pay such loss, damage, sacrifice or expense;

(d) The insured vessel towing any other vessel or craft, unless such towage was to assist such other vessel or craft in distress to a port or place of safety; Provided, however, That this exception shall not apply to claims covered under paragraph (1) of this policy;

(e) For any claim for loss of life, personal injury or illness in relation to the handling of cargo where such claim arises under a contract of indemnity between the Assured and his subcontractor.

F. C. and S. Clause. (25) Notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained in this policy, the Underwriter shall not be liable for or in respect of any loss, damage or expense, sustained by reason of capture, seizure, arrest, restraint or detainment, or the consequences thereof or of any attempt thereat; or sustained in consequence of military, naval or air action by force of arms, including mines and torpedoes or other missiles or engines of war, whether of enemy or friendly origin; or sustained in consequence of placing the vessel in jeopardy as an act or measure of war taken in the actual process of a military engagement, including embarking or disembarking troops or material of war in the immediate zone of such engagement; and any such loss, damage and expense shall be excluded from this policy without regard to whether the Assured's liability therefor is based on negligence or otherwise, and whether before or after a declaration of war.

(26) Liability hereunder in respect of any one accident or occurrence is limited to the amount hereby insured.

In witness whereof, the Maritime Administrator, acting for the Secretary of Commerce, has signed this policy but it shall not be valid unless countersigned by an authorized underwriting agent.

SOUTHERN NATURAL GAS CO. AND MISSISSIPPI GAS CO.

ORDER PERMITTING DECLARATION TO BECOME EFFECTIVE REGARDING SALE BY A PUBLIC UTILITY COMPANY OF ITS UTILITY AND OTHER ASSETS AND ITS LIQUIDATION

SEPTEMBER 10, 1952.

Southern Natural Gas Company ("Southern"), a registered holding company, and its public-utility company subsidiary, Mississippi Gas Company ("Mississippi"), having filed a joint declaration, pursuant to sections 12 (d), 12 (c), and 12 (f) of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 ("act"), and Rules U-42, U-43 and U-44 promulgated thereunder, regarding the following proposed transactions:

Pursuant to a contract dated May 26, 1952, Mississippi proposes, subject to the approval of the Commission, to sell all of its utility property and other assets, including certain leasehold interests, gas supply and other contracts, but excluding cash, to Mississippi Valley Gas Company ("Valley"), a non-affiliate, for the sum of $3,320,981, plus or minus the amount of certain adjustments as at the closing date, and the assumption by Valley of certain tax liabilities, customer deposits, advances and contributions, and lease and contract obligations, of Mississippi relating to the property being sold. It is stated that the consideration was determined by arms-length bargaining and is the only offer obtained after extended effort.

Mississippi also proposes, upon the consummation of the proposed sale of property and assets, to pay its indebtedness, including bank debt, to distribute the remaining cash to its parent, Southern, in exchange for the surrender by Southern for cancellation of all of Mississippi's outstanding common stock and to dissolve.

Said declaration stating that no state commission has jurisdiction over the proposed transactions, but that the Federal Power Commission has jurisdiction over the sale by Mississippi and the acquisition and operation by Valley of certain gas transmission facilities owned and operated by Mississippi, and that the requisite approval of that Commission will be obtained prior to the closing date; and

The Commission having issued a notice of filing in the form and manner prescribed by Rule U-23 promulgated under the act, and the Commission not having received a request for or ordered a hearing in respect of said declaration; and

It appearing that the Federal Power Commission has entered an order containing the requisite approval of the proposed transactions; and

The Commission finding with respect to the declaration and the transactions therein proposed, that all of the applicable provisions of the act and the rules and regulations promulgated thereunder are satisfied, and observing no basis for adverse findings or the imposition of terms and conditions, other than those hereinafter specified, and deeming it appropriate in the public interest and in the interest of investors and consumers that said declaration be permitted to become effective forthwith:

It is ordered, Pursuant to Rule U-23 and the applicable provisions of the act, that said declaration be, and it hereby is, permitted to become effective, subject to the terms and conditions prescribed in Rule U-24.

It is further ordered, That this order shall become effective upon its issuance.

By the Commission.

[Ceiling Price Regulation 7, Section 43, Revocation of Special Order 229]

WESTINGHOUSE ELECTRIC CORP.

CEILING PRICES AT RETAIL

Statement of considerations. Special Order 229, issued to Westinghouse Electric Corporation on August 3, 1951, effective August 4, 1951, established ceiling prices at retail for fans having the brand name "Westinghouse."

Westinghouse Electric Corporation has applied for a revocation of this special order. In the opinion of the Director, there is no reason why this request should not be granted.

The order of revocation requires the applicant to send a copy to all purchasers for resale who have received notice of the special order.

Revocation. 1. For the reasons set forth in the statement of considerations and pursuant to section 43 of Ceiling Price Regulation 7, Special Order 229, issued to Westinghouse Electric Corporation on August 3, 1951 effective August 4, 1951, establishing ceiling prices at retail for fans having the brand name "Westinghouse," shall be, and the same hereby is, revoked in all respects.

2. Notification to resellers—(a) Notice to be given by applicant. Within 15 days after the effective date of this order of revocation, the Westinghouse Electric Corporation must send a copy of this order of revocation to all purchasers for resale to whom it has given notice of Special Order 229.

The applicant must also, within 15 days after the effective date of this order of revocation, supply each purchaser for resale, other than a retailer, with sufficient copies of this order of revocation to enable such purchasers to comply with the notification requirements of this order of revocation.

(b) Notices to be given by purchasers for resale (other than retailers). Within 15 days of receipt of this order of revocation, each purchaser for resale (other than retailers) must send a copy of this order of revocation to each purchaser for resale to whom he has given notice of Special Order 229.

Effective date. This order of revocation shall become effective September 10, 1952.

TIGHE E. WOODS,
Director of Price Stabilization.

[Ceiling Price Regulation 32, Supplementary Regulation 2, Section 3, Special Order 22]

BRONTE FIELD, COKE COUNTY, TEXAS

CRUDE PETROLEUM CEILING PRICES ADJUSTED ON AN IN-LINE BASIS

Statement of considerations. This special order adjusts the ceiling price for the purchase of crude petroleum produced from the Bronte Field, Coke County, Texas.

The Office of Price Stabilization has been requested to eliminate the differentials heretofore imposed upon crude petroleum produced from the Bronte Field, Coke County, Texas. During the base period there was a lack of competitive factors and as a result, the crude petroleum produced from this field was sold at a lower price than that paid for crude petroleum of comparable quality produced in this same general area. It appears that this condition has been eliminated and these differentials should no longer be imposed.

From the information available to this Office, it appears that the adjusted price will be in line with the ceiling price of comparable crude petroleum produced in this same area. This price is $2.65 per barrel for 40° API gravity and above, with a 2 cent differential less for each degree of gravity below 40°.

Special provisions. For the reasons set forth in the Statement of Considerations and pursuant to the provisions of section 3 of Supplementary Regulation 2 to Ceiling Price Regulation 32, It is ordered:

1. That the ceiling price at the lease receiving tank for crude petroleum produced from the Bronte Field, Coke County, Texas shall be: $2.65 per barrel for 40° API gravity and above with a 2-cent differential less for each degree of gravity below 40°.

2. All provisions of Ceiling Price Regulation 32, except as inconsistent with the provisions of this order, shall remain in full force and effect as to the commodities covered by this order.

3. This order may be amended, modified or revoked at any time by the Director of Price Stabilization.

Effective date. This special order shall become effective on September 11, 1952.

TIGHE E. WOODS,
Director of Price Stabilization.

SEPTEMBER 10, 1952.

[Ceiling Price Regulation 34, Section 10, Special Order 12]

WHITE WAY CLEANERS, INC.

CENTRAL PRICING ORDER

Statement of considerations. In accordance with section 10 of Ceiling Price Regulation 34, the applicant named in the accompanying special order, White Way Cleaners, Inc. has applied to the Office of Price Stabilization for permission to establish out of its central office at 2609 First Avenue South, Minneapolis 8, Minnesota, uniform ceiling prices for the services which it renders at all of its service outlets throughout the United States. Section 10 of Ceiling Price Regulation 34, as amended, authorizes the Office of Price Stabilization, when it deems it consistent with the purposes of the regulation, to establish uniform prices for sellers owning or operating more than one service establishment. Applicant has submitted the information required under this section and has produced evidence which in the judgment of the Director indicates that the applicant has complied with other stated requirements.

The Director has determined on the basis of information available to him, including data submitted by the applicant that during the base period, December 19, 1950, to January 25, 1951, inclusive, White Way Cleaners, Inc., had a system of pricing whereby the prices for services sold at all of its service outlets, i. e., dry cleaning, dyeing, etc., were determined at the central office of White Way Cleaners, Inc., of Minneapolis, Minnesota, and the prices at all of its service outlets were uniform for all of the services rendered and that the establishment of a uniform system of central pricing will not result in an increase in the ceiling prices established under Ceiling Price Regulation 34.

This order will permit any existing service outlet of White Way Cleaners, Inc., to sell any service at the ceiling price established therefor by the central office of White Way Cleaners, Inc., regardless of whether or not that service outlet supplied or offered to supply such service during the base period. The order will also permit any new service outlet of White Way Cleaners, Inc., to establish as the ceiling prices for the services which they render, the ceiling price for such services established by the central office of White Way Cleaners, Inc. In addition this order authorizes the central office of White Way Cleaners, Inc., to apply to the Office of Price Stabilization on behalf of all its service outlets for the establishment of a ceiling price for any new service covered by Ceiling Price Regulation 34. In addition this order requires applicant to notify all of its service outlets of this order and any subsequent amendment issued with respect thereto.

Special provisions. (1) On and after the effective date of this special order the ceiling price for the services listed in Appendix B rendered at any of the service outlets of White Way Cleaners, Inc., listed in Appendix A attached hereto and made a part of this special order, shall be the prices for the services referred to or listed in Appendix B attached hereto and also made a part of this special order.

(2) Lower prices than those authorized in Appendix B may be charged by the seller or paid by the purchaser for any specific service covered by this special order at any time.

(3) On and after the effective date of this special order all of the service outlets of White Way Cleaners, Inc., shall be considered a single seller for the purpose of establishing ceiling prices for new services and the central office of White Way Cleaners, Inc., for the purposes of this order shall make application on behalf of all of the service outlets of White Way Cleaners, Inc., for the establishment of ceiling prices for new services pursuant to the provisions of section 5 of this special order. However, this special order does not relieve each service outlet covered by this order from the filing and posting requirements of section 18 of Ceiling Price Regulation 34.

(4) The ceiling prices for the services rendered at any service outlet of White Way Cleaners, Inc., which is opened after the effective date of this special order shall be the ceiling prices referred to or set forth in Appendix B of this special order. Within 20 days after opening a new branch office, the central office of White Way Cleaners, Inc., shall request the Director of Price Stabilization, Washington 25, D. C., to amend Appendix A of this special order to provide for the inclusion therein of such new branch office. The provisions of section 13 (c) of Ceiling Price Regulation 34 are waived for the purpose of establishing ceiling prices for services rendered by service outlets of White Way Cleaners, Inc., opened after the effective date of this special order.

(5) On and after the effective date of this special order the central office of White Way Cleaners, Inc., is authorized to apply to the Director of Price Stabilization, Washington 25, D. C., on behalf of all of its service outlets for the establishment of a ceiling price for any new service in line with the level of prices otherwise established by Ceiling Price Regulation 34, and in the case of a commodity rental or a manufacturing or processing service, a ceiling price consistent with the level of ceiling prices established for the sale of the commodity by the applicable commodity regulation. The application shall contain a description of the service, anticipated direct labor and material costs, and the proposed ceiling price. In addition, the application must contain a description of the most comparable service rendered by the service outlets of White Way Cleaners, Inc., during the base period, showing the present direct labor and material costs for such service and the present ceiling price therefor. Such application shall also contain a description and ceiling price for any comparable service furnished by the most closely competitive service organization to White Way Cleaners, Inc.

The service outlets of White Way Cleaners, Inc., may sell the new service at the proposed ceiling price 20 days after mailing such application to the Director of Price Stabilization, Washington 25, D. C. by registered letter, return receipt requested, unless and until notified that such price has been disapproved.

(6) Within 15 days after the effective date of this special order, White Way Cleaners, Inc., shall send a copy of this special order to each of its service outlets. Within 15 days after the effective date of any subsequent amendment to the special order, White Way Cleaners, Inc., shall send a copy of the amendment to each of its service outlets. Copies of this special order and any subsequent amendments to the special order shall be filed by each service outlet with their local OPS office within 30 days after the issuance thereof.

(7) This special order does not relieve the individual sellers covered by this order from the filing and posting requirements in section 18 of Ceiling Price Regulation 34.

(8) All provisions of Ceiling Price Regulation 34, except as changed by the pricing provisions of this special order shall remain in full force and effect as far as each outlet of White Way Cleaners, Inc., is concerned.

(9) This special order or any provisions thereof may be revoked, suspended, or amended by the Director of Price Stabilization at any time.

(10) The provisions of this special order are applicable in the United States and the District of Columbia.

GENERAL MOTORS CORP.

CEILING PRICE FOR WHOLESALE LABOR WARRANTY SERVICES ON MODEL ICMR-12, "ZERO SELF-SERVER"

Statement of considerations. This Special Order 3, issued upon application of General Motors Corporation, 3044 West Grand Boulevard, Detroit, Michigan, pursuant to section 3 of Supplementary Regulation 16 to Ceiling Price Regulation 34, establishes the ceiling price for first-year wholesale labor warranty services rendered to General Motors Corporation, or its authorized distributors or dealers, on Model ICMR-12, "Zero Self-Server", by dealers who have not sold the commodity to be serviced or by central service firms.

Section 3 of Supplementary Regulation 16 to Ceiling Price Regulation 34 provides that a manufacturer who is offering for sale a new model of an existing commodity, and who has customarily set or proposed uniform prices that have been adopted throughout the United States for wholesale labor warranty services sold by its dealers, or by central service firms, to it or its distributor organization, as an incident of the sale of commodities, may apply to the Office of Price Stabilization, Service Trades Branch, Washington 25, D. C., for a ceiling price for each new wholesale labor warranty service.

Model ICMR-12, "Zero Self-Server", is a new model of an existing commodity manufactured by General Motors Corporation which has customarily set or proposed uniform prices that have been adopted throughout the United States for wholesale labor warranty services sold by its dealers or by central service firms to it, or its distributor organization, as an incident of the sale of commodities.

The contracts General Motors Corporation has with its authorized dealers require the dealers to provide labor warranty services to customers to whom they sell commodities, without any charge to anyone other than their markup on the commodity. If the dealer who sells the commodity, however, has no service department, or if one dealer sells in another dealer's service area, or if the customer moves from one service area to another, and in some other circumstances, the dealer who sells the commodity is not required to provide such warranty services, but he is required to pay a uniform price, set by General Motors Corporation, to his distributor who in turn will pay that price to another dealer, or to a central service firm, to provide such labor warranty services. When the commodity to be serviced is located in the service area of a different distributor, the distributor whose dealer sold the commodity pays the price for the labor warranty service to General Motors Corporation which in turn pays it to the distributor in whose service area the commodity is located, who in turn pays it to a dealer or central service firm to provide labor warranty services.

The ceiling price established by this Special Order is based upon anticipated direct labor costs of rendering the wholesale labor warranty service, and is in line with the ceiling prices for comparable wholesale labor warranty services furnished to General Motors Corporation. This ceiling price does not include the cost of new parts, which will be furnished by General Motors Corporation without charge to anyone.

This Special Order applies only to wholesale labor warranty services furnished to General Motors Corporation, or to its distributors or dealers, by dealers who have not sold the commodities to be serviced, or by central service firms.

Special provisions. For the reasons set forth in the Statement of Considerations and pursuant to section 3 of Supplementary Regulation 16 to Ceiling Price Regulation 34, this Special Order is hereby issued.

1. The ceiling price which General Motors Corporation, 3044 West Grand Boulevard, Detroit, Michigan, may pay for first-year wholesale labor warranty services, exclusive of new parts which will be furnished by General Motors Corporation without charge to anyone, on the commodity described below, to central service firms or dealers who have not sold the commodity, and which such central service firms or dealers may charge General Motors Corporation or its distributors or dealers for such services is as follows:

Commodity	Ceiling Price for first-year Wholesale Labor Warranty Services
Model ICMR-12, "Zero Self-Server"	$28.25

2. Section 18 (c) of Ceiling Price Regulation 34 does not apply to services covered by this Special Order. All other provisions of Ceiling Price Regulation 34 except as changed by this Special Order remain in effect as to such services.

3. This Special Order, or any provision thereof, may be revoked, suspended, or amended by the Director of Price Stabilization at any time.

Effective date. This Special Order shall become effective September 11, 1952.

TIGHE E. WOODS,
Director of Price Stabilization.

[Tokay Grape Order 2]

PART 951—TOKAY GRAPES GROWN IN SAN JOAQUIN AND SACRAMENTO COUNTIES IN CALIFORNIA

LIMITATION OF DAILY SHIPMENTS

§ 951.314 Tokay Grape Order 2—(a) Findings. (1) pursuant to the marketing agreement, as amended, and Order No. 51, as amended (7 CFR Part 951; 17 F. R. 7417), regulating the handling of Tokay grapes grown in San Joaquin and Sacramento Counties in the State of California, effective under the applicable provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended, and upon the basis of the recommendations of the Industry Committee, established under the aforesaid amended marketing agreement and order, and upon other available information, it is hereby found that the limitation of daily shipments of Tokay grapes, as hereinafter provided, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act.

(2) It is hereby further found that it is impracticable and contrary to the public interest to give preliminary notice, engage in public rule making procedure, and postpone the effective date of this section until 30 days after publication thereof in the FEDERAL REGISTER (60 Stat. 237; 5 U. S. C. 1001 et seq.) in that, as hereinafter set forth, the time intervening between the date when information upon which this section is based became available and the time when this section must become effective in order to effectuate the declared policy of the act is insufficient; a reasonable time is permitted, under the circumstances, for preparation for such effective time; and good cause exists for making the provisions of this section effective not later than September 17, 1952. A reasonable determination as to the supply of, and the demand for, Tokay grapes must await development of the crop and the information upon which the recommendations of the Industry Committee are based was not available to said Committee until September 12, 1952; recommendations as to the need for, and the extent of, regulation of the volume of daily shipments of such grapes were made at the meeting of said Committee on September 12, 1952, at which time the recommendations and supporting information were transmitted to the Department; shipments of the current crop of such grapes are already under way and are subject to regulation by grades and sizes pursuant to Tokay Grape Order 1 (§ 951.313; 17 F. R. 7774); in order to effectuate the declared policy of the act, the advisable quantity should be an amount not in excess of the equivalent of 132,600 standard packages; the daily volume of shipments of Tokay grapes currently exceeds such advisable quantity; and compliance with the provisions of this section will not require of handlers any preparation therefor which cannot be completed by the effective time of this section.

(b) Order. (1) During the period beginning at 12:01 a. m., P. s. t., September 17, 1952, and ending at 12:01 a. m., P. s. t., October 11, 1952:

(i) The daily shipments of grapes shall be limited in accordance with the provisions of §§ 951.60 through 951.68 of said amended marketing agreement and said amended order; and

(ii) The total quantity of grapes advisable to be shipped each day shall be 132,600 standard packages or the equivalent quantity thereof.

(2) As used in this section, the terms "shipments," "shipped," "grapes," and "advisable" shall have the same meaning as when used in said amended marketing agreement and order; and the term "standard packages" shall have the meaning set forth therefor in § 951.103 of the Industry Committee regulations (7 CFR Part 951).

(Sec. 5, 49 Stat. 753, as amended; 7 U. S. C. and Sup. 608c)

[B. A. I. Order 309, Amdt. 12]

PART 76—HOG CHOLERA, SWINE PLAGUE, AND OTHER COMMUNICABLE SWINE DISEASES

CHANGES IN AREAS QUARANTINED BECAUSE OF VESICULAR EXANTHEMA

Pursuant to the authority conferred by sections 1 and 3 of the act of March 3, 1905, as amended (21 U. S. C. 123 and 125), sections 1 and 2 of the act of February 2, 1903, as amended (21 U. S. C. 111 and 120), and section 7 of the act of May 29, 1884, as amended (21 U. S. C. 117), § 76.10 in Part 76 of Title 9, Code of Federal Regulations, containing a notice of the existence in certain areas of the swine disease known as vesicular exanthema and establishing a quarantine because of such disease, is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 76.10 Notice and quarantine. (a) Notice is hereby given that the contagious, infectious and communicable disease of swine known as vesicular exanthema exists in the following areas:

The State of California;
Muscogee County in Georgia;
Cook County in Illinois;
Sedgwick County in Kansas;
Kaw Township in Jackson County in Missouri;
Ashland, Benson, Florence, Loveland, May, McHugh, Moorhead, Omaha, Ralston, and Union Townships in Douglas County; Platte Township in Dodge County and Alda Township in Hall County in Nebraska;
Burlington Gloucester, Hudson, Morris, and Ocean Counties in New Jersey;
New York County and Clarkstown Township in Rockland County, in New York;
Oklahoma County in Oklahoma;
Townships 1 and 2 North, Range 1 East of Willamette Meridian, in Multnomah County in Oregon;

(b) The Secretary of Agriculture, having determined that swine in the States named in paragraph (a) of this section are affected with the contagious, infectious and comunicable disease known as vesicular exanthema and that it is necessary to quarantine the areas specified in paragraph (a) of this section and the following additional areas in such States, in order to prevent the spread of said disease from such States, hereby quarantines the areas specified in paragraph (a) of this section and in addition Bergen, Essex, Hunterdon, and Union Counties in New Jersey.

Effective date. This amendment shall become effective upon issuance.

This amendment includes within the areas in which vesicular exanthema has been found to exist, and in which a quarantine has been established,

Muscogee County in Georgia;
Sedgwick County in Kansas; and Oklahoma County in Oklahoma.

Hereafter, all of the restrictions of the quarantine and regulations in 9 CFR Part 76, Subpart B, as amended (17 F. R. 7070, 7927) apply with respect to shipments of swine and carcasses, parts and offal of swine from these localities.

This amendment excludes from the areas in which vesicular exanthema has been found to exist, and in which a quarantine has been established, the area within the corporate limits of Kansas City in Wyandotte County, in Kansas; and the City of Baltimore in Maryland; Richland Township in Sarpy County, in Nebraska; Lancaster County in Pennsylvania; that part of Sioux Falls Township in Minnehaha County, in South Dakota, lying east of U. S. Highway 77 (Cliff Avenue in the City of Sioux Falls) and north of U. S. Highway 16 (10th Street in the City of Sioux Falls); Township 25 North, Range 5 West in King County in Washington. Hereafter, none of the restrictions of the quarantine and regulations in 9 CFR Part 76, Subpart B, as amended (17 F. R. 7070, 7927) apply with respect to shipments of swine, and carcasses, parts and offal of swine from these localities.

The foregoing amendment in part relieves restrictions presently imposed and must be made effective immediately to be of maximum benefit to persons subject to such restrictions. In part the amendment imposes further restrictions necessary to prevent the spread of vesicular exanthema, a communicable disease of swine, and to this extent it must be made effective immediately to accomplish its purpose in the public interest. Accordingly, under section 4 of the Administrative Procedure Act (5 U. S. C. 1003) it is found upon good cause that notice and other public procedure with respect to the foregoing amendment are impracticable and contrary to the public interest and good cause is found for making the amendment effective less than 30 days after publication hereof in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

(Secs. 4, 5, 23 Stat. 32, as amended, sec. 2, 32 Stat. 792 as amended, sec. 3, 33 Stat. 1265, as amended; 21 U. S. C. 111, 120, 125. Interprets or applies sec. 7, 23 Stat. 32, as amended, sec. 1, 33 Stat. 1264, as amended; 21 U. S. C. 117, 123)

Subchapter A—Civil Air Regulations

[Supp. 7]

PART 6—ROTORCRAFT AIRWORTHINESS

DISTRIBUTION OF VERTICAL GROUND REACTION LOADS AND DETERMINATION OF ANGULAR INERTIA LOADS

This supplement is issued for the purpose of clarifying in detail the equilibrium conditions for § 6.231 (b) (2) and shall become effective upon publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

§ 6.231-1 Distribution of vertical ground reaction loads and determination of angular inertia loads (CAA interpretations which apply to § 6.231 (b) (2)). (a) Although § 6.231 (b) (2) states that the vertical loads are those specified in § 6.231 (b) (1), the distribution of the vertical loads among the ground reaction points is not necessarily the same for the two subparagraphs since the requirements of § 6.230 must be met. Section 6.230 (a) states, in part, that the external loads shall be placed in equilibrium with the linear and angular inertia loads in a rational or conservative manner.

(b) Compliance with § 6.231 (b) (2) is interpreted to require that a vertical inertia load of nW and a horizontal inertia load of 0.25 nW be applied at the center of gravity. For the level landing with drag on all wheels, the vertical ground reaction loads should be distributed between the forward and rear wheels to place the ground reaction loads in equilibrium with the rotorcraft linear inertia loads. For the level landing with drag on main wheels only, the pitching moments arising from the vertical and horizontal ground reactions should be placed in equilibrium with an angular inertia load about the c. g.

(c) The drag load at each wheel, in both cases, is required to be equal to 0.25 times the respective wheel vertical load.

(Sec. 205, 52 Stat. 984, as amended; 49 U. S. C. 425. Interprets or applies sec. 603, 52 Stat. 1009, as amended; 49 U. S. C. 553)

Acting Administrator of Civil Aeronautics.

In the Matter of Encyclopedia Britannica, Inc., a Corporation

This proceeding was heard by William L. Pack, hearing examiner, upon the complaint of the Commission, respondent's answer, and hearings at which testimony and other evidence, duly recorded and filed in the office of the Commission, were introduced before said examiner, theretofore duly designated by the Commission.

At the conclusion of the reception of such evidence in support of the complaint, counsel for the respondent filed with the Commission a motion to dismiss the complaint for failure of proof, which the Commission granted as to certain charges and denied as to certain other charges. Counsel for respondent having elected to introduce no evidence in opposition to the charges remaining in the complaint, the proceeding was closed by said examiner insofar as the reception of evidence was concerned.

Thereafter the proceeding regularly came on for final consideration by said examiner upon the complaint, answer, testimony and other evidence with respect to those charges remaining in the complaint, and proposed findings and conclusions submitted by counsel supporting the complaint (counsel for respondent having elected not to submit such proposals, and oral argument not having been requested), and said examiner, having duly considered the matter and having found that the proceeding was in the interest of the public, made his initial decision comprising certain findings as to the facts,[1] conclusion drawn therefrom, and order to cease and desist.

Thereafter, the matter was disposed of by the Commission's "Order denying the appeal of counsel supporting the complaint from initial decision of the hearing examiner, decision of the Commission and order to file report of compliance", Docket 5384, June 12, 1952, as follows:

This matter came on to be heard by the Commission upon the appeal of counsel supporting the complaint from the initial decision of the hearing examiner herein and upon the briefs submitted in support of and in opposition to said appeal.

Counsel supporting the complaint under the first, third, fourth and fifth of his exceptions challenges, among other things, the hearing examiner's use of various words and terms such as "erroneous", "inherently erroneous and misleading", and "unwarranted and misleading" to characterize certain of the representations occurring during respondent's house-to-house sales presentations to the public and, in urging that they instead should be characterized as false, contends, in effect, that this is necessary and proper in order that any findings as to the facts issuing herein be not susceptible to an interpretation that the instances of misrepresentation disclosed by the record are but few in number or that they represent inadvertent, unintentional mistakes on the part of respondent and its representatives. Counsel asserts also that supporting his contentions of error in this respect is the fact that the order of the Commission, dated April 25, 1951, ruling upon respondent's previously filed motion to dismiss contained recitations in detail of various representations and statements which the testimony indicated had been used by salesmen in respondent's sales presentations.

With respect to the circumstance last referred to, namely, the wording of the order of April 25, 1951, no requirement exists that hearing examiners subsequently adopt, verbatim, in the preparation of initial decisions such language relevant to the matters to be stated as may have appeared in the Commission's own interlocutory orders. The Commission, morevoer, does not share the view that the statements to which counsel's objections are interposed may be interpreted reasonably as an expression that the misrepresentation heretofore engaged in has occurred only in isolated instances or is attributable to inadvertent or unintentional error. The Commission is of the opinion that no error is presented by reason of the hearing examiner's use of the expressions excepted to in the particular contexts in which they occur or by reason of his failure, in such connection, to additionally characterize respondent's misrepresentations as false.

Under counsel's third exception, additional objection is directed to the words "unquestionably" and "already" appearing in Paragraph Four of the initial decision, counsel alleging in such connection that they have "significantly enthusiastic and complimentary implications." This position is untenable and it is deemed appropriate by the Commission for a hearing examiner to make reference to the circumstance that a party to a proceeding previously or already has discontinued a practice as the hearing examiner has done in the instant case in reference to respondent's former use of the term "School Advancement Program" to designate its sales plan, and it is noted in passing, in this connection also, that he properly concluded, in effect, that the public interest now requires a prohibition against any resumption of its use. In reference to the objection interposed to the word "unquestionably", counsel has advanced no reason why the value of reference books, as distinguished from their essentiality, in the preparation of student home work, should be regarded as questionable.

Counsel interposes objection in his second exception to the omission from the initial decision of a detailed narration of the statements made by respondent's salesmen in the course of those sales presentations which the hearing examiner deems to have been misrepresentative. Counsel does not urge, however, that the conclusions appearing in the initial decision characterizing the representations made by respondent as deceptive in import are erroneous conclusions nor does he contend that the prohibitions contained in the order are inadequate or not responsive to the record, and this exception clearly is without merit.

As a sixth ground for appeal, counsel supporting the complaint objects to the form of Paragraph Six of the hearing examiner's findings and, among other things, contends that, by there grouping together for discussion three of the charges of the complaint, the greater relative gravity which counsel feels adheres in one of such charges becomes obscured. It does not appear to the Commission that the recitations of this paragraph are characterized by a lack of proper emphasis or are erroneous otherwise, and this exception is not being granted.

The hearing examiner found that respondent has represented, contrary to fact, that its customary and usual prices were special or reduced prices and applicable only for a limited period of time, and the last of counsel's exceptions expresses objection to the hearing examiner's failure to find that sales agents falsely represented that savings of $120.00, in one instance, and of $60.00, in another instance, would be afforded to purchasers buying these reference books under the sales promotion being conducted locally. It does not appear that the hearing examiner failed to give consideration to the testimony to which this exception relates nor are any reasons advanced as bases for concluding that the omission of these matters from the findings as to the facts renders them erroneous substantively or that the order contained in the initial decision is deficient, and this exception is accordingly rejected.

The Commission, therefore, being of the opinion that counsel's appeal is without merit and that the initial decision of the hearing examiner constitutes an adequate and appropriate disposition of this proceeding:

It is ordered, That the aforesaid appeal from the initial decision of the hearing examiner be, and it hereby is, denied.

It is further ordered, That the initial decision of the hearing examiner, a copy of which is attached, shall, on the 12th day of June 1952, become the decision of the Commission.

It is further ordered, That the respondent shall, within sixty (60) days after service upon it of this order, file with the Commission a report in writing setting forth in detail the manner and form in which it has complied with the order to cease and desist.

The order in said initial decision, thus made the decision of the Commission, is as follows:

It is ordered, That the respondent, Encyclopedia Britannica, Inc., a corporation, and its officers, representatives, agents and employees, directly or through any corporate or other device, in connection with the offering for sale, sale and distribution in commerce, as "commerce" is defined in the Federal Trade Commission Act, of respondent's books designated Britannica Junior, or any substantially similar books, by whatever name designated, do forthwith cease and desist from:

1. Using the words "School Advancement Program" or any words of similar import to designate, describe or refer to respondent's sales plan known as the "15 for 1" plan, or any substantially similar plan; or otherwise representing directly or by implication, that any such sales plan is designed primarily for the benefit or improvement of schools or of any particular school.

2. Representing, directly or by implication, that the sale of books under respondent's sales plan known as the "15 for 1" plan, or under any substantially similar plan, is being sponsored by any school or school official, unless the school or official referred to is in fact sponsoring such sale.

3. Representing, directly or by implication, that the prices at which said books are offered for sale are special or reduced prices or are applicable for a limited time only, when such prices are in fact the customary and usual prices at which said books are sold by respondent in its regular and normal course of business.

4. Representing, directly or by implication, that said books are essential or indispensable to the proper preparation by pupils of their school homework.

Thereafter, upon permission granted by said hearing examiner, respondents withdrew their said answer to the complaint and filed a new answer which, subject to the condition that the Commission take no action herein until its final determination of the matter of Superior Products Company, Inc., Docket No. 5561, admitted all of the material allegations of fact in said complaint and waived all intervening procedure, including the filing of a recommended decision by the hearing examiner, but which expressly reserved respondents' right of appeal from any decision of the Commission herein. Thereafter, this proceeding regularly came on for final hearing before the Commission upon the aforesaid complaint and respondents' answer admitting all of the material allegations of fact therein (the Commission in the meantime having issued its order to cease and desist in the matter of Superior Products Company, Inc.); and the Commission having duly considered the matter and being now fully advised in the premises, finds that this proceeding is in the interest of the public and makes this its findings as to the facts[1] and its conclusion[1] drawn therefrom.

No answer having been filed to said complaint within the time permitted under the Commission's rules of practice, hearings were held at which testimony and other evidence in support of and in opposition to the allegations of the complaint were introduced before a hearing examiner of the Commission theretofore designated by it, and such testimony and other evidence were duly recorded and filed in the office of the Commission. This proceeding having been heard by the Federal Trade Commission upon the complaint of the Commission, the answer of respondent Albert Greenberg admitting all of the material facts alleged therein and waiving all intervening procedure as to him, testimony and other evidence relating to the allegations of the complaint as to respondent P. (c) "Compensation" means the money payments under title IV to veterans with respect to their unemployment.

(d) "Interstate Benefit Payment Plan" means the plan, in which the employment security agencies of all States (except Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands) are participating, which provides for the payment of benefits to claimants who are not in the State in which they have qualifying wage credits, and also establishes uniform interstate appeals procedures. Under this plan a "liable State" is a State against which a worker claims benefits through the facilities of the employment security agency of another (agent) State.

(e) "State law" means a State unemployment compensation or employment security law, but shall not include the law providing unemployment compensation for sugar workers in Puerto Rico (Act No. 356, approved May 15, 1948, as amended).

(f) "Federal law" means a Federal unemployment compensation law, including the Railroad Unemployment Insurance Act (52 Stat. 1094), as amended, and title V of the Servicemen's Readjustment Act of 1944 (58 Stat. 284), as amended.

(g) "Veteran" means any person who has served in the active service in the Army, Navy, Air Force, Marine Corps, or Coast Guard of the United States at any time on or after June 27, 1950, and prior to a date that shall be determined by Presidential proclamation or concurrent resolution of the Congress, and who has been discharged or released from such active service under conditions other than dishonorable after continuous service of ninety days or more, or by reason of an actual service-incurred injury or disability.

(h) "Week" means a week as defined in the applicable State law.

(i) "Secretary" means the Secretary of Labor.

(j) "State" includes Hawaii, Alaska, Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands, and the District of Columbia.

§ 606.2 Effective date of program. Compensation under title IV shall be payable for weeks of unemployment beginning after October 14, 1952. For any State operating under a flexible week for benefit payment purposes the first week for which compensation can be paid will start on October 15, 1952; for any State operating under a calendar week for benefit payment purposes the first week for which compensation can be paid will start on October 19, 1952; and for any State operating under any other statutory week for benefit payment purposes the first week for which compensation can be paid will start on the first day of the first such statutory week beginning after October 14, 1952.

§ 606.3 Determination of veteran status under title IV. (a) The agency of the State whose law is applicable in accordance with § 606.5 shall determine an individual's status as a veteran under title IV when the individual files his first request for such determination. Such a determination shall be subject to redetermination or modification only by such State even if additional evidence is adduced after the individual has moved to another State. A status determination by Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands, or the Secretary acting in the absence of an agreement, pursuant to regulations prescribed under title IV, shall be binding on all States.

(b) If an individual is found to have had a period of service which would make him a veteran under title IV, his status as a veteran shall not be affected by the fact that he may be or may have been discharged or released under dishonorable conditions from some other period of service.

§ 606.4 Constructive eligibility. Whenever an individual meets the qualifying wage or employment requirements of any State or other Federal law or would meet them but for the provisions of title IV or any action taken by him under such title or his failure to file a claim for benefits, he shall be deemed eligible for unemployment benefits under such State or Federal law for purposes of title IV. Whenever an individual does not meet the qualifying wage or employment requirements of any State or other Federal law for a reason other than the provisions of title IV or any action taken by him under such title or his failure to file a claim for benefits, he shall be deemed not eligible for unemployment benefits under such State or Federal law for purposes of title IV.

§ 606.5 Applicable State law. (a) An individual who is eligible for unemployment benefits under a State law shall have any rights to compensation, which he claims under title IV to supplement his State benefits, determined in accordance with the law of such State. An individual who is eligible for unemployment benefits under more than one State law shall have any rights to compensation, which he claims under title IV to supplement his State benefits, determined under the law of the State selected as the liable State in accordance with the order of liability of States provided in the Interstate Benefit Payment Plan.

(b) An individual who is not eligible for unemployment benefits under any State law shall have his rights to compensation under title IV determined in accordance with the law of the State in which he files a claim for compensation. If a veteran moves to another State and files a claim for compensation under title IV, his claim shall be transferred to such State (or to the Secretary if the State to which he moves has no agreement under this title), unless:

(1) His stay in such State is of a temporary or transitory nature, or

(2) His claim is subject to a disqualification or postponement of compensation, or he has been disqualified because of a strike, lockout or other industrial controversy, not yet terminated at the establishment where he is or was last employed, or

(3) A determination regarding such disqualification or postponement has been made but is not final because of a pending hearing or appeal.

When a transfer is not made, because of any of the reasons above, any claim for compensation shall be filed as an interstate claim against the State from which the veteran moved.

(c) The State to which a veteran's claim for compensation under title IV is transferred shall make no determination of his rights to such compensation and shall pay no such compensation with respect to any period for which the State from which the claim is transferred (or the Secretary acting in the absence of an agreement) has previously made a determination.

(d) The agency of the State which determines rights to compensation under title IV shall pay such compensation in accordance with the State law, except for the weekly amount and maximum potential duration of such compensation and subject to §§ 606.6, 606.7, 606.8, 606.9 and 606.10.

§ 606.6 Waiting period. If a veteran who files a claim for compensation under title IV is not eligible for unemployment benefits under any State law, no waiting period shall apply. The waiting-period provisions of the applicable State law shall, however, apply to a veteran claiming compensation under title IV who is eligible for unemployment benefits under a State law; Provided, however, That no compensation under title IV shall be paid to a veteran who is serving a waiting period required by the Railroad Unemployment Insurance Act.

§ 606.7 Compensation for weeks of unemployment. (a) Compensation under title IV shall be payable to veterans during the effective period of title IV without regard to State benefit-year provisions. Such compensation shall be payable at a rate of $26 per week in accordance with the applicable State law for weeks of total unemployment and for weeks of less than full-time work until the total amount of compensation received under title IV equals $676.

(b) (1) If a veteran is eligible for unemployment benefits under any State or other Federal law at a rate less than $26 (including the amount of dependents' allowance, if any) for a week of total unemployment, compensation under title IV for a week of total unemployment shall be payable at a rate of $26 per week less the amount of such benefits.

(2) If a veteran is not eligible for unemployment benefits under any State or other Federal law, compensation under title IV for a week of total unemployment shall be payable at a rate of $26 per week.

(c) (1) If a veteran is eligible for unemployment benefits under any State or other Federal law at a rate less than $26 (including the amount of dependents' allowance, if any) for a week of total unemployment, the amount of compensation under title IV for a week of less than full-time work shall be the difference between the amount of such benefits and an amount calculated in accordance with the provisions of the applicable State law on the basis of a $26 rate for the week. The entire amount so calculated shall be payable under title IV if the earnings of the veteran for the week are such that no State or other Federal benefits are payable.

(2) If a veteran is not eligible for unemployment benefits under any State or other Federal law, the amount of compensation under title IV payable to him for any week of less than full-time work shall be determined in accordance with the applicable State law, except that $26 shall be used as the weekly benefit amount for determining whether or not the veteran is unemployed and the amount of his compensation under title IV for such week. Any earnings disregarded under the applicable State law shall also be disregarded in determining the amount of his compensation under title IV for the week.

§ 606.8 Nonduplication of benefits under State or Federal law. (a) Whenever a veteran is eligible for unemployment benefits under any State or other Federal law at a rate of $26 or more (including the amount of dependents' allowance, if any) per week, he is not entitled to receive any compensation under title IV during the period for which he is eligible for such benefits, including waiting weeks and the effective period of disqualification or other postponement of benefits incurred in the course of a claim for benefits.

(b) Whenever a veteran is eligible for unemployment benefits under any State or other Federal law at a rate of less than $26 (including the amount of dependents' allowance, if any) per week, he may be paid compensation under title IV as a supplement to such benefits only with respect to weeks for which he meets the applicable conditions for payment of benefits, and is not disqualified, under the applicable State law: Provided, however, That such veteran may receive the supplement if he is denied benefits under such law because of title IV or any action taken by him under such title or because he is seeking or receiving benefits under any unemployment compensation law. Provided further, That this limitation shall not prevent the payment of compensation under title IV for a week of less than full-time work when the earnings are such that no State or other Federal benefits are payable.

(c) Compensation under title IV shall not be paid:

(1) For any period with respect to which the agency finds that a veteran receives an education and training allowance under subsection (a), (b), (c) or (d) of section 232 of the Veterans' Readjustment Assistance Act of 1952 or a subsistence allowance under part VII or part VIII of Veterans Regulation Numbered 1 (a), as amended; or

(2) For any period with respect to which the agency finds that a veteran receives additional compensation necessary for his maintenance under section 6(b) (2) of the Federal Employees' Compensation Act (39 Stat. 742), as amended.

§ 606.9 Applicability of State disqualifications. (a) All provisions of the applicable State law regarding disqualifications shall apply to a veteran filing a claim for compensation under title IV, except that:

(1) No veteran shall be disqualified for compensation under title IV solely because he is seeking or receiving benefits under title IV or any other unemployment compensation law, and

(2) No cancellation of wage credits or reduction of benefit rights under a State law shall be applied in such a manner as to result in a reduction of the maximum amount of compensation provided under title IV, but any such cancellation or reduction shall, so far as practicable, be given an equivalent effect by postponement of compensation under title IV; if the provision of the applicable State law cannot be given equivalent effect then the disqualification shall be a postponement of payments of compensation for a period of 1 to 20 weeks as determined by the agency in accordance with the circumstances in each case.

(b) Any benefit-year limitations on the maximum disqualification or period of postponement provided in the applicable State law shall be given equivalent effect in the case of a claim under title IV.

§ 606.10 Overpayments. (a) In cases where a veteran has received an overpayment of title IV compensation as a result of false statements knowingly made or material facts knowingly withheld as provided for in section 405 (b) of title IV, he shall be liable to repay any such outstanding overpayment; or, in the discretion of the agency, there may be offset against any such outstanding overpayment any future compensation payable to him under title IV if the existence of such nondisclosure or misrepresentation has been found by a court of competent jurisdiction or in connection with a reconsideration or appeal: Provided, however, That such offset is limited to future compensation payable to him under title IV within the two-year period following such finding.

(b) Except in cases where false statements are knowingly made or material facts are knowingly withheld as provided for in section 405 (b), the law of the State shall determine whether a veteran who has received an overpayment of compensation under title IV which he has not repaid shall receive any future compensation payable under title IV, or shall be liable to repay such overpayment, or whether there shall be permitted an offset of any future compensation payable to him under title IV against such outstanding overpayment, or whether a waiver of such overpayment shall be permitted.

§ 606.11 Appeals. All hearings and appeals regarding a determination rendered by a State shall be heard and decided by the State adjudicating authorities and under the conditions established by the law of such State. If the veteran is in or has moved to a State other than the State which rendered the determination, the interstate appeals procedure, as established under the Interstate Benefit Payment Plan, shall apply.

Effective date. This part shall take effect on October 15, 1952.

Signed at Washington, D. C., this 9th day of September 1952.

MAURICE J. TOBIN,
Secretary of Labor.

(e) "Veteran" means any person who has served in the active service in the Army, Navy, Air Force, Marine Corps, or Coast Guard of the United States at any time on or after June 27, 1950, and prior to a date that shall be determined by Presidential proclamation or concurrent resolution of the Congress, and who has been discharged or released from such active service under conditions other than dishonorable after continuous service of ninety days or more, or by reason of an actual service-incurred injury or disability.

(f) "Week" means a week as defined in the applicable State law.

(g) "Secretary" means the Secretary of Labor of Puerto Rico.

(h) "Agency" means the agency in Puerto Rico or the Virgin Islands, as the case may be, which is cooperating with the United States Employment Service under the act of June 6, 1933 (48 Stat. 113).

(i) "Cooperating State" means a State which will honor claims for benefits under its unemployment compensation or employment security law from veterans in Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands eligible therefor.

(j) "State" includes Hawaii, Alaska, Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands, and the District of Columbia.

§ 607.2 Constructive eligibility. (a) Whenever a veteran in Puerto Rico or the Virgin Islands meets the qualifying wage or employment requirements of any Federal law or the law of a cooperating State, or would meet them but for the provisions of title IV or any action taken by him under such title or his failure to file a claim for benefits, he shall be deemed eligible for unemployment benefits under such Federal or State law for purposes of title IV. Whenever such veteran does not meet the qualifying wage or employment requirements of any Federal law or the law of a cooperating State for a reason other than the provisions of title IV or any action taken by him under such title or his failure to file a claim for benefits, he shall be deemed not eligible for unemployment benefits under such Federal or State law for purposes of title IV.

(b) Whenever a veteran in Puerto Rico or the Virgin Islands cannot receive unemployment benefits under any Federal or State law solely because of his being in Puerto Rico or the Virgin Islands, he shall be deemed not eligible for such benefits for purposes of title IV.

§ 607.3 Effective date of program. In the case of veterans in Puerto Rico or the Virgin Islands who are not eligible for unemployment benefits under the law of a cooperating State, compensation under title IV shall be payable with respect to weeks of unemployment beginning after October 18, 1952. In the case of veterans in Puerto Rico or the Virgin Islands who are eligible for unemployment benefits under the law of a cooperating State, the first week for which compensation under title IV will be payable shall be determined in accordance with § 606.2.

§ 607.4 Determination of veteran status under title IV. (a) The agency shall determine whether or not an individual in Puerto Rico or the Virgin Islands, who is not eligible for unemployment benefits under the law of a cooperating State, is a veteran under title IV when the individual files his first request for such determination. Such a determination shall be subject to redetermination or modification only by Puerto Rico, or the Virgin Islands, as the case may be, even if additional evidence is adduced after the individual has moved therefrom. A status determination by another State or the Secretary of Labor of the United States pursuant to regulations prescribed under title IV shall be binding on Puerto Rico or the Virgin Islands, as the case may be.

(b) If an individual is found to have had a period of service which would make him a veteran under title IV, his status as a veteran shall not be affected by the fact that he may be or have been discharged or released under dishonorable conditions from some other period of service.

§ 607.5 Applicable law. (a) A veteran in Puerto Rico or the Virgin Islands who is not eligible for unemployment benefits under the law of a cooperating State shall have his rights to compensation under title IV determined in accordance with the unemployment compensation law of the District of Columbia except for the weekly amount and maximum potential duration of such compensation and except as otherwise provided in this part. If the veteran moves to another State and files a claim for compensation under title IV, his claim shall be transferred to such State (or to the Secretary of Labor of the United States if the State to which he moves has no agreement under this title), unless:

(1) His stay in such State is of a temporary or transitory nature; or

(2) His claim is subject to a disqualification or a postponement of compensation; or

(3) A determination regarding a disqualification or a postponement has been made but is not final because of a pending hearing or appeal.

(b) Upon such transfer from Puerto Rico or the Virgin Islands, the veteran's rights to compensation shall be determined in accordance with the unemployment compensation or employment security law of the State to which the claim is transferred and in accordance with Part 606 of this chapter[1] unless such transfer is between Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands.

(c) A veteran in Puerto Rico or the Virgin Islands who is eligible for unemployment benefits under the law of a cooperating State shall have his claim for compensation under title IV forwarded to such State for determination in accordance with the law of such State and in accordance with Part 606 of this chapter.

§ 607.6 Payment. The agency in Puerto Rico shall pay compensation under title IV to veterans entitled thereto in Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands who are not eligible for unemployment benefits under the law of a cooperating State.

§ 607.7 Waiting period. The waiting-period provisions of the unemployment compensation law of the District of Columbia shall not be applied by Puerto Rico or the Virgin Islands to a veteran who files a claim for compensation under title IV: Provided, however, That no compensation under title IV shall be paid to a veteran in Puerto Rico or the Virgin Islands who is serving a waiting period required by the Railroad Unemployment Insurance Act.

§ 607.8 Compensation for weeks of unemployment. (a) Compensation under title IV shall be payable during the effective period of title IV to veterans in Puerto Rico or the Virgin Islands, who are not eligible for unemployment benefits under the law of a cooperating State, without regard to the benefit-year provisions of the unemployment compensation law of the District of Columbia until the total amount of compensation received under title IV equals $676.

(b) (1) If such veteran is eligible for unemployment benefits under any other Federal law, or, in the case of a veteran in Puerto Rico, under any law of Puerto Rico, at a rate less than $26 (including the amount of dependents' allowance, if any) for a week of total unemployment, compensation under title IV for a week of total unemployment shall be payable at the rate of $26 per week less the amount of such benefits.

(2) If such veteran is not eligible for unemployment benefits under any other Federal law, or, in the case of a veteran in Puerto Rico, under any law of Puerto Rico, compensation under title IV for a week of total unemployment shall be payable at the rate of $26 per week.

(c) (1) If such veteran is eligible for unemployment benefits under any other Federal law at a rate less than $26 (including the amount of dependents' allowance, if any) for a week of total unemployment, the amount of compensation under title IV for a week of less than full-time work shall be the difference between the amount of such benefits for the week and an amount calculated in accordance with the unemployment compensation law of the District of Columbia on the basis of a $26 rate for the week.

(2) If such veteran is not eligible for unemployment benefits under any other Federal law, the amount of compensation under title IV payable to him for a week of less than full-time work shall be determined in accordance with the unemployment compensation law of the District of Columbia, except that $26 shall be used as the weekly benefit amount for determining whether or not the veteran is unemployed and the amount of his compensation under title IV for such week. Any earnings disregarded under the unemployment compensation law of the District of Columbia shall also be disregarded in determining his compensation under title IV for the week.

§ 607.9 Nonduplication of benefits. (a) Whenever a veteran in Puerto Rico or the Virgin Islands is eligible for unemployment benefits under any other Federal law at a rate of $26 or more (including the amount of dependents' allowance, if any) per week, he is not entitled to receive any compensation under title IV during the period for which he is eligible for such benefits, including waiting weeks and the effective period of disqualification or other postponement of benefits incurred in the course of a claim for benefits.

(b) Whenever a veteran in Puerto Rico or the Virgin Islands is eligible for unemployment benefits under any other Federal law at a rate of less than $26 (including the amount of dependents' allowance, if any) per week, he may be paid compensation under title IV as a supplement to such benefits only with respect to weeks for which he meets the applicable conditions for payment of benefits and is not disqualified under the unemployment compensation law of the District of Columbia: Provided, however, That such veteran may receive the supplement if he is denied benefits under such law because of title IV or any action taken by him under such title or because he is seeking or receiving benefits under any unemployment compensation law.

(c) Compensation under title IV shall not be paid:

(1) For any period with respect to which agency finds that a veteran receives an education and training allowance under subsection (a), (b), (c) or (d) of section 232 of the Veterans' Readjustment Assistance Act of 1952 or a subsistance allowance under part VII or Part VIII of Veterans Regulations Numbered 1 (a), as amended; or

(2) For any period with respect to which the agency finds that a veteran receives additional compensation necessary for his maintenance under section 6(b)(2) of the Federal Employees' Compensation Act (39 Stat. 742), as amended.

§ 607.10 Disqualifications. (a) The claim for compensation under title IV of a veteran in Puerto Rico or the Virgin Islands who is not eligible for unemployment benefits under the law of a cooperating State shall be subject to all provisions of the unemployment compensation law of the District of Columbia with respect to disqualifications, except that no such veteran shall be disqualified for compensation under title IV solely because he is seeking or receiving benefits under title IV or any other unemployment compensation law.

(b) The claim for compensation under title IV of a veteran in Puerto Rico or the Virgin Islands who is eligible for unemployment benefits under the law of a cooperating State shall be subject to the applicable State law with respect to disqualifications in the manner provided for in § 606.8 of this chapter.

§ 607.11 Overpayments. (a) In cases where a claimant in Puerto Rico or the Virgin Islands who is not eligible for unemployment benefits under the law of a cooperating State and who has received an overpayment of title IV compensation as a result of false statements knowingly made or material facts knowingly withheld as provided for in section 405 (b) of title IV, he shall be liable to repay such outstanding overpayment; or, in the discretion of the agency, there may be offset against any such outstanding overpayment any future compensation payable to him under title IV if the existence of such nondisclosure or misrepresentation has been found by a court of competent jurisdiction or in connection with a reconsideration or appeal: Provided, however, That such offset is limited to future compensation payable to him under title IV within the two-year period following such finding.

(b) Except in cases where false statements are knowingly made or material facts are knowingly withheld as provided for in section 405 (b), the unemployment compensation law of the District of Columbia shall determine whether a claimant in Puerto Rico or the Virgin Islands who is not eligible for unemployment benefits under the law of a cooperating State and who has received an overpayment of compensation under title IV which he has not repaid shall receive any future compensation payable under title IV, or shall be liable to repay such overpayment, or whether there shall be permitted an offset of any future compensation payable to him under title IV against such outstanding overpayment, or whether a waiver of such overpayment shall be permitted.

§ 607.12 Determination. Promptly after a claimant in Puerto Rico or the Virgin Islands who is not eligible for unemployment benefits under the law of a cooperating State files a claim for compensation under title IV, an officer or employee of the agency in Puerto Rico or the Virgin Islands shall make a determination with respect to whether or not such compensation is payable, and if payable, the week with respect to which payments will commence and the maximum potential duration of such payments. A determination may, for good cause, be reconsidered. The claimant shall be promptly notified of the determination and of any amended determinations and the reasons for any denial of compensation under title IV. If such determination awards compensation under title IV, such compensation shall be paid promptly.

§ 607.13 Appointment of referees. The Secretary shall appoint one or more referees in Puerto Rico to hear and decide appealed claims in accordance with this part. The Territorial Representative of the United States Department of Labor shall act as the referee in the Virgin Islands to hear and decide appealed claims in accordance with this part.

§ 607.14 Filing and perfecting an appeal before a referee. If his claim is denied, the claimant may appeal from a determination or a reconsidered determination within ten days after the mailing of notice and a copy of such a determination to such claimant's last known address, or, in the absence of mailing, within ten days after delivery thereof to such claimant. Any appeal shall be in writing and may be filed with any office of the appropriate agency.

§ 607.15 Notice of appeal to referee. Notice that an appeal has been filed may, in the discretion of the referee, be given or mailed to any person who has offered or is believed to have evidence with respect to the claim.

§ 607.16 Scheduling and notice of hearing before referee. Appeals to a referee shall be promptly scheduled and heard. Written notice of hearing, specifying the time and place thereof, and those questions which are known to be in dispute shall be given or mailed to the claimant, the agency, and any person who has offered or is believed to have evidence with respect to the claim seven days or more before the hearing, Provided, however, That a shorter notice period may be used if consented to by the claimant.

§ 607.17 Conduct of hearings. The proceedings shall be informal, fair and impartial and shall be conducted in such manner as may be best suited to determine the claimant's rights to compensation under title IV. Hearings shall, in the absence of a showing of sufficient cause for a closed hearing, be open to the public. The referee shall open the hearings by ascertaining and summarizing the issue or issues involved in the appeal. The claimant and his representative may examine and cross-examine witnesses, inspect documents, and explain or rebut any evidence. An opportunity to present argument shall be afforded the claimant, which argument shall be made part of the record. Where a claimant is not represented by counsel or other representative, the referee who is conducting the hearing shall give him every assistance that does not interfere with the impartial discharge of his official duties. The referee who is conducting the hearing may examine the claimant and each witness to such extent as he deems necessary. Any issue involved in the claim shall be considered and passed upon even though such issue was not set forth as a ground for appeal.

§ 607.18 Evidence. Oral or written evidence of any nature, whether or not conforming to the legal rules of evidence, may be accepted. Any official record of Puerto Rico or the Virgin Islands, including reports submitted in connection with the administration of title IV, may be included in the record: Provided, however, That the claimant is given an opportunity to examine and rebut the same. A written statement may be accepted, if under oath or affirmation, when it appears impossible or unduly burdensome to require the attendance of a witness, provided the claimant is given an opportunity to examine such statement and to comment on or to rebut any or all thereof. Whenever possible, the claimant shall be permitted to cross-examine a witness whose testimony has been introduced in written form by written questions to be answered in writing.

§ 607.19 Record. All oral testimony shall be taken under oath or affirmation and a transcript thereof shall be made and kept. Such transcript together with all exhibits, papers and requests filed in the proceeding shall constitute the record for decision.

§ 607.20 Withdrawals. Any claimant who has filed an appeal may withdraw the same on the approval of the referee before whom the appeal is pending.

§ 607.21 Non-appearance of claimant. Failure of a claimant to appear at a hearing shall not result in decision being automatically rendered against him. The referee who is conducting the hearing shall render a decision on the basis of whatever evidence is properly before him, unless there appears to be good reason for continuing the hearing. Any claimant who fails to appear at a hearing with respect to his appeal may within seven days thereafter petition for a reopening of the hearing. Such petition shall be granted if it appears to the referee who conducted the hearing that the claimant has shown good cause for his failure to attend.

§ 607.22 Notice of decision of referee. A copy of the decision together with a statement of the reasons therefor shall promptly be given or mailed to the claimant, the agency, and to the Secretary of Labor of the United States. In the case of a claimant in Puerto Rico, there shall accompany the decision of the referee an explanation of the manner in which, and the time within which, a petition for review or an appeal to the Secretary may be filed. In the case of a claimant in the Virgin Islands, there shall accompany the decision of the referee an explanation of the rights of the claimant to judicial review and the manner in which such judicial review may be instituted.

§ 607.23 Appeals to the Secretary. If the decision of the referee in Puerto Rico affirmed or modified the determination, the claimant may appeal to the Secretary. Any such appeal shall be filed with the agency within ten days after the mailing of the notice of decision to such claimant's last known address, or in the absence of such mailing, within ten days after the delivery of such notice. Within the appeal period, the Secretary may on his own motion initiate a review of a decision of a referee.

§ 607.24 Certification of questions to Secretary. If, in connection with any proceeding, a referee has serious doubts as to the correctness of any principle declared in any prior decision of the Secretary, he may certify to the Secretary the findings of facts and the questions of law involved in the appeal for a decision by the Secretary with respect to such questions of law as are certified.

§ 607.25 Removal by the Secretary. The Secretary may at his own discretion remove to himself the proceedings on any appeal pending before a referee. In addition, if a question of law is certified to him in accordance with § 607.24 the Secretary may at his discretion remove to himself the entire proceedings on the appeal with respect to which the certification was made.

§ 607.26 Procedures in preparation for review by Secretary. The Secretary shall notify the claimant and the agency, and may, in his discretion, notify the persons who offered evidence with respect to the claims that an appeal is before the Secretary, or that any question involved therein has been certified to the Secretary, or that review has been initiated by the Secretary on his own motion. Notice of the time and place of any oral hearing or of an opportunity to present further written argument shall be given or mailed to the claimant and the agency seven days or more before the time specified: Provided, however, That a shorter notice period may be used if consented to by the claimant.

§ 607.27 Hearing and review before Secretary. The hearing of an appeal removed to the Secretary prior to the conclusion of a hearing before a referee, or the hearing of argument in connection with the certification of a question to the Secretary, shall be conducted in the manner prescribed for hearings before a referee. In all cases, review may be upon the record made before the referee, except that the Secretary may, in his discretion, permit argument and may receive or direct the taking of argument or additional evidence, in the manner prescribed by this part for proceedings before a referee.

§ 607.28 Withdrawals. Any claimant who has filed an appeal may withdraw the same on approval of the Secretary.

§ 607.29 Notice of Secretary's decision. A copy of the decision of the Secretary together with a statement of the reasons therefor shall promptly be given or mailed to the claimant, the agency, and to the Secretary of Labor of the United States. There shall accompany such decision an explanation of the rights of the claimant to judicial review and the manner in which judicial review may be instituted.

§ 607.30 General provisions applicable to proceedings before referee or Secretary. (a) A referee or the Secretary before whom the appeals are pending may consolidate the appeals of more than one claimant and conduct joint hearings thereon where the same or substantially similar evidence is relevant and material to the matters in issue. Reasonable notice of consolidation and the time and place of hearing shall be given or mailed to the claimants or their representatives, the agency, and to persons who have offered or are believed to have evidence with respect to the claims.

(b) In any proceedings before a referee or the Secretary, the claimant may be represented by counsel or other representative. Any such representative may appear at any hearing or take any other action which the claimant may take under this part. The referee or the Secretary may for cause bar any person from representing a claimant, in which event such action shall be set out in the record of the proceedings. No representative shall charge a claimant more than an amount fixed by the referee or the Secretary, for representing him in any proceeding under this part.

(c) Any hearing before a referee or the Secretary shall be postponed, continued or adjourned when such action is necessary to afford the claimant a reasonable opportunity for a fair hearing. In the event of any such action notice of the time and place of the subsequent hearing shall be given any person who received notice of the prior hearing.

(d) Information, either from the records or obtained in any proceedings herein provided for, shall be available to a claimant to the extent necessary for the proper presentation of his case. All requests for such information shall state, as clearly as possible, the nature of the information desired and shall, unless made at a hearing, be in writing.

(e) Copies of all decisions of a referee in Puerto Rico and of the Secretary shall be kept on file at the office of the Secretary. Copies of all decisions of the referee in the Virgin Islands shall be kept on file at his office in the Virgin Islands.

Effective date. This part shall take effect on October 15, 1952.

§ 608.2 Effective date of program. Compensation under title IV shall be payable for weeks of unemployment beginning after October 14, 1952, as specified in § 606.2 of this chapter.

does not have an agreement with the Secretary, a representative of the Secretary shall determine an individual's status as a veteran under title IV when the individual files his first request for such determination. Such a determination shall be subject to redetermination or modification only in accordance with §§ 608.12 through 608.25 even if additional evidence is adduced after the individual has moved to another State. A status determination by any State shall be binding on the Secretary and his representatives.

(b) Section 606.3 (b) of this chapter shall apply to this part.

§ 608.4 Constructive eligibility. Section 606.4 of this chapter shall apply to this part.

§ 608.5 Applicable State law. (a) Section 606.5 (a) and (b) of this chapter shall apply to this part.

(b) When a veteran's claim for compensation under title IV is transferred to the Secretary, the Secretary or his representatives shall make no determination of the veteran's rights to such compensation and shall pay no such compensation with respect to any period for which the State from which the claim is transferred has previously made a determination.

(c) When title IV compensation is payable by the Secretary under this part, such compensation shall be paid in accordance with the applicable State law, except for the weekly amount and maximum potential duration of such compensation and subject to §§ 608.6, 608.7, 608.8, 608.9, and 608.10.

§ 608.8 Nonduplication of benefits under State or Federal law. Section 606.8 of this chapter shall apply to this part.

§ 608.9 Applicability of State disqualifications. Section 606.9 of this chapter shall apply to this part.

§ 608.10 Overpayments. Section 606.10 of this chapter shall apply to this part.

§ 608.12 Determinations. Whenever in accordance with the foregoing regulations the Secretary has jurisdiction to make a determination of entitlement to compensation under title IV, he or his representative shall promptly make a determination with respect to whether or not such compensation is payable and if payable the week with respect to which payments will commence and the maximum potential duration of such payments. A determination may, for good cause, be reconsidered. The claimant shall be promptly notified of the determination and of any amended determinations and the reasons for any denial of compensation under title IV. If such determination awards compensation under title IV, such compensation shall be paid promptly.

§ 608.15 Notice of appeal to referee. Notice that an appeal has been filed may, in the discretion of the referee, be given or mailed to any person who has offered or is believed to have evidence with respect to the claim.

§ 608.16 Scheduling and notice of hearing before referee. Appeals to a referee shall be promptly scheduled and heard. Written notice of hearing, specifying the time and place thereof, and those questions which are known to be in dispute shall be given or mailed to the claimant, and any person who has offered or is believed to have evidence with respect to the claim seven days or more before the hearing: Provided, however, That a shorter notice period may be used if consented to by the veteran.

§ 608.17 Conduct of hearings. The proceedings shall be informal, fair and impartial and shall be conducted in such manner as may be best suited to determine the claimant's rights to compensation under title IV. Hearings shall, in the absence of a showing of sufficient cause for a closed hearing, be open to the public. The referee shall open the hearings by ascertaining and summarizing the issue or issues involved in the appeal. The claimant and his representative may examine and cross-examine witnesses, inspect documents, and explain or rebut any evidence. An opportunity to present argument shall be afforded the claimant, which argument shall be made part of the record. Where a claimant is not represented by counsel or other representative, the referee who is conducting the hearing shall give him every assistance that does not interfere with the impartial discharge of his official duties. The referee who is conducting the hearing may examine the claimant and each witness to such extent as he deems necessary. Any issue involved in the claim shall be considered and passed upon even though such issue was not set forth as a ground for appeal.

§ 608.18 Evidence. Oral or written evidence of any nature, whether or not conforming to the legal rules of evidence, may be accepted. Any official record of a State or the United States, including reports submitted in connection with the administration of title IV, may be included in the record: Provided, however, That the claimant is given an opportunity to examine and rebut the same. A written statement may be accepted, if under oath or affirmation, when it appears impossible or unduly burdensome to require the attendance of a witness, provided the claimant is given an opportunity to examine such statement and to comment on or to rebut any or all thereof. Whenever possible, the claimant shall be permitted to cross-examine a witness whose testimony has been introduced in written form by written questions to be answered in writing.

§ 608.22 Notice of decision of referee. A copy of the decision together with a statement of the reasons therefor shall promptly be given or mailed to the claimant and to the Secretary. There shall accompany the decision of the referee an explanation of the rights of the claimant to judicial review and the manner in which such judicial review may be instituted.

§ 608.23 Consolidation. A referee before whom the appeals are pending may consolidate the appeals of more than one claimant and conduct joint hearings thereon where the same or substantially similar evidence is relevant and material to the matters in issue. Reasonable notice of consolidation and the time and place of hearing shall be given or mailed to the claimants or their representatives, and to persons who have offered or are believed to have evidence with respect to the claims.

§ 608.24 Representation of veteran. In any proceeding before a referee the claimant may be represented by counsel or other representative. Any such representative may appear at any hearing or take any other action which the claimant may take under this part. The referee may for cause bar any person from representing a claimant, in which event such action shall be set out in the record of the proceedings. No representative shall charge a claimant more than such amount as is fixed by the referee, for representing him in any proceeding under this part.

§ 608.27 Copies of decisions. Copies of all decisions of a referee shall be kept on file at the office of the Secretary.

Effective date of regulations. This part shall take effect on October 15, 1952.

Signed at Washington, D. C., this 9th day of September 1952.

TITLE 32A—NATIONAL DEFENSE, APPENDIX

Chapter III—Office of Price Stabilization, Economic Stabilization Agency

[Ceiling Price Regulation 69, Revision 1, Amdt. 4]

CPR 69—Food Products Sold in the Territory of Hawaii

Ceiling Prices for the Sale of Island Beef and Offal in the Territory of Hawaii

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, Executive Order 10161, and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order No. 2, this Amendment 4 to Ceiling Price Regulation 69, Revision 1, is hereby issued.

Statement of Considerations

This amendment to Ceiling Price Regulation 69, Revision 1, establishes dollar and cent ceiling prices for sales in the Territory of Hawaii of beef and offal derived from the slaughter of bovine animals in the Territory of Hawaii. Ceiling prices are established at the wholesale and retail levels.

Sales of island beef and offal have been covered by the General Ceiling Price Regulation. At the time of the "general freeze," prices had advanced on some of the islands but not on the others, thereby distorting the distribution pattern for island beef, a condition which was alleviated somewhat by the issuance of Supplementary Regulation 97 to the GCPR.

This amendment adds a new Article VII to Ceiling Price Regulation 69, Revision 1. Dollar and cent ceiling prices are established for sale of island beef carcasses. In addition, dollar and cent ceiling prices are established at wholesale and retail for island beef cuts and offal when sold in the Territory of Hawaii. The prices as specified reestablish the historic 2½ cent differential for wholesale beef between the Island of Oahu and all other islands, and maintain the distinction and normal price differential which exists between the beef of steers and heifers and that of cows and bulls.

A provision is also included to allow wholesalers to add $3.50 per hundredweight on sales of island beef to commercial, industrial, and institutional users. A method is provided whereby sellers may make application to the Director of the Office of Price Stabilization for prices on unlisted cuts. Pending determination of ceiling prices for such unlisted cuts, a seller may continue to use his ceiling price established under the General Ceiling Price Regulation until the Director of Price Stabilization, by order, establishes his new ceiling price.

Selling prices at retail of each cut of island beef must be posted in a conspicuous place on or near the meat counter.

In the judgment of the Director of Price Stabilization, the ceiling prices established by this regulation are generally fair and equitable and are necessary to effectuate the purposes of Title IV of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended.

So far as practicable, the Director of Price Stabilization gave due consideration to the national effort to achieve maximum production in furtherance of the objective of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended; to prices prevailing during the period from May 24 to June 24, 1950, inclusive; to prices prevailing January 25 to February 24, 1951, inclusive, and to prices prevailing just before the issuance of this regulation; and to relevant factors of general applicability.

In the formulation of this regulation, there has been consultation with industry representatives including trade association representatives, and consideration has been given to their recommendations. Every effort has been made to conform this regulation to existing business practices, but insofar as any provision of this regulation may operate to compel changes therein, such provisions are found by the Director of Price Stabilization to be necessary to prevent circumvention or evasion of this regulation.

GOR 10—ADJUSTMENTS OF CEILING PRICES FOR MANUFACTURERS

ALLOCATION OF CENTRAL OFFICE EXPENSES IN ADJUSTMENTS FOR A SEPARATE PLANT OR FACTORY

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, Executive Order 10161 and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order No. 2, this Amendment to General Overriding Regulation 10 is hereby issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

GOR 10 has heretofore provided that a manufacturer may file an application for adjustment if his existing ceilings would require him to operate at a loss with respect to the manufacturing operations either for his entire business or for a separate plant or factory, but that no portion or pro ration of central office costs or expenses may be included in calculating the loss for a separate plant or factory.

Experience in the administration of the regulation has indicated that the difficulties involved in arriving at a proper allocation of central office expense are outweighed by the impact of the prohibition on manufacturers with substantial central office expenses and in particular the unequal effect of the prohibition on those manufacturers who concentrate most administrative operations in a central office as against those who perform many of such functions in the administrative offices of the separate plant itself.

Accordingly, this amendment eliminates the prohibition against the inclusion of a portion of central office expense in calculating the loss for a separate plant. This amendment provides that, in calculating the loss for a separate plant, central office expenses may be allocated in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles, subject to OPS approval. If the applicant has had a practice in the past of allocating such expenses, the allocation of those expenses which he makes in applying for an adjustment for a separate plant must be consistent with his past practice providing that practice is in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles.

In view of the nature of this amendment special circumstances have made consultation with industry representatives, including trade association representatives, impracticable.

AMENDATORY PROVISIONS

1. Section 2 (a) (1) is amended to read as follows:

SEC. 2. Who may apply. (a) A manufacturer may file an application for adjustment under this regulation if the following conditions are met: (1) His existing ceiling prices would require him to operate at a loss with respect to his manufacturing operations, either for his entire business or for a separate plant or factory, provided that, where central office expenses or costs are allocated for the purpose of calculating the loss for a separate plant or factory, such allocation must be based on generally accepted accounting principles and is subject to OPS review. If the applicant has had a practice in the past of allocating such expenses, the method of allocation used in the application must be consistent with such past practice providing that practice is in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles.

2. Section 3 (c) is amended to read as follows:

(c) An application for adjustment on the basis of a loss with respect to applicant's entire manufacturing business must include a detailed profit and loss statement covering the applicant's entire manufacturing business during the most recent period of such operations under his existing ceiling prices, of one month or more, for which such a statement can be prepared.

An application for adjustment on the basis of a loss with respect to the operations of a separate plant or factory must include a detailed operating statement covering the applicant's operations in that plant or factory during the most recent period of such operations under his existing ceiling prices, of one month or more, for which such a statement can be prepared. The application must also include a profit and loss statement for the applicant's entire manufacturing business covering the same recent period.

The profit and loss statement required in an application with respect to the applicant's entire manufacturing business, and the operating statement required in an application with respect to a separate plant, must be accompanied by a careful explanation of how it was prepared, including particularly a justification of any estimating procedures used in its preparation, and where an actual loss has not yet been experienced, a statement of the changes in conditions which have already occurred will cause the manufacturer to incur a loss and a statement of what the minimum amount of this loss will be. If application is made with respect to a separate plant, and if any central office costs or expenses are allocated in calculating the loss for the separate plant, the operating statement must indicate the amounts of such costs and expenses which have been allocated to the separate plant and must be accompanied by a statement showing the total amount of such costs and expenses and the method used in making the allocation together with a statement whether this method is the same as that used by the applicant from 1946 to date for allocating central office costs or expenses to the operation of the separate plant or factory. If the method of allocation differs from that previously employed, the difference and the reasons therefor, should be explained. If the applicant has not previously allocated central office expenses to the operations of the separate plant, that fact should be stated.

[Ceiling Price Regulation 170]

CPR 170—CEILING PRICES FOR THE WESTERN WOOD PRESERVING INDUSTRY (PRESSURE PROCESS ONLY)

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, Executive Order 10161 and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order No. 2, this Ceiling Price Regulation 170 is hereby issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

This regulation provides a method for arriving at ceiling prices of preservatively treated forest products treated in the part of the United States west of the 100th Meridian or in any part of North or South Dakota. It also provides a method for arriving at ceiling prices for the service of pressure treating customer-owned forest products when the service is performed within this region.

The industry covered is essentially of the service type, which makes no basic change in the form of the products treated. In each case the product is prepared and treated according to specifications set by the purchaser, ordinarily in terms of the standards set by the American Wood Preservers Association.

Forest products such as lumber, poles, piling, posts, bridge materials, railroad ties, and miscellaneous sawn forest products are treated with a preservative to protect the wood against decay and insect damage. Pressure treatment involves forcing an oil or water borne preservative into the material in a closed cylinder (retort) under pressure, the amount of preservative injected and left in the wood in each case being specified by the purchaser. Pressure preservative treatment serves to prolong the life of forest products from three to ten fold.

According to a listing compiled by the U. S. Department of Agriculture in cooperation with the American Wood Preservers Association, there were, on January 1, 1952, in the area covered by this regulation, 28 commercial pressure treating plants, operated by 21 companies. Value added in manufacture by commercial treating plants in 1947 amounted to approximately $14.7 million.

The wood preserving industry has two classes of sales. A major portion of the business consists in selling treated forest products where the treater furnishes the untreated product as well as the treating service. A minor portion consists of sales of the treating service only, referred to in the industry as "TSO," in which the customer provides the untreated forest products, and the treater provides the treatment service, including the preservative and services incidental to the treatment. This regulation provides separate price schedules to be used in computing ceilings in connection with these two classes of sales.

For sales of treated forest products, ceiling prices are determined by summating: (1) The ceiling price of the untreated product as established by an applicable dollars and cents ceiling regulation; or, where necessary, by the General Ceiling Price Regulation; (2) the actual cost of the preservative delivered to the plant, plus such handling charges as are authorized in this regulation; (3) a charge for the treatment service as specified in dollars and cents terms in this regulation; (4) transportation charges determined by multiplying the established weights involved by the freight rate in effect at the time of shipment; and (5) charges for whatever special services the customer may require, determined by rate schedules or methods specified in this regulation.

It has been determined that the customary practice both of integrated and non-integrated concerns, in making quotations on treated forest products, is to figure the raw material component on the basis of estimates of what the market price will be when delivery is required. This was one consideration in authorizing the use of established ceiling prices for the raw material component. A further consideration was that this allows establishing ceiling prices for the treated products covered by this regulation which can be ascertained with certainty.

The basic ceiling price for treating customer-owned materials is determined by adding the actual cost of the preservative and the specified handling charges to the dollars and cents ceiling prices for the treatment service provided in this regulation.

The ceiling prices for treating treater-furnished materials are established at a level approximately equal to the weighted average of GCPR prices. The ceiling prices for treating customer-owned materials (TSO) are established at a lower level, the differentials corresponding to that which has prevailed in the market during recent years between the price for that service and the price for treating treater-owned materials. The ceiling prices established for furnishing miscellaneous services incident to treatment are established at approximately the average of GCPR prices. Thus, on the average, the ceiling prices established by this regulation will exceed the GCPR level only to the extent that increases in the costs of untreated materials, preservative materials, and transportation charges since the GCPR base period are reflected in the prices of treated products.

FINDINGS OF THE DIRECTOR OF PRICE STABILIZATION

In the judgment of the Director of Price Stabilization the ceiling prices established by this regulation are generally fair and equitable and are necessary to effectuate the purpose of Title IV of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended.

So far as practical in the formulation of this regulation, the Director of Price Stablization has given due consideration to the national effort to achieve maximum production in furtherance of the objectives of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended; to prices prevailing during the period May 24, 1950 through June 24, 1950; to those prevailing during the period January 25, 1951 through February 24, 1951, as well as to the level of prices prevailing just before the issuance of this regulation and to all relevant factors of general applicability.

In formulating this regulation, there has been consultation with industry representatives, including trade association representatives, and consideration has been given to their recommendations. This consultation included two meetings with the Industry Advisory Committee for Western Wood Preserving.

Every effort has been made to conform this regulation to business practices existing with respect to the production, sale, and distribution of preservatively treated forest products covered by this regulation. Insofar as any provisions of this regulation may operate to compel changes in those business practices, such provisions are found by the Director of Price Stabilization to be necessary to prevent circumvention or evasion of this regulation.

The sales thus covered by this regulation are of two kinds: Sales of treatment services only, where the forest products are not supplied by the seller of the treatment; and sales of treated forest products, where both forest products and treatment are supplied by the seller. Among the forest products covered by this regulation, but not limited thereto, are poles, piling, lumber, railroad crossing plank, railroad ties, and wood block flooring.

SEC. 2. What regulations are superseded. Insofar as the transactions covered by this regulation are concerned, this regulation supersedes the General Ceiling Price Regulation, Ceiling Price Regulation 34, Ceiling Price Regulation 126, Ceiling Price Regulation 155, and Supplementary Regulation 102 to the General Ceiling Price Regulation.

SEC. 3. Geographical applicability. The provisions of this regulation are applicable to sales or deliveries in the 48 states of the United States and in the District of Columbia.

SEC. 4. What transactions are covered. This regulation applies to all sales of the service of preservatively treating forest products by pressure process when the treatment is done in the part of the United States west of the 100th meridian, or in North Dakota or South Dakota. It also applies to all sales by treaters of forest products preservatively treated by pressure process in the part of the United States west of the 100th meridian, or in North Dakota or South Dakota.

(iii) Piling over 75': $0.78 per cu. ft.

SEC. 7. Additions to basic ceiling prices determined under sections 5 or 6. Under the circumstances indicated in this section, the following additions may be made to the basic ceiling prices as determined under sections 5 or 6:

(a) For sales of a treating service or a treated product involving less than 1,000 board feet of ties, lumber and all other sawn forest products, you may add as much as 25 percent to the basic ceiling prices as determined under sections 5 or 6, and for sales of 1,000 board feet up to and including 10,000 board feet, you may add as much as 10 percent.

(b) For sales of poles 70 and 75 feet in length, which have been stored for 30 days or longer before treatment, you may add as much as 12½ percent to the basic ceiling prices as determined under section 6, and for sales of poles 76 feet and longer you may add as much as 25 percent.

(c) For sales of piling 70 and 75 feet in length, which have been stored for 30 days or longer before treatment, you may add as much as 12½ percent to the basic ceiling prices as determined under section 6, and for sales of piling 76 feet and longer you may add as much as 25 percent.

(d) For sales of a treating service or a treated product involving 83 cubic feet or less of poles, piling or short round material, you may add as much as 25 percent to the basic ceiling prices as determined under sections 5 or 6.

(e) For sales of a treating service or a treated product involving 84 to 833 cubic feet of poles, piling or short round material, you may add as much as 10 percent to the basic ceiling prices as determined under sections 5 or 6.

(f) When a purchaser requests cross gains in addition to those referred to in sections 5 and 6, you may add as much as 15 cents per additional gain.

(g) When a purchaser requests brands or marks on round material in addition to those referred to in sections 5 and 6, you may add as much as 15 cents per additional brand or mark.

(h) When a purchaser requests holes in addition to those referred to in sections 5 and 6, you may add as much as 5 cents per additional hole.

(i) When, at the request of the buyer, shipments from a treating plant of treated products are packaged in sling lots, or otherwise packaged whereby the load is divided into individual parcels for the purpose of facilitating mechanical unloading of cars, an additional flat charge of $15.00 per car may be made to cover the cost of all labor and material used in the packaging.

(j) When a purchaser requests that the products be framed prior to treatment, or extra services be performed for his convenience, such as, but not limited to, storing treated material for the purchaser, loading material in box cars, separating mixed species, adzing cross ties, incising lumber without treatment, and any other service ancillary to the treatment of forest products not covered in this section or in sections 5 and 6, you may add an amount equal to the highest price you charged for such service during the period from November 24, 1950 through February 24, 1951.

SEC. 8. Ceiling prices for delivered treated products. If you sell treated products on a delivered basis, and shipment from the treating plant is by common carrier rail or truck, your ceiling prices shall be the otherwise applicable basic f. o. b. ceiling prices determined under sections 6 and 7, except that instead of computing the transportation charge in the manner provided in section 6 (a), you shall compute the transportation charge as follows:

(a) Where treating in transit rates are available, the transportation charge must be computed by multiplying the applicable through freight rate from the original loading out point to the point of destination by the appropriate established weights as set forth in section 13. If the untreated forest product is received from several loading out points, an average through freight rate may be used. You may add the transit charge to the through freight charge. When transit privileges do not apply, the transportation charge is the freight charge from loading out point to treating plant (computed as provided in section 6 (a)) plus the freight charges from the treating plant to the point of destination (calculated by multiplying the established weight of the treated material as set forth in section 13, by the applicable freight rate in effect at the time of shipment).

(b) If shipment from the treating plant is by truck owned or controlled by you, the transportation charge shall be the freight charge from loading out point to the treating plant (computed as provided in section 6 (a)) plus a charge for shipment from the treating plant to the point of destination which is not in excess of the applicable published common carrier truck rate multiplied by the appropriate established weight of the treated material as set forth in section 13. If there is no published common carrier truck rate, the actual cost of transportation may be charged.

(c) When truck delivery follows a rail haul, as specified by the purchaser, the actual cost of the truck delivery may be added. This may include the cost of unloading, handling, and reloading involved in the transfer from rail car to the truck and the cost of unloading the truck at the point of destination. When an all truck haul ends in delivery to a job site or a storage yard and the unloading is performed by you, you may add the actual cost of unloading.

SEC. 9. F. A. S. water shipments. If you sell treated products f. a. s. for water shipment, your ceiling prices shall be computed in the manner set forth in section 8, with the delivery charge computed to the dock as the point of destination, and you may add one or more of the following service charges that may be applicable:

(a) If you own or lease deep water dock facilities which are used in loading your items aboard a vessel, you may add as much as $3.50 per M'BM in the case of lumber, cross ties, and all other sawn products, and as much as 4 cents per lineal foot in the case of poles, piling or short round material.

(b) If you use public dock facilities in loading your items aboard a vessel, you may add the applicable published commercial rate for the use of the facilities. If there is no published commercial rate, the actual cost may be charged.

(c) If you are required by circumstances beyond your control to transfer your items from deep water dock facilities upon which it has been placed preparatory to loading aboard a vessel to another loading point, you may add the actual cost of making the transfer.

SEC. 10. General notes. The following general notes are applicable to ceiling prices as determined under this regulation:

(a) If you customarily send bills for partial services, you may continue to send such bills provided the total sum of all the partial billings does not exceed the permissible ceiling prices determined under this regulation.

(b) A ceiling price for the sale of treated products determined under this regulation may be evened out to the nearest quarter dollar per M'BM, or to the nearest quarter cent per lineal foot or per cubic foot, or to the nearest five cents per pole, or to the nearest one-half cent per piece for other items, whichever is applicable.

SEC. 11. Inspection service. When a buyer requests special inspection service to be furnished by an inspection agency designated by the buyer, you may add the actual cost to you for such service to the ceiling price of the item inspected.

SEC. 12. Terms and discounts. Your cash discounts and other terms of sale shall not be less favorable to each buyer than those which you had in effect during the period from November 24, 1950, through February 24, 1951.

SEC. 13. Established weights for treated products. The following are the established weights in pounds, per piece or measure, as indicated for preservatively pressure treated products covered by this regulation:

118–122								35	41	48
123–127									39	46

NOTE:

(1) Where top diameter controls the size of the pile to be furnished, the butt diameter may be determined by adding to the diameter 1" for each 10' of length. For example, if a 40' pile is ordered measuring not less than 12" at the butt with a minimum top of 10", figuring a natural taper of 1" for each 10' of length, the butt diameter would be 10" top plus 4" or 14" and the weight is found under the heading 14" minimum butt.

(2) To arrive at the weight for piling with a minimum diameter at a specified point more than 6' from the butt:

(a) Convert this specified diameter to a diameter 6' from the butt by adding 1" for each 10' or fraction thereof by which the distance from the butt to the specified point exceeds 6'.

(b) Select the weight in the tables applicable to the diameter 6' from the butt determined in (a) above.

For example: (1) A pile measuring 12" 7' from the butt would be figured as follows:

	Inches
Diameter 7' from butt	12
7' exceeds 6' by 1' add for 1' (fraction of 10')	1
Diameter 6' from butt	13

The weight is found under column headed 14" minimum butt which includes weight for 13" 6' from the butt.

(2) A 70' pile measuring 12" one-quarter of the length from the butt would be figured as follows:

	Inches
Diameter 17½' from the butt (¼ of 70')	12
17½' exceeds 6' by 11½' add for 10'	1
Add for 1½' (fraction of 10')	1
Diameter 6' from butt	14

The weight is found under column headed 15" minimum butt, which includes weight for 14" 6' from the butt.

(3) For retention of preservative other than 10 pounds per cubic foot, add to or subtract from the weights for 10 pounds retention 1 pound per cubic foot for each pound variation in the retention of preservative specified.

NOTE: The weights in this table are based on treatment with a final retention of 6 pounds of creosote oil. For other retentions add to or subtract from the basic weights 1 pound per cubic foot for each pound variation in the retention of preservative specified.

(d) Lumber—(1) Preservative treatment. (i) The established weight in the applicable ceiling price regulation for untreated lumber (rough green or surfaced green), may be increased by adding 50 pounds per MFBM for each pound retention per cubic foot of creosote, creosote mixture or oil mixture treatment.

(ii) For salt treatment 900 pounds per MFBM may be added to rough or surfaced green weights, when shipped wet from retort. When kiln or air dried after treatment, an addition of only 225 pounds per MFBM may be made.

(e) The established weights of treated products not specifically set out in this section are the estimated weights you used for such products during the period from November 24, 1950 through February 24, 1951.

SEC. 14. Ceiling prices for special items—(a) Application. If you cannot ascertain a ceiling price for an item subject to this regulation under any other provision of this regulation, as for example, should you wish to sell an item with specifications, ancillary services, or other extras not specifically mentioned in this regulation, you must file an application signed by an authorized person with the Office of Price Stabilization, Forest Products Division, Washington 25, D. C., for approval of a ceiling price. Your application must be made by registered letter, return receipt requested, and must set forth the relevant facts, including the following:

(1) Your trade name and address.

(2) As complete a description as possible of the item for which the application is filed. This should include, the species, class, length, specifications, ancillary extras, or other extras involved.

(3) Your proposed ceiling price, together with a statement indicating why you believe it is in line with the level of ceiling prices established under this regulation.

(4) Your General Ceiling Price Regulation ceiling prices for both the item that is the subject of your application and the most nearly comparable item for which a ceiling price is established by this regulation.

(5) The proposed use to which the buyer will put the item for which you are proposing a special ceiling price.

(b) Quotation of proposed prices. After an application has been filed under this section, and before action by the Director of Price Stabilization, you may sell your items at a price not higher than the ceiling price proposed in your application, provided that you agree to refund, and later refund, to the buyer, the amount, if any, by which your proposed ceiling price exceeds the ceiling price established by the Director of Price Stabilization.

(c) Action by the Director of Price Stabilization. (1) After receipt of an application made under this section, the Director of Price Stabilization will approve, modify, or disapprove your proposed ceiling price, will request additional information about it, or will establish a different ceiling price for the item that is the subject of your application.

(2) If the Director does not notify you to the contrary or request additional information from you within 20 days after the receipt of your application or within 15 days after the receipt of requested additional information, your proposed ceiling price shall be deemed to have been approved, subject to non-retroactive disapproval or modification at a later time.

SEC. 15. Invoices. On all sales of items covered by this regulation you must submit an invoice to the buyer which as a minimum shows:

(a) The name and address of the seller and the buyer;

(b) The prices charged by you for each item, together with the quantity involved;

(c) A description of the item, including the species, class, length, and type of treatment, if any involved;

(d) Extras and services which affect the price charged by you (the charges need not be shown separately for such items);

(e) On delivered sales involving a rail or truck shipment, the point of destination of the shipment and the applicable rail or truck rate.

SEC. 16. Modification of proposed ceiling prices by the Director of Price Stabilization. The Director of Price Stabilization may at any time disapprove or reduce ceiling prices proposed under section 14 of this regulation so as to bring them into line with the level of ceiling prices otherwise established by this regulation.

SEC. 17. Petitions for amendment. If you wish to have this regulation amended, you may file a petition for amendment in accordance with the provisions of Price Procedural Regulation 1, Revised.

SEC. 18. Adjustable pricing. Nothing in this regulation prohibits you from making a contract or offer to sell at (a) the ceiling price in effect at the time of delivery, or (b) the lower of a fixed price or the ceiling price in effect at the time of delivery. You may not, however, deliver, or agree to deliver, at a price to be adjusted in accordance with any increase in ceiling prices after delivery.

SEC. 19. Records—(a) Existing records. On and after the effective date of this regulation, you shall maintain and keep for examination by the Director of Price Stabilization for the applicable periods specified, respectively, in section 16 of the General Ceiling Price Regulation, in section 18 of Ceiling Price Regulation 34, in section 17 of Ceiling Price Regulation 126, and in section 17 of Ceiling Price Regulation 155, all your existing records relating to prices charged by you for the items or services covered by this regulation which you were required to keep under the provisions of section 16 of the GCPR, section 18 of CPR 34, section 17 of CPR 126, and section 17 of CPR 155. You shall also maintain and keep for examination by the Director of Price Stabilization, for so long as the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, shall remain in effect, and for two years thereafter, all your existing records relating to the prices you charged during the period from November 24, 1950 through February 24, 1951, for any of the ancillary services of the sort specified in section 7 (j) of this regulation.

(b) Current records. After the effective date of this regulation, every person who sells and every person who, in the regular course of business, buys items subject to this regulation shall make and keep for inspection by the Director of Price Stabilization, for a period of two years after each sale, accurate records or invoices of each sale or purchase made in any month in which the seller sold or the buyer bought more than $1,000 worth of items subject to this regulation. The records must show:

(1) The dates of sales or purchases;

(2) The names and addresses of the sellers and buyers;

(3) The kind of sales involved, i. e., delivered or f. o. b.;

(4) A description of the items sold or bought, including the species, class, length, specifications, and any extras involved;

(5) The prices charged or paid, including all additions, extras and discounts;

(6) The point of origin and point of destination of the shipment, the means of transportation used, the amount of any additions for transportation, and the basing point, if any, upon which the transportation addition may have been computed.

The retention by a buyer of an invoice furnished by a seller, which includes the factual information required to be made a matter of record by this paragraph, shall be considered as compliance with the provisions of this section.

SEC. 20. Transfer of business or stock in trade. If a business, assets, or stock in trade are sold, or otherwise transferred after the effective date of this regulation, and the transferee carries on the business, or continues to deal in the same type of commodity or service, in an establishment separate from any other establishment previously owned or operated by him, the ceiling prices of the transferee shall be the same as those to which his transferor would have been subject, if no such transfer had taken place, and his obligation to keep records sufficient to verify such prices shall be the same. The transferor shall either preserve and make available, or turn over, to the transferee all records of transactions prior to the transfer which are necessary to enable the transferee to comply with the provisions of this regulation.

SEC. 21. Interpretations. If you want an official interpretation of this regulation, you should write to the District Counsel of your local OPS District Office. Any action taken by you in reliance upon, and in conformity with a written official interpretation, will constitute action in good faith pursuant to this regulation. Further information on obtaining official interpretations is contained in Price Procedural Regulation 1, Revised.

SEC. 22. Prohibitions and violations. (a) You shall not do any act prohibited or omit to do any act required by this regulation, nor shall you offer, solicit, attempt, or agree to do or omit to do any such acts. Specifically, but not in limitation of the above, you shall not regardless of any contract or other obligation, sell and no person in the regular course of trade or business shall buy from you at a price higher than the ceiling prices established by this regulation, and you and buyers from you shall keep, make and preserve true and accurate records and reports required by this regulation. Prices lower than the ceiling prices may be charged, paid, or offered.

(b) If you violate any provisions of this regulation, you are subject to criminal penalties, enforcement action, and actions for damages.

(c) If any person subject to this regulation fails to prepare or keep any record or file any report required by this regulation in connection with the establishment of his ceiling price, or if any person subject to this regulation fails to establish a ceiling price or apply to the Office of Price Stabilization for the establishment of a ceiling price, if he is required to do so, the Director of Price Stabilization may issue an order fixing his ceiling prices. Any ceiling price fixed in this manner will be in line with ceiling prices generally established by this regulation. The order fixing the ceiling price may apply to all deliveries or transfers completed prior to the date of issuance of the order. The issuance of such an order will not relieve the seller of his obligation to comply with the requirements of this regulation or of the various penalties for failure to do so.

SEC. 23. Evasions. Any means or device which results in obtaining indirectly a higher price than is permitted by this regulation, or in concealing or falsely representing information as to which this regulation requires records to be kept is a violation of this regulation. This prohibition includes, but is not limited to, means or devices making use of commissions, services, cross sales, transportation arrangements, premiums, discounts, special privileges, upgrading, tie-in agreements, and trade understandings, as well as the omission from records of true data and the inclusion in records of false data.

SEC. 24. Definitions and explanations. The terms appearing in this regulation, unless the context clearly requires a different meaning, shall be construed as follows:

(a) Office of Price Stabilization. This term means the Director of Price Stabilization and also applies to any official (including officials of regional or district offices) to whom the Director of Price Stabilization delegates a function, power or authority referred to in this regulation.

[General Ceiling Price Regulation, Supplementary Regulation 119]

GCPR, SR 119—EXEMPTION OF SALES BETWEEN MANUFACTURERS OF TOBACCO PRODUCTS AND THEIR SUBSIDIARIES

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, Executive Order 10161, and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order No. 2, this Supplementary Regulation 119 to the General Ceiling Price Regulation is hereby issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

This supplementary regulation provides that a corporation engaged in the manufacture of tobacco products and any subsidiaries it may have may apply jointly to the Office of Price Stabilization for exemption of their intercorporate purchases and sales of tobacco or tobacco products from the provisions of the General Ceiling Price Regulation (GCPR).

This exemption will be allowed when the Director of Price Stabilization finds that such purchases and sales are carried out in accordance with business practices specially established for such transactions, that compliance with the provisions of the GCPR necessitates or threatens to necessitate substantial changes in those practices, that the requested exemption is not likely to result in price increases for sales to outside buyers, and that the requested exemption will not interfere with carrying out the purposes of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended.

Some corporations manufacture tobacco products from tobacco purchased from subsidiaries which grow, purchase, cure, or otherwise handle it. On the other hand, manufacturers sometimes buy tobacco, process it into finished tobacco products, and sell them for cost plus a manufacturing or other charge to a subsidiary which, in turn, markets the finished products.

It has come to the attention of the Office of Price Stabilization that application of the GCPR to these inter-company sales and purchases will probably have the effect of causing substantial change in standard accounting practices developed for such transactions. In the ordinary course of events, the prices charged in these inter-company transactions have no effect on the prices charged to distributors, consumers or others beyond the circle of those transactions. Control of the prices charged between the described companies and the consequent necessity for changes in accounting practices would therefore serve no useful purpose in relation to the economic stabilization program.

However, there are some cases in which the combined effect of this exemption and the provisions of the GCPR would result in higher ceiling prices for sales of tobacco products to outsiders than warranted. For example, section 11 of the GCPR permits a seller to increase his ceiling price for tobacco, or products processed therefrom, by the dollar-and-cent amount of any increases he pays his supplier for that commodity or its products. If a company were exempted under this supplementary regulation and thereafter indiscriminately increased the prices it charged its parent for tobacco or tobacco products, that parent would be able to raise its ceiling prices to outsiders far above the ceiling prices it could charge absent the exemption. Similar results would follow under sections 4 and 5 of the GCPR, which direct sellers to determine ceiling prices by applying percentage markups to costs. To guard against such results it is provided that any company exempted under this supplementary regulation must calculate its ceiling prices to outsiders on the assumption that the commodities purchased from its affiliate were purchased at a price no higher than what its affiliate's ceiling price for sales to it would be were the affiliate not exempted under this supplementary regulation.

As a further precaution it is provided that the exemption granted in any given case shall terminate whenever the Director of Price Stabilization finds that ceiling prices to outsiders are higher than what they would be were the exemption not in effect. This termination provision is in addition to the usual retention of jurisdiction power lodged in the Director with respect to individual price actions.

FINDINGS OF THE DIRECTOR

In the formulation of this supplementary regulation there has been consultation with industry representatives, including trade association representatives, and consideration has been given to their recommendations.

In the judgment of the Director of the Office of Price Stabilization, the exemptions allowed by this supplementary regulation are generally fair and equitable, are necessary to effectuate the purposes of Title IV of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, and comply with all the applicable standards of that act.

SECTION 1. What this regulation does. This regulation establishes a procedure by which a corporation manufacturing tobacco products may jointly apply with one or more of its subsidiary corporations for exemption from the provisions of the General Ceiling Price Regulation, as amended, of sales and purchases between them of tobacco and tobacco products. In addition, it sets forth standards to govern the grant and duration of exemptions and indicates how exempted corporations must determine their ceiling prices for sales to outside purchasers.

SEC. 2. Where this regulation applies. This regulation applies to the forty-eight States, the Territories and possessions of the United States, and the District of Columbia.

SEC. 3. Who may apply for an exemption; form of application. If you are a corporation manufacturing tobacco products and have one or more subsidiaries to which you sell, or from which you buy, tobacco or tobacco products, or both, you and one or more of those subsidiaries may jointly apply for permission to make sales to and purchases from one another without regard to the provisions of the General Ceiling Price Regulation, as amended and supplemented. Your application must be sent to the Office of Price Stabilization, Grocery Products Branch, Washington 25, D. C. It must be in writing, signed by a duly authorized officer, must state that it is filed under section 3 of SR 119 to the GCPR, and must contain the following information:

(1) A description of the practices, including accounting methods, for handling such sales and purchases during the base period;

(2) The nature and extent of the changes in those base period practices which will be required by reason of the provisions of the General Ceiling Price Regulation, as amended;

(3) A detailed description of the types of purchases and sales for which exemption is requested.

SEC. 4. Action of the Director; findings justifying exemption. The Director of Price Stabilization, or his duly authorized representative, will issue a letter-order granting an application for exemption filed under section 3 of this supplementary regulation only if he finds that:

(a) You and your subsidiaries have well-defined practices specially established for handling inter-corporate sales and purchases and that those practices were in effect during the base period;

(b) Compliance with the provisions of the General Ceiling Price Regulation, as amended, has necessitated or probably will necessitate substantial changes in those practices;

(c) The granting of the exemption is not likely to cause any increase in ceiling prices for sales not covered by the exemption; and

(d) The granting of the exemption applied for will not interfere with the purposes of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended.

If the Director or his duly authorized representative finds that any of those conditions are not met, he will issue a letter-order denying the application for exemption.

SEC. 5. Ceiling prices for non-exempt sales. Your ceiling prices for sales to purchasers, other than those to whom your sales are exempt from the provisions of the GCPR pursuant to an order issued under this supplementary regulation, must be determined under the applicable provisions of the General Ceiling Price Regulation, as amended and supplemented. In determining those ceiling prices, however, you must base all your calculations on the assumption that any commodity purchased from a corporation whose sales to you are exempt from the provisions of the GCPR (pursuant to an order issued under this supplementary regulation), was purchased at a price no higher than what that corporation's ceiling price to you for the commodity would have been had the sale not been exempt. In addition, any notice of "parity" adjustment filed pursuant to section 11 (f) of the General Ceiling Price Regulation, as amended, must be based on that assumed purchase price.

Example. You are a subsidiary corporation of corporation P, from which you buy cigarettes which you then resell to retailers. A letter-order issued under section 4 of this supplementary regulation exempts sales and purchases between you and P from the provisions of the GCPR. During and since the GCPR base period you have been selling X brand cigarettes (manufactured by P) to retailers and your ceiling price for those sales is $7.78 per 1,000. P charges you $7.60 per 1,000 for X brand cigarettes, but if P's sales to you were not exempt its ceiling price to you for them would only be $7.56 per 1,000. P now starts selling you Y brand cigarettes at a price of $7.65 per 1,000. If P's sales to you were not exempt, its ceiling price to you for those cigarettes would be $7.62 per 1,000.

You must determine your ceiling price for sales of Y brand cigarettes to retailers under section 5 of the GCPR, using X brand as your "comparison commodity" under that section. The calculation of your ceiling price for Y brand cigarettes must be based on the assumption that the price you are paying P for X brand is no higher than $7.56 per 1,000, and the price you are paying for Y brand is no higher than $7.62 per 1,000. Your ceiling price calculations are, therefore, as follows:

(1) $7.78 (your ceiling price for sales of X brand to retailers) ÷ $7.56 equals 2.9% (or .029)
(2) $7.62 × 1.029 equals $7.84 (your ceiling price for sales of Y brand to retailers)

SEC. 6. How long the exemption lasts. The Director of Price Stabilization or his duly authorized representative may terminate any exemption granted under this supplementary regulation whenever he finds that either you or one of your subsidiaries has, for sales not covered by the exemption, increased ceiling prices in excess of what the ceiling prices for such sales would have been if the exemption had not been granted, or that continuation of the exemption is inconsistent with the purposes of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended.

SEC. 7. Continued applicability of General Ceiling Price Regulation. All provisions of the General Ceiling Price Regulation, as amended and supplemented, except as modified by this supplementary regulation, continue to apply to you even though you may be one of the sellers who are affected by this supplementary regulation.

SEC. 8. Definitions. "Subsidiary" means, for purposes of this supplementary regulation, a corporation whose business operations during and since the base period have been controlled by another corporation through ownership of voting stock.

Effective date: This Supplementary Regulation 119 to the General Ceiling Price Regulation, as amended, is effective September 22, 1952.

NOTE: The reporting requirements of this supplementary regulation have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

Acting Director of Price Stabilization.

[General Overriding Regulation 14, Amdt. 22]

GOR 14—EXCEPTED AND SUSPENDED SERVICES

SUSPENDING CERTAIN TANNING SERVICES

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, Executive Order 10161, and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order No. 2, this Amendment 22 to General Overriding Regulation 14 is hereby issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

This amendment adds to the list of services suspended from price control those services performed in the tanning, finishing or currying of leather, except such services performed in the territories and possessions of the United States.

By Amendment 1 to Ceiling Price Regulation 2, Revision 2, effective April 28, 1952, and Amendment 4 to General Overriding Regulation 4, Revision 1, effective June 23, 1952, all sales of imported and domestic hides and skins, and their cut parts suitable for making leather, and imported and domestic leather were suspended from price control, except sales in the territories and possessions of the United States, and in the case of leather, sales at retail. As explained in detail in the statements of considerations for these two amendments, sales of these commodities were suspended because they are selling at prices materially below ceilings and are not expected to reach ceilings in the foreseeable future.

A low level of selling prices of commodities usually has a depressing effect on the charges for services connected with the processing of those commodities. Many shoe manufacturers, other users of leather and some tanners from time to time have hides and skins or semi-processed leather owned by them tanned, finished or curried on contract by another. It is apparent that these manufacturers will engage in this practice to a much lesser extent, or not at all, if leather processed to the desired stage can be purchased at a lower price than the cost of the raw material plus the processing service charge. Market forces will continue to hold these service charges in line and will prevent any appreciable increases. Accordingly, it is the judgment of the Director that as long as the prices of hides and skins and leather do not rise to any significant degree, charges for the processing of services suspended by this amendment will not increase appreciably.

In the judgment of the Director controls over the services suspended by this amendment are not required at this time in order to carry out the purposes of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended. The Director may at any time terminate or modify this suspension if he determines that such action is necessary in the interest of the stabilization program. In any event this suspension will be terminated when the suspension of ceilings on hides and skins or leather is terminated.

All records which were required to be prepared and preserved under applicable ceiling price regulations in effect prior to this suspension must continue to be preserved.

In the formulation of this amendment there has been consultation with industry representatives, including trade association representatives, to the extent practicable, and consideration has been given to their recommendations.

AMENDATORY PROVISIONS

Section 4 of General Overriding Regulation 14, as amended, is further amended by adding the following subparagraph to paragraph (b) thereof:

(4) All services performed in the tanning, finishing or currying of leather, except such services performed in the territories and possessions of the United States.

Effective date. This amendment to General Overriding Regulation 14 shall become effective September 16, 1952.

Acting Director of Price Stabilization.

[General Overriding Regulation 36]

GOR 36—CERTIFICATION OF SALES BELOW CEILING

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, Executive Order 10161, and Economic Stabilization Agency Order No. 2, this General Overriding Regulation 36 is hereby issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

This regulation establishes the procedure, pursuant to section 411 of the Defense Production Act, as amended, whereby persons may be relieved of OPS reporting requirements with respect to sales of materials or services if they certify that their sales are made at prices below the ceiling prices established by OPS.

Since it is impossible to certify that a sale is being made at a price below its ceiling price until the ceiling price has been established, this certification procedure does not apply to reports required in connection with the establishment or adjustment of a ceiling price. Further, the Conference Report stated, with regard to this provision, that "The relief from the burden of furnishing reports would not, of course, deny the right of investigation under section 705." Accordingly, the filing of the required certification does not excuse a person from filing reports in connection with investigations under section 705 of the act. Such reports include surveys to determine whether a new level of ceiling prices should be established for an industry, surveys to establish dollars and cents ceiling prices, surveys to determine whether a particular material or service should be exempted or suspended from, or subject to, price control, and information necessary to establish ceiling prices for new sellers or new materials or services.

The certification procedure established by this regulation applies to all materials and services. However, special circumstances may require a different certification procedure in some cases. Accordingly, the certification procedure established by this regulation does not apply if the OPS regulation under which a report or other information is required contains a special certification procedure.

In the formulation of this regulation, special circumstances have rendered consultation with industry representatives, including trade association representatives, impracticable.

Sec.
1. What this regulation does.
2. How you certify that your sales are below ceiling prices.
3. Effect of certification.
4. Definitions.

AUTHORITY: Sections 1 to 4 issued under sec. 704, 64 Stat. 816 as amended; 50 U. S. C., App. Sup. 2154. Interpret or apply Title IV, 64 Stat. 803, as amended; 50 U. S. C. App. Sup. 2101–2110, E. O. 10161, Sept. 9, 1950, 15 F. R. 6105; 3 CFR, 1950 Supp.

SECTION 1. What this regulation does. This regulation tells you how you may, in lieu of filing reports or any other information as to sales as required by other OPS regulations, certify that such sales of a material or service are below ceiling prices. This regulation will not apply to you, however, if the regulation under which the report or other information is required specifies a different certification procedure.

SEC. 2. How you certify that sales are below ceiling prices—(a) Certification procedure. You certify that sales are below ceiling prices by filing a signed statement with whatever OPS office you would otherwise be required to file a report or other information under the regulation applicable to you. This statement must be filed by registered mail, return receipt requested. If the ceiling prices for the commodities or services for which you are filing a certification are not established by the same OPS regulation, you must file a separate certificate for each group of commodities under a different regulation.

(b) Form of certification. Your certification must be in the following form:

CERTIFICATION OF SALES BELOW CEILING PRICES

It is hereby certified that _____ (name of company)
is presently selling the material(s) or service(s) listed below to all purchasers at prices below the ceiling prices established by
(title of the applicable OPS regulation)

(Name of Company)

(Address of Company)

(Signature of Authorized Person)

(Title or Position of Signer)

Date:

Materials or services for which certification is filed: (If your ceiling price for any of the materials or services which you list is established by a letter order issued by OPS, list the number of the letter order following the name of such material or service.)

SEC. 3. Effect of certification—(a) Reports of sales. If you have filed a certification that your sales are below ceiling prices, as provided in section 2 of this regulation, you are not required to file any reports with regard to sales of the materials or services included in the certification. However, the filing of such certification does not excuse you from filing reports in connection with investigations under section 705 of the act. Such reports include surveys to determine whether a new level of ceiling prices should be established for your industry, surveys to establish dollars-and-cents ceiling prices, and surveys to determine whether a particular material or service should be exempted or suspended from, or subject to, price control.

(b) Reports in connection with the establishment or adjustment of a ceiling price. The filing of a certification that your sales are below ceiling prices does not excuse you from filing reports in connection with the establishment or adjustment of a ceiling price.

Example. You are planning to manufacture and sell a new commodity. The basic regulation covering the commodity requires you to establish a ceiling price by reference to the ceiling price of another commodity sold by you. It further provides that before selling any such new commodity you must file a report with OPS showing how you calculated the ceiling price. Accordingly, you will not have established your ceiling price for the new commodity until after you have filed the required report. A certification by you under this regulation will not relieve you from the necessity of filing such a report.

(c) Record-keeping. The filing of a certification that your sales are below ceiling prices does not excuse you from the record-keeping requirements of the applicable OPS regulation.

(d) Period during which certification remains in effect. Once you have filed a certification that your sales are below ceiling prices, that certification will remain in effect as long as you continue to sell the materials or services covered by the certification at prices below the applicable ceiling prices established for those materials or services. If, after you have filed your certification, you sell a material or service, covered by the certification, at a price equal to its ceiling price, your certification is voided with respect to the material or service which you have sold at its ceiling price. This means that after the date of a sale at ceiling price, you must file all reports required by the applicable OPS regulations which are in effect on or after the date of such sale. However, reports need not be filed with respect to sales of the material or service made during the period between the filing of your certification and the date of your sale at ceiling price. You may reinstate your certification, with respect to this material or service, by filling a new certification in the manner required by this regulation if sales are again made below ceiling prices.

SEC. 4. Definitions. Unless the context otherwise requires, the term:

(a) "Act" means the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended.

GOR 37—REQUIRED REPORTS

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, Executive Order 10161, and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order No. 2, this General Overriding Regulation 37 is hereby issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

This General Overriding Regulation is issued to improve OPS information-gathering surveys. It provides a more formalized procedure to enable the OPS to obtain essential facts and figures, and will lessen the administrative burden for the industry as well as for OPS.

It is frequently necessary for OPS to obtain data such as the level of selling prices and of ceilings in a particular industry. This is required, for example, to make ceiling price adjustments under the Industry Earnings Standard; to determine whether distributors' margins meet the requirements of the Herlong Amendment; to decide whether controls should be suspended, or whether they should be reimposed in areas where they have been suspended.

Congress recognized this need for information. In section 705 of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, it granted the President very broad powers to obtain all information which, in his discretion, is necessary for the administration and enforcement of the stabilization program. The President has delegated these powers to the Office of Price Stabilization. OPS has sought to exercise these broad powers in the most limited manner consistent with the efficient discharge of its responsibilities.

The primary objective of this regulation is to enable OPS to conduct surveys of particular industries through the use of a "sampling" technique. By directing inquiries only to a sample, rather than to every company in a particular industry, OPS aims to minimize the burden imposed on business. Such samples will be selected to include only the smallest number of companies necessary to give OPS a representative picture of the particular industry. Being limited to such a minimum, the difficulties produced by nonresponse may be very great. The unwillingness to cooperate of one or two companies may destroy the statistical validity of all the information obtained from the rest of the sample. Supplementary correspondence, to fill in the gaps, may hold up a survey for weeks and thereby prevent or postpone necessary adjustments or other industry-wide action.

One approach to this problem is to take expected nonresponse into consideration in the selection of a sample. This would, however, require a considerable increase in the number of firms selected. Furthermore, a sub-sample of the nonrespondents would be necessary. This could not start until after it is definitely known which companies failed to respond. For this sub-sample a complete response would be necessary. It is obvious that this approach is both cumbersome and time-consuming. As a result, the real purpose of the sample method—keeping the burden on industry to a minimum—would be frustrated.

The most effective way to eliminate the statistical bias resulting from nonresponse is to assure that all companies included in a sample survey supply the required information. Congress has provided adequate power to obtain information which OPS considers necessary. Under this regulation OPS can use the power provided by section 705 of the Defense Production Act. Whenever it is essential to obtain particular information within a specified period of time, requests to particular companies may be accompanied by letter orders. Failure to comply with the letter order constitutes a violation of the Defense Production Act and subjects the violator to the penalties provided by the act.

The approach adopted by this regulation insures that OPS will obtain essential information in the shortest possible time and with the smallest amount of inconvenience to the business community.

While this regulation is primarily designed for use in surveys using a sampling technique, it may in some cases be necessary to require all members of an industry to reply. There also may be instances where this regulation will be used to obtain essential information from a single company.

Before a survey is launched its scope and purpose will be defined, as provided by section 705. A determination will be made whether adequate and authoritative data can be obtained from any Federal or other responsible agency. Furthermore, the provisions of the Federal Reports Act of 1942, relative to clearance of surveys by the Bureau of the Budget, will, of course, continue to be observed.

Simultaneously with the issuance of this regulation, OPS is initiating streamlined procedures for making ceiling price adjustments under the Industry Earnings Standard. This regulation is essential to the successful operation of the streamlined earnings standard procedure.

Since this regulation will govern all sellers with respect to whom the Director of Price Stabilization has issued or may issue ceiling price regulations, he has determined that consultation with industry representatives, including trade association representatives, would be impracticable. In the judgment of the Director the provisions of this regulation are generally fair and equitable, are necessary to effectuate the provisions of Title IV and Title VII of the Defense Production Act, as amended, and conform with all the applicable standards of that act.

CPR 98—RESELLERS OF IRON AND STEEL PRODUCTS

RECALCULATIONS OF CEILING PRICES

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, Executive Order 10161, and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order No. 2, this Amendment 6 to Ceiling Price Regulation 98 is hereby issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

Amendment 3 permitted resellers under CPR 98 to reflect in their ceiling prices under certain specified conditions the increase in the mill price of iron or steel products authorized by the Office of Price Stabilization. That amendment permitted the warehouse reseller to reflect the price increase even though he received no shipment of the product by the end of the month in which his principal source of supply effected the ceiling price increase authorized by the Office of Price Stabilization. This was permitted in order to eliminate, to the extent possible, the creation of a dual price structure unique among warehouse resellers and to enable small resellers, who receive shipments less frequently than larger resellers, to establish their ceiling prices at the same general level as the larger resellers. This permission for resellers to use the price of their principal source of supply, however, extended only for one month following the month in which the producers put the increase into effect and thereafter such resellers were required to average their increase in the customary manner provided elsewhere in the regulation. It is evident now that many small warehouse resellers as well as larger resellers have not as yet received any invoices with the increase. On the 16th of September they would be compelled to revert to using the ceiling prices which they had determined from their past invoices which did not reflect any increase. The problem has been heightened by the postponement in shipments of steel products due to the prolonged steel strike.

In order to avert the contingency set forth and to provide a reasonable method of transition, thereby insuring the results originally intended in the issuance of Amendment 3, this amendment permits such resellers to continue using the increased price of their principal source of supply in calculating their ceiling prices until such time as they have received invoices for the product during the preceding calendar month which do reflect the authorized mill increase.

In the judgment of the Director of Price Stabilization the provisions of this amendment are generally fair and equitable and are necessary to effectuate the purposes of the Production Act of 1950, as amended.

So far as practicable, the Director has given due consideration to the national effort to achieve maximum production in furtherance of the objectives of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, and to relevant factors of general applicability.

In view of the emergency nature of this amendment, special circumstances have rendered consultation with the industry advisory committee impracticable but industry representatives, including trade association representatives have been consulted and their recommendations considered.

AMENDATORY PROVISIONS

Section 5 (b) (1) is amended to read as follows:

(1) As stated in paragraph (a) of this section, this regulation, in general, requires you to compute your ceiling price (except for products covered by Part IV) by determining your average material costs during a calendar month, adding an amount calculated by applying a specified percentage markup to your average material cost, and adding incoming transportation costs and extras. It requires you to recompute your ceiling prices monthly at the close of each calendar month by using the invoices received by you during that calendar month. It further provides that you may not put into effect the ceiling prices so determined until the 16th of the month following the calendar month in which the invoices were received. This paragraph, however, permits you, as provided in subparagraphs (2), (3) and (4) of this paragraph, to recalculate immediately your ceiling warehouse price for a product under certain conditions. The supplemental pricing provisions of subparagraph (2) of this paragraph are applicable only between the time a price increase authorized by the Office of Price Stabilization becomes effective and the 15th day of the following month. On the 16th day of the following month your ceiling prices determined under subparagraph (4) of this paragraph become effective. Each month thereafter you determine your ceiling price under the regular recalculating provisions of the regulation, provided that you have received invoices which you can use in recalculating your ceiling prices for the product applying to shipments from a mill made on or after July 26, 1952.

Where you have not received any invoices for shipments made from a mill on and after July 26, 1952, either in the previous month or in the last calendar month in which you did receive invoices for the product, you may continue to use as the basis of your calculations under the regular recalculating provisions of the regulation for the month or months following that in which you established ceiling prices under subparagraph (4) of this paragraph, the new increased price of your principal source of supply which you determined in the manner set forth in subparagraph (4).

Effective date. This amendment is effective September 15, 1952.

Director of Price Stabilization.

TITLE 32—NATIONAL DEFENSE

Chapter V—Department of the Army

Subchapter B—Claims and Accounts

PART 535—PAYMENT OF BILLS AND ACCOUNTS

CONDITIONS AFFECTING PAYMENTS OF COMMERCIAL ACCOUNTS

The center head "Payment Under Contracts, Formal and Informal" including §§ 535.5 through 535.9 and the center head "Prompt Payment of Bills and Accounts" including §§ 535.28 through 535.30 are rescinded, and the following as set forth above is substituted therefor:

Sec.
535.5 Assignment of claims or transfer of contracts.
535.6 Discounts.
535.7 Advance payments.
535.8 Partial payments.
535.9 Unsatisfactory performance.
535.9a Miscellaneous special cases.
535.9b Adjustments.

AUTHORITY: §§ 535.5 to 535.9b issued under R. S. 161; 5 U. S. C. 22. Interpret or apply R. S. 3477, as amended, 3737, as amended; 31 U. S. C. 203, 41 U. S. C. 15.

SOURCE: §§ 535.5 to 535.9b contained in AR 85-3220, July 18, 1952.

§ 535.5 Assignment of claims or transfer of contracts.—(a) Financing institutions. A "company" regularly engaged in the financing business is not disqualified from accepting assignments under the Assignment of Claims Act of 1940 as "financing institution" solely because it consists of an individual or a partnership (20 Comp. Gen. 415). A business concern which merely as an incident to its principal business of acting as selling agent, advances money to pay for raw materials, labor, etc., is not a "financing institution" to which moneys due or to become due under a Government contract may be assigned under authority of the Assignment of Claims Act of 1940. 20 Comp. Gen. 415 distinguished. (See 22 Comp. Gen. 44; 31 id. 90.)

(b) Transfer of entire business. Where the entire business of a contractor is sold, the transfer is not such an assignment as is prohibited by sections 3477 and 3737, Revised Statutes, and payment to the transferee is authorized upon compliance with contract terms and the furnishing of a waiver from the original contractor. (See 9 Comp. Gen. 72.)

(c) Assignments by operation of law. Section 3477, Revised Statutes, applies to voluntary assignments and does not embrace cases in which the transfer of title is by operation of law such as the passing of title to heirs, devises, or assignees in bankruptcy. (See 10 Comp. Dec. 159; 3 Comp. Gen. 623; 9 id. 72.)

(d) Merger. The merger of a corporation or a change in the corporate does not operate to annul existing contracts between such corporation and the Government and is not of itself a change in the contractor's responsibility. (See 4 Comp. Gen. 184.)

(e) Assignment of contract payments. (1) The Assignment of Claims Act of 1940, authorizing the assignment of moneys due or to become due under Government contracts, does not authorize the assignment of the contract itself, and hence, it is the contractor's, and not the assignee's responsibility to execute required certificates on vouchers, invoices, etc., having reference to material facts incident to performance of the contract and establishing the right to payment. (See 20 Comp. Gen. 295.)

(2) Where there is a valid assignment of moneys payable under a Government contract, there is no necessity for a specific claim therefor from the assignee, but the voucher, invoice, or other data in support of a payment direct to the assignee should clearly indicate that the contractor recognizes the assignment, its validity, and the right of the assignee to receive payment. The form or means of indicating such recognition is not material insofar as the General Accounting Office is concerned. (See 20 Comp. Gen. 295.) The contractor's certification of a voucher on which the name of the assignee is shown is sufficient to give affect to this requirement.

(3) A Government contractor's right under the Assignment of Claims Act of 1940 to assign moneys due or to become due under its contract is not dependent upon the surety's acceptance of or acquiescence in the assignment, and, therefore, the assignee's right to receive otherwise proper payments under the contract is not affected by the fact that the contractor's surety has indicated a lack of consent to, or has "refused to accept," the assignment. (See 22 Comp. Gen. 520.)

(f) Written notice of assignments. (1) An "assignee" under the Assignment of Claims Act of 1940 who does not substantially comply with the requirement respecting the filing of "written notice of the assignment together with a true copy of the instrument of assignment" has no enforceable right against the Government under the assignment, but where a copy of an assignment is received and there is any doubt whether there has been a strict compliance with the "written notice" provision of the statute, the required written notice should be obtained from the assignee. (See 20 Comp. Gen. 424.)

(2) There is no objection to administrative instructions to the effect that the "true copy of the instrument of assignment," may consist of a duplicate original, a complete photostatic copy of the original, or a certified true copy of the original. However, with respect to certified copies, it would appear desirable that the certificate be executed by a notary public or other officer authorized by law to administer oaths. (See 20 Comp. Gen. 295.)

(3) A disbursing officer should not make payment to an "Assignee" under the Assignment of Claims Act of 1940 when there is any doubt as to compliance with the statutory requirement regarding written notices without first submitting the matter to the General Accounting Office for decision. (See 20 Comp. Gen. 424.)

(g) Effect of assignee's delay in giving contractor's surety notice of assignment. (1) The Assignment of Claims Act of 1940 does not specify any period of time within which written notice of an assignment of moneys due or to become due under a Government contract must be given to the contractor's surety, and, therefore, a delay of 5 months by the assignee in filing written notice of the assignment with the contractor's surety does not, of itself, subordinate the rights of the assignee to those of the surety as to future payments where such delay has not operated to the prejudice of the surety.

(2) Even though a Government contractor's assignee under the Assignment of Claims Act of 1940 delayed 5 months in giving the contractor's surety the written notice required by the act, the circumstances that the financial difficulties of the contractor may have come to the attention of the surety prior to such notice, or that the surety may have made advances to the contractor in ignorance of the assignment, would not effect the right of the assignee to continue to receive otherwise proper payments under the contract, in the absence of at least a showing that the surety would have taken a different course of action had it known of the assignment. (See 22 Comp. Gen. 520.)

(h) Amounts due under change orders. (1) The stipulation in contract providing for changes of any of the items or materials covered by the contract and the drawings and specification applicable thereto when ordered by the Government is as much an integral part of the agreement between the parties as any other part thereof, and, therefore, the obligations thus imposed date from the execution of the contract, even though the contract contemplates the execution of amendments from time to time covering such changes.

(2) Where, in accordance with the authorization in the Assignment of Claims Act of 1940 to assign "moneys due or to become due" under a public contract, a contractor has assigned to a particular assignee "all amounts payable" under its contract, separate assignments of amounts due under change orders issued pursuant to the "Changes" provision of the contract are not required in order for the assignee to be entitled to payment of all amounts payable under the contract, including amounts payable for work under change orders, until a duly executed release of the assignment has been properly filed. (See 23 Comp. Gen. 943.)

(i) Release and reassignment. A contractor who, pursuant to the Assignment of Claims Act of 1940, has assigned all moneys due or to become due under a Government contract may be considered as having reestablished his right to direct payment of the proceeds of the contract upon the filing, with those parties to whom the assignee was required by the act to give notice and a copy of the original assignment, of a written notice and true copy of a release and reassignment properly executed by the assignee. (See 22 Comp. Gen. 520.)

(j) Payments under contracts for transportation services. With respect to assignment of claims for transportation charges payable under Government bills of lading, see 21 Comp. Gen. 265 and 23 Comp. Gen. 989.

§ 535.6 Discounts.—(a) Responsibility for prompt rendering of invoices. The responsibility for promptly furnishing a correct invoice, or bill, for deliveries under a contract is that of the contractor and the Government is entitled to discount offered for prompt payment, if payment is made within the discount period after receipt of a correct invoice. Date of receipt of invoice will be shown thereon. Discounts should not be taken on vouchers when the discount date has expired prior to payment, but the voucher should be returned to the certifying officer for certification in the full amount due.

(b) Expedite handling of documents. All documents relating to a cash discount transaction will be given preferential treatment with due regard to exigent factors in other accounts or transactions which do not provide discounts. Where discounts are involved, the originals and copies of the purchase instruments will be stamped "Discount—Expedite" by the initiating office, and the discount terms shown thereon underscored or circled in red to invite attention of all concerned to the possible priority status of the instrument and allied document.

(c) Character of offer of discount. (1) Deduction of discounts under agreements by the Government to purchase supplies is authorized only when the vendor has made an express offer of such discounts. In case of payment for articles purchased under a numbered contract, a statement as to discount shown on the printed commercial bill of the vendor submitted for payment will not be regarded as an express offer of discount. (See 23 Comp. Dec. 141; 2 Comp. Gen. 83; 5 id. 739). For prolonged offer of discount typed or stamped on invoice, see 25 Comp. Gen. 890.

(2) In cases of purchases other than under numbered contracts, a statement as to cash discount appearing on a dealer's invoice should be considered an offer of cash discount of which advantage should be taken, and any protest by a dealer against deduction of such discount, on the ground that his bid or the procuring instrument was silent as to cash discount, or that the procuring instrument showed the price to be net, should be considered as a claim to be submitted to the General Accounting Office for direct settlement. (See MS. Comp. Gen. B 53778, 14 February 1946.)

(3) Where discount was deducted but not earned, voucher for repayment of discount erroneously deducted will be paid by the disbursing officer without being referred to the Chief of Finance for settlement by the General Accounting Office where the facts clearly show that the vendor is properly entitled to payment.

(d) Discount period.—(1) Definition. In the absence of specific stipulation to the contrary, the discount period is generally to be considered to begin on the date of delivery of the supplies to carrier when final inspection and acceptance are at point of origin, on date of delivery at destination or port of embarkation when final inspection and acceptance are at these points, or on the date correct bill or voucher properly certified by the contractor is received if the latter date is later than the date of delivery. (See 14 Comp. Gen. 721; 9 id. 161; 30 id. 10; 30 id. 125.)

(2) Receipt of invoice by proper office. Date of receipt of invoice is held to be the day on which the invoice is received in the office of the Government specified in the contract. Should the contractor fail to forward invoices to the proper office, any delay in receipt by the proper office is the direct result of the contractor's error in submission. (See MS. Comp. Gen. A 53305, 20 February 1934.)

(3) Last day falls on Sunday. Where the last day of the discount period falls on Sunday, the following business day is considered as being within the discount period. (See 20 Comp. Gen. 310.)

(4) Computation of final date for payment. As set forth in subparagraph (1) of this paragraph, the discount period is established by the date of receipt of the supplies or date of receipt of a proper invoice, whichever is later, and the final date for payment. In determining the actual final date on which payment must be made, to come within the discount period, the date beginning the period is the day following the actual day of receipt of supplies or day of receipt of invoice, whichever is later, for example:

Goods delivered	Mar. 1, 1951
Invoice received	Mar. 4, 1951
Terms	2 percent, 10 days
Final date payment must be made to come within discount period.	Mar. 14, 1951

(See 20 Comp. Gen. 310; 30 id. 10.)

(5) Date of payment. Date of payment for discount purposes must be considered as the date of issuance of the check. Care should be taken to see that checks are mailed the same day they are dated where there is a question of discount involved and that the date of mailing of the checks in such cases be made a matter of record. (See MS. Comp. Gen. A 39516, November 30, 1931; MS. Comp. Gen. B 30491, January 21, 1943; 31 Comp. Gen. 260.)

(e) Payment within discount period. In all cases of bills for the payment of which on or before a certain date or within a certain time a cash discount is offered, advantage will be taken of the offer of such discount and payment made on or prior to the date on which the discount feature expires, if possible to do so.

(f) In case of doubt. In cases in which there is involved any question, as between the Government and the payee, of the right to deduct the discount, in the interest of making prompt payments, and to save the right of the Government to the discount if it is subsequently determined to have been properly deductible at the time of payment, the discount should be deducted and payment of the balance tendered the payee, who, if not satisfied, may accept the payment under protest and file claim in the General Accounting Office, either direct or through military channels for a refund of the amount deducted. (See 7 Comp. Gen. 537.)

(g) Computation of discount where excise tax involved. Federal excise taxes imposed upon items which are subject to cash discount will be included in the amount on which discount is computed, except in those cases where the contract or other instrument governing the taking of discount specifically provides otherwise and the tax is itemized separately on the invoice. Part 410 of this title contains a list of items on which Federal excise taxes are imposed by the Internal Revenue Code. In addition to such list, the regulation shows the taxes from which exemption is available with respect to sales made for the exclusive use of the United States. If an item is not listed in Part 410 of this title, payment of Federal excise tax should not be made thereon without prior submission of complete details of the transaction to the Chief of Finance, Department of the Army, Washington 25, D. C., Attn: Receipts and Disbursements Division, for instructions. Payment of Federal excise tax should not be made on items, where the tax is not shown on the vendor's invoice, even though the tax is listed in Part 410 of this title as applicable to the United States.

(h) Discounts with respect to trade customs. (1) Where a contract provides that a certain discount will be allowed if payment for the goods purchased thereunder is made within a stipulated period, the amount to be deducted as discount should be based on the price fixed in the contract even though such price should include the amount paid by the vendor as freight on the goods when delivered at destination. The amount allowed as a discount under a contract is the sum the vendor is willing to pay for payment of the account within a stipulated period, and it is immaterial whether such account represents the value of the goods sold at point of origin or includes other expenditures made by the vendor in accordance with the terms of the contract. (See 5 Comp. Gen. 868.)

(2) While trade or commercial custom is not accepted as conclusive in the interpretation of Government contracts generally, where goods purchased by a cost-plus-a-fixed-fee contractor were consummated under agreements to which the United States was not a party, the contractor's method of computing the vendor's offered discount on the net invoice price, exclusive of freight, in accordance with the prevailing commercial custom of the industry in that particular locality, rather than on the contract or delivered price, inclusive of freight, as is the rule with respect to Government purchases, will not be objected to by General Accounting Office. 5 Comp. Gen. 868, distinguished. (See 24 Comp. Gen. 277.)

(i) Discount taken after deduction of export differential. Where a contract for supplies provides that, as a consideration for furnishing the articles involved, the contractor should be paid the total sum specified therein, subject to a discount for prompt payment, but the contract price itself is subject to reduction with respect to such of the articles as are consigned for export shipment, the discount with respect to articles so consigned may be computed on the reduced contract price, that is, after deduction of the export differential, rather than on the full contract price, even though there is no provision to that effect in the contract. (See 22 Comp. Gen. 846.)

(j) Discount on water bills. Where a contract for furnishing water provided for payment therefor at certain specified meter rates, with discount for prompt payment, the contractor is entitled to the full specified meter rates upon failure of the Government to make payment within the time specified for the allowance of discount. (See 12 Comp. Gen. 274; 16 id. 151.)

(k) Responsibility for loss of discount. (1) It is the responsibility of the disbursing officer to establish internal office procedures which will permit advantage to be taken of any offered discounts. However, should the payment documents be received in the disbursing office at such time as to preclude taking advantage of the offered discount, the disbursing officer is not required to justify failure or to obtain waivers for failure to take advantage of discounts in those cases where payment is made after the expiration of the discount period.

(2) The General Accounting Office has no alternative but to disallow credit in the accounts of the disbursing officer for the amount of offered discounts not deducted where it is determined that they were deductible at the time of payment. (See MS Comp. Gen. B 31627, June 23, 1943.)

(l) Loss of discount no cause for further delay in payment. Request for advance decision of the Comptroller General as to the propriety of payment, or submission of an account to the General Accounting Office for direct settlement, solely because of loss of discount, is not necessary. In no case should payment be further delayed because a discount has been lost through delayed payment.

§ 535.7 Advance payments—(a) Advances of public money prohibited. No advance of public money shall be made in any case unless authorized by the appropriation concerned or other law. And in all cases of contracts for the performance of any service, or the delivery of articles of any description, for the use of the United States, payment shall not exceed the value of the service rendered, or of the articles delivered previously to such payment. (See R. S. 3648; sec. 11, Act August 2, 1946 (60 Stat. 809; 31 U. S. C. 529).

(b) Procedure for making advance payments. For policies and provisions for advances, interest, etc., under authority of title II, First War Powers Act (55 Stat. 839; 50 U. S. C. App. 611), as amended, and Executive Order 10210, February 2, 1951 (3 CFR 1951 Supp.), see Part 431 of this title and Subpart I, Part 590 of this chapter.

(c) Periodicals. Subscriptions to newspapers, magazines, periodicals, and other publications may be paid in advance (Act April 27, 1914 (38 Stat. 362; 31 U. S. C. 530)). Subscription charges for newspapers, magazines, and other periodicals for official use of any office under the Government of the United States, or the municipal government of the District of Columbia may be paid in advance from appropriations available when it is proved more economical to take advantage of such subscriptions, notwithstanding, the provisions of section 3648, Revised Statutes (31 U. S. C. 529). (See Act June 12, 1930 (46 Stat. 580; 31 U. S. C. 530) 23 Comp. Gen. 326; 24 id. 163.)

(d) Change in rental rate. While no adjustment in rent or other charges is ordinarily authorized in the event of the termination of a tenancy or change in rental rate between rent days where the rental or other charges are payable in advance unless the contract or lease provides otherwise, an apportionment of rent charges is authorized where the Government, as lessor, anticipating its need for possession of a portion of the leased premises between rent days, effects an arrangement, prior to the rent due date, whereby payment of the month's rental is withheld by the lessee subject to later adjustment to conform to the reduced rental which was to become effective upon the surrender of the involved portion of the premises. (See 22 Comp. Gen. 599.)

(e) License to use patent for its life. The payment of a lump sum for a license to use a patent for its remaining life (15 years) is not in contravention of the prohibition in section 3648, Revised Statutes, against payment for services in advance of their rendition, and, therefore, there is no legal objection to the purchase of such a license the subject matter of which is reasonably within the objects for which the appropriation to be charged is available during the current fiscal year. (See 22 Comp. Gen. 904.)

(f) Payment for articles delivered and accepted. When a supply contract provides for payment "for articles delivered and accepted" and that the contractor shall be responsible for the supplies or materials "until they are actually in the possession of a Government representative at destination," payments thereunder upon the basis of vouchers or invoices supported by evidence of shipment, only, without evidence of arrival of the supplies at destination and without assurance of receipt or acceptance of such supplies by the Government, would be unauthorized. (See 20 Comp. Gen. 230.)

(g) Payment in advance of delivery of article. While, under the advance payment prohibition of section 3648, Revised Statutes, payment may not be made for articles in which the United States has acquired no right or interest and from which it derives no benefit, payment may be made for articles in advance of actual delivery if title therein has vested in the Government at the time of payment, or if the articles are impressed with a valid lien in favor of the United States in an amount at least equal to the payment. 15 Comp. Dec. 74, distinguished. (See 20 Comp. Gen. 917 and § 535.8(c).)

§ 535.8 Partial payments—(a) Unnumbered contracts. Partial payments, not to exceed five in number on any given contract, may be made with respect to partial deliveries under unnumbered contracts, including purchase orders, amounting to less than $5,000 (which provide for single payment), provided that the original signed contract is attached to the first payment voucher. There will be indicated on each payment voucher reference to all preceding payments under the contract showing: name of disbursing officer; period of account; voucher number; and amount paid. (See MS. Comp. Gen. B 45107, April 22, 1952.)

(b) Under contracts containing partial payments clause. (1) Partial payments may be made under contracts which contain the partial payments clause prescribed in § 596.150–1 of this chapter. Partial payments on vouchers under contracts containing the partial payments clause may be made without supporting papers or evidence prior to receipt of approval of the General Accounting Office to have such contracts audited locally under the decentralized audit plan, provided the contracting officer, or his duly authorized representative, advises the disbursing officer in writing that application has been made to the General Accounting Office for inclusion of the subject contracts in local audit projects by field units of the General Accounting Office.

(2) Upon receiving a written notification that contracts against which partial payments have been made, as outlined in subparagraph (1) of this paragraph, have in fact been accepted by the General Accounting Office for inclusion in local audit projects of their field units, disbursing officers will notify the contracting officer, or his duly authorized representative, of the amounts paid on the partial payment vouchers and request a written notification be furnished from the local representative of the General Accounting Office that said partial payments will be included in the local decentralized audit plan. Upon receipt of such written notification, payment of the amounts withheld on the partial payment vouchers will be made on certified vouchers without further supporting papers or evidence.

(3) In case the application for inclusion in the decentralized audit plan is not approved by the General Accounting Office, payment of the amounts withheld will not be made unless and until the necessary supporting papers and evidence covering both partial and final payments are furnished.

(c) Payment in advance of delivery of article. (1) Where the Government is presently unable to fulfill its obligation under a contract for office equipment by accepting and making final payment therefor, the contract may be modified to provide for the taking of title to the equipment in storage and to permit partial payment, provided the contractor's performance bond surety will consent thereto, and if the modifying instrument provide that the contractor shall be responsible absolutely for the care and protection of the equipment, and that the contractor will remain liable for the fulfillment of the terms and conditions of the original contract. (See 20 Comp. Gen. 917; 28 id. 468.)

(2) While, under the advance payment prohibition of section 3468, Revised Statutes, payment may not be made for articles in which the United States has acquired no right or interest and from which it derives no benefit, payment may be made for articles in advance of actual delivery if title therein has vested in the Government at the time of payment, or if the articles are impressed with a valid lien in favor of the United States in an amount at least equal to the payment. 15 Comp. Dec. 74, distinguished. (See 20 Comp. Gen. 917.)

(d) Doubtful cases. Where a disbursing officer is in doubt as to the legality of a portion of the amount covered by a voucher which is before him for payment, only the amount in doubt will be withheld for submission to the Comptroller General or transmission to the General Accounting Office, and payment will be made to the contractor of such portion of the voucher as is not in question. Disbursing officers will consider such vouchers with a view to paying the maximum amount consistent with protection of the interests of the Government.

(e) Waiver of contractual claims. Certain cost-plus-a-fixed-fee contracts issued in connection with construction projects require as a condition to final payment that the contractor execute a release of all claims against the Government arising under the contract other than such claims as are specifically excepted from release in stated amounts set forth therein. Contracting officers, however, have been authorized to waive the contractual requirement that claims excepted from the operation of the release be in stated amounts where the claims involved are claims for reimbursement under the contract of payments arising out of any employment by the contractor in connection with the contract work and based on the maximum hour and overtime provisions of the Fair Labor Standards Act or are claims in connection with any proceedings for the enforcement thereof. Disbursing officers will accept such releases, when accepted by the contracting officer, as being in full compliance with the contract provisions, and will make final payment thereagainst when otherwise proper.

§ 535.9 Unsatisfactory performance—(a) Nature—(1) Default. Default is the refusal or the failure of a contractor to carry out the terms of a contract. (See § 406.103–11 of this title.)

(2) Delay. Delay is the failure or the refusal of the contractor to furnish supplies or services within the time limit fixed in the contract.

(3) Unsatisfactory supplies. Unsatisfactory supplies are supplies which have been inspected and payment has been made for the supplies and then subsequent use or inspection reveals the supplies to be not in accordance with the terms of the contract. (See 8 Comp. Gen. 103.)

(b) Liquidated damages—(1) Definition. Liquidated damages are defined as the amount, determinable from stipulations in a contract between a contractor and the Government, to be paid to the Government, in lieu of actual damages, as a result of failure or delay by the contractor in complying fully with the contract provisions.

(2) Contract provision. Except with the permission of the chief of the technical service concerned (which may be granted with respect to contracts individually or by class), or in accordance with general instructions given by him, no contract shall provide for liquidated damages in the event of default. Where a contract provides for liquidated damages and default takes place, action will be taken as provided in the Armed Services Procurement Regulations, (Subchapter A of this title), promptly on behalf of the Government to enforce any remedies available under the contract. So far as possible, such action will be taken in such manner as will prevent the inequitable accumulation of liquidated damages. (See § 406.105–5 of this title and § 596.105–5 of this chapter.)

(3) Remission. Whenever any contract includes a provision for liquidated damages for delay, the Comptroller General on the recommendation of the Secretary of the Army is authorized and empowered to remit the whole or any part of such damages as in his discretion may be just and equitable. (See sec. 6, Act February 19, 1948 (62 Stat. 24; 41 U. S. C. Sup. IV, 155) (§ 596.105–5 (d) of this chapter).)

(4) Claims for liquidated damages withheld. Whenever, under a contract containing a liquidated damages clause, the contractor fails to perform within the stipulated period and the time is not extended or the liquidated damages waived, the disbursing officer will deduct the maximum amount of liquidated damages for which the contractor may be liable and claim credit for the net amount only, crediting the amount so deducted to the applicable Reserve for Settlement of Claims account, subject to a determination whether all or part of the amount of liquidated damages withheld is due to the contractor and, if appropriate, the taking of action set forth in subparagraph (5) of this paragraph. Generally, amounts withheld on account of liquidated damages will not again become available for obligation or for payment by disbursing officers and pay protests made by the contractor against the deduction of liquidated damages will be forwarded together with a statement of all payments made, citations to all vouchers, and a detailed statement from the contracting officer, through the Chief of Finance, Washington 25, D. C., Attn: Receipts and Disbursements Division, to the General Accounting Office. However, Reserve for Settlement of Claims established from "No year" or "Available until expended" appropriations may be transferred from the Reserve Account to the account originally charged and treated as unobligated balances available for expenditure when no objection to the deduction for liquidated damages have been raised by the contractor within a period of 2 years or more. (See 16 Comp. Gen. 374.)

(5) Submission of claims. (i) Except in those cases where appeals are made to higher authority, under specific contractual provisions, against determinations of fact by contracting officers, the claims or protests of contractors and vendors arising from the deduction of amounts for liquidated damages will be forwarded through the Chief of Finance to the General Accounting Office. The claim or protest will be accompanied by a statement of all payments made, citations to all vouchers, and a detailed statement from the contracting officer, and by citations to the symbols and titles of the appropriations against which funds are reserved for settlement.

(ii) Upon receipt of evidence from the General Accounting Office that a claim has been settled direct or upon payment of a claim by a disbursing officer pursuant to proper authorization by the General Accounting Office, the Chief of Finance will charge the amount of the settlement or payment to the applicable Reserve for Settlement of Claims account.

(c) Special cases. (1) Where a contract contains a liquidated damages clause based on the contract price and also contains an offer of discount for prompt payment, the liquidated damages should be deducted on the basis of the gross contract price and without regard to the discount. The discount is likewise to be computed on the gross contract price without regard to the amount of the liquidated damages. (See 18 Comp. Gen. 784.)

(2) Where a contract contains a liquidated damages clause based on the contract price, which price is subsequently modified, and also contains an offer of discount for prompt payment, the liquidated damages and the discount should each be computed on the basis of the modified contract price. (See 18 Comp. Gen. 784.)

(3) Where a contract contains a liquidated damages clause based on the contract price and also contains clause providing for price reduction and for penalties, the liquidated damages should be computed on the price as revised but without regard to any penalties that may be assessed. (See 18 Comp. Gen. 784.)

(4) Liquidated damages need not be deducted for delays resulting from changes in specifications covered by change orders issued in accordance with provisions of standard forms of contracts. The change order should specify the changes, increase or decrease in price, and the number of days added thereby. (See MS. Comp. Gen. A 26558, April 1, 1929.)

(5) Where a contract contains a delay-liquidated damages clause which provides that if the contractor refuses or fails to make delivery of the materials or supplies within the time specified, the contractor shall pay to the Government liquidated damages for each calendar day of delay in making delivery and which gives the Government the additional right to terminate the contract and to purchase similar material or supplies from another source and to charge against the contractor any excess cost occasioned the Government thereby, together with liquidated damages accruing until such time as the Government may reasonably procure similar material or supplies elsewhere, liquidated damages are assessed against the contractor for all deliveries which were due at the time the contract was terminated, as well as with respect to deliveries due to be made under the contract subsequent to the date of termination thereof. (See MS. Comp. Gen. B 86513, May 29, 1951.)

(6) Where a contractor abandons his contract, necessitating the termination thereof by the Government and the subsequent reletting of the uncompleted portion of the work to another contractor, no liquidated damages accrue to the United States after the date of termination in the absence of a provision in the contract that liquidated damages will not cease to accrue at the time of termination. (See 7 Comp. Gen. 409; 11 id. 81; 15 id. 903; 17 id. 503.)

(7) Partial payments, as distinguished from final payment, may be made on periodical progress reports without deduction of liquidated damages for time intervening between the effective date of an order for suspension of work and the effective date of an order to resume work, or delivery of supplies. (See 8 Comp. Gen. 80.)

(d) Actual damages—(1) Provisions in contract. Whenever under a contract containing provisions for actual damages the contracting officer determines that the failure to complete the contract within the specified time did not result in any actual damage to the Government, the provisions of subparagraph (2)(iv) of this paragraph will apply.

(2) No provisions in contract. (i) Where no specific provision is made in a contract for either liquidated or actual damages, the contractor is, upon failure to complete the contract within the specified time, chargeable with all expenses caused the Government by the delay as actual damages, unless the delay is excusable under the provisions of the contract or under statutory provisions. (See sec. 301, Act March 27, 1942 (56 Stat. 177; 50 U. S. C. App 633).)

(ii) Where there has been delay in performance under a contract which does not contain a provision for damages, the contracting officer will determine whether or not the delay resulted in actual damage to the Government.

(iii) In cases where the contracting officer has determined that the delay resulted in actual damage to the Government, the contracting officer will furnish for the file with the voucher a statement of damage resulting from the delay.

(iv) In cases where the contracting officer has determined that the delay did not result in actual damage, the contracting officer will not be required to furnish a certificate to that effect, except as hereinafter provided. In all cases where the voucher is not accompanied by a statement as to damages, it will be assumed that the contracting officer has determined that no actual damage resulted or that the contractor was not responsible for the delay, and the disbursing officer will make full payment of the voucher, if otherwise correct. If in any such case the General Accounting Office should, after payment of the voucher, request a certificate, the contracting officer will prepare and furnish a certificate that the delay did not result in any actual damage to the Government.

(e) Disposition of amounts collected because of contractor's default or unsatisfactory supplies—(1) Default. Amounts collected on account of actual damages or excess costs charged to defaulting contractors will be credited to "Miscellaneous Receipts." (See MS. Comp. Gen. A 26073, March 20, 1929; August 8, 1929; 10 Comp. Gen. 510.)

(2) Unsatisfactory supplies. Amounts refunded because of the rejection of unsatisfactory supplies will be credited to the appropriations from which the original payments were made. (See 8 Comp. Gen. 103.)

(f) Set-offs. The Government always has the right to set-off against an amount due to a claimant any sum the claimant owes the Government, either under the same or other contracts or obligations. (Barry v. U. S., 229 U. S. 47; 37 Op. Atty. Gen. 215; 7 Comp. Gen. 186; 18 id. 524.) The right of set-off does not apply to unliquidated demands, but the Government has the equitable right to withhold payment of moneys due under one contract to a contractor who is in default under another contract until his indebtedness thereunder can be liquidated (7 Comp. Dec. 213). Where a contract so provides, payment to an assignee shall not be subject to reduction or set-off for any indebtedness of the assignor arising independently of the assigned contract. (See 31 Comp. Gen. 90.)

§ 535.9a Miscellaneous special cases—(a) Indefinite quantities and unlimited amounts. It has been stated that contracts for indefinite quantities are invalid. This is merely the statement of the general legal principle that the undertakings of the parties to a contract must be sufficiently definite to be capable of enforcement. Thus in 14 Comp. Gen. 446, is was stated that one of the first and most important requisites of a valid contract is that the terms thereof shall be certain, definite, and specific and that, while it may not be possible to determine definitely the quantities which may be required under certain conditions, there appears no reason why there should not be an estimated quantity specified with a variance of 10, 20, or 25 percent. It has also been stated that contracts purporting to obligate the Government to pay unlimited amounts are not authorized. This statement reflects the principle that, with certain exceptions, no contract or purchase on behalf of the United States shall be made unless the same is authorized by law or is under an appropriation adequate to its fulfillment (R. S. 3732; 41 U. S. C. 11); whereas an obligation involving payment of an unlimited amount might exceed the appropriation. (15 Comp. Dec. 405, 407; 5 Comp. Gen. 450, 454.) The obligation of funds in advance of or in excess of available appropriation is prohibited. (R. S. 3679; sec. 1211, Act September 6, 1950 (64 Stat. 765; 31 U. S. C. Sup. IV, 665)). These principles do not invalidate the so-called "indefinite quantity contracts" under which the contractor undertakes to furnish all of the actual requirements of a Government agency for a particular item and the Government agency in turn agrees to purchase from the contractor all of its requirements of that item during the specified period. (19 Comp. Gen. 599.) Likewise, these principles do not affect the validity of cost-plus-a-fixed-fee contracts authorized by law, pursuant to which a contractor agrees to deliver a specified quantity of items or to perform a specified service, and to pay an undetermined amount to be computed by adding to the fixed fee the actual cost incurred.

(b) Rates effective "until further notice." In the absence of competition there is no objection to entering into agreements for public utilities services at stipulated rates "until further notice," without necessity for new agreements or annual renewals except to cover changes in rates or services. Unless the interests of the Government require otherwise in a particular case, the original agreements and all changes will be filed in the General Accounting Office and the vouchers will cite the agreement involved and bear a statement by a responsible officer of the public utility concerned as to the rates charged. Payment may not be made for service in an amount stipulated in a substitute agreement which is in excess of the rate stated in the original contract, effective "until further notice," prior to the date of actual receipt of the substitute agreement by the proper administrative representative of the Government. (See 15 Comp. Gen. 920; MS. Comp. Gen. A 65231, December 15, 1936.)

(c) Customs duties on foreign purchases—(1) Duty free purchases. The Act June 30, 1914 (38 Stat. 399; 34 U. S. C. 568) authorized the Secretary of the Navy to make emergency purchases of war material abroad and provided that the same shall be admitted free of duty. By Executive Order 9177, May 30, 1942 (3 CFR 1943 Cum. Supp.), this authority was extended to the Secretary of the Army and others.

(2) Payment of customs duties. Where the importation is not duty free, the amount of the customs duty is properly chargeable to the same appropriation as the purchase, notwithstanding the fact that the importation and the purchase are in different fiscal years. (See 26 Comp. Dec. 610.)

(3) Philippine export tax. No export tax shall be imposed or collected by the Philippines or the United States on articles exported to or from one another.

(d) No valid contract.—(1) Approval of contract. If approval of a contract by any officer or official of the Army Establishment other than the contracting officer is required, the "Approval of Contract" clause set forth in § 406.105–2 of this title will be included, all changes and deletions will have been made before such approval is requested, and the contract will not be valid until such approval has been obtained. (See § 590.604–13 of this chapter.)

(2) Lost contract. Where a contract properly executed has been lost, its contents may be proved by the production of the original proposal, a certified copy of its acceptance, and an unsigned copy of the contract, so as to authorize payment at the contract rates for supplies which have been actually delivered. (See 4 Comp. Dec. 82.)

(3) Informally executed agreements. When payment has been made and accepted under an agreement shown to be reasonable, but informally executed, the transaction is complete and both parties are bound thereby. (See 24 Comp. Dec. 226.)

(4) Quantum meruit. (i) Accounts covering supplies furnished or services rendered before the making of a contract, without a valid contract, or where otherwise settlement is on a quantum meruit basis, should be transmitted to the Chief of Finance for processing under section 17 of the Contract Settlement Act of 1944 or for transmission to the General Accounting Office (M. S. Comp. Dec. A. D. 4997, 6 August 1920). For exception see subdivision (iv) of this subparagraph.

(ii) The agreed price, if any, is prima facie but not conclusive evidence as to the correct price. (See 8 Comp. Dec. 526; 20 id. 437.)

(iii) Where a military order commandeered labor and property upon the terms and with compensation as set forth therein, and the parties to whom the order was directed could not have refused to obey it, the Government is liable on an implied contract to pay them on a quantum meruit basis the value of the labor material, supplies and equipment furnished thereunder. Such agreement may not be considered a contract within the meaning of that word, as used in statutes prohibiting the procurement of supplies of labor under contracts on a cost-plus-a-percentage-of-cost basis. However, in support of reimbursement vouchers, there should be furnished such evidence as will satisfactorily establish that the labor and materials involved were actually furnished pursuant to orders, and, where reimbursement is to be made for the actual cost thereof, evidence that the amounts claimed have actually been paid. (See MS. Comp. Gen. B 36873, October 16, 1943.)

(iv) Notwithstanding the provisions of subdivision (i) of this subparagraph a cost-plus-a-fixed-fee contractor may be reimbursed for proper expenses which were not included in the fixed fee and which were incurred in connection with expediting performance of work under the contract prior to its formal execution, but after verbal notification that the contract would be awarded. (See 21 Comp. Gen. 462.)

(5) Informal commitments. Informal commitments will be entered into under the circumstances only as authorized by § 590.909–1 (c) of this title, and pursuant to the instructions of the head of a procuring activity. Informal commitments will not be entered into for specific amounts. The basis of payment will be "fair compensation" as approved by the appropriate approving authority, depending upon the amount involved. (See § 592.409 of this title.)

(e) Penalty for nonpayment. The United States is liable under an implied contract for the payment of a penalty prescribed by a city ordinance to be added to delinquent water rents for their nonpayment within a prescribed time when it takes the water from the city while such an ordinance is in force and is delinquent in paying therefor. (See 12 Comp. Dec. 640.)

(f) Postal charges. Where a procuring instrument provides for payment by the Government of transportation charges and the vendor is directed by proper authority, either in the procuring instrument or by separate instructions, to ship via parcel post, postal charges are reimbursable and will be included in the vendor's invoice as a separate item. The vendor's certificate on the invoice will be accepted as sufficient evidence of the correctness of such charges and it will not be required that any additional certificate or other supporting evidence, such as verification by weight or postal zone, be furnished.

(g) Subsistence claims. Claims received from railroad companies and others concerned covering incidental expenses of subsistence incured by troops while en route, where reimbursement by train commanders is impossible because the organizations have departed for oversea destinations, will be forwarded to the Chief of Finance, Washington 25, D. C., Attn: Receipts and Disbursements Division.

(h) Withholding final payment due to Notices of Exceptions. The fact that Notices of Exceptions are outstanding which can be cleared by furnishing certain information or supporting papers, or that the General Accounting Office has not audited prior payments, is no reason for withholding subsequent or final payments, and such action should in no instances be taken when it is apparent that the Notices of Exceptions can be cleared or there are other current contracts in existence with the contractor involved from which recoupment can be made in case the Notices of Exceptions finally result in disallowances by the General Accounting Office.

(i) Guarantee deposits. (1) Checks of contractors representing guarantee deposits of bidders submitted in lieu of performance bonds will, upon award of the contract or as soon thereafter as is practicable, be disposed of as follows:

(i) The deposit of the successful bidder will be turned over to the local disbursing officer who will receipt therefor and place it in a deposit account, until the transaction is completed, whereupon the amount of the deposit will be credited to the last payment or refunded by the disbursing officer by use of a Standard Form 1049 (Public Voucher for Refunds).

(ii) Where, upon a contractor's default and after readvertisement for bids, the Government elected to have the work performed on a basis entirely different than that contemplated under the original contract because the only bid received upon readvertisement was considered excessive, the defaulted contractor is liable to the Government for any damages arising out of the breach, representing the difference between the original contract price and the reasonable cost of completing the work as originally specified, together with the cost incurred by the readvertisement for bids and such other administrative expenses as may be directly attributed to the default.

(2) In the absence of express or clearly implied stipulation to the contrary, a deposit to secure faithful performance of a Government contract is regarded merely as a guarantee against such loss or damage as is actually occasioned the Government by breach of the contract, rather than as a liquidation in advance of the damages which might result from the contractor's default so that a breach of the contract does not of itself give the Government an absolute right to the amount deposited; but the Government may exercise its common-law right to retain and resort to such deposit for application or set-off against damages resulting from default.

(3) An election by the Government, upon a contractor's default, to have the work performed on an entirely different basis than that contemplated under a defaulted contract, due to the fact that the only replacement bid received appeared excessive, does not relieve the contractor from liability for damages. It may be taken as an indication that the reasonable cost of completing the work as originally specified would have been in excess of the contract price at least to the extent of the defaulting contractor's deposit to secure faithful performance, and, therefore, refund of the deposits is not authorized. (See 23 Comp. Gen. 234.)

(4) Deposits of unsuccessful bidders will be returned by the contracting officer when the award is made.

(j) Rights in sureties. Settlement with the contractor and surety will be made by the General Accounting Office in accordance with the following. A surety which completes work under a contract on which it is surety is subrogated to the rights of the contractor against the Government for the unpaid balance due from the United States on that contract and also to the rights of the Government against the contractor for the excess cost of completing the work or furnishing the materials and supplies and therefore, the surety is entitled to be paid by the Government the cost to the surety of completing the work but no profit. The contractor is entitled to be paid for work performed by it, if any funds are available for such payment after reimbursing the surety. The total payment by the Government must not exceed the contract price. It is the practice to require releases from the contractor and the surety. Payment into court of the balance should not be made. The amount remaining due may be paid to the assignee of a receiver where the court orders the receiver to accept the assignee's offer to complete the work in consideration of receiving all the payments and retained percentages due. (See 16 Comp. Dec. 351; id. 490; 26 id. 467; 3 Comp. Gen. 623; 5 id. 995; 8 id. 36; id. 58; id. 266; id. 318; id. 435; 14 id. 567.)

(k) Payments due deceased or incompetent creditors—(1) Deceased. All claims for amounts due accounts of individual deceased creditors of the United States, except military personnel and civilian officers and employees, will be made on Standard Form 1055 (Claim Against the United States for Amounts Due in the Case of a Deceased Creditor). Claims to be submitted on such form are for direct settlement by the General Accounting Office and will include, among other things, payment due deceased contractors and other public creditors for supplies furnished or services rendered. Claim for payment of Government checks drawn on the Treasurer of the United States or other authorized Government depositary to the order of such public creditors, which cannot be paid because of the death of the payee, will also be stated on the newly revised claim form. (See General Regulations 104—Revised.)

(2) Incompetent. No form is prescribed for use of guardians or committees of estates of minors or incompetents in making claim for sums due from the United States. However, an application setting forth the entitlement of the minor or incompetent to sums due from the Government, giving the name of the department and bureau, establishment, or agency, must be submitted by the guardian or committee over his or her signature and address accompanied by a short certificate of the court showing the appointment and qualifications of the claimant as guardian or committee. All Government checks drawn on the Treasurer of the United States or other authorized Government depositary to the order of individuals, which cannot be paid because of the incompetency of the payee, should accompany the claim. Applications for subsequently recurring payments need not be accompanied by an additional certificate of the court, but must be supported by a statement that the appointment is still in full force and effect. Where the total amount due the estate of the minor or incompetent is small, and no guardian or committee of the estate has been or will be appointed, payment may be made, in the discretion of the Comptroller General, to the person, or persons, having care or custody of the minor or incompetent, or to close relatives who will hold the amount for the use and benefit of the minor or incompetent. (See General Regulations 104—Revised.)

§ 535.9b Adjustments—(a) Mistakes in contract price. Where a contractor claims payment in addition to the contract price on the ground that a mistake was made in the contract price, consideration may be given to whether the contract should be amended in accordance with the procedure outlined in § 591.405 and Subpart I, of this chapter and Part 590 of this chapter. In the event that the contract is amended in accordance therewith, payment will be made in accordance with the contract as amended. Otherwise, only the price specified in the contract will be paid and the contractor will be advised to present to the General Accounting Office any protests he may have in connection with the settlement as made.

(b) Contract provisions for price adjustment. Where contracts contain price escalation or price redetermination clauses, payment will be made in accordance with the terms thereof.

(c) Inferior goods. Varying contract provisions are found dealing with goods which do not conform to specifications but are, nevertheless, retained and used by the Government. For instance, certain quartermaster contracts dealing with canned foods provide for deductions from the contract price and for cash reimbursement, in lieu of the right to reject and require replacement of defective cans. Other contracts provide that if public necessity requires use of rejected goods not conforming to specifications, payment therefor shall be made at a proper reduction in price. Payment for rejected goods so retained and used has usually been on the basis of their reasonable value as distinguished from the contract price. (See Barry v. United States, 229 U. S. 47; Corr & Sons v. United States, 55 Ct. Cl. 7; 5 Comp. Gen. 993.) Where contract terms provide for payment of a lesser amount in the event that inferior goods are accepted under proper authority, payment may be made by disbursing officer on the basis of the determination of the contracting officer without reference to the Chief of Finance, provided there is received by the disbursing officer an invoice certified by the contractor in the reduced amount covering the inferior goods. In all cases where inferior goods are accepted at reduced prices, and the covering contract does not provide for such acceptance, the disbursing officer will submit the voucher for such reduced payment to the Chief of Finance for consideration.

(d) Violations of the 8-hour law—(1) Disposition of amounts collected. Amounts withheld from a contractor as a penalty for violation of the 8-hour law of June 19, 1912 (37 Stat. 137; 40 U. S. C. 324), as amended, are moneys collected for the use of the United States as specifically provided in said law, and, accordingly, are for depositing and covering into the Treasury as miscellaneous receipts as provided by sections 3617 and 3618, Revised Statutes. Such amounts, however, may be permitted to remain to the credit of the appropriation involved until such time as the right of appeal to the head of the department, as provided in the act of June 19, 1912, as amended, has expired (6 months), or until final action on such appeal in case same is duly filed. (See 10 Comp. Gen. 504.)

(2) Suspension of law. Because of the national emergency, Congress provided in section 5b, Act June 28, 1940 (54 Stat. 679; 50 U. S. C. App. 1155), that the provisions of the 8-hour law should be suspended for work covered by Army, Navy and Coast Guard contracts. Section 303, Act September 9, 1940 (54 Stat. 884; 40 U. S. C. 325a), provided that work in excess of 8 hours a day is now permitted upon compensation for all hours worked in excess of 8 hours per day at not less than one and one-half times the basic rate of pay. The effect of this latest statute is to reinstate the provisions of the act of 1912, and to provide a statutory waiver thereof where time and one-half is paid, Hence, if the contractor fails to pay such extra compensation, he still violates the 1912 statute and is subject to its penalties. (See 20 Comp. Gen. 233; id. 890; 21 id. 1110.)

(e) Adjustments after final payment. Supplemental payment to a contractor may be made after the final settlement voucher has been paid where it is clear from the facts in the case, in which both the contractor and the contracting officer concur, that the voucher previously marked "Final Payment" was so marked through error. The supplemental voucher will be marked "Final Payment," with appropriate citation to the previous so-called final payment voucher, and will have attached thereto, in addition to other required supporting papers, the complete file of correspondence or other papers substantiating the facts. The supplemental final voucher will also contain the certificate "No release has been had from the contractor."

PART 591—PROCUREMENT BY FORMAL ADVERTISING

PART 592—PROCUREMENT BY NEGOTIATION

PART 602—GOVERNMENT PROPERTY

ARMY PROCUREMENT PROCEDURE; MISCELLANEOUS AMENDMENTS

The following amendments to Subchapter G are issued:

1. Paragraph (g) of § 590.354–4 is added as follows:

§ 590.354–4 Action by purchasing offices. * * *

(g) The policy governing the relations between the Department of Defense and the Small Defense Plants Administration stipulates that competition and wide-spread publicity will be used to the fullest extent practicable with respect to proposed procurements under joint determinations (joint determinations by assigned representatives of the Small Defense Plants Administration and the contracting office to earmark all or part of a specific procurement for exclusive participation by small business concerns) as provided for in section 714 (f) (2) of the Defense Production Act, as amended. The Department of Commerce will publish information with respect to procurements under joint determination under a separate heading in the daily Synopsis. Therefore, in transmitting procurement information to the Department of Commerce for inclusion in the daily Synopsis, a separate transmittal will be made on those procurements which are under joint determination, and the transmittal will clearly state that "the proposed procurement(s) listed herein is (are) under joint determination."

2. Section 590.606–8 is amended by changing paragraph (a) (3) and adding a new paragraph (e) as follows:

§ 590.606–8 Distribution of procurement contracts to the Army Audit Agency. (a) * * *

(3) Three copies of all letter contracts and fixed-price contracts which provide for price redetermination, price escalation, advance payments, or partial payments; also three copies of all changes, amendments, and supplements to such contracts.

* * * * *

(e) For contracts involving industrial property as defined in paragraph 104.4, appendix B, ASPR (Appendix B, Part 413 of this title), contracting officers will furnish to the regional auditor, Army Audit Agency, having property audit responsibility, a letter of notification showing contract number, name, and address of contractor, address of office administering the contract, and location of the property records. Notifications may be consolidated and furnished weekly or monthly, depending upon volume, but separate letters will be furnished for each location of records. Special arrangements may be made between a purchasing office and the Army Audit Agency in the furnishing of this information.

3. Section 591.102 is amended by adding at the end of paragraph (a) thereof the following sentence: "However, as to procurement in the interest of standardization of equipment and interchangeability of parts, see § 591.201 (j)."

4. Section 591.201 (j) is added as follows:

§ 591.201 Preparation of forms. * * *

(j) Standardization of equipment and interchangeability of parts. All invitations for bids which contemplate negotiation of future procurements of the same equipment with the successful bidder in the interest of standardization of equipment and interchangeability of parts (see §§ 592.201–592.201–2 and 592.213–592.213–3 of this subchapter) will contain the following additional special provision in the Schedule or on an attached continuation sheet:

STANDARDIZATION OF EQUIPMENT AND INTERCHANGEABILITY OF PARTS

(a) The bidder is hereby given notice that this procurement contemplates the negotiation of future procurements of the same equipment from the successful bidder, to assure standardization of equipment and interchangeability of parts.

(b) In the event that, after execution of the contract for equipment specified herein, a final determination is made as to the necessity for standardization, the price developed as a result of this procurement will be used as a basis in negotiating subsequent contracts. Such subsequent contracts will contain mutual price protection in the form of standard escalation clauses covering labor and material, OPS ceiling price statement, and equal to best price to any customer warranty.

(c) The foregoing statements will not be construed as a commitment on the part of the Government to later standardize the equipment or subsequently to negotiate with the successful supplier for future requirements of the same or similar equipment.

5. Section 592.213–2 is amended by adding at the end thereof the following sentence: "In the case of formal advertising contemplating subsequent negotiation of procurements of the same equipment from the successful bidder in the interest of standardization of equipment and interchangeability of parts, see § 591.201 (j) of this subchapter."

6. Section 602.805 is amended by changing paragraph (a) and adding a new paragraph (h) as follows:

§ 602.805 General. (a) The authority to authorize exceptions is delegated to Heads of Procuring Activities with power of redelegation to the chiefs of field purchasing offices, the acting chiefs of field purchasing offices, or alternates for the chiefs of field purchasing offices, selected personally by Heads of Procuring Activities. Class or group exceptions are not authorized. Each exception must relate to a specific contract, specific invitation for bids, or specific request for proposals, and be covered by a suitable change in the contract clause.

* * * * *

(h) Property shipped out for repair with no parts or material furnished and/or no significant scrap resulting therefrom, may be accounted for as a suspense item in the Military Property Account from which shipped. Accounting for property under appendix B, ASPR (Appendix B, Part 413 of this title), is not required of contractors covering property shipped out for repair under § 596.150–5 of this subchapter.

PROPOSED RULE MAKING

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE

Production and Marketing Administration

[7 CFR Part 909]

HANDLING OF ALMONDS GROWN IN CALIFORNIA

SURPLUS OUTLETS

Notice is hereby given that the Department is considering the issuance of the proposed administrative rule herein set forth pursuant to the provisions of Marketing Agreement No. 119 and Order No. 9, regulating the handling of almonds grown in California (7 CFR Part 909), effective under the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.).

Prior to the final issuance of such rule, consideration will be given to data, views, or arguments pertaining thereto which are submitted in writing to the Director, Fruit and Vegetable Branch, Production and Marketing Administration, United States Department of Agriculture, Washington 25, D. C., and which are received not later than the close of business on the 10th day after publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER, except that if the 10th day after publication should fall on a holiday, Saturday, or Sunday, such submission may be received by the Director not later than the close of business on the next following work day.

Pursuant to the provisions of § 909.101 (c) of the aforesaid marketing agreement and order, the Almond Control Board, the administrative agency thereunder, has transmitted to the Department its unanimous finding that diced almonds, sliced almonds, and slivered almonds, packed in hermetically sealed tin or glass containers of 8 ounces or less net contents, are noncompetitive with existing normal markets for almonds and has resolved that they be designated as outlets for surplus almonds.

The Board has submitted definitions contained herein for such packs of almonds. It states that almonds purchased for household use are largely used as kernels, and that the quantity which is chopped, or sliced, by household users is negligible. For some years diced, sliced, and slivered almonds have been used by the bakery, confectionery, and ice cream industries. These types of almonds for such use are generally packed in containers of 5 pounds, 25 pounds, and 100 pounds, net weight. The Board believes that the relatively high cost of packing diced, sliced, or slivered almonds, in small containers as herein proposed, would preclude the use of these small packs by the manufacturing industries now using these types of processed almonds. The Board believes that the designation of the packs of almonds herein specified as outlets for surplus will develop such outlets, particularly for household use in preparation of foods, and will result in increased consumption of almonds with consequent benefits to the industry.

Therefore, after consideration of the Almond Control Board's finding, resolution, and information submitted, such proposed administrative rule is as follows:

§ 909.401 Additional outlets for surplus almonds. Diced almonds, sliced almonds, and slivered almonds, as defined in this section, packed in hermetically sealed tin or glass containers of net contents not in excess 8 ounces, are hereby designated as approved outlets for surplus almonds.

(a) "Diced almonds" means fairly uniform pieces of shelled almonds. Not more than 5 percent by weight of the diced almonds shall be too large to pass through a round opening $^{19}/_{32}$ inch in diameter, nor shall more than 10 percent by weight pass through a round opening $^{3}/_{32}$ inch in diameter. Diced almonds shall not contain more than one-tenth of 1 percent by weight of shells, hulls, and other foreign material, and not more than 3 percent by weight of inedible pieces.

(b) "Sliced almonds" means fairly uniform, thin, wafery, slices of shelled almonds. Not more than 1 percent by weight shall be greater than $^{3}/_{32}$ inch in thickness. At least 60 percent by weight of the slices shall be too large to pass through a round opening $^{1}/_{4}$ inch in diameter, and not more than 10 percent by weight shall pass through a round opening $^{1}/_{8}$ inch in diameter. Sliced almonds shall not contain more than one-tenth of 1 percent by weight of shells, hulls, and other foreign material, and not more than 3 percent by weight of inedible slices or fragments thereof.

(c) "Slivered almonds" means fairly uniform, thin, narrow pieces of shelled almonds. Not more than 5 percent by weight of the slivered almonds shall be too wide to pass through a round opening $^{19}/_{32}$ inch in diameter, nor shall more than 1 percent by weight pass through a round opening $^{1}/_{8}$ inch in diameter. Slivered almonds shall not contain more than one-tenth of 1 percent by weight of shells, hulls, and other foreign material, and not more than 3 percent by weight of inedible pieces.

(d) Terms used in this section shall have the same meaning as in said marketing agreement and order.

Issued at Washington, D. C., this 11th day of September 1952.

Director,
Fruit and Vegetable Branch.

CIVIL AERONAUTICS BOARD

[14 CFR Part 20]

AGE REQUIREMENTS FOR STUDENT PILOT CERTIFICATES

NOTICE OF PROPOSED RULE MAKING

Pursuant to authority delegated by the Civil Aeronautics Board to the Bureau of Safety Regulation, notice is hereby given that the Bureau will propose to the Board an amendment to Part 20 of the Civil Air Regulations as hereinafter set forth.

Interested persons may participate in the making of the proposed rule by submitting such written data, views, or arguments as they may desire. Communications should be submitted in duplicate to the Civil Aeronautics Board, attention Bureau of Safety Regulation, Washington 25, D. C. In order to insure their consideration by the Board before taking further action on the proposed rule, communications must be received by October 17, 1952. Copies of such communications will be available after October 21, 1952, for examination by interested persons at the Docket Section of the Board, Room 5412, Commerce Building, Washington, D. C.

Present provisions of Part 20 of the Civil Air Regulations require that an applicant for a student pilot certificate who is under the age of 21 years have parental consent before such a certificate may be issued to him. It has come to the Board's attention that the military forces of the United States are about to embark on a program of providing limited amounts of flight training at civilian contract flight schools to cadets and ROTC trainees. It is a considerable burden for such trainees, who are usually trained at points distant from their homes, to obtain the needed parental consent in order to qualify for student pilot certificates which will allow them to pilot the civil planes used by the contracting schools. Two arguments have been made which militate against such a requirement: (1) Any trainee accepted for any reserve or ROTC program, who is under the age of 21 years is required to obtain parental consent and (2) any individual who is a member of the armed forces is sufficiently responsible to exempt him from the parental consent provisions. It would be an anomaly to say that an 18 year old is considered sufficiently mature to be inducted into the armed forces without parental consent, but not to obtain a pilot certificate from a civilian agency of the Government.

The Bureau believes that such arguments are valid and that any member of the regular or reserve components of the armed forces or any member of an ROTC or other armed forces training program should be exempted from the requirement for producing the consent of parent or guardian for the issuance of a student pilot certificate.

Accordingly, it is proposed to amend Part 20 of the Civil Air Regulations by amending the undesignated paragraph following § 20.2 (b) to read as follows:

§ 20.2 Age. * * *
(b) * * *

If an applicant is less than 21 years of age and is not a regular or reserve member of the armed forces of the United States or enrolled in an established ROTC or other training program of such armed forces at the time of making application, he shall submit with his application the written consent of either parent or of his legal or natural guardian.

This amendment is proposed under authority of Title VI of the Civil Aeronautics Act of 1938, as amended. The proposal may be changed in the light of comments received in response to this notice of proposed rule making.

FUNCTIONS

Research. The Bureau, independently and in cooperation with Federal, State, local, and private agencies, conducts investigations on insects and pests to determine and develop methods of eradicating and controlling those which are injurious, and develops methods of utilizing beneficial insects (5 U. S. C. 511 and 16 U. S. C. 581–581i). Information obtained as a result of such research is disseminated to the public.

Service. The Bureau offers the following service, which the public can secure in accordance with the paragraph relating to Public information, submittals, and requests: Information and advice on the identification, habits, and means of controlling or using insects, appraisals of insecticides, their composition and use, inspections to determine the status of insect pests destroying forest trees, and advice on the means of control; surveys on the distribution and occurrence of pests and insects, and information concerning patents controlling insecticides and devices for insect control. The Bureau also advises Federal, State, and local authorities with reference to quarantine policies and insect control needs and methods (5 U. S. C. 511; 7 U. S. C. 141–148e; 16 U. S. C. 594a).

Control and prevention of spread of insects and plant diseases. The Bureau cooperates with Federal, State, and local agencies, private organizations, and the Governments of Mexico and Canada, in carrying out operations to control, suppress, eradicate, and prevent the spread of insects pests and plant diseases (7 U. S. C. 147a, 148–148c, and 151–167). Individual participation in the control work is voluntary as far as the Bureau is concerned, but some State laws require participation. The control work includes such measures as the destruction of diseased plants and trees, surveys to determine distribution of the pests, and applying insecticides and other control measures.

Plant quarantine orders affecting interstate movement. The Bureau advices the Secretary on the promulgation of all quarantines and restrictive notices affecting the interstate movement of plants, plant products, and other articles, and administers the provisions of those issued by the Secretary pursuant to statute (7 U. S. C. 151–167). The quarantine and restrictive notices describe the procedures followed by the Bureau and to be followed by anyone desiring to make interstate shipments of the plants and articles subject to the quarantines (7 CFR Part 301).

Plant quarantine orders affecting Puerto Rico and Hawaii. The Bureau administers the provisions of certain quarantines governing the movement of plants, plant products, and other materials from Puerto Rico and Hawaii to the mainland, issued pursuant to statute (7 U. S. C. 151–167). The quarantine notices prescribe the procedure to be followed (7 CFR 301.13, 301.16, 301.30, 301.32, 301.47, 301.60 and 301.75).

Plant quarantine orders affecting the introduction of products into the United States. The Bureau advises the Secretary on the promulgation of restrictive and prohibitory orders governing the importation of plants, plant products, and other articles, issued pursuant to statute (7 U. S. C. 151–167). The Bureau also enforces such orders which describe the procedure to be followed (7 CFR Parts 319, 321, 351, and 352). Enforcement work is conducted in cooperation with other agencies in the Federal Government, such as the Bureau of Customs of the Treasury Department, and the Post Office Department.

Movement of vehicles into the United States from Mexico. The Bureau makes inspections of railway cars, other vehicles, express, baggage, and other material from Mexico in order to prevent the entry of insect pests and plant diseases, requires cleaning if needed, and when necessary fumigates or disinfects vehicles or materials, for which a fee is collected (7 U. S. C. 149). The procedures are described in the regulations (7 CFR Part 320).

Terminal inspection of materials regulated by State quarantines. A State desiring terminal inspection of mails, express, and parcel post may secure the cooperation of the Department of Agriculture and the Post Office Department in the conduct of such an inspection operation in order to prevent the introduction of injurious pests into the State (7 U. S. C. 166). The Postmaster General is authorized to issue the rules and regulations concerning the inspections and the statute states how the assistance of the Department of Agriculture may be obtained.

Movement of plants and plant products into and from the District of Columbia. The movement of plants and plant products into or out of the District of Columbia is restricted by statute (7 U. S. C. 167) and must be in compliance with the rules and regulations issued by the Secretary of Agriculture which prescribe the procedure to be followed (7 CFR Part 302).

Importation of honey bees. Importations of honey bees are prohibited by statute (7 U. S. C. 281–282), except by the United States Department of Agriculture for experimental or scientific purposes, or, under regulations prescribed by the Secretary of the Treasury and the Secretary of Agriculture, from countries determined by the Secretary of Agriculture as free from dangerous adult honey bee diseases. The Bureau administers this statute and the regulations issued by the Secretaries pursuant thereto (7 CFR Part 322).

Transit inspections of materials regulated by quarantines. In order to assure that plants, plant products, and other materials regulated by Federal plant quarantines are moving in compliance with the regulations, the Bureau inspects at appropriate distribution centers and transfer points, mail, express, and freight, and cooperates with officials of the Post Office Department, express companies, railroads, and State officials in this connection (7 U. S. C. 161). The procedures are prescribed in the regulations (7 CFR Part 301).

Sanitary inspection and certification of plants and plant products offered for export. The Bureau, upon request, inspects plants and plant products offered for export and issues certificates showing compliance with the sanitary plant pest requirements of the country to which the articles are to be shipped, and cooperates with State officials in the issuance of certificates (7 U. S. C. 147a). The procedure is set out in the regulations (7 CFR Part 353).

Importation or interstate movement of insect pests. The importation or interstate movement of certain insects is prohibited (7 U. S. C. 141–144), except for scientific purposes. The Bureau issues permits for such movement of insects for scientific purposes upon request of interested persons. No special form of request is prescribed, but the request should recite the particular purpose, the kind of insects, origin, destination, and time and number of shipments. In the issuance of permits, the Bureau cooperates with the Public Health Service of the Federal Security Agency, the Bureau of Customs of the Treasury Department, the Post Office Department, and transportation companies.

Regulations affecting the introduction of mollusks into the United States. The Bureau advises the Secretary on the promulgation of restrictive and prohibitory regulations governing the importation of mollusks issued pursuant to statute (7 U. S. C. 441). The Bureau also enforces such regulations which describe the procedure to be followed (7 CFR Part 324). Enforcement work is conducted in cooperation with other agencies in the Federal Government, such as the United States National Museum, and United States Public Health Service, and interested State plant pest officials.

Review of rulings. Any person aggrieved by the ruling of an employee of the Bureau in connection with any work of the Bureau may request a review of that ruling by the Chief of the Bureau and from the Chief's ruling may request review by the Secretary of Agriculture. No form is prescribed for such requests, but they may be accompanied by supporting evidence.

National Production Authority

[Suspension Order 27; Docket No. 37]

AMERICAN METAL SUPPLY COMPANY

SUSPENSION ORDER

A hearing having been held in the above-entitled matter on the 21st day of August 1952 before Lowell Turrentine, a Hearing Commissioner of the National Production Authority, on a statement of charges made by the General Counsel, National Production Authority, in accordance with the National Production Authority General Administrative Order 16–06 (16 F. R. 8628), dated July 21, 1951, and Implementation 1 to National Production Authority General Administrative Order 16–06 (16 F. R. 8799), dated August 30, 1951, and Delegation of Authority under NPA–GAO 16–06 (17 F. R. 2098); and

The respondent, Meyer Leson, doing business as American Metal Supply Company, having been duly apprised of the specific violations charged and the administrative action which may be taken, and having been fully informed of the rules and procedures which govern these proceedings; and

The National Production Authority being represented by E. J. Spielman, Regional Attorney, and the respondent appearing in person; and

The respondent having stipulated on the 18th day of August 1952 to a statement of facts to be filed in these proceedings in lieu of the presentation of other evidence in support of and in opposition to the statement of charges, it is hereby determined:

Findings of fact. 1. On November 3, 1951, the respondent requested delivery from his supplier of aluminum controlled material, to wit: 30,000 pounds of aluminum coil sheet for delivery in the second quarter 1952, said amount of aluminum being 23,700 pounds greater than the amount required to fulfill his authorized production schedule.

2. On November 3, 1951, the respondent placed authorized controlled material orders with his supplier for 30,000 pounds of aluminum coil sheet for delivery in said calendar quarter, whereas he was lawfully entitled to order only 6,300 pounds of aluminum.

3. On or about January 10, 1952, the respondent placed an order with his supplier and applied a DO rating and allotment symbol thereon, which order purported to be an authorized controlled material order, for 40,000 pounds of aluminum coil roofing sheet for first quarter 1952 delivery, whereas he was lawfully not entitled to place such or apply such rating or allotment symbol to any amount of aluminum for said calendar quarter.

4. On February 7, 1952, the respondent placed an order with his supplier and applied a DO rating and allotment symbol thereon, which order purported to be an authorized controlled material order, for 60,000 pounds of aluminum coil roofing sheet for second quarter 1952 delivery, whereas he was lawfully not entitled to place such order or apply such rating or allotment symbol to any amount of aluminum for said calendar quarter.

5. On April 1, 1952, the respondent placed an order with his supplier and applied a DO rating and allotment symbol thereon, which order purported to be an authorized controlled material order, for 50,000 pounds of aluminum coil roofing sheet for second quarter 1952 delivery, whereas he was lawfully not entitled to place such order or apply such rating or allotment symbol to any amount of aluminum for said calendar quarter.

6. The respondent failed to maintain accurate records of allotments received and of procurement pursuant to allotments during the calendar quarters commencing October 1, 1951, January 1, 1952, and April 1, 1952.

7. The respondent failed to retain at his regular place of business all documents on which he relied as entitling him to make or receive an allotment or to deliver or accept delivery of controlled materials by destroying the official copy of his CMP–4B application form which had endorsed thereon the allotments and advance allotments authorized for the fourth quarter 1951, first quarter 1952, and second quarter 1952.

8. During the calendar quarter commencing April 1, 1952, the respondent acquired, used, and disposed of controlled material, to wit: approximately 70,000 pounds of aluminum roofing sheet procured by the issuance of respondent's purchase orders dated January 8, 1952, and February 7, 1952, subsequent to the cancellation by the National Production Authority of respondent's advance allotments on December 12, 1951.

9. The respondent failed to return within the prescribed time his unused allotment for fourth quarter 1951 of 10,500 pounds of aluminum.

10. The respondent, having on December 12, 1951, received notice of cancellation of his first quarter 1952 and second quarter 1952 advance allotments for quantities of aluminum, failed to cancel an order which he placed and which purported to be an authorized controlled material order for 30,000 pounds of aluminum roofing sheet.

Conclusions. During the period November 3, 1951, to April 30, 1952, the respondent violated the provisions of National Production Authority regulations, orders, and directives as follows:

(a) The unauthorized placing of orders with suppliers for 173,700 pounds of aluminum more than respondent was entitled to order during the calendar quarters commencing January 1, 1952, and April 1, 1952, contrary to the provisions of CMP Regulation No. 1, section 19 (f) dated May 3, 1951 (16 F. R. 4127), and amended November 23, 1951 (16 F. R. 11860).

(b) Of the amount set forth in the foregoing conclusion (a), the respondent received, used, and consumed 70,000 pounds of aluminum during the calendar quarter commencing April 1, 1952, contrary to the provisions of CMP Regulation No. 1, section 17 (b), dated May 3, 1951 (16 F. R. 4127), as amended November 23, 1951 (16 F. R. 11860).

(c) The failure to return within the prescribed time respondent's unused allotment for the fourth quarter 1951, of 10,500 pounds of aluminum, contrary to the provisions of CMP Regulation No. 1, section 18 (b), dated May 3, 1951 (16 F. R. 4127).

(d) The failure to cancel an order which respondent placed and which purported to be an authorized controlled material order for 30,000 pounds of aluminum subsequent to the cancellation of respondent's first quarter 1952 and second quarter 1952 advance allotments of aluminum, contrary to the provisions of section 13 of CMP Regulation No. 1, as amended November 23, 1951 (16 F. R. 11860).

(e) The failure to maintain accurate records of allotments received and of procurement pursuant to allotments during the calendar quarters commencing October 1, 1951, January 1, 1952, and April 1, 1952, contrary to the provisions of sections 23 (a) and (b) of CMP Regulation No. 1, dated May 3, 1951 (16 F. R. 4127), as amended November 23, 1951 (16 F. R. 11860).

In order to correct the unauthorized use of aluminum occasioned by the violations found herein, and in order to prevent future violations of National Production Authority regulations, orders, and directives by the respondent,

It is accordingly ordered: 1. That all priority assistance, apart from the privileges of self-authorization and self-certification, be withdrawn and withheld from Meyer Leson individually and Meyer Leson doing business as American Metal Supply Company for a period commencing from the date of issuance of this order until the 31st day of March 1953.

2. That all allocations and allotments of controlled materials and materials under the control of the National Production Authority be withdrawn and withheld from Meyer Leson individually and Meyer Leson doing business as American Metal Supply Company for a period commencing from the date of issuance of this order until the 31st day of March 1953.

Issued this 29th day of August 1952 at San Francisco, Calif.

SOUTHERN NATURAL GAS CO.

ORDER AUTHORIZING PROPOSED NOTE ISSUES

SEPTEMBER 11, 1952.

Southern Natural Gas Company ("Southern"), a registered holding company, having filed with this Commission a declaration, pursuant to sections 6 (a) and 7 of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 ("act") and Rule U-23 thereunder, in respect of the following proposed transactions:

Southern proposes to issue and sell promissory notes (herein called the "Revolving Credit Notes") pursuant to a revolving credit agreement to be executed between Southern and The Chase National Bank of the City of New York, and certain other banks. The agreement provides that the Participating Banks will severally make loans to Southern at any time and from time to time from the date of the agreement within a period of two years in an aggregate principal amount at any one time outstanding not exceeding $25,000,000, and that during said period Southern may borrow, prepay (as provided in the agreement) and re-borrow thereunder. The Revolving Credit Notes will bear interest from their respective dates until September 15, 1953, at the rate of 3 percent per annum, and thereafter until their maturity on September 15, 1954 at the rate of 3¼ percent per annum. Southern agrees to pay a commitment fee computed from the date of the order of the Commission permitting this declaration to become effective, or September 15, 1952, whichever is earlier, at the rate of ¼ percent per annum on the daily average unused amount of the commitments. Southern has the right to prepay all, or from time to time any, of the Revolving Credit Notes, in whole or in part, upon payment of accrued interest and, if prepayment is made directly or indirectly from the proceeds, or in anticipation, of any bank borrowing otherwise than under the agreement, Southern will pay a premium at the rate of ¼ percent per annum. Southern has the right at any time or from time to time to reduce or terminate the commitments.

The proceeds of the Revolving Credit Notes will be applied to the cost of construction of additions to Southern's system proposed to be completed during 1952 and 1953. Southern expects to provide subsequent permanent financing of its 1952 and 1953 construction program by the issue of first mortgage bonds and by the issue of additional common stock or other securities of Southern, or by the sale of the stocks of Southern's subsidiaries, Alabama Gas Corporation and Mississippi Gas Company. Southern would expect to sell additional first mortgage bonds sometime during the first six months of 1953 in the amount permissible at the time under Southern's first mortgage, and would expect to provide for other permanent financing by the sale of additional first mortgage bonds or other securities in such amounts as may be appropriate at the time.

Southern requests that the Commission's Order herein become effective forthwith upon issuance.

Notice of the filing of the declaration having been given in the manner and form provided by Rule U-23 of the rules and regulations promulgated under the act, and a hearing not having been requested or ordered by the Commission within the time specified in said notice; and the Commission finding that the applicable provisions of the act and the rules and regulations promulgated thereunder are satisfied, and deeming it appropriate in the public interest and in the interest of investors and consumers that said declaration be permitted to become effective forthwith:

It is ordered, Pursuant to Rule U-23 and the applicable provisions of the act, that said declaration be, and hereby is, permitted to become effective, subject to the terms and conditions prescribed in Rule U-24, and that this order shall become effective upon its issuance.

By the Commission.

UNITED GAS CORP.

NOTICE OF FILING AND SALE OF DEBENTURES AND RELATED TRANSACTIONS

SEPTEMBER 11, 1952.

Notice is hereby given that United Gas Corporation ("United"), a gas utility subsidiary of Electric Bond and Share Company, a registered holding company, and United's two wholly owned subsidiaries, United Gas Pipe Line Company ("Pipe Line") and Union Producing Company ("Union"), have filed an application-declaration with this Commission pursuant to the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935, and have designated sections 6 (a), 7, 9 (a), 10 and 12 thereof and Rule U-50 thereunder as applicable to the proposed transactions which are summarized as follows:

United proposes to issue and sell at competitive bidding pursuant to Rule U-50, $60,000,000 principal amount of ------ Sinking Fund Debentures, due 1972, to be issued under a debenture agreement dated as of October 1, 1952 with Irving Trust Company as Trustee. The proposed sinking fund is designed to retire 70 percent of the issue prior to maturity.

United proposes to use the proceeds from the sale of the debentures, as follows:

(a) To prepay $40,000,000 principal amount of bank loans presently outstanding, evidenced by United's outstanding promissory notes due December 31, 1952 and July 1, 1953.

(b) To acquire from Pipe Line for $10,000,000 cash, 10,000 shares of Pipe Line's no par value common stock, which Pipe Line proposes to sell and United proposes to purchase.

(c) To acquire from Pipe Line for cash at par plus accrued interest an aggregate of $5,000,000 principal amount of Pipe Line's 4½ percent Sinking Fund Debentures, due 1971, which Pipe Line proposes to sell and United proposes to purchase.

(d) To lend Union $1,000,000, such loan to be evidenced by Union's 4 percent promissory note in like principal amount, maturing on or before six years from the date of issue.

Of the securities to be acquired by United from its subsidiaries, the common stock of Pipe Line and the promissory note of Union will be pledged with the corporate trustee under United's Deed of Trust pursuant to the provisions of that indenture. The debentures of Pipe Line to be acquired by United will be retained in the portfolio of United, and pursuant to the provisions of the indenture, will recite that such security is non-transferable except to a successor of United.

The proceeds from the sales of securities described above are to be used to defray the costs in part of the construction program of United and Pipe Line which, for the years 1951, 1952, and 1953, is estimated to require the expenditure of $245,328,000. The application-declaration states that at June 30, 1952, United and Pipe Line had expended for this purpose $158,664,000 and the completion of the program of these two companies is estimated to require the expenditure of an additional amount of $86,664,000.

The application-declaration further states that in addition to the sales of securities described above, United contemplates the sale of securities in the year 1953 designed to raise approximately $50,000,000, which securities will consist of additional debentures and common stock in amounts not now determined.

Notice is further given that any interested person may, not later than September 24, 1952, at 5:30 p. m., e. d. s. t. request the Commission in writing that a hearing be held on such matter, stating the nature of his interest, the reasons for such request, and the issues of fact or law, if any, raised by the said joint application-declaration which he desires to controvert, or may request that he be notified if the Commission should order a hearing thereon. Any such request should be addressed: Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, 425 Second Street NW., Washington 25, D. C. At any time after September 24, 1952, said joint application-declaration, as filed or as amended, may be granted and permitted to become effective as provided in Rule U-23 of the rules and regulations promulgated under the act, or the Commission may exempt such transactions as provided in Rules U-20 (a) and Rule U-100 thereof. All interested persons are referred to said joint application-declaration which is on file in the offices of this Commission for a statement of the transactions therein proposed.

By the Commission.

EFFECTIVE DATE OF MORTGAGE INSURANCE FOR INSURED LOANS FROM STATE RURAL REHABILITATION CORPORATION FUNDS

The last sentence of paragraph (h) of § 332.10, Title 6, Code of Federal Regulations (17 F. As amended, paragraph (h) will read as follows:

§ 332.10 Closing of loan. • • •

(h) The due date of the first installment on the loan will be the first March 31st following the date of the loan closing. The amount of the first installment, not to exceed 4.326 percent of the loan, will be agreed upon mutually by the County Supervisor and the borrower, taking into consideration the borrower's financial circumstances, and the extent to which he will receive income from the farm during the calendar year preceding the date of the first installment. Whenever possible, the first installment should be not less than the interest that will accrue on the loan from the date of closing to the first March 31st thereafter. In special cases, however, where the borrower will not have income from his farm during the calendar year preceding the first due date, a nominal payment of less than the interest may be accepted. The County Supervisor should advise the borrower, in the event of disagreement, that it is the duty of the County Supervisor to determine the amount of the first installment based on the foregoing conditions. The date of loan closing will be inserted in the insurance endorsement on the promissory note as the effective date of the insurance of the mortgage.

Subchapter C—Regulations and Standards Under the Farm Products Inspection Act

PART 51—FRUITS, VEGETABLES AND OTHER PRODUCTS (INSPECTION, CERTIFICATION AND STANDARDS)

U. S. STANDARDS FOR FLORIDA TANGERINES

On July 31, 1952, a notice of proposed rule making was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (17 F. R. 7017) regarding proposed United States Standards for Florida Tangerines.

A period of thirty days was allowed for submitting written data, views and arguments for consideration in connection with the proposed standards. After consideration of all relevant matters presented, including the proposal set forth in the aforesaid notice of rule making, the following United States Standards for Florida Tangerines are hereby promulgated under the authority contained in the Agricultural Marketing Act of 1946 (60 Stat. 1087; 7 U. S. C. 1621 et seq.) and the Department of Agriculture Appropriation Act, 1953 (Pub. Law 451, 82d Cong., approved July 5, 1952).

§ 51.417 Standards for Florida Tangerines—(a) Grades—(1) U. S. Fancy. U. S. Fancy consists of tangerines which are mature, firm, and well formed, and which are free from soft bruises, bird pecks, unhealed skin-breaks, and decay, and free from damage caused by ammoniation, creasing, dryness or mushy condition, green spots or oil spots, pitting, scale, sprouting, sprayburn, sunburn, unsightly discoloration, buckskin, melanose, scars, scab, dirt or other foreign materials, disease, insects, or mechanical or other means.

(i) Each fruit in this grade shall be highly colored.

(ii) In this grade not more than one-tenth of the fruit surface, in the aggregate, may have a light shade of brown discoloration caused by rust mite, or an equivalent of this amount in appearance when the fruit is discolored by any cause. (See tolerances for defects, paragraph (c) (1) of this section.)

(2) U. S. No. 1. U. S. No. 1 consists of tangerines which are mature, firm, and well formed, and which are free from soft bruises, bird pecks, unhealed skin-breaks, and decay, and free from damage caused by ammoniation, creasing, dryness or mushy condition, green spots or oil spots, pitting, scale, sprouting, sprayburn, sunburn, unsightly discoloration, buckskin, melanose, scars, scab, dirt or other foreign materials, disease, insects, or mechanical or other means.

(i) Each fruit in this grade shall be fairly well colored.

(ii) In this grade not more than one-third of the fruit surface, in the aggregate, may have a light shade of brown discoloration caused by rust mite, or an equivalent of this amount in appearance when the fruit is discolored by any cause. (See tolerances for defects, paragraph (c) (1) of this section.)

(3) U. S. No. 1 Bronze. The requirements for this grade are the same as for U. S. No. 1 except for discoloration. In this grade at least 75 percent, by count, of the fruits shall show some discoloration, and more than 20 percent, by count, of the fruits shall have more than one-third of their surface affected with bronzed russeting: Provided, That no discoloration that exceeds the amount allowed in the U. S. No. 1 grade shall be permitted unless such discoloration is caused by thrip, wind scars, or rust mite. (See tolerances for defects, paragraph (c) (1) of this section.)

(4) U. S. No. 1 Russet. The requirements for this grade are the same as for U. S. No. 1 except for discoloration. In this grade at least 75 percent, by count, of the fruits shall show some discoloration, and more than 20 percent, by count, of the fruits shall have more than one-third of their surface affected with discoloration. (See tolerances for defects, paragraph (c) (1) of this section.)

(5) U. S. No. 2. U. S. No. 2 consists of tangerines which are mature, fairly firm, and fairly well formed, and which are free from soft bruises, bird pecks, unhealed skin-breaks, and decay, and free from serious damage caused by ammoniation, creasing, dryness or mushy condition, green spots or oil spots, pitting, scale, sprouting, sprayburn, sunburn, unsightly discoloration, buckskin, melanose, scars, scab, dirt or other foreign materials, disease, insects, or mechanical or other means.

(i) Each fruit in this grade shall be reasonably well colored.

(ii) In this grade not more than two-thirds of the fruit surface, in the aggregate, may be affected with light brown discoloration, or may have the equivalent of this amount in appearance when the fruit has lighter or darker shades of discoloration. (See tolerances for defects, paragraph (c) (1) of this section.)

(6) U. S. No. 2 Russet. The requirements for this grade are the same as for U. S. No. 2 except that more than 20 percent, by count, of the fruits shall have in excess of two-thirds of their surface, in the aggregate, affected with light brown discoloration. (See tolerances for defects, paragraph (c) (1) of this section.)

(7) U. S. No. 3. U. S. No. 3 consists of tangerines which are mature, not flabby and not seriously lumpy, and which are free from unhealed bird pecks, unhealed skin-breaks, and decay, and free from very serious damage caused by bruises, ammoniation, creasing, dryness or mushy condition, pitting, scale, sprouting, sprayburn, sunburn, unsightly discoloration, melanose, scars, scab, dirt or other foreign materials, disease, insects, or mechanical or other means. (See tolerances for defects, paragraph (c) (2) of this section.)

(b) Unclassified. Unclassified consists of tangerines which have not been classified in accordance with any of the foregoing grades. The term "unclassified" is not a grade within the meaning of these standards but is provided as a designation to show that no definite grade has been applied to the lot.

(c) Tolerances. In order to allow for variations incident to proper grading and handling in each of the foregoing grades, the following tolerances are provided as specified:

(1) U. S. Fancy, U. S. No. 1, U. S. No. 1 Bronze, U. S. No. 1 Russet, U. S. No. 2 and U. S. No. 2 Russet. Not more than a total of 10 percent, by count, of the fruits in any lot may fail to meet the requirements of the grade other than for discoloration, but not more than one-half of this amount, or 5 percent, shall be allowed for very serious damage other than that caused by dryness or mushy condition, and not more than one-twentieth of the tolerance, or one-half of 1 percent, shall be allowed for decay at shipping point: Provided, That an additional tolerance of 2½ percent, or a total of not more than 3 percent, shall be allowed for decay en route or at destination. In addition, not more than a total of 10 percent, by count, of the fruits in any lot may not meet the requirements relating to discoloration but not more than 2 percent shall be allowed for serious damage by unsightly discoloration.

(2) U. S. No. 3. Not more than a total of 15 percent, by count, of the fruits in any lot may fail to meet the requirements of this grade, but not more than one-third of this amount, or 5 percent, shall be allowed for defects other than that caused by dryness or mushy condition, and not more than one-fifteenth of the tolerance, or 1 percent, shall be allowed for decay at shipping point: Provided, That an additional tolerance of 2 percent, or a total of not more than 3 percent, shall be allowed for decay en route or at destination.

(d) Application of tolerances to individual packages. (1) The contents of individual packages in the lot, based on sample inspection, are subject to the following limitations: Provided, That the averages for the entire lot are within the tolerances specified for the grade.

(i) For packages which contain more than 10 pounds and a tolerance of 10 percent or more is provided, individual packages in any lot shall have not more than one and one-half times the tolerance specified. For packages which contain more than 10 pounds and a tolerance of less than 10 percent is provided, individual packages in any lot shall have not more than double the tolerance specified, except that at least one decayed or very seriously damaged fruit may be permitted in any package.

(ii) For packages which contain 10 pounds or less, individual packages in any lot are not restricted as to the percentage of defects, except that not more than one fruit which is decayed or very seriously damaged shall be allowed in any package.

(e) Standard pack. (1) The tangerines in each container shall be packed in accordance with recognized methods. Each container shall be well filled and properly marked to indicate the size of the fruit. When the figures used to indicate size of fruit vary from the actual number of tangerines in the container, as in the case of fractional parts of boxes, the figures indicating size shall be followed by the letter "s" or the word "size", as, for example, "210's", or "210 size." Containers which are not so marked shall not be regarded as meeting requirements of "standard pack."

(f) Fruit in each container shall be of a size not less than the minimum diameters specified in Table I for the various packs. Packs other than those listed shall have a minimum diameter not less than that specified for the nearest count.

TABLE I

[Diameter in inches]

Pack:	Minimum
100	2 15/16
120	2 11/16
150	2 7/16
176	2 5/16
210	2 1/16
246	2 3/16

(ii) In order to allow for variations incident to proper sizing, not more than 10 percent, by count, of the fruits in any lot may be below the minimum size for the count as specified in Table I of this paragraph.

(f) Definitions. (1) "Mature" means the same as that term is set forth for tangerines in §§ 601.21 and 601.22, chapter 26492, Florida Statutes, known as the Florida Citrus Code of 1949.

(2) "Firm" means that the flesh is not soft and the fruit is not badly puffy, and that the skin has not become materially separated from the flesh of the tangerine.

(3) "Well formed" means that the fruit has the characteristic tangerine shape and is not deformed.

(4) "Damage" means any defect which more than slightly affects the appearance, or the edible or shipping quality of the fruit. Any one of the following defects, or any combination of defects, the seriousness of which exceeds the maximum allowed for any one defect, shall be considered as damage:

(i) Ammoniation, when it is not speck-type similar to melanose, provided that no ammoniation shall be permitted that detracts from the appearance of the individual fruit to a greater extent than the amount of discoloration allowed for the grade;

(ii) Creasing, when it materially affects the appearance or shipping quality of the fruit;

(iii) Dryness or mushy condition, when mushy or distinctly dry to a depth of more than one-eighth inch in all segments at the stem end, or the equivalent of this amount, by volume, of mushy condition or dryness when occurring in any portion of the fruit;

(iv) Green spots or oil spots, when the appearance is affected to a greater extent than 10 green spots caused by scale, each of which is equivalent to the area of a circle one-eighth inch in diameter;

(v) Pitting, when materially affecting the appearance or shipping quality of the individual fruit;

(vi) Scale, when occurring as a blotch and the aggregate area exceeds the area of a circle three-eighths inch in diameter, or any scale that detracts from the appearance of the individual fruit to a greater extent than the area permitted for a blotch. "Blotch" refers to actual scale and not the discolored area caused by scale;

(vii) Sprayburn, when causing the skin to become hard or when it materially affects the appearance of the fruit;

(viii) Sunburn, when causing the skin to become hard or when it materially affects the appearance of the fruit;

(ix) Unsightly discoloration, when the color or the pattern, or a combination of color and pattern, causes the fruit to have an unattractive appearance;

(x) Buckskin, when it detracts from the appearance of the fruit to a greater extent than the amount of discoloration allowed for the grade;

(xi) Melanose, when not small smooth speck-type, or any speck-type that detracts from the appearance of the fruit to a greater extent than the amount of discoloration allowed in the grade. Melanose that exceeds the amount allowed in the U. S. No. 1 grade is not permitted in the U. S. No. 1 Bronze grade;

(xii) Scars, when not smooth, or when causing any noticeable depression, or when detracting from the appearance of the fruit to a greater extent than the amount of discoloration allowed for the grade; and,

(xiii) Scab, when not smooth, or when it affects shape, or when it detracts from the appearance of the fruit to a greater extent than the amount of discoloration allowed for the grade. Scab injury that exceeds the amount allowed in the U. S. No. 1 grade is not permitted in the U. S. No. 1 Bronze grade.

(5) "Highly colored" means that the ground color of each fruit is a deep tangerine color with practically no trace of yellow color.

(6) "Discoloration" includes discoloration caused by rust mite, melanose, scars, scab, or any other means. Shades of discoloration which blend with the ground color of the fruit may be allowed on a larger area than that specified in the grade for light brown discoloration, and shades of discoloration which are more in contrast with the ground color shall be restricted to a lesser area, provided no discoloration may affect the appearance to a greater extent than the amount of light brown discoloration specified for the grade. Tangerines which show discoloration caused by melanose, scab, or any cause other than by thrip, wind scars, or by rust mite shall not be permitted in the U. S. No. 1 Bronze grade when such discoloration exceeds the amount allowed in the U. S. No. 1 grade. (See definition, "Bronzed Russeting", subparagraph (8) of this paragraph.)

(7) "Fairly well colored" means that the fruit may have green color which does not exceed the aggregate area of a circle 1 inch in diameter and that the remainder of the surface shows a good tangerine color with some portion of the surface showing a reddish tangerine blush.

(8) "Bronzed russeting" means russeting caused by thrip, wind scars, or by rust mite, or similar russeting which is not readily distinguishable from that caused by rust mite. Discoloration caused by melanose, scab, etc. are not considered as "bronzed russeting" within the meaning of these standards but are regarded as defects when they exceed the amounts permitted in the U. S. No. 1 grade and are not permitted in the U. S. No. 1 Bronze grade.

(9) "Fairly firm" means that the flesh may be slightly soft but is not bruised or badly puffy, and that the skin has not become seriously separated from the flesh of the tangerine.

(10) "Fairly well formed" means that the fruit may not have the shape characteristic of the variety but that it is not badly deformed.

(11) "Serious damage" means any defect which seriously affects the appearance, or the edible or shipping quality of the fruit. Any one of the following defects, or any combination of defects, the seriousness of which exceeds the maximum allowed for any one defect, shall be considered as serious damage:

(i) Ammoniation, when scars are cracked, or when dark and the aggregate area exceeds the area of a circle one-half inch in diameter, or when light colored and the aggregate area exceeds the area of a circle 1 inch in diameter;

(ii) Creasing, when it causes the skin to be seriously weakened;

(iii) Dryness or mushy condition, when mushy or distinctly dry to a depth of more than one-fourth inch in all segments at the stem end, or the equivalent of this amount, by volume, of mushy condition or dryness when occurring in any portion of the fruit;

(iv) Green spots or oil spots, when the appearance is affected to a greater extent than 25 green spots, caused by scale, each of which is equivalent to the area of a circle one-eighth inch in diameter;

(v) Pitting, when seriously affecting the appearance or shipping quality of the fruit;

(vi) Scale, when occurring as a blotch and the aggregate area exceeds the area of a circle one-half inch in diameter, or any scale that detracts from the appearance of the fruit to a greater extent than the area permitted for a blotch. "Blotch" refers to actual scale and not the discoloration caused by scale;

(vii) Sprayburn, when it has caused the skin to become hard, or when it seriously affects the appearance of the fruit;

(viii) Sunburn, when it has caused the skin to become hard, or when it seriously affects the appearance of the fruit;

(ix) Unsightly discoloration, when the color or the pattern, or a combination of both, causes the fruit to have a distinctly unattractive appearance;

(x) Buckskin, when it detracts from the appearance of the fruit to a greater extent than the amount of discoloration allowed for the grade;

(xi) Melanose, when badly caked and the aggregate area exceeds the area of a circle one-half inch in diameter, or when lightly caked and the aggregate area exceeds the area of a circle 1 inch in diameter, or when unsightly, or when it detracts from the appearance of the fruit to a greater extent than the amount of discoloration allowed for the grade;

(xii) Scars, when not fairly smooth, or when causing any materially depressed areas, or when detracting from the appearance to a greater extent than the amount of discoloration allowed for the grade. Scars which are not fairly smooth, or which are materially depressed, are not permitted in either U. S. No. 2 or U. S. No. 2 Russet grades; and,

(xiii) Scab, when not fairly smooth, or when it materially affects the shape of the fruit, or when it detracts from the appearance to a greater extent than the maximum amount of discoloration allowed for the grade.

(12) "Reasonably well colored" means that a good yellow or reddish tangerine color shall predominate over the green color on at least one-half of the fruit surface in the aggregate, and that each fruit shall show practically no lemon color.

(13) "Very serious damage" means any defect which very seriously affects the appearance, or the edible or shipping quality of the fruit. Any one of the following defects, or any combination of defects, the seriousness of which exceeds the maximum allowed for any one defect, shall be considered as very serious damage:

(i) Ammoniation, when scars are badly cracked, or when dark and the aggregate area exceeds the area of a circle 1 inch in diameter, or when light colored and it detracts from the appearance of the fruit to a greater extent than the area permitted for dark ammoniation;

(ii) Creasing, when causing the skin to be seriously weakened;

(iii) Dryness or mushy condition, when mushy or distinctly dry to a depth of more than one-fourth inch in all segments at the stem end, or the equivalent of this amount, by volume, of mushy condition or dryness when occurring in any portion of the fruit;

(iv) Pitting, when it very seriously affects the appearance or the shipping quality of the fruit;

(v) Scale, when it very seriously affects the appearance of the fruit;

(vi) Sprayburn, when it very seriously affects the appearance of the fruit;

(vii) Sunburn, when it very seriously affects the appearance of the fruit;

(viii) Unsightly discoloration, when the fruit has a very objectionable appearance caused by any means. The color or the pattern of the discoloration, or a combination of both, or a combination of defects may cause the fruit to have a very unsightly appearance;

(ix) Melanose, when caked to the extent that the appearance of the fruit is very seriously affected;

(x) Scars, when so deep, rough, or unsightly that the appearance of the fruit is very seriously injured; and,

(xi) Scab, when it causes the fruit to be very seriously injured.

(14) "Diameter" means the greatest dimension measured at right angles to a line from stem to blossom end of the fruit.

(g) Effective time. The United States Standards for Florida Tangerines contained in this section shall become effective thirty (30) days after the date of publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

TITLE 32A—NATIONAL DEFENSE, APPENDIX

Chapter III—Office of Price Stabilization, Economic Stabilization Agency

[Ceiling Price Regulation 22, Supplementary Regulation 17, Interpretation 2]

CPR 22—MANUFACTURERS' GENERAL CEILING PRICE REGULATION

SR 17—ADJUSTMENTS UNDER SECTION 402 (d) (4) OF THE DEFENSE PRODUCTION ACT OF 1950, AS AMENDED

INT. 2—COMPUTATION OF THE VALUE OF PRODUCTION (SECTION 11 (C))

The "value of production" is defined in section 11 (c) as a figure arrived at by multiplying the dollar amount of net sales during the applicable overhead period by the cost of goods produced and dividing the result by the cost of goods sold during the same period. In order to obtain the correct dollar amounts for the cost of goods produced and the cost of goods sold, it is necessary to make adjustments for the change in work-in-process inventory and finished goods inventory, respectively, between the beginning and end of the overhead period.

It has come to the attention of the Office of Price Stabilization that some manufacturers do not keep inventory records adequate to enable them to arrive at the exact data required for such a determination. In such cases, where the manufacturer does not maintain perpetual inventory records, or otherwise have inventory records for the beginning and end of these overhead periods, he must make a reasonable estimate, based on past experience, of the inventory figures required for a proper determination of the cost of goods produced and cost of goods sold during the period.

A manufacturer who finds it necessary to compute his value of production in this way should attach to his OPS Public Form 100 a statement setting forth in detail the methods used in arriving at the value of production figures based on such estimates of inventory.

[Ceiling Price Regulation 171]

CPR 171—CEILING PRICES FOR UNTREATED EASTERN POLES AND PILING

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

This regulation establishes producers' dollars-and-cents ceiling prices for sales of untreated Southern Yellow Pine poles, anchor logs and reinforcing stubs, and Southern Yellow Pine, Cypress, Mixed Oak, White Oak and Mixed Hardwood piling produced in the part of the United States east of the one-hundredth meridian, except the portion of North Dakota and South Dakota east of that meridian. It also provides a method for determining ceiling prices for concentrators' sales of these items.

Poles and pilings are select peeled logs generally cut in longer lengths than saw logs. Poles are used to support telephone and electric distribution and transmission lines. Piling is used in the foundation of buildings, and in the construction of bridges, docks, and wharves. Specifications of the American Standards Association for poles and the American Society for Testing Materials and Federal Specification MMP 371 for piling require that these items be selected from trees that are free from defects and of a degree of straightness not required of saw logs. Because of these strict requirements, trees suitable for poles or piling are generally limited in number and scattered throughout a tract of timber. For this reason, and because poles and piling are cut and handled in longer lengths than saw logs, the entire operation of producing poles and piling is at every step more expensive than that involved in the production of saw logs. As a result, the prices paid for poles and piling normally are higher than those paid for saw logs.

During 1947, the production of Southern Yellow pine poles was at a level of six million. In the face of this large production, there was in 1948 a general deferment in construction programs by utility companies, which resulted in excessive pole inventories, and a drop in prices. Notwithstanding the 1948 depressed market price for poles, there was an increased demand for Southern Yellow Pine lumber with correspondingly high prices. In 1949 there was an increase over the 1948 requirements for poles, but these requirements were mainly filled from 1948 surplus inventories and therefore had little effect on the market price for poles. In 1950, like 1948, there was again a very small demand for poles, which was accentuated by competition from lightweight steel towers. For these reasons the ceiling prices for poles, as frozen under the General Ceiling Price Regulation, were at a very low level and at an abnormal competitive relationship with lumber prices. Consequently, since that regulation has been in effect, trees suitable for poles and piling have been diverted into the manufacture of lumber.

Meanwhile, because of the expansion in the past 18 months of construction programs of electric transmission lines, coupled with the fact that the government has encouraged the exclusive use of wood poles in such programs instead of steel towers, there has been a great increase in the demand for poles, especially those of longer length. Dollars-and-cents ceiling prices have already been established above GCPR levels for the Western poles under CPR 126 and CPR 155. The increase over the GCPR level of prices for the Western species was necessary to restore the normal competitive relationship with saw-logs of the same species.

This regulation restores the long term competitive relationship, in the area affected, between the prices of poles and piling and the prices of manufactured lumber. The ceiling prices established for Southern Yellow Pine poles are an average 15.6 percent higher than their GCPR level.

The basic ceiling prices established by this regulation are for untreated poles and piling, f. o. b. cars or boomed and rafted in towable waters. In addition, the regulation makes provision for delivered sales, with transportation charges computed on the basis of established weights set forth in the regulation. This regulation recognizes the traditional role of concentrators as principle suppliers of poles and piling. It, therefore, provides a method whereby concentrators may ascertain their ceilings by applying a dollar and cent markup to the producers' ceiling prices established by the regulation.

FINDINGS OF THE DIRECTOR OF PRICE STABILIZATION

In the judgment of the Director of Price Stabilization, the ceiling prices established by this regulation are generally fair and equitable and are necessary to effectuate the purpose of Title IV of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended.

So far as practical in the formulation of this regulation, the Director of Price Stabilization has given due consideration to the national effort to achieve maximum production in furtherance of the objectives of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended; to prices prevailing during the period from May 24, 1950 to June 24, 1950, inclusive; to those prevailing during the period January 25 through February 24, 1951, as well as to the level of prices prevailing just before the issuance of this regulation; and to all relevant factors of general applicability.

In formulating this regulation, there has been consultation with industry representatives, including trade association representatives, and consideration has been given to their recommendation. This consultation included two meetings with the Eastern Poles and Piling Industry Advisory Committee, and two meetings with its subcommittee.

Every effort has been made to conform this regulation to business practices existing with respect to the production, sale and distribution of poles and piling covered in the regulation. Insofar as any provisions of this regulation may operate to compel changes in those business practices, such provisions are found by the Director of Price Stabilization to be necessary to prevent circumvention of evasion of this regulation.

SECTION 1. What this regulation does. (a) This regulation establishes dollars-and-cents ceiling prices for producers' sales of untreated Southern Yellow Pine poles, anchor logs, and reinforcing stubs, and Southern Yellow Pine, Cypress, Mixed Oak, White Oak, and Mixed Hardwood piling produced in the part of the United States east of the 100th Meridian except the portion of North Dakota and South Dakota east of that Meridian. It also provides a method for determining ceiling prices for these items when they are sold by concentrators. The regulation divides the production area covered into three production zones for Southern Yellow Pine and Cypress items, and for each zone it sets specific ceiling prices. The ceiling prices established for Mixed Oak, White Oak and Mixed Hardwood items apply uniformly throughout the entire production area covered by this regulation.

(b) This regulation supersedes the General Ceiling Price Regulation, including Supplementary Regulation 87 to the GCPR, insofar as it pertains to the transactions covered by this regulation.

SEC. 2. Geographical applicability. The provisions of this regulation are applicable in the 48 States of the United States and the District of Columbia.

SEC. 3. Explanation of zones. The production zones for the Southern Yellow Pine and Cypress items covered by this regulation are:

(a) Zone A, which includes Missouri, Arkansas, Oklahoma, Texas, and the part of Louisiana west of the Mississippi River.

(b) Zone B, which includes South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Mississippi, Tennessee, Kentucky, Illinois, and the part of Louisiana east of the Mississippi River.

(c) Zone C, which includes North Carolina, Virginia, Delaware, Maryland, and West Virginia.

SEC. 4. Explanation of ceiling price provisions—(a) General. The basic ceiling prices for items covered by this regulation and set out in sections 5 through 10 are f. o. b. carload ceiling prices at a normal loading out point, or are ceiling prices that apply when you sell items boomed and rafted in towable waters at a normal loading out point. If your place of production or concentration yard is in one zone and your normal loading out point is in a different zone, your ceiling prices are the ceiling prices for the zone in which your normal loading out point is located. If you make delivery beyond a normal loading out point, section 15 permits you to make certain additions to the basic ceiling prices.

(b) Normal loading out point explained. The term "normal loading out point" means the siding or point on a railroad, and the booming and rafting grounds in towable waters, to which items covered by this regulation can be most cheaply transported by rail or raft from their place of production to their point of destination.

(c) Reduction for non-delivery at normal loading out point and nonperformance of services. (1) If you do not deliver your items as far as a normal loading out point, and you neither load them on cars nor boom and raft them, the otherwise applicable basic ceiling prices are reduced by an amount equal to the sum of (i) the cost of transporting the items from the place of delivery to a normal loading out point, and (ii) depending on whether the normal loading out point is a rail point or siding or booming and rafting grounds, the cost of loading on cars or of booming and rafting the items involved.

(2) If, when you deliver your items to a normal loading out point or to other places beyond a normal loading out point, such as, a concentration yard, a treating plant, a job site or a storage yard, you neither load them on cars nor boom and raft them, the otherwise appropriate basic ceiling prices are reduced by an amount equal to the cost of whichever service you are required to perform at that normal loading point.

For the purposes of this paragraph, in computing the transportation cost, you must apply applicable published contract or common carrier rates; if there are no published rates, the actual cost of transportation must be used. In computing the loading or booming and rafting cost, you must apply applicable established commercial rates for such services; if there are no established commercial rates, the actual cost of performing such services must be used.

SEC. 5. Ceiling prices for Southern Yellow Pine poles.—(a) Basic ceiling prices. The basic ceiling prices and established weights for untreated rough peeled Southern Yellow Pine poles, produced according to American Standards Association specifications in effect on the effective date of this regulation are as follows:

(b) Additions to basic ceiling prices. Under the circumstances indicated below, whether you are a producer or a concentrator, you may make the following additions to the basic ceiling prices for untreated Southern Yellow Pine poles set out in paragraph (a) of this section:

(1) For loading specified length groups of four consecutive lengths in 5-foot multiples, you may add as much as $0.01 per lineal foot.

(2) For loading specified length groups of three consecutive lengths in 5-foot multiples, you may add as much as $0.02 per lineal foot.

(3) For loading specified length groups of two consecutive lengths in 5-foot multiples, you may add as much as $0.03 per lineal foot.

(4) For loading specified single lengths, you may add as much as $0.04 per lineal foot.

(5) For loading random length orders where the purchaser specifies restricted loading, you may add as much as two-thirds of the proper specified length addition shown above.

NOTE: The above additions may be made only when an order requires specified length group loading, and the additions may be applied only to the items loaded in such manner. For loading specified length groups of five or more consecutive lengths in 5-foot multiples, no addition is allowed.

(6) For classes 1, 2 and 3, or top size equivalent of clean hand-peeled poles, you may add as much as $0.03 per lineal foot; for classes 4, 5 and 6, or top size equivalent, you may add as much as $0.02 per lineal foot; for classes 7, 9 and 10, or top size equivalent, you may add as much as $0.01 per lineal foot.

(7) For machine peeling of poles, including cutting to specified lengths when required, you may add as much as the following:

Length (feet)	Classes
	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	9	10
16					$0.28	$0.24	$0.21	$0.18	$0.15

75	6.10	5.00	4.14	3.57

(8) For framing poles, which includes roofing, gaining (two gains per pole), and boring one hole in each of the two gains, you may add as much as the following:

	Per pole
Classes 1, 2, 3 and 4 of all poles under 40 feet in length	$0.40
Classes 5, 6, 7, 9 and 10 of all poles under 40 feet in length	.30
Classes 1, 2, 3 and 4 of all poles 40 feet in length	.45
Classes 5, 6 and 7 of all poles 40 feet in length	.35
All classes of poles 45 feet in length and longer	.50
	Per gain
For each additional gain with one hole	$0.10
	Per hole
For boring of additional holes in the pole	$0.04

(9) For handling poles incident to framing, you may add as much as 1½ cents per cubic foot.

(10) For each continuous 12 inches of slab-gained surface, including the boring of the hole in the gain, you may add as much as 10 cents. A continuous slab gain shall be considered as multiple gains and may be priced accordingly.

(11) For branding by burning, you may add as much as 7 cents per pole; for branding by hammer, you may add as much as 1½ cents per pole.

(12) When a buyer's request exceeds your supply of a specific class and length of pole, you may fill the request by cutting off the most similar pole available. You may charge the ceiling price for the pole that was cut back without a deduction for the reduced footage. However, any additions for transportation on the cut-back poles shall be those additions applicable to the class and length of pole ordered by the buyer, and no addition may be made for labor involved in the cutting-back operations.

(c) Deductions from basic ceiling prices. Under the circumstances indicated below, whether you are a producer or a concentrator, you must make the following deductions from the basic ceiling prices for Southern Yellow Pine poles set out in paragraph (a) of this section:

(2) For classes 4, 5 and 6, or top size equivalent, of unpeeled poles, you must deduct 2 cents per lineal foot.

(3) For classes 7, 9 and 10, or top size equivalent, of unpeeled poles, you must deduct 1 cent per lineal foot.
